GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First publication]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 21st October, 1886:—

No. 26 OF 1886.

A Bill to regulate the supply of electricity for lighting and other purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the supply of electricity for lighting and other purposes; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Electricity Supply Act, 1887.

(2) It shall extend to the whole of British India; and

(3) It shall come into force at once.

2. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,

(1) "electricity" includes galvanism, magnetism, magneto-electricity and electro-magnetism:

(2) "telegraph", "message", "telegraph line", "post", "telegraph authority" and "local authority" have the meanings respectively assigned to those expressions in the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885: and

XIII of 1885.

(3) "purpose" includes any purpose except the transmission of a message or the use of electricity in medical treatment.

3. Save as provided in this Act, electricity shall not be supplied for a purpose by any person for any purpose without a license.

from the Governor-General in Council authorizing the person in that behalf.

4. (1) The Governor-General in Council may from time to time license any person to supply electricity for any purpose, and in any local area, specified in the license.

(2) The license may prescribe the duties of the licensee and provide for the revocation of the license on his failure to perform any of those duties, and generally may contain such regulations and conditions as the Governor-General in Council thinks expedient.

(3) By a license granted under this section the Governor-General in Council may, subject to such conditions as he thinks fit to impose, confer on the licensee, with respect to the placing of appliances and apparatus for the supply of electricity, any of the powers which the telegraph authority possesses under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, with respect to the placing of telegraph lines and posts for the purposes of a telegraph established or maintained by the Government or to be so established or maintained.

(4) The Governor-General in Council may from time to time amend, add to or cancel any of the regulations and conditions contained in a license, and withdraw any of the powers conferred by a license or impose amended or additional conditions with respect to the exercise of those powers.

5. (1) Section 3 shall not apply to any person supplying electricity for any purpose in any local area at the time of the passing of this Act so far as regards the supply of electricity for that purpose within that area.

(2) If any question arises with respect to the purpose of the local area for or in which electricity was being supplied at that time, it shall be decided by an authority to be appointed by the Governor-General in Council in that behalf, and the decision of that authority on the question shall be final.

6. (1) Notwithstanding anything in the last foregoing section, the Governor-General in Council may, on the application of any person supplying electricity for any purpose in any local area at the time of the passing of this Act, grant to the person a license for that purpose in that area under the provisions of section 4.

(2) Where a license is granted under sub-section (1), it shall supersede any engagement between the person to whom it is granted and any local authority with respect to the conditions on which electricity may be supplied by that person for the purpose, and in the local area, specified in the license.

Penalty for supplying electricity without license or contravening license.

7. If a person does either of the following things, namely,—

- (a) being a person to whom section 3 is applicable, supplies electricity for a price without a license, or,
- (b) having a license under this Act, commits or suffers to be committed a breach of any duty prescribed in the license or of any regulation or condition contained therein, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, with a further fine which may extend to two hundred rupees for every day during which the electricity is supplied or the breach of the duty, regulation or condition continues.

8. (1) The Governor-General in Council may from time to time make such rules as he thinks expedient for protecting the public in person and property from injury by reason of contact with, or the proximity of, appliances or apparatus used in the supply of electricity, and for preventing telegraph lines from being injuriously affected by any of those appliances or apparatus.

(2) A rule under this section may apply to the appliances and apparatus of a person not having a license under this Act as well as to those of a person having a license thereunder.

(3) In making a rule under this section, the Governor-General in Council may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees and, in the case of a continuing breach, with a further fine which may extend to two hundred rupees for every day during which the breach continues.

9. (1) The Governor-General in Council shall, before making rules under the last foregoing section, publish, in such manner as he deems sufficient, a draft of the proposed rules for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

(2) There shall be published with the draft a notice specifying a date at or after which the draft will be taken into consideration.

(3) The Governor-General in Council shall receive and consider any objection or suggestion which may be made by any person with respect to the draft before the date so specified.

(4) The publication in the Gazette of India of a rule purporting to be made under the last foregoing section shall be conclusive proof that it has been duly made.

(5) Rules under that section may from time to time be amended, added to or cancelled by the Governor-General in Council.

10. Nothing in this Act shall prevent any person from being prosecuted under any other law for any act or omission which constitutes an offence under section 7 or against a rule under section 8, or from being liable under that other law to any other or higher punishment or penalty than that provided by section 7 or a rule under section 8 :

Provided that a person shall not be punished twice for the same offence.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE primary object of this Bill is to empower the Governor-General in Council to make rules (a) for protecting the public in person and property from injury by reason of contact with, or the proximity of, appliances or apparatus used in the supply of electricity for lighting, and (b) for preventing telegraph-lines from being injuriously affected by any of those appliances or apparatus.

2. The danger to the public from electric light connection arises from the fact that currents of great strength are used in the production of the light. These currents being powerful enough to cause death to any person, or set fire to any inflammable material, coming in contact with the wires while the currents are passing, that is to say, while the lamps are being used. Protection may be afforded either by placing these wires or connections in such a position that contact with them is impossible, or by so covering them with insulating material that contact with them is innocuous.

Interference with telegraph and telephone signals is caused by obstructive currents being induced in the telegraph and telephone wires when the electric light wires pass within a certain distance of them. The remedy is to arrange that the electric light wires shall be placed sufficiently far off. It is impossible of course to determine what the safe distance is without knowing the strength of the current employed for the electric light, which again varies with the number of lamps in circuit, but the distance can be determined from time to time with reference to the maximum current to be used in any particular local area.

3. A company desiring to supply electricity in any local area for any purpose must, if the company was not supplying it in that area for that purpose at the time of the passing of the Act, obtain a license from the Governor-General in Council. By this license the Governor-General in Council may impose such regulations and conditions as he thinks expedient, and confer on the licensee, with respect to the placing of appliances and apparatus for the supply of electricity, any of the powers which the telegraph-authority possesses under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, with respect to the placing of telegraph lines and posts for the purposes of a telegraph established or maintained by the Government or to be so established or maintained.

Companies which were supplying electricity in any local area for any purpose at the time of the passing of the Act may elect to continue supplying it without a license, and therefore without the obligations which may be imposed, or the privileges which may be conferred, by a license.

The 21st October, 1886.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Assam was presented to the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 21st October, 1886:—

Preliminary Report on the Bengal Civil Courts Bill, 1881.

THE Bill to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Assam was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General by the Hon'ble Mr. Stokes in 1881, was referred to a Select Committee and was circulated for opinion, but its further progress was suspended in consequence of a proposal to establish appellate benches in Bengal. That proposal having been abandoned for the present, the opinions on the Bill of 1881 have been examined, and most of the recommendations in them incorporated in the amended copy of the Bill which accompanies this Report.

The few recommendations which have not been adopted have reference to the relation of Courts of Small Causes to District Courts, and will be best considered in connection with the Provincial Small Cause Courts Bill, 1885. I propose therefore to move at the next meeting of Council that all members of the Select Committee appointed to consider and report on that Bill who are residents of, or are or have been officially connected with, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces or Assam be added to the Select Committee on the Courts Bill to which this Preliminary Report relates.

2. The following portions of the amended Bill seem to call for remark:—

- (a) Section 5—A sub-section has been added on the advice of the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh for the purpose of removing any doubt there may be as to the competence of a Local Government to appoint a Judge of a Court of Small Causes to be a Subordinate Judge, or to appoint a District Judge or Subordinate Judge to discharge temporarily the functions of another District Judge or Subordinate Judge, as the case may be, in addition to the performance of his own duties.
- (b) Section 7.—The powers vested in the High Courts at Fort William and Allahabad by the Statute 24 & 25 Vic., cap. 104, section 15, seem to render it unnecessary to provide in this and other sections of the Bill that a District Judge is in all matters connected with the administration of the Courts to act under the control of the High Court, the District Judge being already in those matters under the obligation of obeying any instructions which the High Court may be pleased to issue.
- (c) Section 8—It has been objected that the provision of the Act of 1871 which requires an Additional Judge or Subordinate Judge in charge of the office of a District Judge to discharge "such of the current duties thereof as are connected with the filing of suits and appeals, the issue of processes and the like functions," is too indefinite, and has in practice resulted in inconvenience and loss to parties. An attempt is made in sub-section (2) of section 8 of the revised Bill to define more particularly the powers which an Additional Judge or Subordinate Judge in charge of the office of a District Judge may exercise.
- (d) Section 9—Objection has been taken by the High Court for the North-Western Provinces to the words "on leave" in section 9 of the Act of 1871, and to the words in the same section which empower the District Judge to transfer cases only to his own Court or to the Court of a Subordinate Judge. The High Court points out that a Subordinate Judge may be absent from his district otherwise than on leave, as, for instance, on deputation to another district, and that, where, as occasionally happens, the Court of a Subordinate Judge is for any tract or country the Court of lowest jurisdiction, it may be convenient to transfer cases from his Court to that of a Munsif. The section has in these respects been amended, and two sub-sections (3) and (4) have been added, the former being supplementary to the amendment of sub-section (2), and the latter designed to remove a difficulty which has been felt in the North-Western Provinces.
- (e) Section 10.—The expression of this section, which was inaccurate in the Act of 1871, has been amended in the manner proposed by Mr. Justice Priusep.
- (f) Section 11.—This section has been modified in accordance with the recommendations of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal, the Chief Commissioner of Assam and Mr. Justice Priusep.

- (g) Section 16.—A sub-section has, on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, been added to meet the case of officers in the territories referred to in section 11 who dispose of civil business while on tour at any place within the local limits of their jurisdiction.
- (h) Section 17.—On the suggestion of Mr. Justice Field, a sub-section has been added to the effect that a judicial act shall not be invalid by reason only of its having been done on a holiday.
- (i) Section 18.—This section has been so drawn as to remove difficulties experienced in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Assam in the working of the corresponding section of the Act of 1871.
- (j) Section 21.—A sub-section has been added with reference to the cases at 13 B. L. R. 376; 10 B. L. R., App., 30; 19 W. R. 201; and 8 C. L. R. 6.
- (k) Section 22.—Sub-section (2) of this section has been re-drawn with advertence to the cases at 18 W. R. (F. B.) 261; 18 W. R. 316; and 19 W. R. 131.

Sub-section (3) has been added on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep.

- (l) Section 23.—The case at 1. L. R. 7 All. 775 suggests an expansion of this section.
- (m) Section 25.—Sub-section (1) will empower the District Judge to transfer appeals from orders of Munsifs, as well as from their decrees, to Subordinate Judges.

Sub-section (2) has, on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, been so drawn as to enable the District Judge to transfer to any other competent Court under his control an appeal withdrawn from the Court of a Subordinate Judge.

Sub-section (3) is suggested by the cases at 16 W. R. 235 and 18 W. R. 292.

- (n) Section 26.—This section has been amended in several particulars. It is proposed, on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Field, that the order of the High Court may be either general or special; on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, that the High Court may authorise a Subordinate Judge or Munsif to take cognizance of the proceedings mentioned in the section; on the suggestion of the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, that references by Collectors under section 322C of the Code of Civil Procedure should be added to the list of proceedings; and on the suggestion of the same Government and of Mr. Justice Field and Mr. Justice Maclean, that several of the proceedings specified in section 26 of the Bill of 1881 should be excluded therefrom.
- (o) Section 27.—On the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, it is proposed that appeals from orders passed by Subordinate Judges in proceedings mentioned in section 26 shall, when appeals are permitted, lie to the High Court.
- (p) Section 34.—With respect to section 35 of the Bill of 1881, Mr. C. J. Daniell, District Judge of Moradabad, recorded the following remarks:—

"I consider it essential to the efficiency of the ministerial officers of the subordinate Civil Courts in a judgeship that a stream of promotion should be maintained from the lowest to the highest grade of these officials throughout the judgeship. If this is secured, every hard-working man knows that there are several appointments to which he can aspire, the field for his promotion is widened, and he is more encouraged to do his work well than if he had only to look to the rare vacancies in a single munsifi for advancement. On the other hand, the Judge can promote any man from any one of several situations to any other that he may be qualified for in the whole judgeship, and a stimulus is provided to efficient and industrious work which is entirely absent if the Judge can promote no one but the officials of his own office, or if, in order to promote a deserving man in a munsifi, he is obliged to place him over the heads of other men in his own office, without being at the same time able to provide any of his own officials with a step on promotion in any of the munsifis subordinate to him.

"There can, I think, be no doubt that better men are obtainable and better work done in a wide than in a narrow field of work; but this section (35), as it stands, reduces the area over which a subordinate official's career extends within the most confined limits.

"In former times, when the subordinate Civil Courts were never in need of anything might be said in favour of allowing Munsifs to nominate and promote the officials of their own Courts; but in these days Munsifs are frequently changed, while Judges are seldom changed, and a judgeship is becoming more and more the unit of judicial administration. It is as well that this should be so, for such a condition is an incentive to a more careful supervision on the part of a Judge over his subordinates, and consequently to better work on the part of all below him. This incentive, however, will fail to act if the area of nomination and selection in a judgeship is confined to single munsifis instead of extending to all the Courts in the judgeship."

The Government of the North-Western Provinces expressed concurrence in Mr. Daniell's remarks, as the Government of Bengal did in similar remarks recorded by Mr. Justice Field.

- (q) Section 35.—This section provides for the case of Civil Court munsifs and the joint process-serving establishments now maintained throughout Bengal and the North-Western Provinces under the superintendence of central nazirs and the control of the District Judge.
- (r) Section 38.—The addition to this section was suggested by Mr. Justice Oldfield.
- (s) Section 40.—This section seems to be required for the purposes of applications under section 108 of the Code of Civil Procedure and other proceedings not referred to in sections 623 and 649 of that Code.

and may, on appeal or otherwise, reverse or modify any order made under either of those sections by any Court under his control.

(2) The District Judge shall himself be subject to the control of the Local Government in the exercise of the powers conferred on him by subsection (1).

37. Nothing in the foregoing sections of this Chapter shall exempt any officer from any penal or other consequences to which he may be liable under any other law for the time being in force.

[Act VI of 1871, s. 27.]

38. (1) The Local Government may, at the instance of the High Court or of the District Judge, transfer from any Court in the territories under its administration to any other Court in those territories all or any of the ministerial officers of any District Judge, Additional Judge, Subordinate Judge or Munsif.

(2) The District Judge may transfer all or any of the ministerial officers of any Court under his control to any other such Court.

39. Any fine imposed under this Chapter shall, if the order imposing it so directs, be recovered by deduction from the salary of the person fined.

CHAPTER VII.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

40. (1) Where a Court has from any cause ceased to have jurisdiction with respect to any case, any proceeding in relation to that case which, if that Court had not ceased to have jurisdiction, might have been had therein may be had in the Court to which the business of the former Court has been transferred.

(2) Nothing in this section applies to cases for which provision is made in section 623 or section 349 of the Code of Civil Procedure or in any other enactment for the time being in force.

41. All powers conferred by this Act may be exercised from time to time as occasion requires.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON CHARITABLE DISPENSARIES IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1885.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Darjeeling, the 29th October 1886.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on the Charitable Dispensaries in Bengal for the year 1885.

Read also—

The Report for 1884 and the Resolution recorded on it.

On the 31st December 1884 there were 230 dispensaries under Government supervision. During the year 1885, seven new institutions were established, while four were closed or removed from the Government list. The total number of dispensaries open at the close of the year under review was therefore 233 against 230 of the previous year. Twenty-four Assistant Surgeons were received by transfer from the Imperial list. Eighteen Civil Hospital Assistants were admitted into the service, of whom seven came from the Campbell Medical School, five from Patna, four from Dacca, and two from Cuttack. It was pointed out to the Government of India that the limit of age for the entrance of Assistant Surgeons into the service of Government should be raised from 25 to 28 years. So long as the limit remained at 25 years it pressed hard on many of the best students, especially those who commenced the study of medicine after taking the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Since the close of the year the Government of India has ordered that the limit of age for the entrance of Assistant Surgeons into the service of Government in Bengal should be raised to 28 years.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with pleasure the testimony borne by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals to the proficiency exhibited by the students of the Dacca Medical School at the last annual examination. Dr. Cowie is invited to express more fully his views regarding the propriety of increasing the fees paid by the recipients of medical education in this Province. It is presumed that the suggestion that young men who desire to study medicine should contribute more largely towards their education, has reference to students at the Medical College as well as to students at the medical schools. The Lieutenant-Governor would ask for an early expression of the Inspector-General's recommendations upon this point.

3. Returns have been received from 229 out of the 233 dispensaries, and the following table compares the amount of work done in them during 1884 and 1885 :—

	IN-DOOR.										OUT-DOOR.
	Under 25.	25 to 50.	50 to 75.	75 to 100.	100 to 250.	250 to 500.	500 to 750.	750 to 1,000.	Upwards of 1,000.	Total.	Under 250.	250 to 500.	500 to 750.	750 to 1,000.	1,000 to 2,500.	2,500 to 5,000.	5,000 to 7,500.	7,500 to 10,000.	Upwards of 10,000.	Total.

The total number of dispensaries which received in-door patients was 136 against 132 in the previous year.

4. Of these 229 dispensaries, 50 were visited by the Civil Surgeons daily or frequently, seven more than four times during the year, eleven four times, twenty-one three times, twenty-three twice, fifty-three once, and fourteen were not inspected at all. The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals observes :—

“I have been struck with the real interest in sanitation evinced by the medical officers in charge of the institutions I have been able to personally inspect during the year, and I have no reason to question that the same healthful progress obtains generally elsewhere.”

Some of the institutions were models of cleanliness. Hygienic arrangements were conducted systematically and intelligently. Civil Surgeons encourage their subordinates in this direction as in all other professional matters; and, judging from practical results, I must say their endeavours have met with no mean success."

It is not stated how many institutions were inspected during the year by the Inspector-General himself. This information should be given in future reports.

5. The following table shows the number of patients treated in 1885 and in the previous seven years, and the ratio of mortality among in-patients :—

	In-patients treated.	Out-patients treated.	Total.	Mortality among in-patients, per cent.
1878	28,473	927,783	956,256	20.01
1879	24,847	865,995	890,842	17.78
1880	23,567	848,095	911,662	15.17
1881	23,444	947,594	970,978	15.8
1882	23,468	934,155	957,623	15.75
1883	22,468	915,753	938,221	14.13
1884	25,077	965,555	990,632	14.75
1885	25,766	960,218	985,984	15.59

The total number of patients attending the dispensaries shows a decrease of 4,648 as compared with the number treated in 1884. The number of in-door patients, however, exceeded by 689 that recorded in the previous year.

6. The total income and expenditure of the dispensaries during the year are shown below :—

The opening balance on 1st January 1885, as shown above, is less by Rs. 3,207 than the closing balance of the previous year, as given in that year's report. The difference is explained to be due to the closure of one dispensary and the removal of another from the Government list.

7. The total receipts from Government amounted to Rs. 18,659 against Rs. 18,651 in 1884. Out of the Rs. 18,659, the sum of Rs. 5,043 was contributed to municipal dispensaries. After deduction, however, of the cost of registers and forms, and of diet in police cases, the Government contribution towards municipal dispensaries amounted to Rs. 2,570 against Rs. 3,106 in 1884. Of this Rs. 2,449 represents salaries of medical officers in the Utterpara and North Suburban Municipalities, and Rs. 121 the cost of repairs to the Pooree dispensary. The Government contribution towards dispensaries that are not municipal institutions amounted to Rs. 13,616 against Rs. 12,890 in the previous year.

8. The receipts from local sources, exclusive of municipal funds, amounted to Rs. 1,18,685 against Rs. 35,906 in the previous year. Of this, municipal dispensaries received Rs. 91,265 against Rs. 9,340 in 1884. The increase was mainly due to the fact that Rs. 68,000 were received in the Monghyr dispensary as sale proceeds of house property belonging to that institution; almost the whole of this sum was invested. The amount of subscriptions from Europeans was Rs. 16,872, and from Natives Rs. 1,06,185. It is to be regretted that the amount of native subscriptions showed a falling off of nearly Rs. 5,000 compared with the previous year. Of these subscriptions Rs. 40,263 were paid in aid of municipal dispensaries, and Rs. 82,794 in aid of other institutions. The amount received by the sale of securities and withdrawal of deposits was Rs. 25,389 against Rs. 15,769 in 1884. The interest on investments amounted to Rs. 30,890 against Rs. 27,914 in 1884. The amount contributed by municipalities was Rs. 1,43,574 against Rs. 1,16,766 in 1884, showing an increase of Rs. 26,808.

9. The gross expenditure on dispensaries, exclusive of the amounts invested, was Rs. 3,86,574 against Rs. 3,49,712 in 1884, thus showing an increase of Rs. 36,862. Of this increase, Rs. 25,200 was incurred on account of buildings and repairs. The increase of Rs. 8,633 under the head of establishment should have been explained. Medical stores were obtained from the Government Store Department and from private druggists. Of the 329 dispensaries, the accounts of which were received, 180 obtained their supplies from private sources. The cost of diet was Rs. 39,409 against Rs. 38,894 in the previous year. The average cost of each diet varied from 2 annas 7 pies to 6 pies.

ORDER — Ordered that a copy of the Resolution, with a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India, Home Department, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, to the Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, and to all Commissioners of Divisions, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT ON THE PRESIDENCY DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1885-86.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 2nd November 1886.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

General Administration Report for the Presidency Division for 1885-86.

The report was not received until seven weeks after the date on which it was due—a delay attributed to the necessity for further references to district officers after receipt of their reports. This explanation cannot be accepted as satisfactory. The Commissioner should have prepared his report from such materials as were supplied by the district reports, or as could be procured within the time allowed by Government.

2. In September and October the Commissioner spent a considerable number of days in the districts which had suffered from floods to concert measures of relief and subsequently to inspect the arrangements made. His tour during the cold weather was of limited extent. The Collectors and, with one exception, the Sub-divisional Officers in this division made good use of their time in camp. The Collector of the 24-Pergunnahs was out for 72 days, which for this district, the circumstances of which are altogether exceptional, is an unusually long tour.

Annual tours.

3. The rainfall was above the average of the preceding five years in all the districts of the division; but, except in Khulna, the fall was not well distributed, and the crops suffered alternately from drought and flood. In the 24-Pergunnahs the season began well, but transplantation of rice was retarded by an insufficient rainfall in July, while the August downpour was so heavy as to swamp large areas of the young crops. The total outturn, however (except in the tract affected by the September floods), is reported to have been nearly up to the average. In the small portion of Nuddea that was unaffected by the floods, the outturn of aus paddy was good, and throughout the district the soil, enriched by alluvial deposit left by the inundation, yielded excellent cold-weather crops. The cultivation of wheat is rapidly expanding in this district, and received a special stimulus from the loss of the winter rice in the year under review. Of the sub-divisions of Jessore, Magoorah and Narail reaped good crops of winter rice but lost most of the aus crop; while in the Sudder sub-division and in Bongong the floods had the reverse effect, destroying most of the aman, but only slightly injuring the aus. In Jhenidah, in spite of the inundations, the year is characterised as exceptionally prosperous. In Moorsshedabad the distribution of the year's rain was very unfavourable to the crops, the whole of the aus paddy being destroyed by flood, while the yield of aman was up to the average only in the Kandi sub-division. Khulna enjoyed well-timed as well as plentiful rain; the floods affected only a small portion of the Satkhira sub-division, and everywhere else the crops were excellent. The Commissioner might with advantage adopt the practice in vogue in other divisions, of giving quantitative estimates in annas of the outturn of each crop, instead of the less precise information conveyed by such adjectives as "fair" or "good."

Weather and crops.

4. The extent and general effects of the September floods have been dealt with in special Resolutions of this Government. The breach of the Lahtakuri embankment in Moorsshedabad, and the overflow of the Ganges at other points, brought large volumes of water into all the rivers of the division, which the usual drainage channels could not carry off, with the result that inundations, more or less serious, occurred in every district. In Moorsshedabad and Nuddea extensive damage was done, both to the rice crops and to houses, cattle, and stocks of grain, and special measures of relief were undertaken. In the 24-Pergunnahs the injury was confined to portions of the Baraset and Basirhat sub-divisions, aggregating about 200 square miles and containing 223 villages. Private charity, supplemented by a grant of Rs. 1,500 from the Central Relief Committee, sufficed to meet the most urgent cases of distress. The Commissioner makes special mention of the liberality of Baboo Siristidhur Konch, a merchant of Gobardanga, who contributed over Rs. 2,000 for the relief of distressed persons in his neighbourhood. In the northern part of Jessore considerable damage was caused; but in southern Jessore and Khulna the floods were less destructive, and no special measures of relief were found necessary.

5. There was a great decline in registered mortality, the ratio of deaths per thousand falling from 28.4 to 25.6. The following table compares the results of the year in each district of the division:—

"It is apparent from the statistics," Mr Smith observes, "that the past year was healthier than the preceding one, and the people generally enjoyed better health. This, I believe, is due to some extent to the floods, which caused temporary distress, discomfort, and inconvenience, but conduced to improved health. It swept away the accumulation of filth and refuse of years, flushed and cleansed cess-polls and other stagnant water, and replenished tanks with wholesome fluid. The decrease in mortality is also partly due to sanitary improvements which are being gradually made in municipalities, and the attention which is given to the supply of good drinking-water." It would be most gratifying if a steady progressive improvement could be shown in the death-rate of urban tracts, such as might fairly be attributed to progressive sanitary arrangements. The figures given, however, only indicate that there was a considerable increase in mortality during 1884-85, followed by a still greater decrease during 1885-86—fluctuations which can hardly be connected with the slow and uniform course of municipal reform. Moreover, it is notorious that the registration of deaths is still very imperfect, and that, though it is fair to infer an improvement in health from a simultaneous decline in the recorded death-rate of several districts, it is hardly safe to go much further in drawing deductions from the returns.

Wages.

6 There was no change in the wages of labour except in the 24-Pergunnahs, as to which the Commissioner writes:—

"The price of labour is reported to have been on the increase in every part of the district, especially in the neighbourhood of the metropolis, where the numerous mills, factories, presses, &c., pay high rates for labour. In this district labourers, both skilled and unskilled, are said to be on the whole very fairly off, except of course when depression in any particular trade causes an occasional loss of work. The earnings of the lowest order of unskilled labourers vary from six to eight annas a day."

Material condition of the people.

7. The Commissioner states that—

"The condition of the people during the past year was not on the whole very favourable. It was affected by the floods to a more or less extent in every district, and in Moorshedabad and Nuddea depression had been caused by drought in previous years. The increased registration of bonds and of sales and mortgages chiefly of small quantities of immoveable property, exhibited in the remarks on civil justice, show that money was wanted in a more than ordinary large number of cases. In the 24-Pergunnahs the year was not a favourable one for petty landowners and the agricultural classes generally. For persons with small fixed income, such as the amil class, Mr. Forbes, the Magistrate and Collector of the 24-Pergunnahs district, says: 'The times are certainly bad. Prices of food have increased, and common rice sold at the Sudder at an average of 13 4 seers throughout the year, as compared with 15 4 seers during the preceding year and an average of 15 8 seers for the preceding five years.' For the labouring classes work during the present year has been fairly abundant, except in jute and cotton mills. Depression of trade, owing in a great measure to excessive production, forced the former to reduce their outputs. Towards the close of the year, however, work was again resumed, and the work-people were thus spared any very great privations. Indeed, in some cases they were well enough off when the work of the mills was slack to strike against any reduction in their wages. In Nuddea the condition of the people is said to have remained unchanged except in the tracts flooded by the inundation, where there was temporary distress and inconvenience owing to the washing away of houses.

The condition of agriculturists in Jessore and Khulna was generally prosperous. In Moorshedabad, on the other hand, the state of things was not satisfactory, owing to the heavy floods following on the deficient rainfall of previous years. Mr. Smith observes:—

"High prices ruled almost throughout the year. The holding out of the rains in May and June alarmed the mahajans. They stopped loans, and the cultivators in consequence got alarmed; the landless day-labourers found it difficult to get work. When the flood came and destroyed the crops in Bagri, a cry for relief from Government was raised. Assistance was given in all urgent cases, and with great care, chiefly from local sources, which had been already more or less developed; for relief in the high lands in consequence of the previous drought."

8. Forty-seven mills and factories of all kinds, employing over 40,000 hands, were at work in the 24 Pergunnahs during the year. The jute and cotton industries continued in a depressed condition; and the production of gunnies in the jute-mills has been much curtailed in order to reduce the glut of stock in the market. As regards the cotton mills, the Commissioner quotes the following extract from the Collector's report:—

"The previous year had bequeathed to a trade embarrassed by the over-production occasioned by the starting of new spindles the remains of about the worst crop of Bengal cottons which had been grown for many seasons, and at the outset prospects were not encouraging. Many mills restricted their output by reducing the hours of labour, and the production was still more curtailed by strikes against a reduction of 12½ per cent. in wages, which was necessitated by the depressed state of the trade and very generally enforced. With the rains, as usual, a better demand sprang up; prices of yarn advanced, and when new cotton came to market in November, the industry was established on a firm basis. The new Bengal cotton showed good quality at first, but rapidly deteriorated. Fortunately the abundance and cheapness of Bombay cotton largely compensated for this; and though the consumption of yarns fell off when the hotweather set in, the year ended with fairly encouraging prospects. Full time working with artificial light has been resumed in the coldweather, and the production has been larger than ever. It is therefore very unsatisfactory to note that the temporary closing of an important outlet for Calcutta yarn in Burmah, owing to the troubles in that country, has seriously hampered the trade, which has, moreover, to compete with ever-increasing imports of Bombay spinnings. The tendency of the Bombay competition apparently is to drive the Calcutta mills on to the coarser number of yarns, since Bombay, with its splendid selection of cotton, better climate, and better work-people, can spin 20s. cheaper than Calcutta."

9. The silk industry of Moorshedabad is also depressed, owing to the competition of other silks in the European market. Good prices were realised for the indigo of Nuddea, Moorshedabad, and Jessore; but in the two latter districts the season was unfavourable and the outturn was small. Sugar continues to be largely manufactured in the Bussirhat and Baraset sub-divisions of the 24-Pergunnahs, and in Nuddea, Khulna, and Jessore. In the last-named district there are over 250 sugar factories, which are estimated to have turned out 3,344½ maunds of sugar. Excellent pottery is made on the bank of the Ichamati in Khulna, and specimens have been sent to the Indo-Colonial Exhibition in London.

10. The year was not, in the opinion of the Commissioner, very favourable for trade. Nuddea, a district which always imports rice, imported an unusual quantity in 1885-86 owing to the failure of local crops. In the Ranaghat sub-division of the same district, the tobacco crop was successful, and there was a large export of the leaf. In Jessore the bulk of the trade is still carried by river, the Bengal Central Railway and the Central Flotilla Company not having as yet been able to make convenient arrangements for loading and unloading. The Kotechandpore sugar, however, is now carried from Jhinkergacha by the railway. The falling off in trade at Baluchar and Azingunge, in Moorshedabad, caused by the failure of local banks, has been still further accentuated during the year.

under report, while the export of hides from the Kandi sub-division in the same district has increased.

11. The Commissioner states that the one subject on which there was any serious amount of local feeling during the year was the inundation, which spread over a large area in Moorshedabad, Nuddea, and Jessore, and affected in a less degree Khulna and the 24-Pergunnahs. These floods are, he considers, more or less periodical, and though they cause immediate trouble, they are welcomed by the mass of the people as enriching the exhausted soil and improving the fertility of future crops. The more educated class, however, living in towns, know less of the ultimate utility of such inundations, and realise very strongly the initial suffering. The people who take an interest in Local Self-Government showed less enthusiasm during the year on the subject, apparently resting in satisfaction that the desired boon had been bestowed. Only a small number were interested in the Burmese war and such public topics. Mr. Smith adds:—

“The political agitation and the deputation of candidates to try for seats in the Imperial Parliament, the attempt to get up monster meetings by the aid of merry-go-rounds, &c., to discuss political questions, and the interest taken by the educated few in such works as New India and the Old Man's Hope, are, however, noticeable features of the time”

12. In reviewing the annual reports of other divisions, the Lieutenant-Governor has been able to notice the favourable comments made by Commissioners on the tone of the local newspapers, which in the interior of the country is for the most part moderate and good. It is matter for regret that the same cannot be said of the native press of the metropolis. Mr. Smith writes:—

“Of late years there has been a considerable increase in the number of newspapers published at Calcutta. These papers are circulated in the mofussil, and the number of their readers is increasing with the advance of education. The tone of the press, as reflected in the native papers, has been generally antagonistic to the legislative and administrative action of the Government. The expedition to Burmah and its annexation have been the subject of specially hostile animadversions. The rancorous antipathy to the European community, which has been a marked feature of the press for some years now, has not abated. It seems to me to be the deliberate aim of the writers to excite and keep alive feelings of hostility to Europeans. Every crime of which a European is charged is accepted as true and as typical of the conduct of Europeans generally. If enquiry proves it false, the papers continue to assert its truth, and declare the decision to be only a result of the gross partiality of the courts, impugning alike the mofussil tribunal and the High Court”

13. The Commissioner notices a case of extortion which occurred during the year in the Moorshedabad district

“A young man who had received a good education and was a constant contributor to the Calcutta press, was charged with attempting to extort money by writing threatening letters to a native landholder. He wrote that he had received from many respectable correspondents accounts showing that the zemindar had been guilty of high-handed and oppressive conduct, murder and riot, and that he had been asked to publish the accounts in the newspapers, and if he were to publish the real facts it would probably be serious. If he did not publish the information he would lose Rs. 500 a year, which he received as a correspondent of the newspapers, but he would remain silent if he were compensated for the loss. The zemindar prosecuted, and a sentence of three months' imprisonment was passed. It was upheld on appeal. The case, though not strictly a press case, is typical of an evil that results from the freedom with which malicious statements are published”

14. The following statement shows the number and value of suits of all kinds instituted during the years 1884 and 1885:—

The increase in rent-suits in the 24 Pergunnahs and Moorshedabad is attributed to a large number of institutions shortly before the introduction of the new Tenancy Act, landlords being anxious to bring their cases under the old law, which they understood, rather than under the new law, as to the operation of which they were uncertain. The larger number of institutions of suits for money or moveables is accounted for by the temporary agricultural distress caused by the floods; debtors were unable to discharge their obligations, and creditors therefore went into court to sue for the amounts due to them.

15. There were 15,916 reports of cognizable cases during the year against 16,844 in 1884, showing a decrease of 928, or 5·5 per cent.; and there was also a decrease in non-cognizable crime. Rioting, dacoity, and offences punishable under the Arms Act are mentioned as offences in which a decrease was particularly observed. The total number of persons arrested during the year was 15,188, of whom 9,051, or 59·5 per cent., were convicted, the proportion of convictions in 1884 having been 58·3 per cent.

16. The total collections of excise revenue during the year amounted to Rs. 25,72,052, a decrease of Rs. 1,89,317 on the receipts of the previous year. Of the whole revenue, nearly half Rs. 12,72,192, was realised from country spirits. The decrease was most marked in country spirits, rum, imported wine, ganja and opium. The unfavourable agricultural circumstances of the year had the usual effect on excise receipts, and in the case of country spirits the income was affected by uncertainty as to the policy to be adopted by Government on the report of the Excise Commission, which checked competition at the auction sales. A short crop of ganja in the producing districts caused an enhancement of price and smaller consumption of the drug. In Berhampore the sudder distillery system was re-introduced in and around the municipalities at the head-quarters of the district. The experience of one year, and that a year of agricultural depression, is not sufficient to warrant any clear inference as to the probable results of the change. The gross income from stamp revenue for the year was Rs. 38,35,154 against Rs. 37,21,000 in the previous year—an increase of Rs. 1,14,154. This increase was accompanied by a decrease in charges, and the improvement in the net revenue amounted to Rs. 1,25,202. Duty and penalty were levied by Civil Courts and Collectors on insufficiently stamped documents in 739 cases against 512 in 1884-85, the increase being almost entirely accounted for by the impounding of 199 indigo kabulyats in Nuddea. The net collections of license-tax amounted to Rs. 1,23,901 against Rs. 1,25,040 in the previous year—a percentage of 98·05 on the net demand. The only district in which the demand of the previous year was not reduced was Nuddea, where it increased by Rs. 1,180. The license-tax operations in the town of Calcutta are shown in the following statement:—

DESIGNATION.	Amount in 1885-86.	Amount in 1884-85.	Increase.	Decrease
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Assessments	5,60,120	4,82,270	77,850
Remissions	1,30,275	66,950	63,325
Refunds	12,280	3,710	8,570
Demands	4,17,565	4,11,610	5,955
Collections	4,17,365	4,02,470	14,895
Balance	200	9,140	8,940

17. The percentage of land revenue collections on demand was very satisfactory in all districts but Nuddea, where it fell from 97·4 to 95·5, and Khulna, where only 91·6 per cent. of the demand was collected. The navigable channels under the Canals Act of 1864—the Circular and Eastern Canals and the Nuddea Rivers—yielded a revenue of Rs. 6,63,265, a decrease of Rs. 1,01,918 on the receipts of the previous year, owing partly to the floods, which enabled boats to evade the toll-stations, and partly to the depressed state of the Calcutta market.

18. The District Road Committees of this division, except in Moorshedabad and Khulna, have so many miles of metalled roads to keep up at a heavy cost that they have very small funds at their disposal for new works. To this normal disadvantage was added, in the year under review, serious damage done by the floods to the existing roads; and it is not therefore surprising to learn that no new works of any great importance could be undertaken in any district. In the Diamond Harbour sub-division of the 24-Pergunnahs, in Jessore, and in Khulna, the want of feeder roads to the railway is still severely felt, and, in the Commissioner's opinion, the Bengal Central Railway has no prospect of receiving the goods traffic passing through Jessore and Khulna until such roads are constructed.

19. The District Road Committees and Branch Committees are reported to have taken a fair degree of interest in the duties entrusted to them. Of the 35 municipalities in the division, the elective system has been introduced into all but three in the district of Khulna, and in 26 out of the 32 towns in which the Municipal Commissioners are elected, they have the right to elect their own Chairman. In four cases, however, the Commissioners waived this right, and a Chairman was appointed by Government on their application. Of the working of the new system, the Commissioner writes—

"Much improvement is said to have been made during the year in the affairs of the municipalities in the districts of the 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea, and Moorshedabad. Roads, drains, culverts, wells, temporary latrines, and general conservancy have been fairly attended to. Generally speaking, the new Commissioners appear to have done their work well. I fully agree with Mr. Forbes in thinking that they, as a whole, show a decided interest in their work, and may be fairly accredited with a good average stock of practical common sense, with an honest desire to do their duty, while the frequent references made by them, and the readiness shown to comply with the suggestions, argue well for their willingness to listen to advice."

The Commissioner, however, thinks that the supervision exercised over the municipal accounts and over the proceedings of the collecting staff is more lax than it should be. This he properly attributes to want of acquaintance with business habits in many of the new honorary office-holders, and the strict inspections made by the Examiner of Local Accounts should soon supply the necessary remedy. The Commissioner notices a tendency to listen readily to applications from municipal employés for increased allowances, and to spend freely on higher education.

20. The following statement shows the progress made in the numbers of schools and pupils during the year:—

CLASS OF INSTITUTIONS.		1884-85.		1885-86.
		Schools.	Pupils.	Schools.	Pupils.

The floods, while they lasted, interfered greatly with educational work, 400 schools of different classes remaining closed for periods of from three days to four months. In the 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea, and Jessore, both the number of lower primary schools and the number of pupils attending them, owing principally to the new rule enforced by the Education Department under which all schools in existence for less than six months, or having less than ten pupils, are excluded from the returns. The number of successful candidates at the lower primary scholarship examination was 941 out of 2,056 candidates, against 900 out of 2,214 in the previous year. The following account is given by the Commissioner of two new technical schools in Moorshedabad:—

“Two technical schools, entered in the returns as industrial schools, were started for the first time during the year in Moorshedabad under the auspices of the Magistrate. Of them, one is called the Lalbagh technical school, and the other the Berhampore technical school. The former has worked for a full year, and the Moorshedabad Municipality contributed Rs. 469 for its support; Rs. 145 were received by subscription and Rs. 20 from other sources. The institution is managed by a Committee, who have appointed an Honorary Superintendent and two teachers. The school is attended by 63 pupils, who receive general education in the adjoining schools. An examination was held, and prizes were awarded to the successful students. The school began by imparting instructions (gratis) in clock-repairing, carpentry, and electro-plating. Latterly, drawing and soap-making have been introduced. It is stated that ivory, bidri, and embroidery works will shortly be taken in hand.

“The Berhampore school was opened in February 1886. Ninety-six students were on the roll on the 31st March last. They are mostly pupils of the several schools for general education in the vicinity; but private gentlemen such as pleaders, ministerial officers, &c., also attend. The local municipality contributed Rs. 120 towards the expenses of the institution, and Maharani Sornomoyee of Cossimbazar gave a donation of Rs. 500 for the purchase of tools and implements. Drawing, carpentry, and clock-repairing are the subjects of instruction.”

21. The Commissioner records the names of those zemindars who were most prominent in contributing subscriptions and in organizing and distributing relief during the distress caused by the floods. The thanks of Government have already been conveyed to these gentlemen. On the general conduct of the zemindars of the Division, Mr. Smith has little to report either of praise or blame.

Mr. Smith has conducted the administration of a laborious and important division with ability and success.

22. The Commissioner's remarks on the work of his subordinates will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

RESOLUTION.

In the "Notes" referred to in the preamble, Mr. B. M. Malabari of Bombay a gentleman known to the Indian public for his public-spirited efforts to promote social reform, brings to the notice of the Government of India important considerations connected with the question of infant marriages and widowhood in India. In his "Notes" Mr. Malabari forcibly depicts the evils incident to those customs, and calls upon the Government to take measures for mitigating them, while he at the same time suggests the direction which, in his opinion, such measures of mitigation might follow. He thinks that the practice of infant marriage might be discouraged were the Educational authorities to rule that no student with a child-wife should be eligible for University degrees, and if the various Heads of Government Departments were instructed to give the preference to those applicants for employment in the public service who were unmarried. In regard to widow re marriage, Mr. Malabari thinks that, among other palliatives, good would come if Government were to take action with a view to providing (1) that no Hindu girl who during her minority, had lost her husband, or the person to whom she had been betrothed, should be condemned to perpetual widowhood against her will; (2) that arrangements might be made in suspected cases to ascertain whether a widow had adopted seclusion voluntarily, or whether it had been forced upon her; (3) that every widow, of whatever age, should have the right to complain to the authorities of social ill-usage, and that proper facilities should be afforded her for the purpose; and (4) that it should be declared illegal for priests to excommunicate either the parties contracting a second marriage, or their relations and connexions.

2. Copies of Mr. Malabari's notes were forwarded to Local Governments and Administrations, with the remark that the subject was one of great importance to the social well-being of the people, and that the Governor-General in Council would be glad to receive any observations which the local authorities might desire to make on the proposals. Local Governments and Administrations were at the same time encouraged to consult such official or non-official persons as were considered to be well acquainted with native feeling on the question.

3. All replies from Local Governments and Administrations have now been received. They bear testimony to the good which even already has been done by Mr. Malabari's endeavours to apply a remedy to a state of things which no section of the community regards altogether with approval, and which some consider to be a great abuse. But while thus regarding with sympathy Mr. Malabari's praiseworthy efforts, all the Local Governments and Administrations exhibit complete unanimity of opinion against the adoption of the legislative action, and the imposition of the executive disqualifications which Mr. Malabari advocates. After careful consideration, the Governor-General in Council agrees with the unanimous conclusion arrived at on the subject by the local authorities, and he will endeavour to state as briefly as possible the reasons which have led him to that conclusion.

4. In dealing with such subjects as those raised in Mr. Malabari's Notes, the British Government in India has usually been guided by certain general principles. For instance, when caste or custom enjoins a practice which involves a breach of the ordinary criminal law, the State will enforce the law. When caste or custom lays down a rule which is of its nature enforceable in the Civil Courts, but is clearly opposed to morality or public policy, the State will decline to enforce it. When caste or custom lays down a rule which deals with such matters as are usually left to the option of citizens, and which does not need the aid of Civil or Criminal Courts for its enforcement, State interference is not considered either desirable or expedient.

In the application of such general principles to particular cases, there is doubtless room for differences of opinion; but there is one common-sense test which may often be applied with advantage in considering whether the State should or should not interfere in its legislative or executive capacity with social or religious questions of the kind now under notice. The test is, "Can the State give effect to its commands by the ordinary machinery at its disposal?" If not, it is desirable that the State should abstain from making a rule which it cannot enforce without a departure from its usual practice or procedure.

If this test be applied in the present case, the reasons will be apparent why His Excellency in Council considers that interference by the State is undesirable, and that the reforms advocated by Mr. Malabari, which affect the social customs of many races, with probably as many points of difference as of agreement, must be left to the improving influences of time, and to the gradual operation of the mental and moral development of the people by the spread of education.

It is true that the British Government in India has by its legislation set up a standard of morality independent of, and in some material respects differing from, the standard set up by caste; and it may be that the former standard has had some beneficial effect in influencing native customs, practices, and modes of thought. But legislation, though it may be didactic in its effect, should not be undertaken for merely didactic purposes; and in the competition of influence between legislation on the one hand, and caste or custom on the other, the condition of success on the part of the former is that the Legislature should keep within its natural boundaries, and should not, by overstepping those boundaries, place itself in direct antagonism to social opinion.

5. Of the suggestions made in the course of the voluminous correspondence quoted in the preamble, the only two which do not seem to the Government of India to be open to serious objection on ground of principle are (1) the amendment of section 2 of Act XV of 1856 as to the forfeiture of property of a widow on re-marriage; and (2) the supply of machinery by which a Hindu widow, who fails to obtain the consent of her caste-fellows to her re-marriage, may nevertheless marry without renouncing her religion.

But although there is much to be said in favour of each of these suggestions, the Governor-General in Council, as at present advised, would prefer not to interfere, even to the limited extent proposed, by legislative action until sufficient proof is forthcoming that legislation is required to meet a serious practical evil, and that such legislation has been asked for by a section, important in influence or number, of the Hindu community itself.

6. With this expression of his views, His Excellency in Council has decided to publish all the opinions which have been submitted to the Government of India on this important question in the form of a Selection from its Records.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations for information; that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India for general information; and that the Resolution, together with the papers read in the preamble, be published as a Selection from the Records of the Government of India.

The elements of merit shall include originality, invention, discovery, utility, quality, skill, workmanship, fitness for the purposes intended, adaptation to public wants, economy and cost.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph. The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnaud's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the same period for the past ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage of saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numerical means or averages of the rainfall in the district are determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional stations for the period in question during the stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

ERRATUM.—Dacca in the column of total rainfall for week ending 22nd October 1886 for 8°00 read "nil."

for the week ending Friday, the 29th October 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 29TH OF OCTOBER 1886.

THE week under review has been marked by rapid and large fluctuations of the atmospheric pressure, and by excessive temperature. The horizontal air motion over the province was not only unusually small, but was mainly due to slight local differences of conditions; and was hence very variable and irregular. The excessive temperature apparently caused unusually large vertical motion of the atmosphere. This gave two very large and rapid oscillations of pressure, and caused frequent development of cloud, more especially in the coast districts of Orissa and Bengal, where the air is still largely charged with vapour, and this, as usually happens in Bengal with large and unusual vertical motion of the air, gave frequent thunder-storms. The atmosphere was hence in a slightly disturbed state during the whole week, the variations of pressure over the province large, and the variations in the changes of pressure from station to station, also large in amount. A considerable amount of rain fell during the week, due generally to thunder-storms, and as is usually the case with rainfall under such conditions, it was very irregularly distributed. The rainfall occurred chiefly in the coast districts, so that Orissa, South-West and East Bengal each received amounts slightly in excess of their average fall. The whole of Behar (with the exception of the Sonthal Pergunnahs) received no rain during the week. As the rainfall of the latter half of October generally accompanies the advance of cyclonic storms from the Bay, it is evident that the rainfall of the past week in Orissa and Bengal has occurred under an unusual and very favourable combination of conditions.

Pressure was below the average at the commencement of the week by amounts which ranged from zero at Chittagong to $\cdot 10''$ at Patna and $\cdot 11''$ at Gya. It increased from $\cdot 09''$ to $\cdot 12''$ on Saturday. This was followed by a rapid fall on Sunday (the 24th) and Monday (the 25th), averaging $\cdot 17''$ throughout the province, but varying considerably in amount at different stations. A more rapid increase of pressure occurred on Tuesday (the 26th) and Wednesday (the 27th). This, like the preceding movement, varied considerably in amount at different stations. It was followed on Thursday (the 28th) and Friday (the 29th) by a more moderate, but equally irregular fall, which averaged $\cdot 08''$ throughout the province. Pressure at the end of the week differed very slightly from the normal. The mean pressure of the week was below the normal at all stations except False Point, Sangoor Island, Jessore, Chittagong and Dacca, where it was practically normal. The deficiency was greatest at Bankipore ($\cdot 05''$) and at Darjeeling ($06''$).

The most marked feature of the week was its excessive temperature. The mean temperature of the week was $6\cdot 3^{\circ}$ above the normal mean in South Behar, $5\cdot 2^{\circ}$ in Chutia Nagpur, 4° in Orissa, South-West Bengal and North Behar, and 2° in East Bengal. In the coast districts the day and night temperatures have been almost equally excessive. Thus in Orissa and South Bengal the maximum day temperature was $3\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ above the normal, whilst the minimum day temperature was $4\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ above it. On the other hand, it is the night temperature chiefly which was excessive in the interior of the province. Thus in Behar the mean maximum day temperature of the week was $2\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ above the average, whilst the mean minimum night temperature was $8\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ above it. The variations of the day and night temperatures in different parts of the province from the mean of the period are shown more fully in the accompanying table:—

The general character of the air motion and of the rainfall of the week has been already stated.

Local showers fell in East Bengal and Orissa on the 23rd. Very heavy rain fell at some stations in the south-eastern portions of East Bengal. Thus at Harishpore in the Noakholly district $6\cdot 31$ inches were registered, and at Fenny $3\cdot 2$ inches. Moderate showers were received in the sub-montane districts of North Bengal on the 25th. Light to moderate showers occurred at many stations in South-West Bengal, North Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur on the 26th, and in South-West and East Bengal and Chutia Nagpur on the 27th. The heaviest rainfall during these two days was received at Gournadi in the Backergunge district on the 27th, when $2\cdot 55$ inches were registered. The rainfall of the two remaining days of the week (the 28th and 29th) was confined almost entirely to Orissa and South-West Bengal. On the 28th the following were the largest amounts registered:— Bussirhat 3·35 inches, Bongong 2·91 inches, and Satkhira 2·85 inches. The rainfall of the 29th was much smaller in amount than that of the 28th. The irregularity of the rainfall of the week is shown by the fact that in Orissa it ranged between ·1 inch (at Pooree) to 5·14 inches (at Cuttack), in East Bengal from ·15 inch (at Jamalpore) to 5·31 inches (at Harishpore), and in South Bengal from nil to 3·35 inches.

Orissa received an average of 1·74 inches or 10 per cent. in excess; South-West Bengal an average of 1·04 inches or 5 per cent. in excess; East Bengal 1·3 inches or 18 per cent. in excess; Chutia Nagpur ·57 inch or 10 per cent. in excess. The average of North Bengal was ·52 inch or 23 per cent. in defect. No rain fell in Behar except in the Southal Pergunnahs, the average fall being one-third of an inch.

CALCUTTA SMALL CAUSE COURT.

NOTICE.

In accordance with suggestions contained in a report to the High Court, signed by Mr. Justice Wilson and Mr. Justice Trevelyan, on their inspection of the Calcutta Small Cause Court, a new system will, on and after the 28th October 1886, be tried for the purpose of revising the list of cases which come daily into the court.

All summons cases will, on the returnable date of the summons, come before one only of the Judges, who will revise the whole list of the court for each day.

He will go through the list, enter "compromises," make decrees in cases in which the defendant does not appear, give fresh summonses in cases where the summons has not been served, grant necessary postponements, ascertain what causes are defended, and dispose of any cases which, in his judgment, can be disposed of summarily.

This would leave the whole time of the other Judges free for the trial of defended causes. The defended causes will be assigned by the Judge revising the list to the lists of the different Judges on the earliest possible days, and will be adjourned by him to those days. The Judge revising the list will have before him the list of each Judge for each day, so far as already made up, and will arrange that there should always be a sufficient number of cases, say 25 or 30, on each Judge's list. Each of the other Judges will thus have each day his list of defended cases provided for him. When a second summons has been granted, the case will, on the new return day, come again before the Judge who revises the list for that day.

If under this system a Judge should at any time find his list becoming clogged, he will communicate with the revising Judge, and inform the latter that he must have a day or days left clear to enable him to pull up. Thus if on the first of the month a Judge finds that his lists were getting blocked, and that it will take a day to get them clear, he will tell the revising Judge that this is the case. The latter, when revising the lists of the Judge in question, may see that they are already filled, say up to the 9th; he will leave the 10th blank. The Judge who had found himself blocked, knowing that the 10th would be a clear day, will use his discretion: he will either go on as usual up to the 10th, trusting to clear himself on that day, or will adjourn a sufficient number of cases to that day to enable him to take the other cases as nearly as possible on their proper dates.

ADJOURNMENTS.

No "costs of the day" will be allowed on adjournments.

Nor will adjournments be allowed, even by consent, except upon good cause shown.

By order of the Court,

C. Y. C. BOLST,

Clerk of the Court.

(5) Rules under that section may from time to time be amended, added to or cancelled by the Governor-General in Council.

10. Nothing in this Act shall prevent any person from being prosecuted under any other law for any act or omission which constitutes an offence under section 7 or against a rule under section 8, or from being liable under that other law to any other or higher punishment or penalty than that provided by section 7 or a rule under section 8 :

Provided that a person shall not be punished twice for the same offence.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE primary object of this Bill is to empower the Governor-General in Council to make rules (a) for protecting the public in person and property from injury by reason of contact with, or the proximity of, appliances or apparatus used in the supply of electricity for lighting, and (b) for preventing telegraph-lines from being injuriously affected by any of those appliances or apparatus.

2. The danger to the public from electric light connections arises from the fact that currents of great strength are used in the production of the light, the currents being powerful enough to cause death to any person, or set fire to any inflammable material, coming in contact with the wires while the currents are passing, that is to say, while the lamps are being used. Protection may be afforded either by placing these wires or connections in such a position that contact with them is impossible, or by so covering them with insulating material that contact with them is innocuous.

Interference with telegraph and telephone signals is caused by obstructive currents being induced in the telegraph and telephone wires when the electric light wires pass within a certain distance of them. The remedy is to arrange that the electric light wires shall be placed sufficiently far off. It is impossible of course to determine what the safe distance is without knowing the strength of the current employed for the electric light, which again varies with the number of lamps in circuit, but the distance can be determined from time to time with reference to the maximum current to be used in any particular local area.

3. A company desiring to supply electricity in any local area for any purpose must, if the company was not supplying it in that area for that purpose at the time of the passing of the Act, obtain a license from the Governor-General in Council. By this license the Governor-General in Council may impose such regulations and conditions as he thinks expedient, and confer on the licensee, with respect to the placing of appliances and apparatus for the supply of electricity, any of the powers which the telegraph-authority possesses under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, with respect to the placing of telegraph lines and posts for the purposes of a telegraph established or maintained by the Government or to be so established or maintained.

Companies which were supplying electricity in any local area for any purpose at the time of the passing of the Act may elect to continue supplying it without a license, and therefore without the obligations which may be imposed, or the privileges which may be conferred, by a license.

The 21st October, 1886.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second publication.]

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Assam was presented to the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 21st October, 1886 :—

Preliminary Report on the Bengal Civil Courts Bill, 1881.

THE Bill to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Assam was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General by the Hon'ble Mr. Stokes in 1881, was referred to a Select Committee and was circulated for opinion, but its further progress was suspended in consequence of a proposal to establish appellate benches in Bengal. That proposal having been abandoned for the present, the opinions on the Bill of 1881 have been examined, and most of the recommendations in them incorporated in the amended copy of the Bill which accompanies the Report.

The few recommendations which have not been adopted have reference to the relation of Courts of Small Causes to District Courts, and will be best considered in connection with the Provincial Small Cause Courts Bill, 1885. I propose therefore to move at the next meeting of Council that all members of the Select Committee appointed to consider and report on that Bill who are residents of, or are or have been officially connected with, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces or Assam be added to the Select Committee on the Courts Bill to which this Preliminary Report relates.

2. The following portions of the amended Bill seem to call for remark :—

- (a) Section 5.—A sub-section has been added on the advice of the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh for the purpose of removing any doubt there may be as to the competence of a Local Government to appoint a Judge of a Court of Small Causes to be a Subordinate Judge, or to appoint a District Judge or Subordinate Judge to discharge temporarily the functions of another District Judge or Subordinate Judge, as the case may be, in addition to the performance of his own duties.
- (b) Section 7.—The powers vested in the High Courts at Fort William and Allahabad by the Statute 24 & 25, Vic., cap. 104, section 15, seem to render it unnecessary to provide in this and other sections of the Bill that a District Judge is in all matters connected with the administration of the Courts to act under the control of the High Court, the District Judge being already in those matters under the obligation of obeying any instructions which the High Court may be pleased to issue.
- (c) Section 8.—It has been objected that the provision of the Act of 1871 which requires an Additional Judge or Subordinate Judge in charge of the office of a District Judge to discharge “such of the current duties thereof as are connected with the filing of suits and appeals, the issue of processes and the like functions,” is too indefinite, and has in practice resulted in inconvenience and loss to parties. An attempt is made in sub-section (2) of section 8 of the revised Bill to define more particularly the powers which an Additional Judge or Subordinate Judge in charge of the office of a District Judge may exercise.
- (d) Section 9.—Objection has been taken by the High Court for the North-Western Provinces to the words “on leave” in section 9 of the Act of 1871, and to the words in the same section which empower the District Judge to transfer cases only to his own Court or to the Court of a Subordinate Judge. The High Court points out that a Subordinate Judge may be absent from his district otherwise than on leave, as, for instance, on deputation to another district, and that, where, as occasionally happens, the Court of a Subordinate Judge is for any tract of country the Court of lowest jurisdiction, it may be convenient to transfer cases from his Court to that of a Munsif. The section has in these respects been amended, and two sub-sections (3) and (4) have been added, the former being supplementary to the amendment of sub-section (1), and the latter designed to remove a difficulty which has been felt in the North-Western Provinces.
- (e) Section 10.—The expression of this section, which was inaccurate in the Act of 1871, has been amended in the manner proposed by Mr. Justice Prinsep.
- (f) Section 11.—This section has been modified in accordance with the recommendations of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, the Chief Commissioner of Assam and Mr. Justice Prinsep.

- (g) Section 16.—A sub-section has, on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, been added to meet the case of officers in the territories referred to in section 11 who dispose of civil business while on tour at any place within the local limits of their jurisdiction.
- (h) Section 17.—On the suggestion of Mr. Justice Field, a sub-section has been added to the effect that a judicial act shall not be invalid by reason only of its having been done on a holiday.
- (i) Section 18.—This section has been so drawn as to remove difficulties experienced in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Assam in the working of the corresponding section of the Act of 1871.
- (j) Section 21.—A sub-section has been added with reference to the cases at 13 B. L. R. 376; 10 B. L. R., App., 30; 19 W. R. 201; and 8 C. L. R. 6.
- (k) Section 22.—Sub-section (2) of this section has been re-drawn with advertence to the cases at 18 W. R. (F. B.) 261; 18 W. R. 316; and 19 W. R. 131.

Sub-section (3) has been added on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep.

- (l) Section 23.—The case at I. L. R. 7 All. 775 suggests an expansion of this section.
- (m) Section 25.—Sub-section (1) will empower the District Judge to transfer appeals from orders of Munsifs, as well as from their decrees, to Subordinate Judges.

Sub-section (2) has, on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, been so drawn as to enable the District Judge to transfer to any other competent Court under his control an appeal withdrawn from the Court of a Subordinate Judge.

Sub-section (3) is suggested by the cases at 16 W. R. 235 and 18 W. R. 292.

- (n) Section 26.—This section has been amended in several particulars. It is proposed, on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Field, that the order of the High Court may be either general or special; on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, that the High Court may authorise a Subordinate Judge or Munsif to take cognizance of the proceedings mentioned in the section; on the suggestion of the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, that references by Collectors under section 322C of the Code of Civil Procedure should be added to the list of proceedings; and on the suggestion of the same Government and of Mr. Justice Field and Mr. Justice Maclean, that several of the proceedings specified in section 26 of the Bill of 1881 should be excluded therefrom.
- (o) Section 27.—On the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, it is proposed that appeals from orders passed by Subordinate Judges in proceedings mentioned in section 26 shall, when appeals are permitted, lie to the High Court.
- (p) Section 34.—With respect to section 35 of the Bill of 1881, Mr. C. J. Daniell, District Judge of Moradabad, recorded the following remarks:—

“I consider it essential to the efficiency of the ministerial officers of the subordinate Civil Courts in a judgeship that a stream of promotion should be maintained from the lowest to the highest grade of these officials throughout the judgeship. If this is secured, every hard-working man knows that there are several appointments to which he can aspire, the field for his promotion is widened, and he is more encouraged to do his work well than if he had only to look to the rare vacancies in a single munsifi for advancement. On the other hand, the Judge can promote any man from any one of several situations to any other that he may be qualified for in the whole judgeship, and a stimulus is provided to efficient and industrious work which is entirely absent if the Judge can promote no one but the officials of his own office, or if, in order to promote a deserving man in a munsifi, he is obliged to place him over the heads of other men in his own office, without being at the same time able to provide any of his own officials with a step on promotion in any of the munsifis subordinate to him.

“There can, I think, be no doubt that better men are obtainable and better work done in a wide than in a narrow field of work; but this section (35), as it stands, reduces the area over which a subordinate official's career extends within the most confined limits.

“In former times, when the subordinate Civil Courts were never inspected, something might be said in favour of allowing Munsifs to nominate and promote the officials of their own Courts; but in these days Munsifs are frequently changed, while Judges are seldom changed, and a judgeship is becoming more and more the unit of judicial administration. It is as well that this should be so, for such a condition is an incentive to a more careful supervision on the part of a Judge over his subordinates, and consequently to better work on the part of all below him. This incentive, however, will fail to act if the area of nomination and selection in a judgeship is confined to single munsifis instead of extending to all the Courts in the judgeship.”

The Government of the North-Western Provinces expressed concurrence in Mr. Daniell's remarks, as the Government of Bengal did in similar remarks recorded by Mr. Justice Field.

- (q) Section 35.—This section provides for the case of Civil Court amins and the joint process-serving establishments now maintained throughout Bengal and the North-Western Provinces under the superintendence of central nazirs and the control of the District Judge.
- (r) Section 38.—The addition to this section was suggested by Mr. Justice Oldfield.
- (s) Section 40.—This section seems to be required for the purposes of applications under section 108 of the Code of Civil Procedure and other proceedings not referred to in sections 623 and 649 of that Code.

CHAPTER II.CONSTITUTION OF CIVIL COURTS.

[Act VI of 1871, ss. 3 & 4.]

3. The Local Government may reduce, and, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, increase, the number of District Judges and Subordinate Judges now fixed.

[Act VI of 1871, s. 4.]

4. The Local Government may, subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council, alter the number of Munsifs now fixed:

Provided that, except in the case of Munsifs of a grade the salary of which does not exceed two hundred and fifty rupees per mensem, an increase of the number of Munsifs now fixed shall not be made by the Local Government without the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council.

5. (2) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent a Local Government from appointing any Judge of a Court of Small Causes to be also a Subordinate Judge, or from appointing a District Judge or Subordinate Judge to discharge, for such period as it thinks fit, in addition to the functions devolving on him as such District Judge or Subordinate Judge, all or any of the functions of another District Judge or Subordinate Judge, as the case may be.

RESOLUTION ON THE BENGAL FOREST ADMINISTRATION REPORT FOR 1885-86.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—FORESTS.

Darjeeling, the 5th November 1886.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Progress Report of Forest Administration in Bengal for 1885-86.

Mr. Home was in charge of the Department throughout the year, but the report is submitted by Mr. Chester, who officiated as Conservator of Forests during the months of July and August 1886. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that, in accordance with the view expressed in last year's Resolution, the dimensions of the report have been considerably curtailed, though, owing doubtless to the fact that it was not compiled by the officer who had actually administered the Department during the year, it is still open to the objection that it is rather a summary of details than a review of the broad facts of the year's administration.

2. The forests of Bengal under the superintendence of the Department covered at the close of the year under review, an area of 7,332,616 acres, or 11,457 square miles, classified as follows:—

	Acres.
Reserved forests	3,182,123
Protected „	1,419,845
District „	2,581,420
Total	7,183,388
Proposed reserves not yet finally gazetted	149,228
Total	7,332,616

There was an increase of 57,856 acres in the area of reserved forests, owing to additions in the Orissa and Jalpaiguri Divisions. The area of protected forests has remained very much as before, while the Department has been relieved of the superintendence of a wide extent of district forest. On the whole, the area watched has diminished by 171,818 acres. Describing the forests, according to their geographical distribution, it may be noticed that 2,254,750 acres are included in the swampy wastes of the Sunderbuns in the 24-Pergunnahs and Khulna, while the 2,581,420 acres of “district forests” and 886,740 acres of the reserves comprise the whole of the unleased portion of the Chittagong Hill Tracts. The Sunderbuns reserves with 75 square miles of protected forests cover more than two-fifths of the area of the district of Khulna, and the protected forests spread over the greater portions of the sub-divisions of Buseerhat and Diamond Harbour in the 24-Pergunnahs, their extent in that district being 1,867 square miles out of the total district area of 3,964 square miles. Of the rest, the most important forest areas are on the Himalayan slopes in the district of Darjeeling, in the rich Terai of Jalpaiguri, and in the wild country of Singbhoom. The Khorda sub-division of Orissa contributes an area of 227,459 acres of forests, and Angul 179,200 acres. The list is closed with the smaller forests of Lohardugga and Hazaribagh.

3. Information has for the first time been collected during the year under review regarding the length of the boundaries of all Bengal forests, except those in Orissa. The Conservator reports that the statements recorded will be of great use to divisional officers in the annual work of clearing boundaries and keeping boundary posts in repair. Nine hundred and twelve miles of boundaries were recleared during the year, and 593 miles were kept clear as firetraces. Two hundred and three miles also were newly demarcated. The average cost per mile of the new demarcation was unusually high, Rs. 14-5, as compared with Rs. 6-13 in the previous year and Rs. 7-11 in 1883-84. Some explanation of this circumstance should have been furnished. Satisfactory progress was made in the surveys of boundaries in Darjeeling, Jalpaiguri, Chota Nagpore, and Singbhoom.

4. The provision of detailed working plans for all forests, to guide the controlling officers in their management for a long series of years, is a point on which much stress has been laid by the Government of India; and it is clear that without such plans no thoroughly systematic administration can be expected. Little could be done in this direction during the year, owing to want of the proper establishment. It was found necessary to trust the work to an officer already in charge not only of a forest division, but also of two of its sub-divisions, and it was naturally impossible for him to find much time for the extra duties thus imposed on him. Since the close of the year, a special working plans division has been created, in charge of an officer who can devote the greater part of his time to the work, and better progress may now be expected.

5. The list of the Bengal controlling staff continued to be combined with that of Assam during the year under review. Since the commencement of the current year, a separation has been mutually agreed on and carried out.

6. Prosecutions were instituted during the year against one forest ranger and six forest guards, the charges being either criminal breach of trust or misappropriation of Government money. Three of the cases resulted in conviction; the other four accused persons were discharged. An officiating forester, against whom a warrant was out at the close of the previous year, was arrested in January last, and convicted of criminal breach of trust. Seven other subordinates, who had been dismissed the service on various charges, were reinstated during the year either by the Conservator himself, or by the orders of Government; and, from the cases which came before him on appeal, the Lieutenant-Governor was compelled to arrive at the conclusion that divisional forest officers do not observe with sufficient strictness the procedure prescribed for the disposal of charges brought against subordinates, with the result that the conclusions arrived at cannot always be supported. No officer can be dismissed from the service of Government without a full opportunity being given to him of explaining clearly specified charges alleged against him.

7. Six hundred and twenty-four new cases of breaches of forest law and offences under the Penal Code were taken into court, and 739 cases were compounded, against 443 and 800 cases, respectively, in the previous year; 222 of the prosecutions actually proceeded with were instituted in the Darjeeling Division, chiefly cases of unauthorized felling and grazing, and 215 convictions were obtained; and 127 cases occurred in the Sunderbuns, of which the large majority were prosecutions of permit-holders for not returning their permits. Most of the Sunderbuns cases appear to have been instituted towards the close of the year, for no less than 88 remained pending at its close. In the Khorda sub-division of Orissa, 199 cases were prosecuted under the Penal Code, 163 of which resulted in conviction. The Sunderbuns division, as usual, shows the largest number of cases compounded, 317, the whole amount realised as compensation to Government in the division being Rs 5,586, of which one case of cutting sundri wood, east of the Pussar river, accounts for no less than Rs. 4,035. The percentage of convictions to cases tried was 73.9,* a lower figure than that shown in either of the two preceding years. This falling off in convictions, taken with the increase in the number of prosecutions, will remind the Conservator of the necessity of very closely supervising the conduct of such cases.

8. The area of forest which it has been attempted to protect from fire has been largely extended during the past two years. In 1883-84, action was confined to 530,071 acres, in 1884-85 the Department sought to protect 806,209 acres, and in the year under review the area placed under protection rose to 829,253 acres. The additional areas taken in hand are in the Angul and Singbhoom forests, where great difficulties have to be encountered, arising in Angul from the impossibility of properly clearing the boundary at the numerous points where its exact position is a matter of dispute with the adjoining Native States; and, in Singbhoom from the wild character of the aboriginal races inhabiting the forests, who have been accustomed from time immemorial to burn the jungle at certain seasons, and do not listen readily to any arguments in favour of relinquishing their ancient practice. In Singbhoom, only 20,900 acres out of 101,120 were successfully protected, and the whole of the area in which no measures of protection were attempted, viz. 233,480 acres, was burnt. The results were rather better in Angul, where out of 179,200 acres success was attained in the case of 106,614 acres. In all other forests the measures taken proved unusually successful. Of 548,933 acres taken in hand, only 12,304 were burnt; in other words, the percentage of failure in these forests was only 2·2; but the total percentage was raised, by the inclusion of Singbhoom and Angul, to 20. Although, as regards the ratio of success to failure, Bengal is far behind other provinces in which protective operations on a large scale are attempted, the statistics given in the Inspector-General of Forests' Review of Forest Administration in British India for 1884-85 show that immunity from fire is secured in Bengal at a less cost per acre than in any other province, except the Central Provinces and Berar, and it would certainly be undesirable to contract operations in order to reduce the percentage of failure. The difficulty felt in Angul will probably be solved by the survey of that mehal now in contemplation; and the obstacles which the Sub-divisional Officer of Singbhoom states that he finds in the way of getting the Kols to understand that forests are not to be fired may be overcome by patience and judicious explanations, joined with the necessary coercive measures. Excluding Singbhoom, only 667 acres, out of an area of 2,119,390 acres in which no special protective measures were attempted, suffered from fire. In the Jalpaiguri division the persons who had originated the fires were arrested in two cases, and on conviction were sentenced, one to a fine of Rs. 25, the other to three months' imprisonment.

9. Grazing rules were finally passed for the Darjeeling sub-division in the course of the year; and it is satisfactory to learn that the graziers observe them willingly and have ceased to agitate for further privileges. The grazing of buffaloes, goats, and sheep has been forbidden in the areas required for the supply of timber and fuel to Darjeeling, Jallapahar, and tea-plantations; and in the Teesta sub-division the monthly fees for buffaloes and goats have been raised to six annas and two annas a head, respectively. In the report for 1884-85 it was stated that the number of cattle grazed had been reduced from 28,276 to 24,649; but it now appears that these figures referred only to the number of permits issued; and as some of these permits were granted monthly and some quarterly, while others again held good for a year, the figures supplied did not indicate the true number of cattle admitted during the year to graze in the forest. In the present report the average number of cattle so admitted has been struck; and if this practice is maintained, a fair comparison can in future be instituted between one year and another. Judging from the amount of fees realised, there appears to have been a slight increase in grazing. The receipts for the past two years have been as follows:—

	1884-85.	1885-86.
	Rs.	Rs.
Fees for grazing	4,842	5,054
Ditto fodder grass	1,395	1,359
Total revenue for grazing ...	6,237	6,413

10. One hundred and forty-six acres of regular plantations were added during the year, and the cost of this work, with that of preserving the plantations previously existing, amounted to Rs. 6,110. Seventy-seven acres were planted out in Orissa, but the result of the extension is reported to have been unsatisfactory, and 50 acres of tûn were added in the Darjeeling sub-division. The Conservator reports that larger areas would have been planted out had he not received orders under the general financial retrenchments to reduce expenditure. There are now 2,150 acres of regular plantations, and 931 acres more come under the head of "Cultural operations"—a term which includes the filling in of blank spaces in forests in aid of natural reproduction, and the formation of nurseries in connection with these operations. Of the whole area of 3,081 acres, 1,032 are covered by hill trees, mainly oak and tûn, and 1,669 acres by plains trees, teak, tûn, sâl, &c. The greater portion of the remaining area is planted with bamboos. Special attention was paid to the cutting of creepers in Kurseong, where 2,612 acres were freed from creepers at a cost of 1½ annas

SCARCITY OF FOOD AND WATER AND OUTBREAK OF CHOLERA ON THE PILGRIM ROUTES THROUGH THE CENTRAL PROVINCES TO POOREE.

THE following paper is published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,

The 4th November 1886.

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 58C, dated Camp Pachmarhi, the 29th October 1886.

From—F. C. ANDERSON, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

I AM directed to inform you that in consequence of an unfavourable monsoon severe scarcity and a dearth of water are anticipated in that portion of the Chattisgarh Division (comprising the Raipur, Sambalpur, and Bilaspur districts) in these provinces through which the pilgrim route to Puri, (Jaganath) from various parts of India situated to the north and north-west of the Central Provinces, lies. Hardly a year passes without the appearance—often in a very severe form—of cholera in the Chattisgarh Division, and during the past hot weather the disease has been very severe. Latterly, it has been dying away, but intelligence has just been received of four fatal cases in the Bilaspur district, and if, as is not unlikely, the disease should spread, its effects will be greatly intensified by the want of water and the anticipated scarcity of food. Those who would suffer most would be the Jaganathi pilgrims who pass every year in one continual stream through the Chattisgarh Division on their way to and from Puri. Acting on the advice of the local authorities, the Officiating Chief Commissioner has decided to prohibit the passage of pilgrims through that portion of the Chattisgarh Division which lies to the north of the road passing from Raj-Nandgaon through Raipur to Sambalpur, as it is in the country to the north of that road that distress will chiefly be felt. I am accordingly to request that it may be made as widely known as possible in the districts of the Lower Provinces that no pilgrims will be allowed to pass through any portion of the Chattisgarh Division lying to the north of the road passing from Raj-Nandgaon through Raipur to Sambalpur; that in consequence of the anticipated dearth of water and scarcity of food in that division pilgrims are advised to postpone the pilgrimage this year altogether; and that if they take the risk of making it, they must proceed by some route which will bring them into the Chattisgarh country by or to the south of the above mentioned road.

The Officiating Chief Commissioner trusts that it will not be necessary to impose any further restriction. District officers in these provinces will be instructed to enforce the limited restriction now imposed, all pilgrims being required to keep clear of the country through which it has been found necessary to at once prohibit their passage.

per acre, and in Buxa, where creepers were cut over 7,198 acres, at a cost slightly exceeding half an anna per acre.

11. Experiments with mahogany seed were continued during the year. The seed would not germinate at Darjeeling or Kurseong; but on its removal to the Terai a moderate degree of success was attained. In the Buxa and Chittagong Divisions the seed germinated freely, but in Chota Nagpore it was less successful. In Chittagong, divi-devi and paper mulberry seedlings were successfully planted out, but India-rubber again proved a failure.

12. Thirty-six new lines of export roads and inspection paths were opened, and 191 existing lines repaired during the year at a cost of Rs. 10,154. Of this sum, Rs. 4,637 had been expended in 1881-82 on the Goompahar cart-road in the Darjeeling sub-division, since made over to the Public Works Department, and was finally debited during the year under review. The greater portion of the new work was done in the Kurseong, Hazaribagh, and Singbhoom sub-divisions. Rupees 24,493 were expended during the year in constructing and repairing buildings.

13. The following statement shows the total amount of produce removed from the forests during the year as compared with the previous year:—

Departmental working, that is to say, the felling, collection and carrying of timber and other forest produce by departmental agency, is little resorted to in Bengal, the greater part, both of timber and fuel, being removed from the forest under the permit system. Under the head of "Timber" direct operations of the Department were almost entirely confined to the removal of sal logs from the remote parts of the reserved forests in the Buxa and Orissa Divisions. Of the 160,298 cubic feet of fuel removed by departmental agency, the Darjeeling sub-division accounts for 153,617 cubic feet, which is not more than half the quantity dealt with by the Department in the previous year. The reason of this appears to be that the supply of firewood to Darjeeling is now left almost entirely to the dealers, the Department only keeping up a reserve in order to prevent undue enhancement of prices. The increase in the quantity of both timber and fuel removed by permit-holders is accounted for by a revival of the demand for both classes of wood in the Sunderbuns. In the previous year it was reported that the firewood merchants, having large stocks on hand in Calcutta, were holding out against prepayment for produce removed from the forests, and this had caused a considerable falling off in the quantity removed from the Sunderbuns in 1884-85. As their stocks ran out, however, and they saw that it was hopeless to expect an alteration in the rules, the merchants gave up their opposition; and in 1885-86 removals of forest produce from the Sunderbuns were made on the same scale as in 1883-84. There was also a slight increase in the Teesta sub-division, due to larger demands for fuel on tea estates. On the other hand, the quantity of produce removed in the Darjeeling sub-division greatly decreased, owing partly to the growing scarcity of trees fit for timber in the forests of this sub-division, and partly to the introduction of a new rule requiring enhanced prices for trees over eight feet in girth. There was a further falling off in removals from the reserves of the Buxa Division, unexplained in the report, but presumed to be due to timber merchants continuing to send their agents into the Bhootan forests, where timber is obtainable at almost nominal rates, in preference to paying the rates fixed by Government in the Buxa reserves. It is understood that the Bhootan Government levy no fees for extraction of timber, and trees can therefore be brought across the frontier and sold at a profit by charging little more than the actual cost of felling and carrying away. The number of bamboos removed from the forests was 24,389,863 against 21,710,126 in the previous year.

14. The financial results of the year's working compare as follows with those of 1884-85 :—

			Receipts. Rs.	Charges. Rs.	Surplus. Rs.
1884-85	5,71,152	4,11,915	1,59,237
1885-86	5,97,432	3,70,399	2,27,033

The gross revenue is not as large as it was in each of the three years from 1881-82 to 1883-84, and the surplus is not quite up to the amount reached during that period; but the charges have been less during the year under review than in any year since 1880-81; and, as will be seen from the following statement, the proportion of surplus to gross revenue has made a decided advance towards the percentage attained in 1882-83 and 1883-84 :—

			Gross revenue. Rs.	Surplus. Rs.	Proportion of surplus to gross revenue.
1881-82	6,33,734	2,39,122	37·7 per cent.
1882-83	6,93,959	3,11,776	44·9 "
1883-84	6,94,334	3,06,521	44·1 "
1884-85	5,71,152	1,59,237	28· "
1885-86	5,97,432	2,27,033	38· "

The Inspector-General's review of forest administration in British India for 1884-85 shows that, as regards proportion of surplus to gross revenue, Bengal in that year stood sixth on the list of the provinces of India; the improvement during the year under review should raise the province to the third place, unless a similar advance has been made in other provinces. The improvement was due almost entirely to increased receipts from the Sunderbuns, where the revenue depends mainly on the Calcutta demand for timber and firewood. There was also some increase in receipts from the Orissa forests, and from the small area under the Department in Chota Nagpore. The only divisions at present worked at a profit are the Sunderbuns, with a surplus of Rs. 2,79,742, and Chittagong with Rs. 66,578; the loss in the other divisions varies from Rs. 10,082 in Orissa to Rs. 54,268 in the new and only partially developed Chota Nagpore forests. In the Darjeeling Division the deficit was less than in the previous year; but owing to slack demand for timber, and the absence of departmental operations, increased deficits are shown against both Julpigoree and Buxa.

15. As a whole, the results must be regarded as creditable to the responsible officers. The falling off in outturn and receipts in the forests of the Himalayan ranges and the Terai is due to causes beyond the control of the Department, and, except as regards the Darjeeling sub-division, which was overworked in previous years, need not be regarded as other than temporary, while steady progress has been made in the other divisions in all branches of forest conservancy.

16. The Conservator, who has since his return from leave submitted a supplementary report on the services rendered by his subordinates, has expressed a favourable opinion of all the officers serving under him, with two exceptions. His remarks will be communicated to the Appointment Department. Mr. Home has, by his careful and efficient administration during the year, once more earned the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Offy. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are rigorously comparable with the registers of former years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore .003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0.8° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0.6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the reading during the same period for the past ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of rainy days is the number of days in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional stations for the period in question during the past year. The number of stations in the district sending returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 5th November 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 5TH OF NOVEMBER 1886.

There is little to note in the meteorology of the past week. Pressure was slightly below the mean at the commencement of the week. The abnormal conditions which characterized the preceding week in Northern India were passing away. The barometer rose steadily until Tuesday, when the normal distribution for the month of November was established over Northern India and in the Bay. Cool northerly winds set in, accompanied by a considerable reduction in the temperature and humidity of the air. After the rapid rise of the previous three days, the barometer began to fall again on Tuesday afternoon. This, however, did not affect the distribution of pressure or character of the winds, and hence bright, cool, pleasant weather continued during the remainder of the week. Indications of the commencement of squally or stormy weather in the centre of the Bay were shown by the coast observations on Wednesday morning (the 3rd). The disturbance continued during the remainder of the week. It was, however, diffused and irregular, and showed no signs of the concentration necessary for the formation of a cyclonic storm. It has, however, begun to develope since, and is likely to affect the weather in the province during the present week.

Pressure on Saturday morning (the 30th) was normal in Bengal, and $\cdot 01''$ to $\cdot 05''$ below the mean in Behar and Chutia Nagpur. It began to increase on that day, at first slowly. The rise of the barometer on Sunday was large, averaging $\cdot 06''$, and was fairly uniform over the province. It was much more variable on Monday (the 1st), ranging from $\cdot 01''$ in East Bengal to $\cdot 05''$ in Behar. The rise terminated on Tuesday, when pressure was above the normal by amounts ranging from $\cdot 05''$ in Orissa to $\cdot 11''$ in North Behar. The barometer was generally steady on Wednesday, but began to fall in Behar. A general decrease of $\cdot 05''$ occurred on Thursday, and a slight irregular fall on Friday, averaging $\cdot 01''$ in Bengal. The mean pressure of the week was above the normal in all districts. The excess averaged $\cdot 025''$ in Orissa, South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, and South Behar; $\cdot 04''$ in East Bengal; and $\cdot 06''$ in North Behar, where it was greatest.

The mean daily temperature was at the commencement of the week considerably above the normal. No marked change occurred until Monday, when temperature began to diminish in North Behar. With the establishment of cool weather conditions on Tuesday, a rapid reduction of temperature took place over the whole province, greatest in amount in Behar. The reduction affected both day and night temperatures almost equally, and during the remainder of the week the mean daily temperature was (with local exceptions) from 2° to 3° below the average of the period. The following table, similar to those given in the two last weekly reports, shows that the mean maximum temperature of the week was either normal or in defect, and the minimum from $\cdot 7^{\circ}$ to $2\cdot 8^{\circ}$ in excess:—

		Normal mean maximum tem- perature, 30th October to 5th November.	Actual mean maxi- mum tempera- ture, 30th Octo- ber to 5th No- vember 1886.	Excess or defect of actual over normal.	Normal mean minimum tem- perature, 30th October to 5th November.	Actual mean mini- mum tempera- ture, 30th October to 5th November 1886.	Excess of actual over normal.

The usual winds prevailed during the past week. They increased generally in strength with the rise of the barometer, and during the latter half of the week moderate northerly winds (with some easting) obtained in Bengal, and light and somewhat variable westerly winds in Behar. A rapid reduction of humidity commenced on the 1st, and during the remainder of the week the humidity was normal in Bengal, and slightly below it in Behar.

Rain fell on Saturday in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and East Bengal under similar conditions to the rainfall of last week. As frequently happens, the disappearance of the conditions favourable to condensation of aqueous vapour and of rainfall was shown by the occurrence of local showers in the submontane districts of North Bengal (Julpigoree, Cooch Behar) and also in the Darjeeling Hills on Sunday. The remainder of the week was practically rainless throughout the province, the only exceptions being local showers in the Bankoorah district on Tuesday. Orissa received an average of one-third of an inch—less than one-third the normal amount—and South-West Bengal and East Bengal an average of a quarter of an inch. In the remainder of the province, except the districts of Julpigoree, Cooch Behar, and Bankoorah, the rainfall was practically nil.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 5th of November 1886 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been compared to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are surrounded four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newmann's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted inasmuch as the census of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be calculated on a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

From the statement given above, it will be seen that there has been an increase of 1,504.23 tons over the traffic carried during the corresponding period of 1885.

INCREASES.

Ginger 384.20 tons.
 Due to a good crop and fair demand.
 Gunny-bags 23.47 tons.
 Partly due to increased traffic in rice and paddy, and partly to hand-made gunny having been despatched from Siliguri, Halibari, and Dumar.
 Grain and pulses other than rice and paddy 426.01 tons.
 The traffic under this head represents various articles of food, and the increase is a mere trade fluctuation.
 Hides 35.63 tons.
 There appears to have been a demand for goats and buffalo skins during the month for export.
 Intoxicating drugs other than opium 24.58 tons.
 The traffic under this head chiefly consists of gunja despatched from Sultanpur and Atrai.
 Jute 59.17 tons.
 Despatches of new jute commenced and a larger quantity passed over the line during the month under notice than in the corresponding period of the previous year.
 Oil 18.06 tons.
 The traffic under this head chiefly consists of kerosine, castor, and cocoanut oils.
 Paddy 1,235.45 tons.
 This increase is due to a satisfactory crop and demand in districts where it failed last year owing to floods.
 Rice 1,723.92 tons.
 The explanation given against paddy applies to rice also.
 Seeds 52.79 tons.
 There appears to have been a fairly good demand for mustard and linseed during the month.
 Tea 262.15 tons.
 The market has continued firm.
 Timber 194.01 tons.
 A large quantity of sal bullies was despatched from Siliguri locally during the month.

DECREASES.

Coal 592.32 tons.
 Due to less coal being carried for the Locomotive Department.
 Cotton 2.87 tons.
 Decrease mainly due to no cotton having been booked through from Eastern Bengal State Railway during the month under notice against 106 maunds despatched by that line during the corresponding period of 1885.
 Cotton piece-goods 73.15 tons.
 Due to markets being well stocked against the rains.
 Liquor 3.38 tons.
 The decrease under this head is very trifling.
 Miscellaneous 391.00 tons.
 The falling off has apparently been due to the rains, and will, in all probability, be met by a corresponding increase later on.
 Metals 170.03 tons.
 The remark made under the head of Miscellaneous also applies to this traffic.
 Railway materials 258.40 tons.
 Decrease due to stoppage of work on the Assam-Bihar Railway.
 Salt 1,073.97 tons.
 Markets in the interior appear to be well stocked.
 Sugar 52.49 tons.
 The increased traffic under this head for some time past will explain the present falling off.
 Twist 41.19 tons.
 The demand in the local markets for this article has fallen off.
 Tobacco 276.76 tons.
 Despatches to Burmah appear to have been held off by native traders.

PART VI.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third publication]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 21st October, 1886.—

NO. 26 OF 1886.

A Bill to regulate the supply of electricity for lighting and other purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the supply of electricity for lighting and other purposes; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Electricity Supply Act, 1887.

(2) It shall extend to the whole of British India; and

(3) It shall come into force at once.

2. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "electricity" includes galvanism, magnetism, magneto-electricity and electro-magnetism:

(2) "telegraph", "message", "telegraph line", "post", "telegraph authority" and "local authority" have the meanings respectively assigned to those expressions in the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885: and

XIII of 1885.

(3) "purpose" includes any purpose except the transmission of a message or the use of electricity in medical treatment.

3. Save as provided in this Act, electricity shall not be supplied for a price by any person for any purpose without a license.

Prohibition of supply of electricity without license.

from the Governor-General in Council authorizing the person in that behalf.

4. (1) The Governor-General in Council may from time to time license any person to supply electricity for any purpose, and in any local area, specified in the license.

(2) The license may prescribe the duties of the licensee and provide for the revocation of the license on his failure to perform any of those duties, and generally may contain such regulations and conditions as the Governor-General in Council thinks expedient.

(3) By a license granted under this section the Governor-General in Council may, subject to such conditions as he thinks fit to impose, confer on the licensee, with respect to the placing of appliances and apparatus for the supply of electricity, any of the powers which the telegraph authority possesses under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, with respect to the placing of telegraph lines and posts for the purposes of a telegraph established or maintained by the Government or to be so established or maintained.

XIII of 1885.

(4) The Governor-General in Council may from time to time amend, add to or cancel any of the regulations and conditions contained in a license, and withdraw any of the powers conferred by a license or impose amended or additional conditions with respect to the exercise of those powers.

5. (1) Section 3 shall not apply to any person supplying electricity for any purpose in any local area at the time of the passing of this Act so far as regards the supply of electricity for that purpose within that area.

(2) If any question arises with respect to the purpose or the local area for or in which electricity was being supplied at that time, it shall be decided by an authority to be appointed by the Governor-General in Council in that behalf, and the decision of that authority on the question shall be final.

6. (1) Notwithstanding anything in the last foregoing section, the Governor-General in Council may, on the application of any person supplying electricity for any purpose in any local area at the time of the passing of this Act, grant to the person a license for that purpose in that area under the provisions of section 4.

(2) Where a license is granted under sub-section (1), it shall supersede any engagement between the person to whom it is granted and any local authority with respect to the conditions on which electricity may be supplied by that person for the purpose, and in the local area, specified in the license.

Penalty for supplying electricity without license or contravening license.

7. If a person does either of the following things, namely,—

- (a) being a person to whom section 3 is applicable, supplies electricity for a price without a license, or,
- (b) having a license under this Act, commits or suffers to be committed a breach of any duty prescribed in the license or of any regulation or condition contained therein, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, with a further fine which may extend to two hundred rupees for every day during which the electricity is supplied or the breach of the duty, regulation or condition continues.

8. (1) The Governor-General in Council may from time to time make such rules as he thinks expedient for protecting the public in person and property from injury by reason of contact with, or the proximity of, appliances or apparatus used in the supply of electricity, and for preventing telegraph lines from being injuriously affected by any of those appliances or apparatus.

(2) A rule under this section may apply to the appliances and apparatus of a person not having a license under this Act as well as to those of a person having a license thereunder.

(3) In making a rule under this section, the Governor-General in Council may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees and, in the case of a continuing breach, with a further fine which may extend to two hundred rupees for every day during which the breach continues.

9. (1) The Governor-General in Council shall, before making rules under the last foregoing section, publish, in such manner as he deems sufficient, a draft of the proposed rules for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

(2) There shall be published with the draft a notice specifying a date at or after which the draft will be taken into consideration.

(3) The Governor-General in Council shall receive and consider any objection or suggestion which may be made by any person with respect to the draft before the date so specified.

(4) The publication in the Gazette of India of a rule purporting to be made under the last foregoing section shall be conclusive proof that it has been duly made.

(5) Rules under that section may from time to time be amended, added to or cancelled by the Governor-General in Council.

10. Nothing in this Act shall prevent any person from being prosecuted under any other law for any act or omission which constitutes an offence under section 7 or against a rule under section 8, or from being liable under that other law to any other or higher punishment or penalty than that provided by section 7 or a rule under section 8:

Provided that a person shall not be punished twice for the same offence.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The primary object of this Bill is to empower the Governor-General in Council to make rules (a) for protecting the public in person and property from injury by reason of contact with, or the proximity of, appliances or apparatus used in the supply of electricity for lighting, and (b) for preventing telegraph-lines from being injuriously affected by any of those appliances or apparatus.

2. The danger to the public from electric light connections arises from the fact that currents of great strength are used in the production of the light, the currents being powerful enough to cause death to any person, or set fire to any inflammable material, coming in contact with the wires while the currents are passing, that is to say, while the lamps are being used. Protection may be afforded either by placing these wires or connections in such a position that contact with them is impossible, or by so covering them with insulating material that contact with them is innocuous.

Interference with telegraph and telephone signals is caused by obstructive currents being induced in the telegraph and telephone wires when the electric light wires pass within a certain distance of them. The remedy is to arrange that the electric light wires shall be placed sufficiently far off. It is impossible of course to determine what the safe distance is without knowing the strength of the current employed for the electric light, which again varies with the number of lamps in circuit, but the distance can be determined from time to time with reference to the maximum current to be used in any particular local area.

3. A company desiring to supply electricity in any local area for any purpose must, if the company was not supplying it in that area for that purpose at the time of the passing of the Act, obtain a license from the Governor-General in Council. By this license the Governor-General in Council may impose such regulations and conditions as he thinks expedient, and confer on the licensee, with respect to the placing of appliances and apparatus for the supply of electricity, any of the powers which the telegraph-authority possesses under the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, with respect to the placing of telegraph lines and posts for the purposes of a telegraph established or maintained by the Government or to be so established or maintained.

Companies which were supplying electricity in any local area for any purpose at the time of the passing of the Act may elect to continue supplying it without a license, and therefore without the obligations which may be imposed, or the privileges which may be conferred, by a license.

The 21st October, 1886.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Assam was presented to the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 21st October, 1886:—

Preliminary Report on the Bengal Civil Courts Bill, 1881.

THE Bill to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Assam was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General by the Hon'ble Mr. Stokes in 1851, was referred to a Select Committee and was circulated for opinion, but its further progress was suspended in consequence of a proposal to establish appellate benches in Bengal. That proposal having been abandoned for the present, the opinions on the Bill of 1851 have been examined, and most of the recommendations in them incorporated in the amended copy of the Bill which accompanies this Report.

The few recommendations which have not been adopted have reference to the relation of Courts of Small Causes to District Courts, and will be best considered in connection with the Provincial Small Cause Courts Bill, 1885. I propose therefore to move at the next meeting of Council that all members of the Select Committee appointed to consider and report on that Bill who are residents of, or are or have been officially connected with, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces or Assam be added to the Select Committee on the Courts Bill to which this Preliminary Report relates.

2. The following portions of the amended Bill seem to call for remark:—

- (a) Section 5.—A sub-section has been added on the advice of the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh for the purpose of removing any doubt there may be as to the competence of a Local Government to appoint a Judge of a Court of Small Causes to be a Subordinate Judge, or to appoint a District Judge or Subordinate Judge to discharge temporarily the functions of another District Judge or Subordinate Judge, as the case may be, in addition to the performance of his own duties.
- (b) Section 7.—The powers vested in the High Courts at Fort William and Allahabad by the Statute 24 & 25 Vic., cap. 104, section 15, seem to render it unnecessary to provide in this and other sections of the Bill that a District Judge is in all matters connected with the administration of the Courts to act under the control of the High Court, the District Judge being already in those matters under the obligation of obeying any instructions which the High Court may be pleased to issue.
- (c) Section 8.—It has been objected that the provision of the Act of 1871 which requires an Additional Judge or Subordinate Judge in charge of the office of a District Judge to discharge “such of the current duties thereof as are connected with the filing of suits and appeals, the issue of processes and the like functions,” is too indefinite, and has in practice resulted in inconvenience and loss to parties. An attempt is made in sub-section (2) of section 8 of the revised Bill to define more particularly the powers which an Additional Judge or Subordinate Judge in charge of the office of a District Judge may exercise.
- (d) Section 9.—Objection has been taken by the High Court for the North-Western Provinces to the words “on leave” in section 9 of the Act of 1871, and to the words in the same section which empower the District Judge to transfer cases only to his own Court or to the Court of a Subordinate Judge. The High Court points out that a Subordinate Judge may be absent from his district otherwise than on leave, as, for instance, on deputation to another district, and that, where, as occasionally happens, the Court of a Subordinate Judge is for any tract of country the Court of lowest jurisdiction, it may be convenient to transfer cases from his Court to that of a Munsif. The section has in these respects been amended, and two sub-sections (3) and (4) have been added, the former being supplementary to the amendment of sub-section (1), and the latter designed to remove a difficulty which has been felt in the North-Western Provinces.
- (e) Section 10.—The expression of this section, which was inaccurate in the Act of 1871, has been amended in the manner proposed by Mr. Justice Prinsep.
- (f) Section 11.—This section has been modified in accordance with the recommendations of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, the Chief Commissioner of Assam and Mr. Justice Prinsep.

(g) Section 16.—A sub-section has, on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, been added to meet the case of officers in the territories referred to in section 11 who dispose of civil business while on tour at any place within the local limits of their jurisdiction.

(h) Section 17.—On the suggestion of Mr. Justice Field, a sub-section has been added to the effect that a judicial act shall not be invalid by reason only of its having been done on a holiday.

(i) Section 18.—This section has been so drawn as to remove difficulties experienced in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Assam in the working of the corresponding section of the Act of 1871.

(j) Section 21.—A sub-section has been added with reference to the cases at 13 B. L. R. 376; 10 B. L. R., App., 30; 19 W. R. 201; and 8 C. L. R. 6.

(k) Section 22.—Sub-section (2) of this section has been re-drawn with advertence to the cases at 18 W. R. (F. B.) 261; 18 W. R. 316; and 19 W. R. 131.

Sub-section (3) has been added on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep.

(l) Section 23.—The case at I. L. R. 7 All. 775 suggests an expansion of this section.

(m) Section 25.—Sub-section (1) will empower the District Judge to transfer appeals from orders of Munsifs, as well as from their decrees, to Subordinate Judges.

Sub-section (2) has, on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, been so drawn as to enable the District Judge to transfer to any other competent Court under his control an appeal withdrawn from the Court of a Subordinate Judge.

Sub-section (3) is suggested by the cases at 16 W. R. 235 and 18 W. R. 292.

(n) Section 26.—This section has been amended in several particulars. It is proposed, on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Field, that the order of the High Court may be either general or special; on the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, that the High Court may authorise a Subordinate Judge or Munsif to take cognizance of the proceedings mentioned in the section; on the suggestion of the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, that references by Collectors under section 322C of the Code of Civil Procedure should be added to the list of proceedings; and on the suggestion of the same Government and of Mr. Justice Field and Mr. Justice Maclean, that several of the proceedings specified in section 26 of the Bill of 1881 should be excluded therefrom.

(o) Section 27.—On the suggestion of Mr. Justice Prinsep, it is proposed that appeals from orders passed by Subordinate Judges in proceedings mentioned in section 26 shall, when appeals are permitted, lie to the High Court.

(p) Section 34.—With respect to section 35 of the Bill of 1881, Mr. C. J. Daniell, District Judge of Moradabad, recorded the following remarks:—

"I consider it essential to the efficiency of the ministerial officers of the subordinate Civil Courts in a judgeship that a stream of promotion should be maintained from the lowest to the highest grade of these officials throughout the judgeship. If this is secured, every hard-working man knows that there are several appointments to which he can aspire, the field for his promotion is widened, and he is more encouraged to do his work well than if he had only to look to the rare vacancies in a single munsifi for advancement. On the other hand, the Judge can promote any man from any one of several situations to any other that he may be qualified for in the whole judgeship, and a stimulus is provided for efficient and industrious work which is entirely absent if the Judge can promote no one but the officials of his own office, or if, in order to promote a deserving man in a munsifi, he is obliged to place him over the heads of other men in his own office, without being at the same time able to provide any of his own officials with a step on promotion in any of the munsifis subordinate to him.

"There can, I think, be no doubt that better men are obtainable and better work done in a wide than in a narrow field of work; but this section (35), as it stands, reduces the area over which a subordinate official's career extends within the most confined limits.

"In former times, when the subordinate Civil Courts were never inspected, something might be said in favour of allowing Munsifs to nominate and promote the officials of their own Courts; but in these days Munsifs are frequently changed, while Judges are seldom changed, and a judgeship is becoming more and more the unit of judicial administration. It is as well that this should be so, for such a condition is an incentive to a more careful supervision on the part of a Judge over his subordinates, and consequently to better work on the part of all below him. This incentive, however, will fail to act if the area of nomination and selection in a judgeship is confined to single munsifis instead of extending to all the Courts in the judgeship."

The Government of the North-Western Provinces expressed concurrence in Mr. Daniell's remarks, as the Government of Bengal did in similar remarks recorded by Mr. Justice Field.

(q) Section 35.—This section provides for the case of Civil Court amins and the joint process-serving establishments now maintained throughout Bengal and the North-Western Provinces under the superintendence of central nazirs and the control of the District Judge.

(r) Section 38.—The addition to this section was suggested by Mr. Justice Oldfield.

(s) Section 40.—This section seems to be required for the purposes of applications under section 108 of the Code of Civil Procedure and other proceedings not referred to in sections 623 and 649 of that Code.

CHAPTER II.

CONSTITUTION OF CIVIL COURTS.

[Act VI of 1871, ss. 3 & 4.]

3. The Local Government may reduce, and, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, increase, the number of District Judges and Subordinate Judges now fixed.

[Act VI of 1871, s. 4.]

4. The Local Government may, subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council, alter the number of Munsifs now fixed:

Provided that, except in the case of Munsifs of a grade the salary of which does not exceed two hundred and fifty rupees per mensem, an increase of the number of Munsifs now fixed shall not be made by the Local Government without the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council.

5. (1) Whenever the office of District Judge or Subordinate Judge is vacant by reason of the death, resignation or removal of the Judge or other cause, or whenever the Governor General in Council has sanctioned an increase of the number of District Judges or Subordinate Judges, the Local Government shall fill up the vacancy or appoint the additional District Judges or Subordinate Judges, as the case may be. [Act VI of 1871, s. 5.]

(2) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent a Local Government from appointing any Judge of a Court of Small Causes to be also a Subordinate Judge, or from appointing a District Judge or Subordinate Judge to discharge, for such period as it thinks fit, in addition to the functions devolving on him as such District Judge or Subordinate Judge, all or any of the functions of another District Judge or Subordinate Judge, as the case may be.

[Act VI of 1871, s. 7.]

(2) Additional Judges so appointed shall discharge any of the functions of a District Judge which the District Judge may assign to them, and, in the discharge of those functions, they shall exercise the same powers and be subject to the same control as the District Judge.

8. ADMINISTRATION OF THE TRIBUTARY AND POLITICAL STATES OF THE CHOTA NAGPORE DIVISION.

RESOLUTION.

POLITICAL.

Darjeeling, the 30th October 1886

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Tributary and Political States of the Chota Nagpore Division for the year 1885-86.

Read also—

The Reports for 1884-85 and 1883-84, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

MR. C. C. STEVENS was in charge of the division throughout the year, with the exception of the first ten days of it, and has submitted the Annual Report. The Commissioner made a long and useful tour through the Tributary States. He was well satisfied with the inspection he made at Jushpore, which State he entered on the 9th December. Everywhere there was evidence of good order and efficient management, and the Commissioner remarks that the favourable impressions which he had formed of the Rajah's rule were only heightened afterwards, when he had seen some of the other Tributary States. On the 22nd December Mr. Stevens entered Sirgooja. The Korwars, who were only a year ago in a turbulent and disaffected condition, are now said to be leading a quiet life and to be extending their cultivation. Travelling with the Rajahs of Sirgooja and Udaipore, the Commissioner passed through Lerna, Makandpore, and Pertabpore. At Lerna he decided the dispute between the Rajah of Sirgooja and the surviving lady maintenance holder of Kundri, regarding a readjustment of the maintenance allowance. The Commissioner permitted the Rajah to resume certain villages and to make other arrangements for the maintenance of the surviving widow. His decision has since been upheld by this Government. The Commissioner then passed on into Korca with the Rajah of that State, who had in the meantime joined him. Here matters were not found to be in such a satisfactory state owing to the bad feeling between the Rajah and his Dewan Bhairo Singh. The latter has since resigned in favour of his son, an arrangement that has been sanctioned by Government. The Commissioner has been asked to report after his next cold weather tour how the new Dewan has been performing his duties, and on the general position of affairs in Korca, especially as regards any interference by outsiders. On the 8th January the Commissioner entered Bismampore with the Rajah, and inspected the offices, jail, dispensary, and school; all are said to be in a satisfactory state, "though certainly below the standard of similar institutions in a British district." At Rabcoab Mr. Stevens found that the Rajah of Udaipore was building a new Rajbari, and he thinks that this place will be better for a head-quarters than Pertabpore. Mr. Stevens then visited the Raigurh frontier and decided a boundary dispute between Udaipore and Raigurh in favour of the latter State. On the 25th January he entered the Gangpore State, and reached Suadi three days later. Here he saw the process of gold-washing in the Eeb; the earnings of the washers are said not to exceed the ordinary wages of labour. Throughout Gangpore the Commissioner was struck with the extended and extending cultivation; many complaints were made of oppressions and exactions by the Rajah, which in most cases were found to be unjustified. It appears that the assul rent is very low, and any special expenditure is met by a special cess, levied with the consent of the ryots or in accordance with custom. The most important question between the Rajah and the zemindars had reference to the right to receive excise dues, which, in accordance with all the evidence in the case, the Commissioner decided in favour of the Rajah, advising him at the same time to make, if possible, a settlement with each zemindar of the abkari revenues of their respective zemindaries. In this State the Commissioner decided two sessions cases: the notorious dacoit Runjeet Singh, who was accused in a third case, escaped from the Suadi jail. On the 8th February the Commissioner arrived at the head-quarters of the Bonai State, where he inspected the offices, jail, and school. He was not favourably impressed with the administration of this State. The Rajah is said to be on bad terms with his own relatives, and not friendly with the Bhuinyas, who form an important and powerful class of his subjects. The Commissioner thinks that both Bonai and Gangpore are difficult to manage, and require to be governed with far more firmness and tact than their present rulers have hitherto displayed. From the Kuira pergunnah the Commissioner passed across a corner of the Keonjhar State to Lapora, where there is a boundary dispute between the Keonjhar State and the Kolhan. As one of the States is a Tributary State of Orissa, the Commissioner of that division has been directed to settle the dispute under Act XX of 1850, and as far as possible to restore the boundary laid down in 1866 by Dr. Hayes, the then Deputy Commissioner of Singbhoom. After passing through the district of Singbhoom, the Commissioner reached Seraikella on the 25th February. He made the acquaintance of the Rajah and his son, and inspected the offices, which were found to be in a fairly good condition. After visiting Khursawan, the Commissioner reached Ranchi on the 6th March, after an absence of three months and four days, having travelled 700 miles.

The Commissioner brings to notice two matters which he says have impressed him much, the first being the affectionate remembrance in which the late Colonel Dalton is held throughout the Tributary States, and the second the very valuable services which Mr. Hewitt has rendered in discouraging the wasteful destruction of forests, and in leading the Chiefs to see their true interests in this important matter. Mr. Stevens will no doubt do his utmost in support of this policy. The general result of the Commissioner's tour was to satisfy him that all, or nearly all, the States are gradually improving in their condition and increasing in their population and resources. Mr. Renny and Colonel Samuells also visited the Seraikella and Khursawan Political States, and did some good work in the way of inspection, disposal of complaints and enquiries regarding the outturn of crops and the condition of the ryots.

2. Crops, health, and vaccination.—The rainfall was sufficient and the crops good in all the States, except Udaipore, Gangpore, Korea, and Jushpore. The general health is said to have been better than in the previous year. Vaccination operations were carried on in the Sirgooja, Udaipore, Jushpore, Gangpore, and Korea Tributary States, as well as in the Political States of Khursawan and Seraikella. 91·8 per cent. of the operations were successful. In Sirgooja there were as many as 8,848 operations in 242 villages. No complaints were made against any of the vaccinators.

3. Education and Roads.—In the several States there are 38 schools with 1,072 pupils. In Seraikella the middle English school has been abolished, as the Rajah would no longer continue his grant. No new roads have been opened in most of the States. In Sirgooja the road from the borders of Palamow to the Matruna Ghât is under construction. Large portions of the Chyebassa-Purulia, the Chyebassa-Midnapore, and the Chyebassa Khursawan road, which pass through the Political States of Seraikella and Khursawan, were maintained by the Singbhoom Road Cess Committee. The Chiefs of those States should certainly be pressed to contribute something to the maintenance of these means of communication.

4. Judicial work in connection with the States.—56 cases were instituted in the Commissioner's office during the year, and 36 were pending from the previous year. Of the total of 92 cases, 76 were disposed of. There were 17 appeals of all kinds from the decisions of the Chiefs. Three decisions were confirmed, six reversed, five cases remanded, and three remained pending at the end of the year. 696 miscellaneous petitions were received and disposed of. Of the cases pending from the previous year, two against Rajah Dharmjit Singh of Udaipore were settled amicably out of court. The claim of Lal Mohessari Persad Singh Deo against the Rajah was decreed for Rs. 1,200. The claim of the Sirgooja Rajah to resume the village of Pemi was finally disallowed. One of the Sirgooja cases was a complaint made by the Sirgooja Rajah against the Chief of Udaipore for having exacted salumies from the ryots of certain villages in the Sirgooja territory. The amount realized by the Udaipore Rajah was refunded by him. One of the six cases from Udaipore shows that it is necessary for the Commissioner to keep a constant watch and a firm hand on the various Chiefs, with the view of preventing any petty strifes and jealousies among them. A complaint was made by the Rajah of Udaipore against a sowar of the Sirgooja Chief, charging him with insult and criminal intimidation. The charge of criminal intimidation was not proved, but the Sirgooja Rajah has been requested to reprimand the sowar for not paying the respect properly due to the Rajah of Udaipore. The cases from Gangpore, Bonai, and Changbhakar do not present any noticeable features. The case from Jushpore was a complaint made by the Jushpore Chief against the Chief of Udaipore and his amla, charging them with encroachment on the Jushpore boundary, and with plundering his bhandar at Dumaria. The case ended in the conviction of the peshkar of the Udaipore Rajah and of five other ringleaders. The prisoners appealed to this Government, but the appeal has not yet been decided owing to the non-receipt of a memorial on the case which the prisoners wish to have considered.

5. Judicial Statistics of the States.—Of 14 persons committed for trial by the Rajahs of Sirgooja, Gangpore, and Bonai, nine were convicted, three acquitted, and two were pending trial at the end of the year. Rupees 2,209 were imposed as fines in the Tributary States against Rs. 2,313 in 1884-85. On the last day of the previous year there were 193 prisoners in the jails. The number of new admissions during the year was 400 against 517 in the previous year. Out of a total of 593 prisoners, 424 were released, one died, and six escaped, leaving 162 prisoners in the jails on the 31st March last. The general health of the prisoners was very good. There were altogether 648 cases of cognizable and non-cognizable crime, in which 1,242 persons (against 1,117 in 1884-85) were concerned; 697 persons were convicted, and 406 discharged or acquitted. There were 15 cases of bribery against 10 in the previous year.

but only 14 cases of false evidence and offences against public justice against 37 in the previous year. There were seven cases of murder four of which occurred in Sirgooja) against two in 1884-85; 76 cases of hurt against 49; 20 cases of wrongful confinement against seven; 21 cases of enticing away married women against 14: there are no particular variations under other heads. The crime return of the Udaipore State is marked by a total absence of any serious offences against the person. There was a total of 665 civil suits for disposal against 492 in the previous year. Of these 547 were disposed of during the year, and 118 were pending at its close. About half these suits were for the recovery of bond or verbal debts, 56 were for possession of land, and 54 were for arrears of rent. The civil powers of the Chiefs are exercised under the appellate control of the Commissioner of the division. No explanation is furnished of the increase of institutions in the court of the Rajah of Jushpore; the increase in Seraikella and Khursawan is attributed to the exemption of suitors from liability to pay stamp fees. It appears that they previously used stamped papers, but the Chiefs were informed by the Deputy Commissioner of Singbhoom that it was not obligatory to do so. The Commissioner should report further on this matter, and generally on the question of the introduction of non-judicial and court-fee stamps. In the Tributary Mehals of Orissa a very low scale of court-fees on the institution of cases has recently been tentatively introduced. The number of accidental deaths was 413 against 346 in the previous year; 161 deaths were caused by snake-bite, 69 by drowning, 69 by wild animals, 22 by burning, and there were 25 suicides.

6. The Chiefs of the States.—The following statement shows the area and population of the different States:—

Rajah Raghunath Saran Singh Deo, the Chief of Sirgooja, and his Dewan, are again favourably spoken of. Mr. Hewitt reported of this Chief that he was most anxious to do what was right, and Mr. Stevens says he has found him just and moderate in cases in which his own personal interests have been concerned.

Rajah Dharmjeet Singh Deo is the Chief of Udaipore. The Commissioner is disposed to think that he has bad servants, and remarks that in the two most important cases which have come under his notice he found that the Rajah's original proceedings were perfectly legitimate and regular, but that eventually over-zealous amla put him seriously in the wrong. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to hear that the Commissioner is trying his best to obtain influence over the Rajah, and to show him that he has a personal interest in his welfare.

Rajah Pratap Narain Singh Deo Bahadoor of Jushpore is alleged to be an able, energetic, and conscientious ruler. Owing to a partial failure of his eyesight, the judicial work is done by his son, acting under his advice.

Rajah Raghunath Sikhur Deo of Gangpore is alleged to be too fond of money and disposed to worry his subjects much for special pecuniary contributions. It, however, appears that he has a difficult State to manage, the inhabitants possessing a large share of the cunning which is attributed generally to the Oriya character, and in the disputes between the Rajah and his subjects, the Commissioner found the latter to be principally in the wrong.

The state of affairs in Korea has been alluded to in paragraph 1 of this Resolution. The only hope for the good government of this State lies in the Rajah's being well advised, as he is said to be unfit to govern without help. The Rajah of Bonai is said to be on bad terms with his relatives and with important classes of his subjects. The Commissioner should endeavour in the ensuing cold weather to ascertain more accurately the causes of these differences, and to bring about more satisfactory relations. As regards Changbhakar, the Commissioner says he has seen nothing of the management of the State, except from the cases that came before him, and from these he thinks that the main object of the Bhya's rule is his own benefit, and that he holds extreme views regarding his rights over his subjects. The Political State of Seraikella is said to have been well managed. The Thakoor of Khursawan being a minor, his property is now under the control of Government, and managed by the Deputy Commissioner of Singbhoom with the assistance of a duly appointed manager. It is said that a good deal of dissatisfaction prevails amongst the pradhans and subordinate tenure-holders regarding the imposition of police and dâk cesses, and that the charges have not been fairly distributed on the jumma of each man's village. The Deputy Commissioner of Singbhoom should, during the ensuing cold weather, ascertain the real cause of complaint and provide a remedy. It is satisfactory that a quarter of the debt due by the State should have been paid during the year. The minor Thakoor is now in his 18th year, and Colonel Samuells has been taking steps to instruct him in law and zemindari management. He is said to be a manly youth and is fond of sport, but inclined to be overbearing and extravagant. The tribute payable by the several States amounts to Rs. 4,686-2-9.

7. From the Commissioner's lengthened tour through the States, and the opportunity thus afforded him of becoming personally acquainted with the various Chiefs, much benefit may be expected to result. Indeed, it is evident from the report that the Commissioner's tour has already been productive of much good, and the personal experience thereby gained cannot fail to enable him to deal more confidently with the various matters of executive and judicial administration that come before him.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Chota Nagpore for information and guidance.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution, together with a copy of the report, be submitted to the Government of India in the Foreign Department for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

F. B. PEACOCK,

Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1885.

RESOLUTION. POLICE.

Darjeeling, the 4th November 1886.

The Report on the Administration of the Police Department for the year 1885.

The Reports for the years 1883 and 1884, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

Cost, numbers, and distribution of police force.—Excluding the Chittagong Hill Tracts, the police budget grant for the Lower Provinces was Rs. 43,81,553. The actual expenditure for the financial year 1885-86 was Rs. 41,95,793. There was a saving, amounting to Rs. 1,82,299, under the head of Pay of Executive Police. The total sanctioned force consisted of 160 Inspectors, 899 Sub-Inspectors, 2,369 Head-constables, and 19,594 Constables. The cost of the force employed on purely police work is approximately estimated at Rs. 26,22,486, or 7·6 pice per head of the population. The cost in England and Wales is 2s. 8·11d. per head of the population.

The proportion of police to area and population is shown in the following table :—

PROVINCES.	Number of police.	Area in square miles.	Population.	Proportion of police to square mile.	Proportion of police to population.
Bengal	12,122	70,956	34,821,373	1 to 5·8	1 to 2,872
Behar	6,121	44,139	23,127,104	1 to 7·2	1 to 3,778
Orissa	1,418	9,762	3,789,694	1 to 6·8	1 to 2,672
Chota Nagpore	1,456	28,966	4,225,989	1 to 18·5	1 to 2,902
Total	21,117	151,23	65,964,160	1 to 7·1	1 to 3,123

In England and Wales there was one constable for every 775 of the estimated population for 1884 (one for 751 in boroughs, one for 1,218 in counties, and one for every 404 in the Metropolitan Police district). These widely divergent proportions must be borne in mind when considering questions such as suppression of crime, supervision of bad characters, and results of police investigations in Bengal.

2. Town Police.—The reports regarding the town police are not altogether favourable. It is said that night patrol work is more strictly enforced, and is very unpopular. In parts of the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions, the pay of a man working in a mill or manufactory is far superior to that of a constable in the lower grades. Moreover, it is alleged that little trouble is taken to obtain information about bad characters, and that it frequently happens that no sooner is a constable sent to a particular place than he at once begins to try and get transferred again. This of course is fatal to the acquisition of such local knowledge as can alone make a town police efficient. The Inspector-General is of opinion that for town work a force of chowkidars, with a stiffening of regular police, would be just as efficient as the present one, and at the same time cheaper and more contented. A suggestion to this effect has already been made and rejected, but the Lieutenant-Governor will be willing to receive and consider any detailed proposals the Inspector-General may wish to submit. Several towns have put up additional lamps, but of the eight towns mentioned in the report for 1884, a commencement towards lighting has been made only in Rungpore and Furreedpore. A copy of paragraph 13 of the present report, on the subject of street lighting, will be sent to the Municipal Department of this Government.

3. Rural Police.—The Draft Bill, which was alluded to in the Resolution on last year's report, has since been passed into law as Act I (B.C.) 1886. The status of the punchayet remains practically unchanged; but the Act enables the Magistrate to supersede them, if necessary, and to appoint some other agency for collecting the tax and paying the chowkidars. It is to be hoped that this power will act as an incentive on the punchayets to greater punctuality of collection and payment. In many districts, where individual officers have devoted special attention to the matter, payments have been fairly regular; but, as is noted in the case of the Patna Division, continuous trouble and energy are necessary to ensure such regularity. The power to appoint special tehsildars, whose remuneration will be levied from defaulters only, should act as an inducement to the villagers to pay up regularly. The chowkidar is the back-bone of the police system of the province, and the Lieutenant-Governor attaches the highest importance to his being punctually and fully paid. It is to the chowkidar that the regular police must look for timely information of offences, of disputes likely to lead to riots, of suspicious or sudden deaths, of the movements of bad characters, and generally for clues in all doubtful or difficult cases: and District Magistrates should regard it as one of their most important duties to see that chowkidars receive their dues. The number of men in arrears for over three months in 1885 was 7,498 against 6,333 in 1884. There were wide diversities as regards the punishment of chowkidars in adjoining districts; but the total number of punishments has not been stated in the report. The number of town and village police, not subject to the rules of the regular police, was 1,70,097. The average annual emoluments of each man was Rs. 31·8 against Rs. 30·5 in the preceding year, and the total annual cost Rs. 54,15,940·7·7 against Rs. 52,22,339. Each man watched on the average 60·9 houses. As regards night duty, the Inspector-General thinks that if the chowkidar can be found when wanted, it is as much as can be expected; and that it is neither necessary nor possible that he should be on the move from sunset to sunrise. This may be so; but that the "nightly rounds" are a reality in many districts is evident from the fact that thieves and house-breakers are often caught by chowkidars while on their rounds. No doubt the chowkidar cannot be expected to be on the move all night; but it is very desirable that he should patrol the village for at least two or three hours; and though no doubt some laxity exists in this respect, it should not be enhanced by teaching the chowkidar to believe that this is not a part of his legitimate functions.

4. Railway Police.—The East Indian Railway Police now consists of 253 officers and men. The force on the Tirhoot State Railway numbers 35, and that for the Eastern Bengal Railway system 225. The new scheme for the railways in Eastern and Northern Bengal was introduced in the middle of August 1885, and after a year's experience its working has been favourably reported on.

5. Punitive and Additional Police.—There are no punitive police in any district except Backergunge, where a third party had to be quartered during the year at Katadja. The police maintained order at 172 fairs attended by about four and three quarter millions of people. Only 140 cases, none of them of a serious nature, were reported, and convictions were obtained in 106 of these cases. These figures are a striking indication of the peaceable and law-abiding character of the people.

6. Education, drill, and casualties.—The percentage of educated Inspectors was 99·4. Among Sub-Inspectors the percentage increased from 98 to 98·4, among Head-constables from 78·6 to 79·1, and among Constables there was a decrease from 27·5 to 26·3. It is said that the drill of the force has not improved, if it has not fallen off. The special reserves are said to be good schools for drill, and the Lieutenant-Governor notices with approval that an attempt is being now made to utilize them as much as possible. The new carbines have been issued, but the Inspector-General states that there has been little difference in the shooting. The total casualties in the police increased from 2,971, or 12·5 per cent. in 1884, to 3,224, or 13·5. There were more retirements, resignations, and discharges, but fewer dismissals. The police service, it is said, is not so popular as it used to be, when the work was lighter, and many men now resign after a short trial. Indeed, it is said that in some of the eastern districts it is practically impossible to keep the force up to its full strength.

7. Judicial and departmental punishments and rewards.—The number of judicial punishments under the Penal Code decreased from 385 to 323; those under the Police Act from 243 to 241; and departmental punishments (including dismissals) from 5,815 to 5,322. Judged by figures, the conduct of the police thus appears to be improving. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to learn that any tendency to award harsh and inconsiderate punishments is well kept in check. As regards the result of prosecutions under the Police Act, the element of uncertainty, alluded to by the Inspector-General, certainly exists; and, as remarked by him, it is difficult to get some Magistrates to see that when a man has an altercation with and strikes his head-constable, or goes to sleep when on night duty as sentry, he commits a very serious offence. Nevertheless, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks that, in the interests of the Police Force, an occasional and judicious resort to prosecutions under the Police Act is more likely to do good than the frequent infliction of departmental punishment which, in most cases, takes the form of petty fines. The number of men wearing good-conduct stripes was 10,570, an increase of 1,651 on the previous year. The possession of three stripes entitles the wearer to a good-conduct allowance of one rupee per month. With reference to the Inspector-General's remark as to the insufficiency of the budget allotment to meet the expenditure thus incurred, the Lieutenant-Governor can only repeat what was said last year that it is not creditable to the department that money so earned should not be promptly paid: steps to guard against this should be taken by applying for permission to make such transfer as may be necessary from some other heading in the budget where there is a saving. Money rewards were received by 1,657 officers and men against 2,049 in the previous year.

8. Torture and extortion.—There were four well-established cases of torture against the Police, three charges having been found to be false. A very gross case occurred in Backergunge. A sub-inspector, three constables, and two chowkidars were concerned in torturing an accused person to death, after which the body was suspended from a mango-tree to make it appear that suicide had been committed. The Judge acquitted the accused, as the principal evidence was that of an approver; but the officers implicated were dismissed. In another case, which occurred in Furroedpore, the principal accused was the village punchayet. It is to be feared that ill-treatment, with the view of extorting a confession, or of compelling the restoration of property, is by no means confined to the police, but is an ingrained habit of the people. In three of the proved cases, adequate punishments were inflicted. There were only six petty cases of extortion by the Police.

9. Escapes, escorts, and miscellaneous.—There were 219 escapes against 216 in 1884. Of these, as many as 83 were effected during transit. One hundred and two persons, or 46 per cent., were re-captured. The number of prisoners escorted during the year was 15,273, and the total amount of treasure Rs. 10,56,01,131-3-2. Deaths by suicide increased from 2,531 to 2,712. It is noteworthy that in Tipperah nine children committed suicide. Cases of accidental death increased largely from 26,903 to 31,347. Of these, as many as 13,622 were caused by drowning and 9,932 by snake-bite. As regards inspections by District Superintendents, orders have recently been passed by the Lieutenant-Governor, which will somewhat reduce the amount of inspection to be performed by them, and will give them more time to attend to important work in the head-quarters office.

10. Tests of police work.—The percentages prescribed as tests of police work relate to cases, persons, or property. If some of these tests may be discontinued without harm, a special report should be submitted. The proportion of cognizable crime to population and police is compared with that of other Provinces in the following table:—

PROVINCE.	Police.	Population.	Crime (cognizable).	Proportion of police to population.		Proportion of police to crime (cognizable).		Proportion of crime (cognizable) to population.
				Police-man.	Persons.	Police-man.	Cases.	Case.	Persons.
North-Western Provinces ...	32,982	43,268,599	152,786	1 to	1,311	1 to	4.6	1 to	283
Punjab ...	20,599	18,812,264	62,510	1 "	914	1 "	3.0	1 "	301
Central Provinces ...	8,658	9,838,791	20,487	1 "	1,136	1 "	2.3	1 "	480
Bombay, including Sind ...	18,381	15,489,590	41,642	1 "	853	1 "	2.2	1 "	376
Madras ...	22,148	30,848,504	94,806	1 "	1,393	1 "	4.2	1 "	326
Assam ...	2,004	4,653,065	10,585	1 "	2,211	1 "	5.2	1 "	439
Bengal ...	23,930	65,964,160	112,365	1 "	2,765	1 "	4.6	1 "	597

The Presidency is apparently the most criminal division, with one cognizable case to 472 of the population; and Dacca the least so, with one to 824. Of districts, Darjeeling stands first with one to 81, and Noakhally last with one to 1,022. In England and Wales in 1884, there was one indictable offence for every 551·60 of the population. If all sorts of offences be taken together, England and Wales show a far larger total than Bengal—

	Population.
England and Wales	25,974,439
Bengal	65,964,160
England and Wales —
Persons apprehended for indictable offences ...	20,366
Summarily proceeded against ...	724,708
Total ...	745,074
Bengal—
Persons actually appearing before Magistrate charged with cognizable offences ...	99,521
Persons against whom process issued for non-cognizable offences ...	103,429
Total ...	202,950

Thus in England and Wales one person out of every 34 of the population appeared before the Courts charged with some offence, whereas in Bengal the proportion was only one in every 325. But it must not be inferred that the people in England and Wales are so much more criminal as the total figures seem to show. Many cognizable offences, such as larceny, are tried summarily in England; and many offences, which are tried by indictment in England, are disposed of by Magistrates in India. Moreover, in a civilized country, with a predominant urban population, many acts are offences which are not so in Bengal. Hence the large number of persons proceeded against summarily in England. Out of the total of 724,708, no less than 86,027 were prosecuted for offences against the Education Acts, about 212,000 under the Licensing Act of 1872, 47,000 under Local Acts and Borough bye-laws, about 20,000 under the Highway Act, and no fewer than 50,000 under the Vagrant Act. Excluding mala prohibita under local and special Acts, there appears to be more cognizable crime in Bengal in proportion to population than in England and Wales, though of late years there has been a tendency to underrate the importance of the police in criminal administration on the ground that there is little or no crime in Bengal as compared with other countries. It should be remembered that there are some kinds of crime, such as riots, concerning land, which in Bengal are common, but which hardly exist in other countries.

11. Crime of the Province.—The following figures show the decrease in cognizable and non-cognizable crime as compared with the previous year:—

Cognizable	112,365	107,410
Non-cognizable	107,368	105,996
Total ...	219,733	213,406
Decrease in cognizable cases	4,955
Ditto in non-cognizable cases	1,372
Total decrease	6,327

The Dacca Division alone shows a decrease of 2,738. Only two divisions (Chittagong and Orissa) show an increase, mainly in non-cognizable crime. In Behar the percentage of non-cognizable crime is only 41·4, while in Bengal it is 54·9. In the Dacca Division it is 59·2, in the Patna Division only 38·8. The Inspector-General points out that among the well-to-do residents of Eastern Bengal, the percentage in Noakhally is as high as 83·4; in Gya it falls as low as 26·6; and in Chota Nagpore, where litigation, for its own sake, is even less practised, to 22·1 in Lohardugga. With reference to the decrease in the number of cognizable cases, considerably more than one-half is accounted for by a decrease of 2,700 in nuisances, of 400 in salt prosecutions, and of 200 in excise prosecutions.

12. False cases.—The percentage of cases declared false decreased from 6·8 to 6·0. There cannot be the slightest doubt that the actual percentage is very much higher. In the first place, under Government orders, the Magistrate is to give the complainant the benefit of any doubt; secondly, it appears from the Inspector-General's remarks that numbers of direct petitions, summarily dismissed under section 203 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, are excluded from the returns altogether; thirdly, there is said to be an increasing tendency to exclude cases as false by mistake of law or fact; fourthly, the Inspector General is of opinion that many subordinate Magistrates declare false cases true in order to save themselves trouble, and to avoid the necessity for a prosecution under section 211 of the Penal Code. The number of cases excluded from the returns as false through mistake of law or fact was no less than 9,183, and different divisions show great variations in this respect. The Lieutenant-Governor believes that many cases, involving disputed title or possession, are excluded, when they should be shown as false. The mere fact that a dispute exists is too readily accepted as an indication of bona fides, whereas it often happens that one party tries to gain some undue advantage over the other by the institution of a false charge, or actually commits a criminal offence, relying on the mere assertion of a claim for his escape from any criminal consequences.

13. Prosecutions for false charges.—Out of a total of 6,462 cases declared false, prosecutions were instituted in only 1,404 cases and convictions obtained in only 353. The subject of prosecutions for false charges is one on which there is much difference of opinion, and there is still considerable diversity of practice as regards the institution of such prosecutions. In the district of Nuddea the percentage of prosecutions was 46·0 and of convictions 40·4; while in the adjoining district of Jessore only one conviction was obtained in 35 cases. And even in the same district there is extreme divergence of procedure, as in two sub-divisions of the 24 Pergunnahs prosecutions were instituted in every instance, whereas in a third there were only 7 prosecutions to 69 false cases. In Chittagong only two prosecutions were instituted, though a hundred cases were declared false, and the Commissioner explains that this disregard of orders was due to the weakness of the staff. In this, as in some other districts, there appears to have been too great a tendency to note on C. false forms that there is not sufficient evidence for a prosecution. In Monghyr the results were extremely bad, there having been 246 false cases, 36 prosecutions, and only 4 convictions. As the Inspector-General remarks, figures such as these mean delay in instituting a prosecution, and dilatory procedure after institution, until the cases become thoroughly stale. The Magistrate of Gya's remarks regarding cases under section 211 of the Penal Code have been dealt with in a separate circular recently issued. Mr. Manson, Magistrate of Chittagong, enumerates all the undoubted obstacles to the administration of justice under this section, and concludes by saying that, when a certain class of crime is hedged about with such a growth of difficulties, it is not of much use ordering Magistrates to prosecute. There is much truth in these remarks, and the uncertainty and difficulties must continue until the Calcutta High Court declare, by a Full Bench ruling, what they consider to be the law and the correct procedure. At present there is such a mass of contradictory rulings under section 211 of the Penal Code, that it is impossible to educe therefrom any sound ratio decidendi. An attempt to follow these rulings, or some of them, has caused a bewildering variety of procedure in different districts. When a man is made an accused under section 211, or knows he is likely to be, he at once presents a petition asking to have his witnesses heard. Then commences a course of chicanery and crafty attempts to frustrate and delay justice. An impression prevails that all witnesses cited must be examined before a complainant can be prosecuted under section 211. Therefore, a complainant files a long list of witnesses and instructs some of them not to appear. The Magistrate sees through the trick, but what is he to do? It may be a waste of time to proceed with the prosecution under section 211, as, owing to the uncertainty of the case-law, it cannot be predicted what view may be taken by the appellate or revisional court, convictions having sometimes been upset because some or even one of the witnesses named in the list filed had not been examined. A Magistrate therefore feels compelled to get the witnesses in somehow, and so valuable time is wasted. It is hardly to be wondered at that some Magistrates should give up section 211 prosecutions in despair, as they have not a sufficient staff to cope with such chicanery and to make the preliminary enquiries. The fact, however, remains, as has been repeatedly insisted on in Government Resolutions, that until persons are made to feel that they cannot bring deliberately false charges with impunity, so long will these charges continue to be the blot they are on our criminal administration.

14. Refusal of enquiry.—Out of a grand total of 107,410 cases reported, only 792 or .7 per cent. were not enquired into under the provisions to section 157 of the Criminal Procedure Code against 3.6 in 1892. The Dacca Division shows a percentage of 3, which is said to be due to 286 refusals in Mymensingh. On the other hand, some districts have no refusals. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Inspector-General that attempts to commit house-breaking are often cases of some importance, but he does not think that all cases should be enquired into; the police must use their judgment in the exercise of the discretion which section 157 gives them. Private persons are not bound to give information in cases of theft or attempts to commit house-breaking, and to make enquiry in very petty cases may cause much harassment and hardship to individuals, as well as occupy time which might be more advantageously used by the police in other directions. The law clearly enacts that an officer need not investigate on the spot, if the case is not of a serious nature and some particular person is named; and that he shall not investigate if, in his opinion, there is no sufficient ground for entering on an investigation. Abstention from investigation in very petty cases admits of more attention being given to more important cases, and enquiry might properly be refused in cases of petty theft of grain or of some unidentifiable article of little value. Moreover, there are other sorts of petty cognizable crime, in which the people are quite ready enough to resort to the police, and such tendency should not be unduly encouraged. In Nuddea there were 58 refusals, and in this connection the Magistrate remarks that enquiry is often refused in cases which are compoundable under section 345 of the Criminal Procedure Code. He thinks that the action of the police is not to be wondered at, whilst the unreasonable practice continues of entering discharges on compromise in the same category with acquittals, and points out that another disadvantage of the classification is that it is a strong temptation to an officer to exaggerate true compoundable cases into semi-false non-compoundable cases. The fact that compositions of offences are reckoned as acquittals appears to affect the police administration prejudicially in many ways. In Rajshahye there were 10 refusals to enquire, and the Magistrate remarks that the people are afraid to leave attempts unreported, as the police take them up to make money. It is doubtless advantageous that chowkidars should be encouraged to report all cognizable crime occurring in their villages, but care should be taken to see that no inconvenience or hardship is inflicted on individuals. There must be numerous cases in which no advantage can possibly accrue from enquiry, and the procedure as laid down in section 157 of the Criminal Procedure Code should be strictly followed. The extremely low percentage of refusals for the whole Province appears to indicate that the provisions of that section have not been strictly adhered to. Having regard to the large number of cognizable offences under the Penal Code, to the very petty character of some of them, to the fact that in numerous cases no advantage can accrue from enquiry into petty thefts or attempted house breakings, and that there is no legal obligation on private persons to give information of such offences, the Lieutenant-Governor does not consider that the percentage of refusals in the Dacca Division as a whole (3) is so abnormal or excessive as to call for any condemnatory remarks. At the same time he notices that in Mymensingh and Backergunge refusal to enquire into cognizable cases seems to have been carried too far. In the former district the investigating staff may be insufficient to cope adequately with the work it is called on to perform; and under these circumstances some petty cases may and, indeed, must, be refused, or the more important ones must be neglected. But this is not altogether the case in Backergunge; and it would seem obvious that when 9 cases of hurt, in which daos were used, were not enquired into owing to "the general sense of indifference to bloodshed" prevalent in the district, the discretion allowed under section 157 has been too fully exercised.

15. Convictions and arrests.—The percentage of convictions in cases enquired into by the police was 38·3 against 39·8 in 1884 and 41·9 in 1883. The number of persons arrested by the police was 76,831, of whom 52,919 were convicted, the percentage being 68·8 against 67·7 in the previous year. The highest percentage is shown by Darjeeling, Howrah, and Patna, and the lowest by Pubna, Khulna, and Backergunge. The results in Pubna were extremely bad, and though various causes are assigned, the Magistrate cannot be altogether absolved from responsibility. The criminal work in this district is heavy, and the normal number of officers will probably have to be increased by one.

16. Percentage of Convictions and Sessions trials.—The percentage of convictions to arrests, of convictions to persons brought to trial, and of convictions to persons actually tried, show an increase on the previous year under all classes of crime. The percentage of convictions in offences against the person continued to be low. The percentage of convictions to the number of persons tried at Sessions trials was only 56·3, a lower average than any during the last five years. In three of the jury districts (Patna, Dacca, and Hooghly), there were more acquittals than convictions. In Burdwan (also a jury district) results were better, the percentage of acquittals being 39·1; but in the adjoining district of Midnapore, where trials are held with the aid of assessors, the percentage of acquittals was only 17·7. In the Dacca Division the percentage of acquittals fell from 60·0 to 31·1, but no reason is assigned for this marked improvement. In Behar (excluding Patna, the only jury district), the results of Sessions trials were satisfactory, the acquittals varying from 14·2 per cent. in Chumparun to 24·3 in Shahabad. In Dacca five and in Burdwan two verdicts of juries were referred and set aside under section 307 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. In two cases out of three referred in Hooghly, unanimous verdicts of not guilty were set aside, and in a fourth case the Judge accepted a verdict with which he disagreed. This subject will be further alluded to in a subsequent paragraph of this Resolution.

17. Property stolen and recovered.—The number of cases in which property was stolen increased from 40,683 to 41,117, while property was recovered in 18,075 cases against 18,582 in 1884. The amount stolen increased from Rs. 9,92,560 to Rs. 10,30,005, and the amount recovered from Rs. 2,67,092 to Rs. 3,00,152. The percentage of cases in which property was recovered to those in which property was lost declined from 45·6 to 43·7, whilst the percentage of property recovered to property lost increased from 26·9 to 29·1. The latter percentage was as high as 56·1 in Palamow and Noakhully, whilst in Mymensingh and Rungpore, where the police are said to be overworked, it was as low as 11·8 and 14·9 respectively. In Gya, too, the results were very bad, and the Magistrate alleges as the reason the large number of professional receivers of stolen property, many of whom are persons of outward respectability and of some influence, against whom evidence can very seldom be obtained. With reference to such persons, if reliable information is received that they are habitual receivers of stolen property, proceedings should be instituted against them under section 110 of the Criminal Procedure Code, and the issue of a search-warrant under section 98 would also be justifiable. It does not appear to the Lieutenant-Governor to be of any use to discuss the percentages of different districts. As remarked by the Commissioner of Dacca, the recovery of stolen property is to a great extent a matter of chance, and seldom the result of police action, or, it would be more correct to say, of police detective ability. High or low percentages afford but a very uncertain criterion of police efficiency and exertion.

18. Analysis of crime by classes—The annexed statement shows the number of true cognizable cases in 1878 and during the past five years—

	1878.	1881.	1882.	1883.	1884.	1885.
CLASS I.—Offences against the State and public tranquillity.	2,785	2,427	2,508	2,639	2,769	2,802
„ II.—Serious offences against the person.	4,267	4,301	4,267	4,684	4,618	4,481
„ III.—Serious offences against the person and property or against property only.	23,887	19,051	18,520	19,609	24,221	24,103
„ IV.—Minor offences against the person.	9,534	11,096	12,450	2,913	2,580	2,533
„ V.—Minor offences against property.	45,849	35,673	36,301	37,690	42,630	42,206
„ VI.—Other offences not specified above.	14,996	24,056	27,181	29,554	28,477	24,819

The figures for 1885 are very much the same as those for 1884, except that there is a considerable decrease under class VI.

19. Class I.—Offences against the State and public tranquillity.—Under this class there is a small increase of 33, due solely to an increase of 103 under rioting, as all the other heads exhibit a decrease. The percentage of convictions in rioting cases was only 43·7 against 41·1 in 1884. This percentage is very low, and, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, is probably due to the fact that the police are inclined to send up many cases as riot, which might be more appropriately disposed of under the sections relating to theft, mischief, criminal trespass, hurt, and hurt with dangerous weapons. No doubt when a riot has actually occurred, the police are often justified in sending up both parties with cross A. Forms, leaving the Magistrate to adjudicate on any pleas of justification urged by either side, such as actual possession, or the exercise of the right of private defence. But it is to be feared that in such cases counter-charges are too readily accepted, when a little patient enquiry would demonstrate the absolute falsity or untenability of one of them. Moreover, compositions being reckoned in the returns as acquittals, cases of hurt under sections 323 or 324 of the Penal Code are converted into cases under section 147 (non-compoundable) by the unjustifiable addition of persons who have taken no active part in the occurrence. The Burdwan Division shows an increase of 60 cases, of which there was an increase of 26 in Midnapore. "One of the Hooghly cases," remarks the Inspector-General, "was a pitched fight about a hât at Seoraphuli, only fourteen miles from Calcutta, between the adherents of two rival zemindars, conducted in a manner worthy of the worst days of Dacca or Mymensingh." There are grounds for believing that two Honorary Magistrates abetted the riot, and their names have been removed from the list of such Magistrates. There was a serious case in the Midnapore district, in which some four or five hundred people, said to have been headed by one of the Moyna zemindars, forcibly cut the Government embankment near Ghanpore, thereby flooding a large tract of country and destroying the crops. The Inspector-General remarks that the case broke down owing to the appearance of a native Barrister, who is said to have examined and cross examined the witnesses for 38 days, "until the record became a ponderous volume, and the real facts were buried in irrelevant matter." The case was tried by the Sub-divisional Officer of Tumlook, and the Judge of Midnapore brought the conduct of the Barrister to the notice of the High Court. This Government has also addressed the High Court on the subject. The most serious feature connected with the rioting in the Presidency Division was the fact that as many as 13 were attended with loss of life. The Inspector-General remarks that agrarian disputes can be generally nipped in the bud. "A riot of any dimensions is the outcome of preparation and cannot possibly be organized and carried through off-hand; when, as soon as the symptoms of coming disturbance are observed, the fomentors and instigators are made marked men by being bound over to keep the peace, they will invariably be found to lose heart and to become discredited in the eyes of their followers. There is no other mode of prevention, and the only cure consists in hunting down the rank and file to the last man, and in impressing on the country side the wholesome lesson that no case will be dropped until every man concerned has been accounted for." As regards the principal instigators and ringleaders, the Lieutenant-Governor entirely agrees with these remarks. A serious riot may often be prevented by a judicious resort to the provisions of section 107 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Where the zemindar resides outside the district, and organizes and instigates the riot from a distance, it is no doubt somewhat difficult to get at him owing to the rulings (I. L. R., 11 Cal., 737; 12 Cal., 133, following I. L. R., 6 All. 26) that a Magistrate has no power to take proceedings under this section against a person not personally within his jurisdiction. The Judges appear to have rejected the wider and more natural construction, because "it would empower any Magistrate in any part of India to require on ex parte information the attendance of any person from any part of India." But if a zemindar instigates a disturbance in Jessore from Calcutta or elsewhere, there appears to be no good reason why he should not be summoned by the Magistrate of whose district the peace is imperilled, provided there be sufficient prima facie evidence of the instigation. There is no hardship in enforcing the attendance of an absconding offender, and it is of the essence of criminal law that process should be issued on ex parte information. Supposing a riot has actually been committed, and a Magistrate thinks there are grounds for believing that an absentee zemindar has been guilty under sections 154, 155, or 156 of the Penal Code, he can at once issue process under those sections; and, subject to the above remarks, there appears to be no reason why process should not be issued for prevention in the same way as for punishment. The above rulings were brought to the notice of the Legal Member by more than one Local Administration when Act X of 1886 was before the Legislative Council, but, as the Code was not being generally revised, no action was taken. Under these circumstances, it would be desirable to have the matter set at rest by a Full Bench ruling. But putting aside the provisions in the Criminal Procedure Code, when riots have actually taken place, and there are prima facie grounds for believing that absentee owners or agents have committed offences under sections 154, 155, and 156 of the Penal Code, those sections should be rigorously enforced; this is rendered all the more necessary by the disability of issuing process for purposes of prevention. Of course the sections should be equally enforced against resident owners and agents, and if this be done, the Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that serious and homicidal riots will considerably diminish in number. The Cuttack district shows 45 rioting cases against 18 in 1884—a rise of exactly 60 per cent.—due to the disputes in connection with Killa Koojung, the property of the Burdwan Raj. Out of 70 cases in the Chota Nagpore Division, 32 occurred in Manthoom, in a portion of which (pergunnah Burrabhoom) there are disputes relating to the cultivation of indigo, and the relations between Messrs. Watson and Company's Manager and the ryots are in consequence very strained. The Dacca Division shows 443 rioting cases against 438 in 1884. A decrease in Chumparun is attributed to the people being more than ordinarily comfortable; but, as the Inspector-General points out, it is in Eastern Bengal where the ryots are well off and the pressure of poverty is least felt that the offence of rioting is most ingrained and prevalent. In the Sonthal Pergunnahs occurred the so-called "gola-kata" case, an occurrence on the Ganges near Rajmehal, in which the Sub-divisional Officer of Rajmehal and some other Europeans in a boat were attacked by the boatmen of some other boats, who were under the impression that the Sahibs were, at the instance of Government, in search of human heads to be thrown into the river at the site of some bridge about to be constructed. The offences relating to coin do not call for any particular remark. There were 119 cases against 101 in 1884. Seventy-one persons were convicted and 44 discharged or acquitted.

20. Class II.—Serious offences against the person.—The following statement shows the number of reported cases and the number of persons convicted in the different divisions of the province during the past two years :—

Division.	Cases reported.		Persons convicted.
Burdwan	644	685	344	322
Presidency	879	823	466	484
Rajshahye	671	607	303	297
Dacca	914	926	487	506
Chittagong	308	323	209	191
Patna	888	846	487	519
Bhagulpore	360	354	203	208
Orissa	228	196	96	86
Chota Nagpore	248	234	144	136
Total	5,140	4,944	2,709	2,745

There were 288 murders against 266 in 1884. Of these, five were by dacoits, 10 by robbers, 16 by poison, and 257 were murders of other kinds. It is noticeable that the number of murders by poison has exactly doubled, whilst the number of drugging cases has increased from 8 to 19. The Bengal figures show one murder for every 229,042 of the population, while in England in 1883-84 there were 170 murders, or 1 to every 159,602 of the population. But there can be no doubt that a certain number of murders are not brought to light in Bengal. Suppression is more easy owing to certain facts and customs, such as the desire to prevent disgrace falling on a family, the absence of any restriction on the sale of poisons in the mofussil, defective rules and arrangements for reporting and registering deaths, and the habit of burning the body almost immediately after death.

The annexed statement shows the number of cases under the principal heads of class II during the past two years :—

DESCRIPTION OF CRIME.	1884.	1885.
Attempts at murder	49	55
Culpable homicide	191	203
Rape	145	133
Unnatural offences	63	42
Exposure of infants or concealment of birth	116	109
Attempt at abetment of suicide	276	370
Grievous hurt	78	775
Hurt by dangerous weapon	1,064	1,075
Kidnapping or abduction	198	246
Criminal force to public servant or woman, or in attempt to commit theft or wrongfully confine	1,106	941

In 1884 abduction showed 66 cases fewer than in 1883, while it now has an increase of 48. The Lieutenant-Governor is inclined to agree with the opinion of the Inspector-General that the fluctuations under this head are not so much in crime committed as in crime reported. Cases of kidnapping female children for purposes of marriage are frequently compounded without coming into court at all, while caste considerations keep out of court many cases of the abduction of women. The variations under the other heads do not call for any notice. There was a very bad case of rape in the Burdwan Division, in which the victim, a child of eight or nine, was gagged before the crime was committed. The sentence of two years' rigorous imprisonment passed by the Sessions Court was, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, quite inadequate. The exposure of infants continued to be unusually prevalent in the Patna Division, which shows 61 cases to the provincial total of 109. The Inspector-General thinks that the explanation may be looked for in the general poverty of the population. The density of population to the square mile is greater than that of any other division except the Presidency, while the population is almost one-fourth of the total population of the Province.

21. Cases of murder in different divisions.—Of four poisoning cases in the Burdwan Division, one was instigated by a kobiraj to get rid of the husband of a woman with whom he had an intrigue; in another a woman poisoned the child of her former paramour out of revenge. In both cases the jury acquitted. In Beerbhoom a man who killed his child by dashing it on the ground, in order to be able to bring a false charge of murder against a man who had given evidence against him, was transported for life. Primâ facie the case appears to have been one for a capital sentence. There were several cases, as usual, of the murder of children for the sake of their ornaments of trifling value. These cases are not likely to decrease so long as children are loaded with ornaments and allowed to play about the villages. In Dinagepore a man caught by his neighbours in an intrigue with their relative, a widow, was punished by them in a manner not unusual in such cases by having a stick forced up his person. He was then left out all night, and eventually died of peritonitis. The case resulted in an acquittal. The number of murders in the Dacca Division was 58, which exceeds the total of any year since 1877. In Backergunge only 4 cases out of 22 decided, and in Mymensingh only 4 out of 14, ended in conviction. In one case a Hindoo, who had seduced his employer's daughter, a widow, killed with a dhao a rival whom he had found with her, and was, on conviction, sentenced to death. The High Court acquitted him, though he had never made any secret about his commission of the deed. A man cleft his child's head with a dhao, in order to be able to bring a false charge of murder against some people who had cut his paddy. The Inspector-General states that the case was proved to the hilt, and the assessors were for a conviction, but the Judge acquitted on the ground that such a case was exceedingly improbable. A similar case, however, occurred in Beerbhoom, and other cases of the same kind are mentioned in paragraphs 163 and 192 of the report for 1884. A man killed his mistress, his mother-in-law, because she objected to his giving her up in order to live with his wife, her daughter, on the latter attaining the age of puberty. He absconded and has not since been heard of. That such illicit or incestuous intimacies are not uncommon is unhappily too manifest from the records of our criminal courts. In Chittagong five boys were charged with murdering a girl by filling her mouth with mud during an attempt to rape her. The case against them broke down, as it rested solely on their own statements, which were withdrawn before the Sessions Court. A case in which a woman was murdered by her husband, who absconded before the crime became known, is instanced by the Commissioner as shewing what little value is attached by the native mind to circumstantial evidence. The Government Pleader recommended the withdrawal of the prosecution because there were no eye-witnesses, and for the same reason the assessors were for an acquittal. The Judge, however, convicted, and the accused was sentenced to transportation for life. In a Sarun case quarrels between rival wives led to one of them being murdered. Her body was found lying naked in an indigo field; blood was oozing from the mouth and nostrils, and the private parts had been lacerated by the insertion of pieces of wood. The surviving wife was sent up and committed, but in the absence of eye-witnesses was acquitted. A woman of the Chamar caste was deliberately murdered by a man whom she had refused to treat for a venereal disease. The man was convicted of culpable homicide, and got off somewhat lightly with four years' rigorous imprisonment. In Patna a widow who had become pregnant was murdered by her seducer with the approval of the relations on both sides, in order that he might not be put out of caste. The jury acquitted him. In the Sonthal Pergunnahs a chowkidar murdered an old woman whom he suspected of having bewitched his son, and was sentenced to transportation for life. In Monohyr, after a fight about the possession of some land, the aggressor got hold of the village idiot and murdered him in order to get up a case. The Judge sentenced three men to be hanged, but they were all released by the High Court. In Maldah, two men murdered a boy of eight for the sake of his ornaments; they were convicted and sentenced to death, but released on appeal by the High Court.

22. Sessions trials.—Results before the Court of Sessions, though still far from good, were better than in any previous year since 1881, and the convictions exceed the acquittals for the first time since that year—

		Acquitted by Sessions.	Convicted by Sessions.	Percentage of convictions to total tried.
1881	...	564	616	52.2
1882	...	634	524	45.2
1883	...	619	473	43.3
1884	...	576	481	45.5
1885	...	491	524	51.6

The results in jury districts continue to be very bad. In Burdwan, out of 19 persons committed for murder, only 1 was convicted and 16 acquitted. In Dacca out of 298 persons tried, only 94 were convicted, and in Patna only 59 out of 179. On the whole, excluding jury districts, the Lieutenant-Governor is inclined to think that where commitments are carefully made, acquittals are the exception rather than the rule. It is to be feared that some Magistrates send meagre, ill-prepared, and ill-sifted cases to the Sessions, either to save themselves trouble, or because they are under the impression that all responsibility in the matter must be thrown on the Judge. In 14 W.R. Cr. 16 (see also case of Moha Singh, 3 All. 27) it was ruled by Kemp and Jackson, JJ., that if the result of the enquiry into the defence leaves the matter in doubt, it is the duty of the Magistrate to commit and leave the Sessions Court to decide which is the true story. But these rulings are hardly in accord with the wording of the present law. Section 210 of the Code of 1882 has substituted the words "sufficient grounds for committing the accused for trial" for the words in section 196 of the former Code, namely, "evidence which appears to justify a Magistrate in sending the accused person to take his trial." The requirements of the present Code are thus stronger, and a ruling of the Allahabad High Court appears to be more in accord with the present law. This ruling is that a Magistrate is not bound to commit where the evidence, if believed, would support a conviction: if he discredits such evidence, he is competent to discharge the accused (I. L. R., 5 All. 161). Sections 436, 437, seq., of the Code of Criminal Procedure, provide ample remedies for hasty and improper discharges, and, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, it is hardly right and can seldom be productive of any good result for Magistrates to commit in cases in which, if they had jurisdiction, they would not themselves convict. As regards erroneous or unsustainable verdicts of juries, Sessions Judges are bound, under section 307 of the Criminal Procedure Code, to submit the case to the High Court, when they disagree with the verdict so completely as to consider such a step necessary for the ends of justice; the law leaves them no option in the matter. And it is all the more necessary that they should strictly comply with the law, as it has been decided that no appeal by the Local Government lies under section 417, where the case has been tried by a jury and the questions involved are purely questions of fact. For such an appeal to lie it must be supported on a ground which is covered by section 418 (I. L. R., 10 Cal., 1029). In the Resolution on the Report for 1884, the Sessions Judge of Hooghly was asked to explain the reason of the large proportion of acquittals in cases tried by him. The Judge dealt with the cases seriatim, and from his reply it appears that, though he entirely dissented from the verdict in certain cases, yet he did not think it worthwhile to refer them to the High Court on the ground that the juries were unanimous. His report shows that, though he dissented from eight verdicts of acquittal, he only referred two, which both resulted in convictions. By not referring the other six cases, the Judge assumed a responsibility which properly belongs to the High Court. He was bound by law to refer, and having done so, he becomes functus officio; it is for the High Court to decide whether they will follow the opinion of the Judge, or will uphold the verdict of the jury. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that in future Sessions Judges will not refrain from references for no other ground than that they think a conviction by the High Court improbable. If a Judge considered an accused had been wrongly convicted by a jury, he would certainly refer the case; and the law should be equally observed when a wrong verdict is given in a prisoner's favour. In this connection the Lieutenant-Governor would quote some very apposite remarks made by West J., in a Bombay case:—"When juries know that their verdicts are liable to the scrutiny and supervision of this Court, they will feel the necessity of exercising conscientious deliberation in arriving at their verdict. The same check will prevent temptations to a wilfully wrong verdict from being held out to them. It is our duty, in the present case, to satisfy ourselves that the verdict of acquittal is proper or at least sustainable; and if we find that it is not, the law enjoins on us to set it aside and 'pass the right judgment ourselves.' As regards failure or success at the Sessions, much also is in the hands of the committing Magistrates. They should not fail to sift the evidence offered to them; they should test confessions as far as possible, and they should endeavour to supply essential links in the chain of proof which the police have left wanting. Failure is sometimes due to the neglect of a Magistrate to study the police diaries before or while enquiring into a case. Magistrates should always remember that, in heinous cases, which they do not try but commit, they are not Judges deciding a case, but officers holding an enquiry analogous to a police enquiry, and that it is their bounden duty to get at the truth by every means that the law allows, to assist the police by suggestions, and to supplement defects themselves, instead of shutting their eyes and ears, and delegating the whole of their duties to pleaders and police officers.

23. Class III.—Serious offences against person and property, or against property only.—There were 24,103 true cases against 24,221 in 1884. The annexed statement shows the number of cases under the principal heads of this class during the past two years:—

Description of crime.	1884.	1885.
Dacoity	165	164
Robbery with hurt	13	26
„ in dwelling house	18	19
„ on highway between sunset and sunrise ...	22	20
Other robberies	114	111
Serious mischief and cognate offences	639	703
Mischief by killing, &c., any animal	815	794
Lurking house-trespass or house-breaking with intent to commit an offence or having made preparation for hurt	22,173	22,023
House-trespass ditto	248	235

The variations hardly call for any notice. The Inspector-General thinks that, but for a certain amount of agricultural distress in the spring, there would have been a return to the lower figures of the three previous years. An increase of 11 per cent. in the percentage of cases ending in conviction to cases decided is a satisfactory feature. The bulk of the cases of mischief to animals is made up of cases of poisoning cattle for the sake of their hides. This crime is exceedingly difficult of detection; a few pea-leaves covered with arsenic are thrown on the ground in front of a grazing animal, and the deed is complete. The commission of this offence is further facilitated by the absence of any restriction on the sale or possession of poisons outside municipalities. The difficulty of detection renders it all the more necessary to pass adequate sentences when any case is proved. In paragraph 32 of the resolution on the report for 1884, the Inspector-General was asked to notice separately cases of mischief by fire. This has been done, and the judicial results are extremely bad, only 8 persons having been convicted against 156 persons acquitted. Firing of houses is a common method of revenge in this country, and the nature of the houses renders the offence exceedingly easy of commission. At the same time, as the Inspector-General remarks, false charges of arson appear to possess a peculiar attraction as a means of inflicting injury on an enemy, no fewer than 117 cases (out of 384 cases reported) having been declared false. The districts of Nuddea and the 24 Pergunnahs had 18 true cases each and not a single conviction.

24. Dacoity.—As regards dacoity, the Rajshayhe, Burdwan, and Chota Nagpore Divisions are the worst in the order named, Rajshayhe having held the first position since 1880. One division, Chittagong, was entirely free from this crime: indeed, during the last six years there have been only eight cases in it. Ten districts exhibit a clean sheet, nine more have only one case each, and three have less than five. The seven worst districts are Bankoora with 14 cases, Beerbhoom with 10, Dinagapore and Darjeeling with 11 each, and Moorshedabad, Manbhoon, and Pubna with 9 each. The Inspector-General remarks that it is only in the Rajshahye, Midnapore, and Gya circles that organised dacoity has been found to exist. Of the 164 dacoities of the year, 85 are returned as "professional," as opposed to "local" or "technical," but the Inspector-General doubts if the classification has been properly understood and applied, and thinks that, until any particular gang is detected, local officers would return its work as technical. The Inspector-General thinks it would be better to call a dacoity professional when the guiding motive is the intention to plunder, and technical when it is simply terrorism, as when a zemindar uses it as a short way of getting rid of a troublesome ryot, or a debtor of settling his accounts. But if there is simply terrorism without any attempt to commit robbery, the offence would not be dacoity; while other cases, in which the intention is to plunder, such as the forcible carrying away of a crop by five or more persons, fall within the technical definition of dacoity. In the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion a Magistrate should have no difficulty in practice in distinguishing between professional or regular and other technical dacoities, though it is not easy to define the distinction in words. For instance, where the object is simply a demonstration of hostility (as is common in Western Bengal) the infliction of insult or outrage, intimidation, or the gratification of revenge, the acts would more properly fall under other sections of the Penal Code, such as section 147 or sections 454—458. Even the semblance of a claim, such as exists in most paddy-cutting cases, should remove the offence from the category of dacoity. If property were taken in the cases abovementioned, the dacoity would be merely local or technical. But where the object is plunder, pure and simple, whether the robbery takes place in a house or on the high road, the offence amounts to regular dacoity, and should be shown as such. The Lieutenant-Governor does not consider it so necessary to distinguish between professional and local dacoity as between regular and technical dacoity. The object is to ascertain the number of cases of real dacoity, and for this purpose it does not signify whether the dacoits are professional men, who habitually commit dacoity, or whether they are local men, who have been driven to it by distress, or commit the offence for the sake of gain. Impunity in one case may lead to the commission of further offences; so that it would be difficult to draw a line between so-called local offenders and professional dacoits. The nature of the offence, its object, and the acts committed must be looked to rather than the antecedents and residence of the actual perpetrators. The results of trials for dacoity were, as usual, unsatisfactory. In Bankoora they were extremely bad, as only one man was convicted out of 34 sent up. The Inspector-General remarks that the Beerbhoom cases were undoubtedly the work of men driven to crime by distress, and occurred only in those parts of the district in which charitable relief and relief works were not in operation. Out of 10 cases decided, 6 ended in conviction, but the number of persons convicted (14) was small considering that 61 were sent up. The Moorshedabad Police sent up 74 men, of whom 28 were convicted in 11 cases. One case, in which the women of the house were stripped and burnt with torches, was extremely peculiar, as the dacoits were a mixed gang of Brahmans and Mahomedans. One of the Pubna cases, in which no property was taken, is believed to have been the work of an unsuccessful decree-holder to frighten his debtor into showing where his money was hidden. Two mail-robberies, which occurred near Serajgunge, appear to have been technical dacoities, the object of the offenders being to procure the dismissal of the runners or of the overseer in charge of the line. In the Bhagulpore Division there were 16 cases of dacoity against nine in 1884, and of these six occurred in Purneah and three in Maldah. Detection and results were alike very bad, as but five cases were brought to trial, and of these only one ended in a conviction. Results were equally bad in the Chota Nagpore Division, where dacoity cases exhibited a further rise from 17 to 20, while only two cases ended in conviction. There were 11 cases in Hazaribagh, of which the police succeeded in working out only one. Eight persons were convicted at the Sessions, but six of them were afterwards released by the High Court.

25. Class IV.—Minor offences against the person.—This class shows an unimportant decrease of 47 cases, 2,533 against 2,580 in 1884. The percentage of persons convicted to persons tried was 32·4, the low percentage being partly due to the fact that some offences under this class are compoundable under section 345 of the Criminal Procedure Code, and that compositions are reckoned as acquittals. There were 2,197 cases of wrongful restraint and confinement against 2,532 in 1884. The Dacca Division shows almost twice as many cases (648) as any other division, Burdwan coming next with 377. There can be no doubt that the large number of cases in the Dacca Division has some connection with the greater prevalence of unsatisfactory relations between landlords and tenants, attempts to enhance rent, combinations to resist enhancement or to withhold even just dues, and generally with agrarian disputes of various sorts. The Inspector-General remarks: "any sudden and considerable increase in a given district may generally be attributed to an attempt to resist an enhancement of rent, a charge of this nature being usually the first step taken by the ryot after an unsatisfactory visit to the zemindari cutcherry. From a police point of view, the crime is not one of any importance, nor is it one with which subordinate officers can safely be trusted, since both sides are usually ready and willing to bribe. The large proportion of cases returned by the Dacca Division may, in this way, be taken merely as an indication of the favour with which a charge of this nature is regarded as a weapon of offence by the well-to-do and litigious inhabitants of Eastern Bengal." The proportion of false cases to cases reported in the Dacca Division is shown as nearly 8 per cent., but this figure probably falls short of the actual percentage. The percentage shewn hardly bears out the above remarks of the Inspector-General; nevertheless, the Lieutenant-Governor feels sure that cases of wrongful confinement or restraint of ryots by zemindars, to compel payment of rent, or as a punishment for opposition, are gradually disappearing, and the few true cases that occur are generally so overlaid with exaggeration as to render conviction a difficult matter, only 33 per cent. of the cases decided having ended in conviction..

26. Class V.—Minor offences against property.—There were 42,206 offences under this class against 42,630 in 1884. The following table shows the increase or decrease under the principal heads:—

Description of offence.	1884.	1885.
Lurking house-trespass or house-breaking	855	692
Theft of cattle	2,129	2,055
Ordinary theft	27,625	27,376
Criminal breach of trust	1,587	1,614
Receiving stolen property	2,074	1,874
Criminal or house trespass	8,336	8,562

The percentage of persons convicted in police cases to persons sent up for trial was 61·8 to 60·2 in 1884. The district of Moorshedabad shows a large increase of 538 cases, which is attributed to the scarcity prevailing in the western portion of the district, and to the employment of the police in relief measures, more particularly after the bursting of the Laltakuri bund, which gave bad characters greater freedom of movement. The Rajshahye Division shows a net decrease of 532 cases, Rungpore having 322 fewer, and Bogra 468 fewer. The decrease in Rungpore is attributed to general prosperity, while the Inspector-General thinks that ill-judged action on the part of the assistant in charge led to the concealment of crime in Bogra. Mymensingh which showed 424 fewer cases in 1884, now shows an increase of 532, a result which the Inspector-General considers to be due to a more honest system of keeping the returns. Taking together all sorts of house-breaking (serial Nos. 36, 37, and 43 of Statement A, part 1), Sarun shows a decrease of 161, and Chumparun of 125 cases. Mozufferpore and Sarun have now shewn fewer cases for four years running, and the latter district had only 346 cases in 1885 against 1,219 in 1880. Gya on the other hand, has nearly 1,200 more than any other district, and continues to show by far the worst judicial results. The District Superintendents of Patna and Shahabad complain that their districts being easily accessible are considered a good field of operation by criminals from elsewhere, and that the natural difficulty of detecting these cases is increased by the social status of the receivers. The decrease in Sarun and Chumparun is no doubt partly due to the success of measures taken to settle the Mughya Domes. There was a large decrease of 297 cases in Purneah, and a still larger increase of 405 in Monghyr, which is probably due to better reporting by the chowkidars. As regards cattle-theft, a system is said to have been introduced in Nuddea by Major Ramsay, by which the purchase and sale of cattle used to be registered in the chowkidar's note-book and at the thana. It is not stated by whom the entries were made, if the chowkidars were illiterate, and it is to be hoped that the parties to the sale were not subjected to any restraint or inconvenience. The Lieutenant-Governor would like to have further information on these points. In several districts it is the practice for sales of cattle at hâts to be registered or at least brought to the notice of the proprietor or Ijaradar of the hât. In Pubna the police now attend all cattle-markets in the sudder sub-division, and some thefts are said to have been detected in consequence. There seems to be some doubt as to whether reports of the loss of cattle are to be reckoned as cattle-thefts, and probably there is some diversity of practice in this matter. The District Superintendent of Sarun complains that goats and kids are classed as cattle, but the definition in the Cattle Trespass Act must be taken to settle this point. Still, the theft of a kid and that of a bullock are, in point of heinousness, very different sorts of crime. As regards the loss or straying of cattle, the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that such cases should be entered as thefts, whenever the complainant alleges or suspects theft, but if he does not do so, and the police officer, on questioning the complainant, can discover no grounds for believing that a theft has been committed, there is no reason why the case should be entered as such, as, even if any offence be subsequently committed in respect of the animal, it might be the non-cognizable one of criminal misappropriation.

27. Class VI.—Other offences not specified above.—There were 24,819 cases under this class against 28,477 in 1884, more than two-thirds of the decrease being accounted for by the falling off in prosecutions for public and local nuisances. The following table shows the figures for the last two years under the principal heads of this class:—

Description of offence.		1884.	1885.
Vagrancy and bad character	...	1,122	1,117
Offences against excise laws	...	2,606	2,404
Ditto Opium Act	...	537	571
Ditto railway laws	...	346	348
Ditto salt and custom laws	...	766	353
Ditto Arms Act	...	1,204	938
Public and local nuisances	...	20,709	18,053
Other special and local laws cognizable by police	...	1,045	905

The percentage of persons convicted in police cases to persons sent up for trial was 89·6 against 88·6 in 1884.

28. Vagrancy and bad livelihood.—Out of 1,210 persons called upon to show cause, 750 were required to find security, and 410 were discharged. Proceedings were thus instituted against only one person in every 54,515 of the population, figures which demonstrate the leniency and even sparingness with which the sections of the Criminal Procedure Code relating to this subject have been resorted to. In England, in the year 1883-84, 51,549 persons were proceeded against under the Vagrant laws, and 620 under the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1871. In Bengal 1,078 cases were instituted on the report of the police, and 77 by petition before the Magistrate; of those 695 of the former and 34 of the latter ended in conviction. Some of the cases were delayed for long periods, a fact which was possibly due to the orders that the inquiry should ordinarily be held on the spot. A case in Nuddea occupied more than a year, one in the 24-Rgunnahs 330 days, one in Tipperah 326, one in Backergunge 295, one in Julpigori 223, while ten other cases occupied more than 100 days each. The average duration in Tipperah was 167, in Maldah 112, and in the 24-Pergunnahs 90 days. Explanations will be called for from the district officers. The Inspector-General remarks: "there has been a very satisfactory decrease from 144 to 77 in the number of cases instituted on petition." The Inspector-General apparently thinks that cases are more likely to be false or frivolous when instituted on petition, but the results hardly support his opinion, as 44 per cent. of these cases ended in orders for furnishing security. 760 cases were tried in the village of the accused, and 326 in court. The Inspector-General thinks that more cases should have been tried on the spot. But, after giving full consideration to the matter, the Lieutenant-Governor is inclined to think that the standing orders of Government on this subject admit of some slight relaxation. It was observed in the resolutions on the Reports for 1883 and 1884 that wandering, homeless thieves should be tried as soon as sent up. But, apart from this class of offenders, there may be many cases in which no advantage can accrue from a visit to the spot, especially where the person charged is an habitual receiver of stolen property or extortioner, many of whom are persons of outward respectability and considerable influence. To this extent there seems no objection to a modification of the existing orders on the subject. But as regards what may be termed the rank and file of budmashes, the Lieutenant-Governor still thinks that inquiries should, as far as possible, be conducted on the spot, in the manner repeatedly indicated in the Annual Resolution of Government on the Police report and in other ways. The objections that may be urged against local inquiries are that the police are invariably charged with assembling the witnesses, and that the latter are therefore just as much, if not more, under police influence than they would be if they had to go into the sudder station to give their evidence in the ordinary way. But to this the obvious reply is that when the trial of bad livelihood cases on the spot was insisted on, what was aimed at was a personal inquiry conducted by the magistrate himself, not the mere recording in his tent of such evidence as the police might choose to put before him. If this is to be all that is done, the Lieutenant-Governor would be prepared to agree in the opinion that these trials might just as well be held at the sudder station. But, as above stated, something more than this was aimed at, under the impression that with an intelligent local inquiry there would be less chance of an innocent man being convicted of bad livelihood purely on the evidence of some small village clique to which, in some way or other, he had rendered himself obnoxious. The other objection is that in trials on the spot the accused will have to pay more for legal assistance. This, however, is a matter of no great importance. In the cases that would generally be tried on the spot legal assistance would probably not be called in if the trials were held elsewhere. In cases of this kind very much after all must be left to the discretion of the Magistrate.

Increased supervision of bad characters in Bengal will probably show that a far larger proportion of crime than is generally supposed is committed by them. In future reports the Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to have the total numbers of those entered in the budmash registers, distinguishing those looked after from those not looked after, and those who have been convicted of some offence from those who are merely suspected. In Dacca, where there was a decrease of 22 cases, released convicts are said to be so perfectly looked after that prosecutions are not so much required as before. As regards Mymensingh, the Inspector-General remarks: "Repeated strictures have at last borne some fruit in Mymensingh, where the number of cases has risen from 23 to 72, a number, however, still out of proportion to the place held by the district in classes III and IV." The Lieutenant-Governor, who has recently had occasion to animadvert on the police and criminal administration of this district, has no doubt that much improvement may be effected by a proper and systematic supervision of bad characters. The Magistrate of Gya states that his district contains "a very large number of notorious and daring bad characters, whom it is very seldom possible to catch in cases which come under investigation, and it is most necessary for the protection of the people that they should be prosecuted under special procedure." He has hardly, however, acted on this opinion, as fewer persons were convicted in 1885 than in any previous year since 1878. The reaction against the excessive number of prosecutions in former years, has probably gone too far, there having been only 25 cases in 1885 against 453 in 1876. Moreover, the varying idiosyncrasies of different officers appear to produce widely divergent figures in adjoining districts. For instance, there were only four cases in Champaran against 68 in Patna, 109 cases in Rungpore against 17 in Bogra, one case in Singhbhoon against 27 in Manbhoom, 25 in Bhugulpore against 54 in Monghyr, two cases in Tipperah against 50 in Backergunge. There were hardly any cases in Orissa.

29. Offences against Excise, Opium, Railway, Arms and Salt laws.—The variations under these heads are shown in the table in paragraph 27. It is said that the very large decrease of 402 cases (105 against 507) in the districts of Khulna and the 24-Pergunnahs is due to salt being cheaper, and that it will continue unless sudden raids are made in the Sunderbunds; the Commissioner, however, dissents from this view and considers that there has been an abatement of police vigilance. The increase in Chittagong from 28 to 45 cases is explained by prosecutions against persons taking brine from a spring in the Seetakoond hills, and by smuggling across the Naf at a time during the rains when salt was selling at 8 annas a seer on this side and at only two pice in Arracan. The attention of the Financial Department will be drawn to this paragraph of the Inspector-General's report. Excise cases show a decrease of 202, for which ganja and fermented tari cases are chiefly responsible. Patna, Gya, and Hazaribagh make up between them 211 of the opium cases, and Pooree has 53 of the 307 ganja cases. The number of vendors punished has fallen from 553 to 364. Chittagong returns 2 opium cases, some of which are said to have been of great importance, and to have decidedly affected the illicit trade with Burmah. Cases are said to have decreased in Purneah owing to prosecutions for cultivating bhang being discouraged by the District Superintendent. If bhang grows wild, the Lieutenant Governor would certainly deprecate petty prosecutions for possession of small quantities; but cultivation of the plant stands on a very different footing, and cannot be permitted. The Collector of the district will be asked to report on this matter. There is a large decrease of 2,656 cases under the head of public and local nuisances. It is possible that the municipal bodies are more lenient or less keen on sanitation than heretofore. Perhaps they feel less sure of their footing owing to their not knowing the law so well as official Chairmen, Joint Magistrates, and Vice Chairmen. The Commissioner of Burdwan thinks that the decrease is largely due to diminished activity on the part of the police. That suburban districts like Howrah and Hooghly should show such large decreases as 144 and 878 is certainly a noticeable feature; but it is as yet too early to pronounce an opinion as to whether this is in any way due to the new municipal regime. But no change of policy can be accepted as an excuse for an abatement of police vigilance quoad those offences which are cognizable by them, such as those under section 34 of Act V of 1861, and sections 269, 270, 277, 279, 283, 285, 286, 289, 291, 294 of the Penal Code.

30. Railway Police.—The jurisdiction of this branch of the force was considerably increased during the year by the organization of police on the Eastern Railway Districts under a separate Assistant Inspector-General, and on the Tirhoot and Bengal and North-Western lines, under the Assistant Inspector-General, East Indian Railway. There were 1,517 cognizable and non-cognizable cases, and 1,121 persons were convicted out of 1,535 brought to trial. Including 23 cases of suicide, there were 214 accidents, and 115 persons were killed, of whom 23 were Railway servants. 26 cases of opium smuggling were detected, and Rs. 2,352-15 paid away in rewards.

31. Non-cognizable crime.—Non-cognizable offences have decreased by 1,372, as will be seen from the following table:—

Abatement	2
Class I	...	8,258	7,587
" II	...	63	60
" III	...	1,148	1,126
" IV	...	51,867	51,731
" V	...	9,629	10,629
" VI	...	10,155	10,017
Special laws	...	23,238	21,844
		1,07,681	1,05,996

(1885 I shows a decrease of 701 cases, chiefly made up by offences against public justice (463), false evidence (111), and offences by public servants

(101). Mischief shows a large increase of 1,086 cases, and cheating a decrease of 173. Under "Special laws" there are 1,394 fewer cases, municipal cases having fallen off by 1,003, salt cases by 535, pound cases by 462, excise cases by 118, and breach of contract cases by 107. Railway cases show an increase of 297, stamp cases of 146, vaccination cases of 106, and miscellaneous of 374. The police were employed in 4,814 cases, the percentage being 4·5 against 4·6 in 1884. The Lieutenant-Governor does not think that this percentage is at all too high, and he believes that, generally speaking, all District Magistrates keep a sufficient check on undue references to the police. 3,971 cases were transferred from the head of cognizable to non-cognizable crime. In this connection the Inspector-General brings to notice that Magistrates often say nothing about the sections, or whether the case is to be entered as true or false, but leave the omissions to be supplied by the Court Sub-Inspector. This is a duty which Magistrates should themselves perform. In the Dacca Division there was a large decrease of 2,198 cases, appearing in every district and in every class except class V. The Commissioner considers the low percentage of cases declared false to be very satisfactory; but, as pointed out by the Inspector-General, the figures are quite worthless, the low percentage being due to the fact that a case not declared to be false must be shown to be true, and that in most instances, where a Magistrate dismisses, he does so without expressing any definite opinion one way or the other. Cuttack shows an increase of 565 cases, mostly under classes V and VI. It is suggested that the cyclone was responsible for disputes about land and fallen trees, which eventually terminated in cases of mischief. The Inspector-General thinks that the connection is not very evident. But it is seldom that zemindars and ryots are agreed as to their respective rights to trees; moreover, trees along boundaries being blown down would bring conflicting claims to a head. Similarly, there might naturally have been disputes with regard to the cultivation of land, the owners of which had been killed in the cyclone. The Lieutenant-Governor doubts whether the decrease under the head of offences against public justice and false evidence denotes any real decrease, some small districts having more cases than larger districts. Moreover, the number of cases would largely increase if Civil Courts were to take action under section 476 of the Code of Criminal Procedure oftener than is at present the case. The figures under the head "offences relating to marriage" indicate that different Magistrates must have very different views, regarding these prosecutions. There were 3,434 cases, in 2,096 of which process issued. Only 1,609 persons appeared before the Court, of whom 428 were discharged after appearance, 859 acquitted, and only 244 convicted; 3,434 cases and 214 persons convicted, a result which shows that these cases are "frittered away" in different ways without any serious intention of bringing them to trial. The Magistracy cannot exercise too great caution in taking up and dealing with these cases; but the above figures indicate in many cases an unwillingness and even a refusal to administer the law as it stands. No doubt false charges are often instituted by men whose concubines have run away from them, but as evidence of reputation (Evidence Act, section 50) is excluded in prosecutions under sections 494-498 of the Penal Code, and the fact of marriage has to be strictly proved, the falsity of such charges is easily detected. Hindoo husbands of good caste are not by any means too ready to institute prosecutions, which cover them with shame, and often cause their degradation from caste. The fact that detected adulterers are often charged with lurking house-trespass with intent to commit theft, and the fact that the native police send up the cases as theft, though their investigation must have made them aware of the real facts, shows the direction in which native feelings and sympathies lie. But though shame and fear of being outcasted may often be the motive for this suppressio veri et aggestio falsi, it is probable that the Courts are in some measure to blame for it in discouraging bond fide complainants, and that the allegation of theft is partially due to the difficulty of procuring a conviction for the real offence. The Lieutenant-Governor does not intend that these remarks should lead to any sudden revulsion of procedure, which might create much mischief, but he must impress on Magistrates that unwillingness on the part of the Magistrate to administer the law as it stands may often tend to the commission of serious and violent crime.

32. Proceedings under the Code of Criminal Procedure.—The small number of proceedings under chapters X and XII of the Criminal Procedure Code (629 and 388) is remarkable, considering the area and population of the Province. The number of proceedings under section 107 of the Procedure Code (which are shewn along with bad livelihood proceedings under class VI of cognizable crime) was also remarkably small, and some districts show hardly any cases, whilst Chittagong has none, though the number of riots and unlawful assemblies in that district would seem to indicate that more proceedings ought to have been instituted than in a great many other districts. When a certain state of facts is made out to the Magistrate's satisfaction, procedure under section 145 of the Procedure Code is obligatory and not optional. Action under sections 107 and 133 is no doubt discretionary, but it cannot be permitted that Magistrates should altogether get rid of such discretion by ignoring the intention of the Legislature and allowing these sections to become dead letters.

33. Remands.—Altogether 38,692 A forms were sent up. They were disposed of as follows:—

				Percentage.
At first hearing	13,798	35.6
Remanded once	8,350	21.6
Ditto twice	5,340	13.8
Ditto thrice	3,537	9.1
Ditto four times	2,381	6.2
Ditto five times	1,430	3.7
Ditto six times	977	2.5
Ditto more than six times	1,868	4.8

There has been a slight change for the worse in the percentage of cases decided at the first or second hearing, 57.2 against 59.7 in 1884. Pubna, Backergunge, Mymensingh, Tipperah, Maldah, Manbhoom, and Balasore are singled out for unfavourable notice; but it appears that those districts which show best owe their position in a considerable degree to the number of petty thefts and conservancy cases. The Commissioner of Burdwan speaks of the delay due to the increased employment of counsel and pleaders, whose chief resort is interminable and irrelevant cross examination. The Lieutenant-Governor has dealt with this question separately, and he trusts that the average duration of cases may now show a decrease. In Backergunge 123 cases out of 756, and in Mymensingh 172 out of 1,176, were remanded more than six times. The bad figures for Tipperah are attributed to the weakness of the Magisterial staff at head-quarters during the greater part of the year. As the Commissioner remarks, Balasore shows very badly in the matter of remands, and it appears that both there and at Pooree the District Magistrates did little or no criminal work. Their attention will again be drawn to these matters.

34. Reconvictions.—The total number of persons reconvicted during the year was 1,577 against 1,482 in 1884, and 1,159 in 1883. This net increase of 95 is satisfactory, as it accompanies a decrease of nearly 5,000 in cognizable crime. No doubt supervision is improving from year to year, but in this respect India is still a very long way behind other civilized countries. In Bengal 1,577 persons have been reconvicted out of a total of 59,859 convicted of cognizable crime by Magistrates or Sessions Courts, or little more than 2½ per cent.; in England 21.9 per cent. of those apprehended for indictable offences or proceeded against summarily were previously convicted persons or of known bad character. The figures of convicted persons actually sent to prison are still more remarkable. Of the total number of males imprisoned in England and Wales in 1883-84, 40.3 had been previously imprisoned, while the same percentage in the case of females was 61.5. In the face of these figures it must be admitted that in Bengal the registers of convictions and reconvictions, and the mode of identifying previously convicted persons leave much to be desired. It is impossible for many reasons to press the analogy between the two countries too closely, but it is clear that much remains to be done here in this direction, and it is satisfactory to find from paragraph 352 of the Inspector-General's report that he is fully alive to the importance of this matter. The Mughya Dome settlements in Baruf and Chumparun have continued to prosper, and in the latter district it was expected that the Domes would from this year be independent of Government aid. The Sarun Domes appear to be less easy to reclaim; a quiet life of toil is said to be irksome to them, and 46 of them absconded during the year, no doubt upon thieving expeditions. Still the Magistrate notices a marked improvement in the cultivation of their lands, and in respect of the feeling with which they are regarded by their fellow-villagers, by whom they are now employed as field labourers.

35. The names favourably noticed by the Inspector-General in paragraph 50 of his report will be noted in the Appointment Department. The Lieutenant-Governor has again to thank Mr. Veasey (who was in charge throughout the year) for a very full report of the working of the department, and for the keen personal interest he has shown in its effective administration, notwithstanding the difficulties which arise from an inadequate force in many districts, and an inadequate rate of pay in many branches of the service.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police, and the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to all Commissioners of Divisions for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution, and extract paragraph 50 from the Report, be forwarded to the Appointment Department of this Office for information.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

F. B. PEACOCK,

Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE TRIBUTARY STATES OF ORISSA FOR THE YEAR 1885-86.

RESOLUTION.

POLITICAL.

Darjeeling, the 11th November 1886.

READ—

The Annual Report on the Administration of the Tributary States of Orissa for the year 1885-86.

Read also—

The Reports for the years 1883-84 and 1884-85, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

Mr. Metcalfe was Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals throughout the year, but, owing to press of work in other departments, was unable to visit any of the States except Mohurbhunj. This is to be regretted, as the Lieutenant-Governor attaches much importance to the States being personally visited as frequently as possible by the Superintendent. A useful tour of 75 days was, however, made by the Assistant Superintendent. Angul and the Khondmals are Government estates; Mohurbhunj, Dhenkanal, Baramba, and Nursingpore are under direct management, and the remaining States are administered by their respective Chiefs subject to the general control and supervision of the Superintendent. The whole demand on account of tribute from these States, Rs. 33,249-7-11, was realized during the year.

2. Weather, crops, and material condition of the people.—There were good or more than average crops in Mohurbhunj, Nilgiri, Talcher, Nursingpore, Athmallik, Athgur, and Tigiria. In Hindole and parts of Dhenkanal, Baramba, Khandparah, Ranpur, Pal Lehera, Angul, Nyagur, and the Khondmals the crops suffered from drought. Moreover, the crops were in places seriously harmed by the storm of September. The rainfall appears to vary considerably, as the highest fall registered was 71 inches and the lowest 37. In Hindole very little rain fell in June, and none at all from the beginning of July to the end of September. The principal rice crop failed over a large area, giving rise to considerable scarcity. Measures of relief were devised by the Assistant Superintendent in consultation with the Rajah and his Dewan. The Rajah behaved very well, and, for the purpose of assisting his people, has taken a loan of Rs. 5,000 from Government. He remitted a portion of the rents, and in many places all the rent in kind: he established a godown for the sale of rice, and put in hand the construction of roads and excavation of tanks in order to provide labour for his people. Taking the Gurjhats as a whole, the rainfall was sufficient and well distributed, except in certain specified tracts, and the crops were good. The winter crops were almost everywhere good, and generally the autumn crop was up to the average. The Superintendent states that the Gurjhat people are generally well off, their wants few and easily satisfied. The average price of rice during the year was about 21 seers, and of behri about 19 seers, against 26 and 21, respectively, in the previous year. The rates of skilled labour are said to vary from 3 to 5 annas (8 annas is given as the maximum for Angul only), and of unskilled labour from 1 to 3 annas. The public health was generally good during the year. Cholera appeared in Dhenkanal station in the form of an epidemic, and gradually spread into the interior, and continued in a sporadic form for several months. There were isolated cases in several other States, but except in Baramba and Nursingpore, where the deaths reported were 160 and 400 respectively, the disease was not severe. Vaccine operations were carried on in Mohurbhunj, Talcher, Dhenkanal, Angul, Baramba, Nursingpore, and Ranpur, with more or less success everywhere except Talcher, where the people are opposed to it. There are 11 hospitals, where English medicines are dispensed, and two others were about to be established in Boad and Dhenkanal. There is nothing to remark under the head of roads and communications except that a new road is to be made from Cuttack to Angul, and is now in course of construction.

3. Administration of Civil Justice.—The total number of civil and revenue suits for disposal during the year, including 2,805 pending from the previous year, was 13,091 against 15,678 in 1884-85; 10,854 cases were disposed of, leaving 2,237 pending at the end of the year. Many of the States show hardly any cases at all. Of the 10,286 cases instituted during the year, Mohurbhunj alone has 4,529, Dhenkanal 2,490, and Baramba 1,733. The total number of appeals in civil cases was 233, and in revenue cases 53.

4. Criminal Justice.—The total number of offences reported was 2,231 against 1,725 in the previous year, and 456 in 1883-84. Of these, 1,763 were returned as true. Of 3,150 persons under trial during the year, 1,191 were acquitted or discharged, and 1,881 convicted. There were 29 offences affecting life against 28 in the previous year, and 353 cases of hurt and criminal force against 290; so that crimes of violence have slightly increased. Offences against property also have increased, there having been 459 cases of theft against 441, and 141 cases of mischief against 77; but cases of criminal trespass declined from 155 to 109. There were 41 cases of defamation against 28 in the previous year. It is a curious fact that the States of Athgur, Keonjhar, Nyagur, Pal Lohera, and Tigrīā have no cases at all, while Athmallik, Boad, Dasputla, Hindole, Khandparah, Nilgiri, Ranpur, and Talcher show only 14 cases between them. Mohurbhunj contributes 632 of the total number of cases reported and brought to trial during the year, Angul 250, Dhenkanal 228, Nursingpore 146, and Baramba 137. Mohurbhunj has no fewer than nine murders, culpable homicides or attempts. It is to be hoped that from the larger number of cases of violent crimes in States under European management and under direct control the presumption is not valid that, in the States managed by their own chiefs, crimes of this character are concealed and suppressed. The total number of appellants and applicants for revision was 137; the sentence or order was confirmed in 101 cases, reduced or altered in 8 cases, and reversed in 13 cases. The small proportion of reversals is a striking contrast to the results of appellate and revisional jurisdiction in regulation districts.

5. Murders.—The large proportion of murders arising out of the faithlessness of wives is striking. This, however, among a wild and savage people, such as those who inhabit some of the States, is hardly a matter for surprise, their natural impulse being to take the law into their own hands. One of the cases of murder was that of an illegitimate child by a widow of good caste. She was sentenced to transportation for life, but Government commuted the sentence to rigorous imprisonment for seven years. In another case the husband went away to get work, telling his wife he could not return till the next day. Finding no work, he returned unexpectedly the same evening, and, looking through the open door, saw a man in the act of criminal intercourse with his wife. Another case from Athmallik was of a similar nature. The accused was sleeping in his house, and waking up found his wife in criminal intercourse with another man, and there and then killed her. He was convicted under section 304, Penal Code, and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for three years. In a case from Mohurbhunj, the accused, suspecting his wife, followed her to the jungles armed with a bow and arrows. He tracked her and found her having connection with another man. He fired at the man, but the arrow struck a tree overhead. The startled lovers jumped up and ran. The accused fired a second arrow at the man, which missed him and struck the woman. In two cases, both among Sonthals, the murders were due to a belief in witchcraft. The most horrible case came from Ranpur. The accused took a young girl not quite 12 years of age into the jungles and raped her with such violence as to dislocate her right shoulder, besides injuring her in other ways. He then strangled her, and took a pair of gold earrings from her ears. The sentence of death passed was confirmed by Government. There appears to be a tendency to crimes of violence, which the Superintendent must endeavour to keep in check by the imposition of adequate sentences.

6. Forest Conservancy.—During the year an addition was made to the Government reserved forests of Angul by adding the Durgapur block. When the settlement of this estate is taken in hand, the whole of the exterior boundary will have to be demarcated. The season was a satisfactory one as regards fires, as up to the end of the official year no fire had occurred in the reserves. There are some disputes between the villagers and the Forest Department as to the area available for grazing, and the villagers have agreed to pay small grazing fees during the months from June to November. At Tikarpara an experimental nursery of about half an acre was made on the bank of the Mahanuddi, and toon, babul, and teak seeds were sown. The revenue from the forests is slightly increasing, but is not yet sufficient to meet the charges incurred. The Conservator and his Deputy have visited the Khondmal forests, and the question whether any reserves should be formed is now under consideration. The Tributary Chiefs of Ranpur, Nyagur, Athmallik, Khandparah, Athgur, and Boad have either reserved or protected their forests. In Baramba and Nursingpur, now under direct management, the cutting of timber trees has been prohibited. Valuable timber is preserved in Mohurbhunj and Hindole, and, to a certain extent, in Dhenkanal. It is said that the Daspalla forests are being denuded of good timber by men who have obtained leases on payment of trifling sums of money and two elephants. The Superintendent, who has addressed the Rajah on the subject, should do his utmost to prevent the wasteful destruction of such valuable property.

7. Post Office and Education.—There has been no change in postal lines or communications. An arrangement with the Chiefs was made for an annual contribution on the understanding that as soon as the postal lines begin to pay, they would be entirely relieved of the cost of their maintenance. As some of the post offices do not yet pay their way, the Postal Department does not seem to be willing to take over the entire responsibility. The Superintendent remarks: "There now seems to be some unwillingness on the part of some of the Chiefs to continue the subscriptions, and if they cease to pay, and the Postal Department does not take them over, the entire scheme must fall to the ground, which will be a matter of great regret, not only from a commercial, but also from a political, point of view." There seems no doubt that the postal lines and arrangements must very shortly become self-paying, and it is to be hoped that the Chiefs will have the wisdom and public spirit to continue their subscriptions until this result is attained. The Postal Department cannot be expected to do more than it has done, and the Superintendent should lose no opportunity of impressing on the chiefs the importance to themselves of not withdrawing from the arrangement entered into.

The number of schools at the close of the year was 1,215 against 1,151 in the previous year; the number of pupils was 14,956 against 14,836. The aggregate number of children of the aboriginal races was only 1,509. Mohurbhunj, Athgur, and Hindole show a marked decrease in the number of lower primary schools, while the number in Nilgiri increased from 48 to 81. In some cases the decrease is apparent and not real, owing to the reduction of the reward fund, which means that some of the schools have not come under inspection and the reward system. Of the 33 upper primary schools, 3 in Angul are maintained by Government, 6 in the Khondmals by a local cess on grog-shops, and 24 by the Native States. There are six female schools as compared with four in the previous year, attended by 97 girls. Two hundred and sixteen read in boys' schools, and, out of 313 (the total number being educated), 149 can read and write. The total expenditure on schools (including Government expenditure) was Rs. 66,786 against Rs. 59,364 in 1884-85. The Government grant was Rs. 8,042. The inspecting staff has been slightly increased, and now consists of five Sub-Inspectors and nine inspecting pundits.

8. Angul.—There are mines of limestone, mica, and coal in Angul. It is said that the coal may be worked at a profit if the proposed railway passes through the estate. The existing settlement will expire in 1887, and it is proposed to commence the re-settlement in the ensuing cold weather. The present rates are said to be very low, and a considerable area of jungle land has been brought under cultivation since the last settlement. The present land revenue demand of the estate is Rs. 32,916-3-4½. The total area of rent-free or quit-rent life tenures was 32,073 acres, and of this amount 22,570 acres have been resumed on the death of the original grantees. The excise revenue increased from Rs. 1,620 to Rs. 1,998-1-4. It is said that, owing to the introduction of Court-fee and Stamp Acts from the 4th December 1885, the number of suits has decreased, but not to any appreciable extent. A sum of Rs. 1,250-12-7 was expended on works of improvement.

9. Mokurbhunj.—The total revenue demand was Rs. 2,88,146-15-6, of which Rs. 1,95,956-3-2 was collected during the year, and Rs. 10,635-4-8 was remitted. The pergunnahs Panchpir, Kainsari, Sanikola, and Poradiha were under measurement with a view to re-settlement, and a report has been submitted to Government regarding Bamunghatti, the settlement of which is about to expire. The new building for the dispensary at Baripada, which is a commodious and substantial building, was completed during the year, and a branch dispensary was opened in Bamunghatti. As regards education, it is a significant fact that a Sonthal was serving the State as an inspecting pundit, and a Sonthal boy, who had got a scholarship at Baripada, was studying in the Balasore Zillah School; but unfortunately they both died during the year, which led the Sonthals to think that education brings evils on them, and many withdrew their children from the schools. Mr. Wyllly, who was in charge of the State throughout the year, is opposed to a regular forest system as the State cannot afford it, and there are no roads for easy transport of timber; and the Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that any present attempt to introduce regular conservation of the forests here would be premature; but there are certain small reserves which should be carefully maintained, and the wasteful cutting of valuable timber should be prohibited throughout the State. Baboo Brindaban Chandra Bhunj, brother of the deceased Maharajah, was in charge of Bamunghatti throughout the year. His request to manage the pergunnah independently of Mr. Wyllly was disallowed. His administration falls very short of the requirements of so important a charge. It has been proposed during the year that he should take up his residence at Baripada where he can, if he chooses, make himself useful in many matters in which it is desirable that the wishes of the family should be consulted. Sir Rivers Thompson has more than once expressed his willingness to accede to this arrangement, if Baboo Brindaban will recognise at Baripada his subordination to Mr. Wyllly, the Deputy Superintendent and Manager of the State; but upon this point the Baboo appears unwilling to give the assurance which Government requires. In the meantime, the Lieutenant-Governor is clearly of opinion—a conviction that has been strengthened by recent events—that it is out of the question at present to place him in any entirely independent charge. To do so would be most detrimental to the best interests of the State.

10. Nilgiri.—The Chief of this State has practically retired from the duties of his office, and the entire administration is in the hands of Mr. Ricketts, a member of the Subordinate Executive Service, whose services have been lent to the Rajah. This State has constantly been a source of anxiety, and during the year a disturbance took place in Kharakpur owing to the sarbarakars of six villages refusing to pay what was due from them as rent. The execution of decrees was resisted by force, the police were assaulted, and persons who had been arrested were rescued. Vigorous measures had to be taken to restore order, and the disturbance only quieted down after some of the ring-leaders had been arrested and punished. The State has three stone quarries, and the value of the stone-plates, cups, and other articles annually exported to Bengal is estimated at Rs. 50,000. The land revenue demand, including arrears, was Rs. 33,119-1-4, of which Rs. 28,527-4-3 was collected during the year. It is said that there are hundreds of acres of land under cultivation which pay no rent whatever, and the Manager proposes to make a general revenue settlement of the whole State. Care should be taken to carry out this settlement in such a manner as not to discourage further reclamation. Of the necessity for this, the Manager seems fully aware. It is said that registration of documents has commenced, and that 54 documents were registered during the year. The Lieutenant-Governor would like to have a further report on this subject, as he is not aware that Government have ever sanctioned the enforcement of the Registration Act in the Tributary States.

11. Dhenkanal.—The minor Rajah died during the year at the early age of 20. The succession of his only infant son has been approved by the Governments of Bengal and India. The total realizable demand of the State, including arrears, was Rs. 95,492-3-10, of which Rs. 83,492-6-6 was collected during the year. As the people to the north of the State had to travel more than 80 miles to head-quarters, a new sub-divisional office was established at Baisinga.

12. Keonjhar and other States.—The total demand of the Keonjhar State for the year 1292 was Rs. 87,854-0-3½, of which Rs. 85,978-12-6½ was on account of land revenue. With arrears, the demand amounted to Rs. 1,13,498-10-0½, of which Rs. 60,509-5-1 was collected during the year. The total expenditure amounted to Rs. 83,558-12-5, of which Rs. 1,978-12-10 is Government tribute. The jail in Ashtur is said to be a miserable hotel, and the Rajah has failed to carry out his promise to build a proper jail. The Rajah is reported to be a hard landlord, and to think that the people have no rights in the land they cultivate. The settlement of Kishik Baramba, which was commenced in 1881 at the request of the people, is now almost complete, and the total land revenue demand of the State has been raised from Rs. 14,111-4-2 to Rs. 18,179-5-4, exclusive of the assessment on retained jaghir and lakheraj lands. This State was involved in debt when Government took charge of it. Not only have all the debts been paid off, but many works of improvement have been effected. In the Boad State it was the custom for the heads of pergunnahs to decide petty civil and criminal cases, and to impose small fines, half of which were retained by the headmen, and half credited to the State treasury. It was found, however, that the headmen had abused their powers, which were accordingly withdrawn from them by the Rajah. Boad is an extensive State, inhabited chiefly by aborigines, and the Superintendent has asked the Rajah to devise some ready means of administering justice near the homes of the people. A further report, which has before been called for, should be submitted on this matter by the Superintendent after he has visited the State during his next cold-weather tour. It has been remarked in paragraph 3 of this Resolution that Boad and five other States show only 14 criminal cases amongst them. The general administration of the Daspulla State is unfavourably animadverted on by the Superintendent, who had to interfere to prevent oppression by the Chief. The state of the finances is said to be deplorable. The area of the State is 568 square miles, with a population of 41,608; the land revenue amounts to Rs. 11,000 only, of which about Rs. 1,000 go towards paying the Government tribute and postal charges. The present settlement will expire in two years, and if the Rajah will only take the trouble to conciliate his people he should be able to obtain a fair increase of revenue. The Hindole State has been in difficulties owing to the failure of the autumn crop, and, as has been mentioned above, considerable measures of relief had to be undertaken. A settlement has just been effected, by which the total assessment is increased from Rs. 21,648 to Rs. 34,857. The large increase in the number of civil suits is said to be due to the fact that the Rajah introduced certain rules of limitation during the year, no limitation having previously existed. The Rajah of Khandparah is said to be a hard landlord, and to think that his people have been created with the sole object of administering to his wants and comforts. He looks with displeasure on those who complain, and three men who brought grievances to the notice of the Assistant Superintendent during his recent visit to the State have since got into trouble, one having been sentenced to three months' imprisonment in a case of petty squabbling. The Lieutenant-Governor must desire the Superintendent to visit this State during the ensuing cold weather. There is evidently much needed in the way of reform, and but little chance of its being introduced except through the authority and influence of the Superintendent himself. During the whole of 1885 there were only four prisoners in the jail, all sentenced in one case for killing a bullock. The population of the State is 66,296. As the Superintendent remarks, many offences are not reported, and the offenders in others are punished by the Pan sirdars for their own benefit. The Superintendent was unable to visit the Khondmals. The Khonds pay no land revenue, but a tax of 3 annas on each plough. This together with an equal contribution to Government, constitutes the Khond-mal Road Fund. The total demand of Nursingpur, including arrears, was Rs. 31,528-8-2½, of which Rs. 28,398-3-8 was collected during the year. A dispensary has recently been opened at the head-quarters of the State. The Superintendent has proposed to appoint a joint Forest Officer for Nursingpur and Baramba, and this proposal is now under the consideration of Government. Nyagur was not inspected during the year. Out of a total land revenue demand (including arrears) of Rs. 41,125-2-8, a sum of Rs. 40,196-5 was collected during the year. Of the total debts of the Rajah, amounting to Rs. 76,300-9-7, a sum of Rs. 31,005-5-8 was paid off during the year. A charitable dispensary was established during the year. The Rajah is said to be kind-hearted but improvident, and readily runs into debt. The Superintendent states that several of the Chiefs are defrauded by foreign merchants, and he has republished a notification issued by the late Sir Henry Ricketts in 1838, to the effect that he (the Superintendent) has no legal power to recover debts due from Native Chiefs, and in future will not receive applications for assistance. This action has the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor, but any case of real hardship should be reported to Government. The finances of the Pal Lehera State are very bad, and the Rajah is deeply in debt. The total receipts of the State amount to Rs. 17,160-12-1, while the Rajah's debts amount to about Rs. 35,000. The term of the current settlement of Ranpur will expire in 1297 Umli. Rights of occupancy and transfer are recognized by the State, and large quantities of waste land (held rent-free for the first three years) have been reclaimed. The land revenue demand, including arrears, was Rs. 34,911, of which Rs. 25,992 was collected during the year. The Lieutenant-Governor would like to have further information here also regarding the registration of documents. The management of the State during the year is said to have been satisfactory. The total income of the Talcher State is Rs. 39,322. This State was overassessed in 1877, and in the case of a good many villages the assessment of the revenue has been revised and reduced, which indicates the justice and moderation of the Rajah. A pucca building is being constructed for the dispensary. The Superintendent, it is satisfactory to note, speaks very highly of the Rajah's administration. Since the close of the official year, the Rajah of Tigiria has died. He was a ruler of the old patriarchal type, and is said to have been much liked by the people of the State. The succession of his only son has been approved by the Government of India.

13. The Superintendent has submitted a full report, but it would be well if the different subjects could be arranged in a more systematic manner. The arrangement of the present report is so desultory that it has been found difficult to deal with the various subjects in a complete manner. The remarks concerning the merits of officers will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Superintendent of the Tributary Mehals of Orissa for information and guidance.

Ordered also that a copy of the Report, together with a copy of the Resolution, be forwarded to the Government of India, in the Foreign Department, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the remarks concerning the merits of the officers engaged in the administration of the States during the year be forwarded to the Appointment Department for record.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

F. B. PEACOCK,

Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The results of the year under report, as compared with the previous year, show a decrease of Rs. 12,29,533, or 6 per cent. in the receipts, and a decrease of Rs. 9,737, or 10.9 per cent., in the charges. There was a decrease under all the heads of receipts; that under the head of Duty was due to smaller clearances, and that under the head of Rent of warehouses to a reduction in bonding transactions. The decrease in the charges was chiefly due to smaller refunds of Customs duty on salt.

2. The total quantity of salt in stock at the commencement of the year was 15,41,259 maunds; against 20,00,056 maunds in 1884-85. During the year 94,01,468 maunds were imported or manufactured against 1,00,50,107 maunds in 1884-85, and 9,52,909 maunds were in stock at the close of the year. Of the stock in hand at the commencement of the year, 11,10,199 maunds were imported and the remainder was excise salt.

3. Importation of salt was confined during the year to the ports of Calcutta and Chittagong, and there was a decrease of 6,69,495 maunds as compared with the total quantity imported in the previous year. In Calcutta salt was imported from the United Kingdom, Hamburg, Bombay, Madras, the Arabian and Persian Gulfs, Italy, Port Augustus, and Akyab, and in Chittagong from the United Kingdom, Madras, and Akyab. There was no importation in Cuttack.

4. The clearances of salt from shipboard in Calcutta showed a decrease of 1,26,796 maunds, or 1·7 per cent., and in Chittagong of 1,35,983 maunds, or 68·9 per cent. In the aggregate there was a decrease of 2,62,779 maunds, or 3·1 per cent., and of Rs. 7,45,513, or 5 per cent. in the duty realized. There was an additional clearance of 13,000 maunds from shipboard at Chittagong under bond for Naraingunge. The total quantity cleared from bond in all ports amounted to 19,06,624 maunds against 21,19,010 maunds in 1884-85, and realized a duty of Rs. 38,13,243 against Rs. 42,38,022.

5. Salt was manufactured under the Excise Rules in Orissa only. As compared with 1884-85, there was an increase of 20,832 maunds, or 4·8 per cent., in the total quantity manufactured. The increase in Pooree and Balasore amounted to 23,065 maunds and 1,028 maunds, respectively, while Cuttack showed a decrease of 3,260 maunds. The decrease in Cuttack is attributed to the heavy rains of March 1886.

6. The total quantity of excise salt sold amounted to 4,78,719 maunds against 5,01,255 maunds in 1884-85, yielding a duty of Rs. 9,57,498 against Rs. 10,02,512 in the previous year. There was a decrease in the sales, amounting, in the 24-Pergunnahs, to 2,989 maunds, in Cuttack to 20,719 maunds, and in Balasore to 11,859 maunds; while in Pooree there was an increase of 13,060 maunds. The decrease in the 24-Pergunnahs is said to be due to the stock of salt in the golahs having been disposed of. It is reported that the decrease in Cuttack was very probably caused by an illicit trade carried on in the district, unsuspected by the Executive and unhindered by the Police. The Salt Department in Orissa has now been transferred to the control of the Commissioner of Salt Revenue, Madras, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the trained supervision to which the operations are now subjected will stamp out illicit dealings.

7. The sales of salt in the saliferous districts showed a decrease of 13,906 maunds as compared with the previous year. The decrease occurred chiefly in the districts of Chittagong, Cuttack, and Balasore. There was a decrease of 16 in the number of seizures, while there was an increase of 98 maunds in the quantity of salt attached, and the quantity confiscated fell off by about 53 maunds. The cases instituted for offences against the salt laws were 469 against 959 in the previous year. The amounts realized as fines and disbursed as rewards were Rs. 2,179 and Rs. 1,446 against Rs. 4,704 and Rs. 3,565 respectively in the previous year.

8. The following table shows the despatches of salt into the interior by the different water routes and railways in the last two years:—

From the figures given above, it appears that there was an increase of 49,572 maunds in the quantity of salt conveyed by water, and a decrease of 1,92,644 maunds in the despatches by rail. The quantity of salt bonded during 1885-86 was 11,88,240 maunds against 16,61,055 maunds in the previous year. The decrease is due to low freights and depression of trade, which held out less inducement to merchants to clear their salt from ship board for the return cargo. The quantity of salt remaining in storage at the close of the year was 4,51,765 maunds against 9,38,000 maunds at the beginning.

There has thus been an increase in the number of registrations under all heads, while the excess of receipts over expenditure is only Rs. 579 less than in the previous year. Compulsory registrations affecting immoveable property increased by 3.01 per cent., optional registrations of the same kind by 9.06 per cent., and "other registrations" by 5.54 per cent.

It will be seen that there has been almost, without exception, a general and steady increase. The operation of section 54 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, and the Full Bench decision of the Calcutta High Court reported in I. L. R., 8 Cal., 597, have virtually abolished the distinction created by sections 17 and 18 of the Registration Act between compulsory and optional registration of documents affecting transfers of immoveable property even when the value is under Rs. 100; for, if delivery is not given, section 54 makes registration compulsory, and if delivery is given, a registered instrument of transfer is not required. Moreover, the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) will have the same effect as regards deeds relating to the transfers of permanent tenures. The Government of India have accordingly been asked to modify the existing forms of Statistical Statements II and IV, but final orders have not yet been received. The increase in the number of deeds of mortgage of value less than Rs. 100 was very large, being 16·89 per cent more than the previous year. The number of leases for terms of one year and less exceeded the number registered in the preceding year by 13·74 per cent. Of the total registrations, amounting to 723,901, the number relating to immoveable property was, as shown above, 597,416, or 82·52 per cent of the whole. A marked feature of the year's operations was the number of optional registrations, amounting to 337,869, or 46·67 of the whole number. Compared with the figures for the preceding year, optional registrations increased by 7·72 per cent., while compulsory registrations increased by only 3·01 per cent.

3. Registration of leases.—The total number of leases registered during the past four years has been as follows:—

CLASS OF LEASE.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.
Perpetual leases (compulsory) ...	70,764	75,532	85,619	87,236
Leases for terms of years (compulsory) ...	141,156	154,571	175,045	180,939
Leases for one year or less (optional) ...	4,534	4,952	5,363	6,100

Of the perpetual leases, 84,389 were registered in Bengal, only 1,343 in Behar, 1,399 in Chota Nagpore, and 105 in Orissa. As many as 69,775 were registered in the seven districts of Chittagong (23,472), Backergunge (10,969), Jessore, Noakholly, Furreedpore, 24-Pergunnahs, and Khulna (4,701). These districts in respect of this particular item of registration occupy precisely the same relative position as they did in 1884-85. As regards the increase in the number of leases registered, the following remarks made by the Registrar of the 24-Pergunnahs are worth notice:—

"There was thus an increase of 1,092, or of 21 per cent., in the number of perpetual leases registered, and of 1,134, or 10 per cent., in that of other leases. It is evident that some unusual cause, which no doubt must be sought for in the passing of the Bengal Tenancy Act, has operated during the past year to greatly increase the execution of leases, especially of perpetual ones. It is worthy of note that the increase in the registration of perpetual leases occurred chiefly during the five months after the passing of the Act, while in the case of other leases the increase occurred chiefly before the Act became law. It would seem as though landlords, afraid of the possible results of the new law, had exerted themselves to secure as many ordinary leases as they possibly could before the Act was passed, that as soon as the Act came into force they virtually accepted defeat, and consented to recognise claims to permanent rights and signed perpetual leases in large numbers, but that, in any case, they prefer that their ryots should be bound by leases of one kind or the other rather than that they should continue to hold their lands without any leases at all. The landlord's apprehension of the ryot acquiring dangerous rights has at length become greater than his hope of gain by irregular enhancements, while, on the other hand, he is acutely alive to the possibility of the ryot developing Hibernian proclivities and repudiating his obligations altogether."

Upon this it is only necessary to remark that it is as yet too early to draw any inferences from the figures as to the effect of the Tenancy Act on registration. The operations of the present year will doubtless furnish data for some definite conclusion.

4. Term leases.—The number of term leases registered in Bengal Proper was 136,258 against 127,607 in 1884-85, the figures for the whole province being 180,939 against 175,045. In five districts the number of such leases exceeded 10,000, namely, Jessore with 17,248 registrations, Backergunge with 13,516, Furreedpore with 12,819, Tipperah with 10,956, and the 24-Pergunnahs with 10,636. There was an increase of over 1,000 registrations in each of the four districts of Backergunge, Khulna, Noakholly, and Jessore, while the numbers in Mozufferpore fell from 6,212 to 4,819, and in Maldah from 2,026 to 970. The increase in Backergunge is said to be partly due to the re-settlement of some large estates; in Khulna to the new settlement of jungle lands bordering on the Sunderbuns; in Jessore to the Tenancy Act, under which tenants can now only sublet for a term of years; in Noakholly no reason is given. In Mozufferpore it is said that bad crops in 1884-85, and disputes between indigo factories caused many term-leases to be registered, whereas the same causes did not exist in the year under report. In Maldah the decrease is attributed to the settlement of several pergunnahs having been temporarily stopped by their zemindars. 6,100 leases for one year or less were registered as against 5,363 in 1884-85. The variations in different districts do not call for any particular notice. The total value of leases of all kinds registered during the year was Rs. 92,99,354 against Rs. 1,00,86,412 in the preceding year. But the number of leases increased from 154,275 to 161,932. Of this number 75·43 per cent. were for amounts not exceeding Rs. 25. As in 1884-85, Behar took the first place as regards registration of deeds of large values, the average value for each lease being Rs. 119·55 against Rs. 39·86 in Bengal.

5. Proportion of leases to counterparts.—The total number of leases, excluding perpetual leases, amounted to 46,612, and of counterparts to 140,274, the percentage of leases being only 24·92 as compared with 26·83 in 1884-85. Thus, only two leases are registered for every five counterparts. The highest percentage was again in Chumparun, where the leases registered amounted to 91·87 per cent., and in eleven other districts the ratio exceeded 50 per cent., namely, in Lohardugga, Mozufferpore, Gya, Patna, Sarun, Sonthal Pergunnahs, Calcutta, Singbhoon, Darjeeling, Shahabad, and Manbhoon. In five districts, Cuttack, Purneah, Rajshahye, Mymensingh, and Bogra, the ratio was less than 10 per cent. Various reasons are assigned for the smaller percentage of leases, such as the fact that the ryot has to pay the cost of both documents, the unwillingness of the zemindars to bind themselves in writing, their unwillingness to attend at registration offices, and their wish to prevent the ryot from using the lease as a valuable security for the purpose of raising money. To the Lieutenant-Governor it almost seems as if there might be a doubt whether it is generally known that a lease and a counterpart, when presented at the same time, can be registered for a single fee.

6. Deeds affecting immoveable property of Rs. 100 in value and upwards.—Registrations of deeds of sale of immoveable property of the value of Rs. 100 and upwards showed a small increase of 0·29 per cent., while deeds of mortgage of the same kind showed an increase of 6·46 per cent. The Inspector-General brings to notice the fact that, broadly speaking, in those districts in which a large number of sales of immoveable property of Rs. 100 and upwards in value was registered, a large number of mortgages of property of a similar class and value was also registered.

7. Deeds affecting immoveable property of less than Rs. 100 in value.—Registrations of deeds of sale of immoveable property of less than Rs. 100 in value increased from 115,540 to 126,381. The most marked increases were in Tipperah, Chittagong, Pubna, and the 24-Pergunnahs. As was remarked in the Resolution on the Report for 1884-85, the increase is probably due to a greater appreciation of the benefits of registration rather than to pressing necessity or agricultural depression. Registrations of instruments of mortgage of the same class increased by 16·89 per cent. The highest increase was in Chittagong, which the Registrar attributes to the people having become aware that the Transfer of Property Act requires the registration of all such deeds, even though the property be less than Rs. 100 in value.

8. Registered sales of estates and tenures.—Statement XII shows the number of estates and tenures transferred by registered deeds and the classes of persons by whom they were purchased. Of the classes specified, the most numerous purchasers in the case of entire revenue-paying estates were those classified as “others,” excluding mahajans, traders, money-lenders, zemindars, intermediate tenureholders, and ryots. Zemindars were the largest buyers of shares in such estates; ryots in the case of revenue-free properties; and small talukdars and tenureholders in the case of intermediate tenures. Revenue-free properties are evidently keenly sought after; the ryot purchasers numbered 10,089, while the zemindars, talukdars, and mahajans put together amounted to only 9,008. The figures show clearly that the agricultural classes are not parting with their interests in the soil, and that mahajan and money-lending purchasers are not so numerous as is sometimes alleged. The total number of purchasers of the latter class amounted to 9,739, while the zemindar, tenureholder, and ryot purchasers amounted to 60,677.

9. Sales of ryotti holdings.—The following statement shows the number and classes of purchasers of ryotti holdings at fixed rates during the past two years:—

YEAR.	Transactions.	PURCHASERS.
		Mahajans, traders or money-lenders.	Landlords of holdings transferred.	Other landlords.	Ryots.	Others.	Total purchasers.
1884-85	...	24,327	4,156	781	2,134	13,012	5,931
1885-86	...	26,479	4,380	843	2,424	14,085	6,940
							28,678

The ryots are about one-half of the total number of purchasers. The total purchase-money increased from Rs. 22,83,331 to Rs. 23,35,666, giving an average of 10 years' purchase against 11·2 in the previous year. The purchasers of ryotti holdings with rights of occupancy were as follows:—

	1884-85.	1885-86.
1. Mahajans, traders, or money-lenders	...	6,846
2. Landlords of the holdings transferred	...	1,060
3. Other landlords	...	2,685
4. Ryots	...	39,436
5. Others, including those unspecified	...	7,515
Total	...	57,542
		58,787

The average number of years' purchase shows an advance from 9·9 to 10·2. The ryots amounted to a little less than two-thirds of the total number of purchasers. Transfers were most numerous in Tipperah (8,267), Midnapore (5,337), Rungpore (5,002) and Burdwan (3,143); and in the following districts they exceeded 2,000, namely, Dinagepore, Dacca, Beerbhoom, Mymensingh, Hooghly, and Barreepore. Having regard to the discussions on the subject during the passing of the Tenancy Act, the fact seems clear from the above statements that in most districts of Bengal Proper the transferability of rights of occupancy is customary and common.

10. Bonds.—Out of 124,699 instruments relating to moveable property, which were registered during 1885-86, 89,501 or 71·77 per cent. were money bonds; the ratio in the previous year was 72·41 per cent. As many as 80,533, or more than one-third of the whole were registered in Jessore alone. Nothing new is said regarding this enormous registration of bonds in Jessore which, though less by 125 than the number registered in the previous year, is nearly four times as large as that of the 24 Pargunnahs, the district in which the next largest number of bonds were registered. In former years it has been attributed to the high price of food-grains, and to the fact that the completion of the railway works which used to provide employment for the poor class of people, has compelled many to borrow money. These causes are not peculiar to Jessore, and are not by themselves sufficient to account for the extraordinarily large number. Indebtedness may be a cause for increase of bonds in some districts; but the increase is equally evident in districts that are undoubtedly prosperous. The Registrar of Noakholly remarks:—"Borrowing does not always imply poverty; borrowers raise money for investment in cultivation and trade, as well as for unproductive expenditure." It is said that in Midnapore the traders frequently mortgage their homesteads in order to have more money to invest in business. The more frequent registration of bonds is doubtless to a great extent due to the increasing facilities for registration afforded by the establishment of new rural sub-registry offices. Of the total number of bonds, 21,189 were for amounts not exceeding Rs. 25; 28,907 for sums between Rs. 26 and Rs. 50; and 21,825 for sums between Rs. 51 and Rs. 100. As regards registrations under sections 24 and 34, which deal with the presentation of documents after the prescribed times, Mr. Bourdillon's anticipation that Mr. Bolton's circular would result in an increase of fines has not proved to be correct, quoad registrations under section 24.

11 Commissions, appeals, and prosecutions.—The number of commissions issued fell from 2,902 to 2,668, and of visits paid from 3,261 to 3,120. Registration was refused in 3,639 cases against 3,391 in 1884-85. Out of 445 appeals under sections 72 and 73, registration was ordered in 238 cases. The number of prosecutions under the Registration Act was 78 as compared with 54 in the preceding year. Of 106 persons prosecuted, 63 were prosecuted for false statements, 46 for false personation, and 6 for forgery. Forty-seven persons were acquitted, 75 were convicted, and 14 were awaiting trial at the close of the year. The largest number of prosecutions in any one district was 9 in Furreedpore, 4 being the highest number in any other district.

12 Searches.—The number of applications for search or copy amounted to 59,987 as against 56,976 in 1884-85 and 52,218 in 1883-84. The number of ordinary searches was 23,787, and the fees realised Rs. 28,189-4. Searches made under the High Court Rules amounted to 36,200 and the fees realised Rs. 67,118-12. The Inspector-General remarks that another year's experience shows that searches made under the High Court Rules should be made, not by the parties, but by the office establishment. On this subject Government has recently addressed the Inspector-General in a separate communication.

13. Documents impounded and discredited.—The number of documents impounded was 2,192 against 2,225 in the preceding year. The Collector upheld the action of the registering officers in 1,680 cases; in 317 cases the documents were held to be correctly stamped, and prosecutions were instituted in 104 cases. The number of deeds discredited by civil courts was 62 as against 70 in the preceding year.

14. Registration operations in different divisions.—There was an increase in the number of operations under the Act in 27 districts, and a decrease in 18 districts. The highest actual increase was 6,116 in Chittagong, and the largest decrease 2,788 in Mozufferpore, but no reasons are given in the report. The following table shows the number of registrations and the fees realized in each of the different divisions of the Province:—

DIVISION.				Registrations	Total fees realised	Percentage of registrations on the whole
					Rs.
Presidency	178,069	2,65,339	24.6
Dacca	125,438	1,81,111	17.33
Chittagong	115,818	1,25,382	16

Total				723,901	10,81,168*	100.00

* Exclusive of receipts of the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies and the office of the Inspector General of Registration.

The total increase in the number of operations was 5·16 per cent. on the operations of the preceding year. In every district there was a profit to Government after all the expenses in connection with the working of the Act had been defrayed. The total net surplus was Rs 5,80,488-15-11 against Rs. 5,20,391 in 1884-85; or, after deducting all charges on account of stationery, printing, printed forms and registers, iron record-racks and buildings, Rs. 4,50,651-2-2.

15. Registration offices and inspections.—The number of registration offices open at the close of the year was 292 against 290 at the close of 1884-85. Three new rural sub-registry offices were opened during the year: at Pipli in Pooree, at Poopri in Mozufferpore, and at Daudkandi in Tipperah. On the recommendation of Mr Bourdillon, 26 sub-registry offices at sub-divisional head-quarters were converted into rural offices during the year under report, and 12 more since the close of the year. This relief of sub-divisional officers from registration work was very much required: 905 inspections of registration offices were made as compared with 809 in 1884-85. The small number of inspections (21) made by Mr. Bourdillon was the unavoidable result of his illness, but the total number of inspections made by the first and second Inspectors increased from 257 to 284. The increase from 64 to 102 in the number of inspections of Sudder Sub-Registrars is also satisfactory. The number of stamp inspections was 255 against 428 in 1884-85.

16. Operations under the Mahomedan Marriage Registration Act.—Statistics from the year 1877-78 are given in the following table:—

YEAR	Number of districts in which the Act was in force	Number of offices open on the 31st March.	Number of marriages registered	Number of divorces other than khulas registered	Number of khulas registered	Total number of ceremonies registered
1877-78	14	103	7,391	1,404	595	9,390
1878-79	14	103	8,161	1,705	771	10,637
1879-80	14	107	7,137	2,097	623	9,857
1880-81	14	106	5,777	1,874	779	8,430
1881-82	14	107	4,951	2,239	667	7,857
1882-83	14	112	5,068	2,247	766	8,081
1883-84	14	112	4,273	2,315	895	7,483
1884-85	14	112	3,913	2,540	957	7,410
1885-86	14	112	3,993	2,422	1,109	7,524

The total number of ceremonies registered was slightly more than in the previous year. Chittagong, as usual, shows the largest number (2,895), while Dacca comes next with 819 and Rungpore with 803, as against only 535 in the previous year. Mymensingh has 621, while Rajshahye shows a decrease from 844 to 505. Rungpore and Rajshahye have thus changed places, but no reason is assigned for the variation. In no other district did the number of registrations amount to 400, while in Pubna and Nuddea the numbers were only 22 and 8 respectively. The Officiating Inspector-General remarks:—“No practical advance has been made so far as registration under the Act is concerned, and people do not appear to have come to appreciate the Act any more than they did in former years. It was thought that the appointment of Qazis under the Qazis Act, XII of 1880, would have the effect of increasing the number of registrations, but so far this would not appear to be the case.” It is not stated whether any particular effect has been produced by the alterations in the rules and procedure under Act I (B C.) of 1876, to which reference was made in the Resolution on the Report of the working of the Act for 1883-84.

17. Since the close of the year the rules for the regulation of registration in connection with the Tenancy Act have been sanctioned by Government. The general rules were also revised by Mr. Bourdillon, and have been approved by Government. The effect of the working of the Tenancy Act upon the Registration Department will demand close attention in the current year's report, with the probable result of extending the facilities of registration in many districts. The question of improving the position of the ministerial officers of the Registration Department is now under the consideration of Government in connection with the report submitted by the Salaries Commission. It is very clear from that report that the numerical strength of the establishments has by no means kept pace with the enormous increase in the work to be done. Owing to financial pressure, the general scheme for appointing record-keepers is still in abeyance. Mr. Bourdillon has submitted proposals for levying registration fees by means of court-fee stamps. The objections and difficulties in connection with such proposals have been pointed out by Government, and the Inspector-General has been asked if he can meet them satisfactorily, and, if he can, to submit amended proposals. The principal objections are the opportunities for fraud in the use of adhesive stamps, the inconvenience to the public of having to buy stamps, the necessity for the Collectors keeping a separate stamp account (if the stamps are sold by the Sub-Registrars), and the loss from the percentage allowed to stamp vendors if the stamps are sold by them.

18. Mr. Bourdillon was in charge of the Department throughout the year, with the exception of 30 days in April and May, when Mr. Handley officiated for him. The report has been submitted by Mr. Blyth, who received charge only in July of the present year. The names of the officers specially mentioned in paragraph 90 of the Report will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Registration for information and guidance.

Ordered also that extract paragraph 18 of this Resolution, and extract paragraph 90 of the Report, be forwarded to the Appointment Department of this Office for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution, together with a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Home Department, for information.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

F. B. PEACOCK,

Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

ADMINISTRATION OF WARDS' AND ATTACHED ESTATES IN THE LOWER PROVINCES FOR THE YEAR 1885-86.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 13th November 1886.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on Wards' and Attached Estates in the Lower Provinces for the year 1885-86.

The Board properly notice the delay which has taken place in the submission of the Commissioners' reports, particularly those of the Burdwan, Presidency, and Chota Nagpore Divisions, which, though due on the 1st July, were not received until after the middle of August.

Delay in receipt of reports.

2. The number of private estates under Government management during the year was 176, the annual rent demand was Rs. 93,42,744, and the collections amounted to Collections.

Rs. 87,77,439, or 93.9 per cent. The remissions amounted to Rs. 3,84,000, and the balance outstanding increased from Rs. 75,78,418 to Rs. 77,82,737. The Board consider that the collections were, on the whole, satisfactory; noticing that, notwithstanding local floods, and the temporary interruption caused in places by the introduction of a new form of rent receipt under the Bengal Tenancy Act, the percentage of realizations to current demand was rather better than in either of the two preceding years. On the other hand it should be remembered that the crops were somewhat better, even allowing for loss by inundation, than in either of the years referred to, and that during the six years from 1877-78 to 1882-83 inclusive, the collections averaged 99.7 per cent. of the rental. The Lieutenant-Governor, while he cannot find any special cause for approval in the results obtained during the year 1885-86, is glad to acknowledge the attention which managers have habitually paid to this part of their duty. The results are so far satisfactory that the estates have, during the last nine years, yielded an income equal to 97.5 per cent. of the annual rental, the balance uncollected, 2.5 per cent. of the whole, including necessary remissions. It is true that the balance outstanding is always very large; but this is in a great measure due to the chaos and confusion which the Court of Wards finds on taking over charge of private estates, where the arrear demand of many years is often swollen by claims at enhanced rates never valid according to law, and by sums long since barred by limitations. In the Chittagong Division the collections were highly satisfactory, and for this credit is due to the Commissioner and Collectors, who, with estates to manage second to none in difficulty, have obtained the best percentage in Bengal. It is impossible to attach too much importance to punctuality in accounting for the demand, either by collecting it, or by obtaining remissions for reasonable cause. The accumulation of arrears is not only unfair to the proprietor, but demoralizing to the ryots, and more particularly to the collecting agency. It is satisfactory to notice in this connection, as regards the operation of the certificate procedure, that the reduction shown last year in the total number of certificates is still retained, and that the Board can support with their authority the conclusion that the certificate procedure in Wards' estates in Bengal is worked with discretion.

3. The introduction of new forms of receipt under the Bengal Tenancy Effect of the Bengal Tenancy Act.

Act is mentioned in the body of the report as a cause of short collections on three estates—Srinagar, Sultangacha, and Mohan Rai; and there is reason to suppose that in two of these cases some of the ryots at least had just cause to dispute the validity of demands made against them. On Srinagar, though it has been found necessary to remit arrears amounting to the whole rental of several years, the balance still outstanding exceeds two years' income, and the Lieutenant-Governor, in investigating the state of the property while on tour in September last, came to the conclusion that a survey and record of rights was necessary in order to ascertain the rent-roll.

With regard to the Sultangacha estate, it is stated in the report that the High Court disallowed rent improperly assessed on rent-free land by the late proprietor, who, with a rental of Rs. 1,26,926, left behind him an arrear demand of over four lakhs. Far from realising these enormous arrears, the Court of Wards has never been able to collect even the current demand. Where heavy unrealisable balances, and the result of particular suits, indicate that the ryots challenge with effect the validity of the rent-roll, the introduction of the new forms of receipt, in which the annual rent has to be specified, must bring disputes to an issue, with the ultimate effect of putting an end to a state of things which can be only regarded as intolerable. The Lolit Mohan Rai estate is small, and the friction on it is sufficiently accounted for by the fact that the manager and the greater part of the collecting staff were absent from it during most of this and the preceding year, conducting civil suits at Dacca.

4. In the Resolution upon last year's report the Lieutenant-Governor observed that the punctual payment of State dues should be regarded as an imperative duty. There has been an increase this year both in the amount of the arrears reported, and in the proportion borne by them to the total demand; and the sum left unpaid, Rs. 3,43,720, is so large as seriously to affect the revenue. It would, however, appear, from a statement subsequently sent by the Collector of Burdwan, that the greater part of the alleged balance, Rs. 1,93,717, has been entered in the arrear statement by mistake, the sum not being in reality payable until after the close of the year. As to the real arrears, the explanations given cannot be said to be in every case satisfactory. For instance, on the Tikari estate Rs. 60,691 revenue, and Rs. 6,534 cesses, remained unpaid at the close of the year, though the property includes Government securities valued at more than these dues, and the only comment made is that the amount has been paid since the close of the year. This is a matter which requires the special attention of the Board. On solvent estates the revenue should be invariably paid as it falls due, and any failure in this respect shows the manager to be unfit for his post. It would be well if the Lieutenant-Governor's view upon this point was brought to the notice of all managers.

5. The following statement shows the expenditure during the year on schools, dispensaries, and works of improvement:—

YEAR				Subscriptions and donations to schools	Subscriptions and donations to dispensaries.	Improvement of land and property and benefit of ward
				Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1885-86	58,430	33,007	51,763
1884-85	41,697	1,395	74,122
1883-84	39,989	1,445	1,20,493
1882-83	34,478	16,252	72,576

Upon this the Board observe—

"The contributions in aid of schools and dispensaries and the expenditure for maintaining buildings and other immoveable property in efficient condition, show an increase which is entirely due to the assumption of charge of the Burdwan Raj estate. The expenditure on works of improvement has decreased. This is admittedly not satisfactory, but it must be remembered that the solvent estates under the Court of Wards are mostly leased in putni, and that there is therefore no scope for improvements which benefit the estate, while the other estates which are in debt cannot afford to spend money on improvements, which on general grounds are so much to be desired."

6. The explanation, though good as far as it goes, does not seem to the Lieutenant-Governor to be sufficient, as there are large estates perfectly solvent, and not let on putni, on which not even a rupee has been spent on improvements. In their report of last year the Board observed that—

"On some Wards' estates it is impossible to effect substantial improvements, as large debts have in the first instance to be paid; but looking to the fact that Rs. 4,76,567 were invested in Government securities during the year, it is evident that want of funds is not the only reason for the inadequacy of the works undertaken. In the whole division of Dacca there was no expenditure on improvements. It is believed that the action of managers in this respect is influenced by the example of the less intelligent of the private owners of land, and that they do not always sufficiently realise that it is the policy of Government rather to expend on remunerative works than to hoard the surplus accumulation of Wards' estates. Many managers also want both the will and the ability to plan and supervise works of agricultural improvement. Now that an Agricultural Department has been created, managers should be able to obtain more readily skilled advice which will facilitate the execution of beneficial works on a larger scale. It is certainly matter of regret that during the year the expenditure on law charges was three times as much as that upon agricultural improvements."

With these remarks the Lieutenant-Governor expressed his entire concurrence, and it is matter of regret that, such being the approved policy of the Board, the practical result has been an unexplained falling off in the value of the work done. The Board may with advantage point out to the Commissioners in whose divisions there has been a deficiency in this respect, the advisability of seeing that the subject meets with due attention in future. As indicated in last year's report, the managers cannot always be trusted to initiate judicious improvements, and the matter is one which calls for the close attention of Divisional and District Officers.

7. The extent to which surveys and records of rights have been carried out by special officers in recent years in Wards' estates is indicated in the following passage of the report:—

"The survey and record of rents in the Ohooramun estate in Dinagore was commenced in November 1884 under the supervision of a Sub-Deputy Collector; the work is expected to be completed in three seasons; the area is 172,357 acres, and the sanctioned expenditure is Rs. 46,549, or 4 annas 4 pies an acre—a rate which thus far has not been exceeded. The survey of the Burdhankotee estate in Rungpore was completed in December 1885 under the supervision of a first grade canoongoe; the survey has cost 7 annas 8 pies per acre, but the settlement work is not yet finished. A Sub-Deputy Collector was employed upon the survey of the Sasseram endowment estate in Shahabad. An area of 14,622 acres was measured, and the total cost of the survey and record of rights was Rs. 9,020, or 10 annas an acre. The survey of the Chota Nagpore estate in Lohardugga was completed in 1884-85 by Mr. Smart, a pensioned officer of the Professional Survey Department. The surveyed area amounts to 675,860 acres, and the estimated cost for both survey and settlement is Rs. 1,72,066, or a fraction over 4 annas per acre; but as the settlement is still unfinished, it is uncertain whether this estimate will be exceeded. The survey of the Dhanwar estate in Hazaribagh was made by a professional party under Major Sandeman at a cost of Rs. 41,000, or 6 annas an acre. The settlements of the Chota Nagpore and Dhanwar estates, and the surveys and settlements of other estates in the Chota Nagpore Division, are now under the charge of Mr. F. A. Slack, who has been appointed Settlement Officer on a salary of Rs. 1,000 a month. Seven of the estates under the Court of Wards, and seven estates which are managed under the Encumbered Estates Act of 1876, have been selected for the operations which are now in progress."

8. As stated in the Board's report of last year, no new surveys on a large scale were undertaken pending the settlement of the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act. The expediency of now commencing such surveys on the Srinagar, Narhan, Tikari, Cooimbazar and other estates is under discussion, and the Lieutenant-Governor need only express his strong conviction that in many cases tolerable management is impossible without a survey and record of rights, owing to the untrustworthy nature of the accounts left by the late proprietors. The following description of Bhujanjoy Shaha's estate, Noakholly, is quoted from the report as showing what a poor foundation is sometimes afforded for collections, and in particular for the issue of certificates, by the accounts made over to the Court:—

"Before making over the estate to the management of the Court of Wards, the ward seems to have prepared a fictitious and inflated rent-roll, most of the jummas mentioned in his papers being hotly contested and objected to by the tenants. The whole rent-roll has to be carefully examined, and a new rent-roll prepared. The tenants of Sulekea have in a body declined to pay any rents unless a correct rent-roll is prepared. It appears that the ward has enhanced the rent of these tenants during the last two or three years by 50 to 75 per cent. The affairs of the estate are in a very confused state owing to the absence of all reliable papers and past mismanagement and maltreatment of the tenants, and probably about eight or ten thousand rupees (nominal arrears of rent) will have to be remitted as irrecoverable. Such a proposal necessitates a very careful examination of the ward's rent-roll, which of course takes time to do."

It is obvious that the management of an estate in this condition must be unsatisfactory to all connected with it. As an example of management founded on a survey and record of rights, made without the enhancement of rent, the estate of the Sasseram endowment may be taken, where the collections this year slightly exceeded the current rental, and the balance at the end of the year was only Rs. 2,032 out of a total demand of Rs. 33,392.

Condition of the tenantry.

9. Under this head the Board observe as follows:—

“A full account of the condition of the tenantry in the estates under the Court of Wards has been furnished in previous years' reports, and it is only necessary to say that during the past year considerable distress was occasioned in several portions of the country by the severe inundation which took place in September 1885. It is true that ultimately the soil is fertilised by the deposit of river silt which the water brings with it; but temporarily, while the inundation lasts, the sufferings of the people are necessarily very great. In the Kanika estate in Orissa a cyclone, accompanied by a storm-wave, occurred on the 22nd of September. Out of 290 villages in the south of this estate, 11 were completely swept away and 108 were partially destroyed: three fourths of the population of these villages are said to have perished. The precise loss of life has not been ascertained, but it probably exceeded 5,000 persons. Rents were remitted and relief was liberally granted; but the effects of this terrible calamity will be felt for many years to come. The condition of other districts in the province, which did not suffer from special causes, was generally prosperous.”

10. Since the abandonment of the Wards' Institute in Calcutta, the education of minor proprietors has been carried out either in their homes by private tuition, or at the Government schools and colleges at the head-quarters of districts. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find, from the scattered notices which appear in the report, that the subject receives the attention of Divisional and District Officers, and that in nearly all cases the reports of progress are favourable. The prominent exception to these good reports is noticeable in the case of three wards in the Orissa Division, whose backwardness and indolence in the prosecution of their studies require the consideration of the local authorities. With the facilities of communication which now prevail throughout India, much may be done for the benefit of these young men by encouraging them to travel in different parts of the country under the care of their tutors. It would be a more wholesome experience than the life under the control of the zenanas, to which, the Lieutenant-Governor fears, many of the boys are subjected. Every effort, too, should be made to promote the pursuit of athletic exercises.

11. The principal estate under management during the year was that of the Burdwan Raj with a current demand of Rs. 15,72,602, and liability on account of revenue, &c., of Rs. 34,89,170. The collections amounted to 98 per cent. of the current demand.

The Board report—

“When the estate was taken in charge, the arrear demand of rent due to the estate was Rs. 36,11,711, which represents the accumulated balance since the year 1267 B.S. swelled continually by addition of interest from year to year. Much of this amount was barred by limitation during the lifetime of the late Maharajah and is not recoverable. As it is worse than useless to keep up a fictitious debt of this nature, remission statements are being prepared in the manager's office which, when sanctioned, will reduce the balance to a large extent.”

Two important matters in connection with this property are under discussion during the year, and are still unsettled—the adoption of an heir by the widow proprietor, and the settlement of disputes as to landed property with the dowager Maharani. The difficulties which have arisen in both cases may now be said to be approaching solution. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with much regret the death of Mr. Miller, Joint Manager of the estate, and for many years the trusted adviser of the two late proprietors.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE ON THE LAND REVENUE ADMINISTRATION OF THE LOWER PROVINCES FOR THE YEAR 1885-86.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 15th November 1886.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Board of Revenue's Report on the Land Revenue Administration of the Lower Provinces for the year 1885-86.

The Land Revenue Department of the Board was administered by Mr. Reynolds throughout the year; the Land Acquisition Department by Mr. Cockerell.

The number of estates.

2. The number of estates paying revenue or rent to Government, and their classification, are shown in the following table:—

	Class I, permanently- settled estates.	Class II, temporarily- settled estates.	Class III, Government estates.	Class IV, ryotwari tracts.	Total
1884-85	145,457	7,691	2,913	26	156,097
1885-86	147,008	7,764	2,960	21	157,746
Increase or decrease in 1885-86 —	+1,551	+73	+37	—2	+1,659

The increase in the number of estates is normal, and is due to the usual causes, to partitions, to the settlement of new alluvial accretions, and to purchase by Government in default of private bidders at sales for arrears of revenue. The reduction under the head of ryotwari tracts is the result of re-classification.

Land Revenue demands.

3. The current demand in respect of each class of estates is compared below with that of the year 1884-85:—

Class	I	II	III	IV	1884-85. Rs.	1885-86. Rs.
"	3,22,98,211	3,22,99,080
"	27,11,757	27,14,912
"	21,21,585	21,97,439
"	8,53,133	8,21,318
Total	3,70,87,686	3,80,33,379

4. The increase of the year was only Rs. 45,693 against Rs. 47,779 in 1884-85 and Rs. 77,922 in 1883-84. In former years the annual addition to this branch of the revenue amounted to about a lakh and a half of rupees, and the diminution in the rate of development is attributed to the greater moderation shown at present in enhancing rents, and the greater readiness to reduce them where found excessive—the result, no doubt, of the long discussions of the subject during the consideration of the new Bengal Tenancy Act.

Collections, remissions and balances.

5. The following statement shows the collections, remissions and balances of the year as compared with those of 1884-85:—

	DEMANDS.			Remissions, more or less than		Collections.	Balances.	Percentage of collections to current demand	Percentage of collections to total demand.
	Current.	Arrear.	Total.	Rs.	Rs.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1884-85	3,70,87,686	23,90,716	4,01,88,402	1,24,077	4,00,63,425	3,71,37,748	29,35,677	97 76	92 41
1885-86	3,80,33,379	30,15,956	4,10,47,315	2,00,005	4,08,47,310	3,83,91,434	24,55,880	100 04	93 53

6. The remissions were considerable, amounting to Rs. 2,00,005 against Rs. 1,24,977 in 1884-85 and Rs. 1,03,580 in 1883-84. They are classified as follows:—

	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Nominal remission	30,475	25,065	61,089
Remission of grace	33,538	38,072	56,458
Ditto of right	39,567	61,840	82,458

7. Nominal remissions and remissions of right are frequently connected with original errors in the statement of demand, such as double assessments, or failure to enter at once reductions ordered by competent authority, and the growth of entries of this class may be checked by greater attention to the accounts. As to remissions of grace, which really affect the revenue, the Board remark:—“The largest remissions of grace occurred in the following districts:—

	Rs.
Gya	13,327
Julpigoree	8,010
Hooghly	7,119
Midnapore	6,947
Cuttack	5,201
Backergunge	4,325

In Gya the remission was allowed on account of failure of crops; in Julpigoree on account of death, desertion, and insolvency of ryots; in Hooghly on account of the loss of crops by flood. In Midnapore Rs. 3,737 were written off on account of death and desertion of ryots and the insolvency of farmers, and Rs. 3,016 on account of the adjustment of jungle jumma due from the aymadars of estate Bulrampore. The causes of remission in Cuttack were relinquishment of lands by the ryots after the storm-wave of 22nd September 1885, loss of crops by flood in Banki, and reduction of rents of some poor ryots in the Cuttack town khas mohal. The remissions in Backergunge were rendered necessary by diluvion and the insolvency of farmers.”

8. The outstanding balances of the four classes are compared below with those of 1884-85:—

	1884-85.	1885-86.
	Rs.	Rs.
Class I	14,07,616	9,03,603
„ II	4,71,924	5,10,711
„ III	9,19,706	9,59,385
„ IV	1,26,431	82,187
Total	29,25,677	24,55,886

The Board observe that “the comparison shows a decrease of Rs. 4,69,791, and by taking the corrected figures for 1884-85 as given in column 5 of appendix No. II of this report, viz. Rs. 30,13,936, the decrease becomes Rs. 5,58,050. This improvement is due to the payment of revenue by the Burdwan estate.” The amount left unpaid on account of the death of the late Maharajah of Burdwan was eight lakhs of rupees, so that, allowing for this temporary and exceptional default, the year under report compares unfavourably with 1884-85. The result of a comparison with previous years is still less satisfactory, and it is evident that these balances have a tendency unduly to increase. The control of the Board over payments on account of estates permanently settled is in great measure limited to those under the management of the Court of Wards. As to these, it is stated in the report “the total amount due from Wards’ estates at the close of the year was Rs. 1,52,659 against Rs. 46,899 in 1884-85 and Rs. 25,847 in 1883-84. The result is far from satisfactory.” In this conclusion the Lieutenant-Governor entirely concurs. It is most unsatisfactory, for instance, that a large balance should have been left unpaid by the Manager of the Tekari estate, which is not only solvent, but includes a considerable sum in Government securities. The Lieutenant-Governor cannot consider the manager of a Ward’s estate fit for his position if, having funds which by timely arrangements can be made available for the purpose, he fails to discharge the public revenue. The collections on temporarily settled and overnment estates must be very greatly influenced by the attention which revenue officers pay to this branch of the administration, and in these cases also the Board consider that the results obtained during the year cannot be considered satisfactory. There has been a certain falling off in the work of revenue collections taken as a whole, and it does not seem to be due to the circumstances of the year, which were, in spite of local floods, rather more favourable than those of 1884-5. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad, on the other hand, to notice an improvement as to ryotwari tracts, where the collections exceeded the current demand, and the balances were reduced from Rs. 1,17,701 to Rs. 82,187. The District Officers of the 24-Pergunnahs, Darjeeling, and Singbhoon deserve mention for having collected more than 99 per cent of heavy gross demands. The results obtained in these districts show what can be done where arrangements are adequate, and the Board should endeavour, during the current year, to stimulate Collectors elsewhere to imitate the example set. The coming harvest will probably be abundant in every district in the province, and the financial position of Government makes it even more than ordinarily desirable that all dues should be collected with the utmost punctuality.

9. The number of public and private estates managed directly by Financial results of direct Government, that is without the intervention of middlemen, was 1,315; their annual rent-roll amounted to Rs. 27,63,045, and the collections were Rs. 26,78,174, or 96.9 of the current demand. The year opened with an arrear balance of Rs. 11,04,618, and the percentage of the collections on the gross demand made up of the annual rent and of such arrears was 69.2. For the purpose of criticising the work of individual Collectors, prominence is properly given to the proportion borne each year by collections to gross demands, and this has led to a mistaken belief, widely diffused by a portion of the press, that on estates managed by Government little more than two-thirds of the annual rent is collected. As a matter of fact, the percentage of collections to the annual demand during the last ten years has been as follows:—

YEARS	Percentage
1876-77	99.6
1877-78	87.2
1878-79	100.0
1879-80	101.9
1880-81	104.8
1881-82	99.4
1882-83	108.8
1883-84	96.1
1884-85	97.1
Average of ten years	99.18

10. The percentage obtained on the average shows that the collections have been on the whole, in what was described in the Resolution on the Board's Revenue Administration Report of 1877-78, as "the healthy stage," in which collections, taken one year with another, equal the full current rental of the property. The floating balance appears unduly large, and may probably be reduced by attention to matters of account, and to fixing suitable dates for payment; but the broad fact remains that a sum very nearly equal to the annual rent is collected year by year. The management during 1885-86 has not, as the Board remark, been very successful by comparison with other years, and it is hoped that exertions will be made to obtain better results during the current year. But, nevertheless, the net income has been larger than could have been obtained had the estates been farmed out. The allowance made to middlemen in such cases is 20 per cent. on the rental, and the most allowed for direct management including improvements and contributions to roads and schools, is 10 per cent.; to this, adding 3.1 per cent, the amount by which the collections of the year fell short of the current demand, there would be an advantage of 6.9 per cent. in favour of the form of management adopted, even if the farmers paid in full, which they never do. They really pay in proportion to the current demand no better than the ryots when dealt with directly, and, from a financial point of view, the additional ten per cent. allowed to them is a loss, against which the only set-off is the comparatively trifling interest on the outstanding balance, in so far as that exceeds the amount to which it would reach were the estates directly managed.

11. The sum of Rs. 54,753 was spent during the year on the improvement of Government estates, by the excavation of tanks, the sinking of wells, by drainage, irrigation, embankments, and similar works. In addition to this amount, Rs. 27,342 were spent from the funds of the Orphangunge market, in the 24-Pergunnahs, on reproductive improvements to that estate. The Board observe that—

The Agricultural Department has given some impetus to the cultivation of new staples. The estate of Pichasa, in the Patna district, was placed under the supervision of Mr. Allen, Assistant to the Director of the Agricultural Department, for making experiments, which are said to have been attended with success. In the Government estates of Arrah, the experimental cultivation of wheat was tried on scientific principles under the supervision of the same officer, and the result appears to have been remarkably successful.

Successful attempts were made by Mr. A. C. Sen, another officer of the Agricultural Department, to cultivate mattar, wheat, mussooree, and the potato in Burdwan. The usual contribution of $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on the collections was made for the construction of roads, and for education on Government estates. There is reason to believe that these allowances, assigned as they are to local Committees, are often spent on the districts generally, without special reference to the estates from which the receipts are derived, and an endeavour may now be made with advantage to see that the Government ryots more immediately concerned obtain the full benefit of the grants.

12. The condition of the ryots on the Government estates in the Darca, Presidency, Chittagong, Patna, and Chota Nagpore Divisions is reported to have been generally good. Conditions of ryots. In parts of Burdwan, Bhagulpore, and Rajshahye losses were sustained from inundation. "In Orissa," the Board report, "some distress was felt by ryots of the estates bordering on the Chilka lake and its neighbourhood. A grant of Rs. 5,500 was made for their relief. The ryots of the Birso estate in Balasore suffered much damage from the cyclone of September last and the sea-wave that followed it. The Board have sanctioned remission of rent for the Amli year 1293 in the case of those ryots who have lost their whole crop, and three-fourths of the rent in the case of those who have saved only one-fourth."

13. No survey work of importance was carried on during the year, except that done under the Bengal Tenancy Act in Mozufferpore, which is separately noticed. Six hundred and eleven settlements were concluded, producing Rs. 2,43,513 a year, being Rs. 56,130 in excess of the revenue previously received. Of the increase, Rs. 43,293 resulted from original settlements. Survey and settlements.

14. At the commencement of the year the initial work of registration under Act VII (B.C.) of 1876 had been completed in 34 out of 43 districts. Completion reports were received during the year from Hooghly and Midnapore, leaving seven districts in which the operations are still pending. It is only in Cuttack that the work remaining to be done is considerable, and there the progress made during the year has been very poor. It is now desirable to complete the registration with the least practicable delay. The Board consider that the mutations registered, which were during the year 3.5 per cent. of the initial registrations, do not fairly represent the number of changes in title which occur, and the question whether judicial or executive action should be taken to ensure a more complete record of such transactions is at present under consideration. Land registration.

15. The number of estates which became liable to sale during the year on account of default in paying the revenue was 12,445; that of estates actually sold 1,770. The sales were not so numerous as in the three preceding years. The number of estates bought in by Government at nominal prices was 143, and these were presumably let go to sale because, owing to dilavion and other causes, they could no longer bear the revenue assessed. It is generally reported that the Sale Laws were worked with moderation and leniency. Operation of the Sale Law.

Working of Public Demands Recovery Act VII (B.C.) of 1880.

16. The following statement shows the number and nature of certificates in force during the year:—

Total	115,379	199,262	314,641	193,075	41,248	75,319	116,567

The number of certificates filed during the year was, thus 199,262 against 173,474 in 1884-85 and 220,003 in 1883-84. There was a considerable increase in the issue of certificates for the realization of water-rates, and the Board express their conviction that the number of these was excessive, and a source of oppression. Collectors should use every effort to realize small demands amicably, and the success of an officer in charge of this branch of the revenue must in some degree be measured by the extent to which he can recover the rates without resort to the certificate procedure. It often happens, however, that irrigation demands of the smallest amount are disputed, and therefore cannot be realized except by legal process. In such cases it is better to collect under the certificate procedure than not to collect at all. The number of cases in which it was necessary actually to sell property for the realization of demands diminished from 8,599 in the preceding year to 6,284 in 1885-86.

17. The collections of miscellaneous revenue amounted to Rs. 1,91,451 against Rs. 2,51,827 in 1884-85, the decrease being due to the introduction of a new rule under which searching and copying fees are realized in stamps instead of in cash. Thirteen Government estates, with an area of 572 acres, were sold, subject to an annual revenue of Rs. 1,296, for the total price of Rs. 3,768. During the year 526 partitions were effected against 502 in the preceding year, and it is stated that work of this class is increasing. The Government revenue was redeemed in respect of 226 estates with an annual demand of Rs. 251, the price realized being Rs. 9,269. Two hundred and forty-six leases were granted of waste land, including 17,369 acres, at an immediate rent of Rs. 923.

18. The statement given below shows the area of the land acquired for public purposes during the year, its distribution and cost:—

	Area of land acquired			Revenue abated			Cash compensation paid and other charges

In these proceedings are included several important projects, such as the improvement of the Jorebagan bustee, the widening of a portion of the Chitpore road, the acquisition of the land for the Kidderpore Docks, a large drainage scheme in the Hooghly district, besides several extensions in railways.

19. Act VIII of 1885 came into operation on the 1st November 1885, and Working of the Bengal Tenancy Act was therefore in force during five months of the official year. The statement given below shows the action taken under its different sections in revenue offices:—

The Board of Revenue remark—

The work done relates principally to the issue of notices and payment of landlords fees on transfer of tenures under sections 12 to 15 of this Act. It is reported that in many cases the landlords refused to accept the fees sent to them with the notices, under the idea that acceptance would bind them to acknowledge the transfer. The fees were then held in deposit in the treasury. In the Patna Division it is said that some administrative difficulty has arisen from the refusal to accept the landlords' fee. In the Shahabad Government estates it has been necessary to file objections repudiating transfer of tenures described as being held at fixed rates but which at most are mere occupancy holdings the transfer of which is, by the custom of the country, not binding on the landlord without his consent. The Collector of Chumpanan has reported that in his district many transfers have been notified which do not seem to fall under the provisions of the law. The Commissioner of Chittagong observes that the law apparently gives the landlord no power to contest such a notice and that some power of protest at least should be given, otherwise, in the event of litigation, the courts might infer that because no objection was raised none existed.

After the close of the year, the sanction of Government has been accorded to rules for the guidance of the Registration Department in registering such transfers. The registering officer is required to certify that the document is admissible, and it will be his duty to refuse to give this certificate unless the transfer purports upon the face of the document to be a transfer of a permanent tenure or of a ryoti holding at a fixed rate.

20. A petition has been addressed to Government on the subject of the working of section 12 which provides that ryots holding at a rent fixed in perpetuity must give notice, and pay a fee to their landlords, through the Collector, on transferring their holdings. It is alleged that ryots not holding at fixed rates adopt the prescribed procedure, thereby creating evidence which in future may be accepted as proof that they really occupy the privileged position which they claim. In so far as the action taken by such ryots is the result of misapprehension as to the meaning of the law it is met by the registration rules cited by the Board in the passage quoted above. But where the parties to the sale of a holding seriously assert that it is alienable and privileged for ever against an increase of rent, while the zemindar denies that it is of this character, it does not seem undesirable that the issue should be distinctly raised at the time when the transfer takes place. The new law has not conferred any right of sale, but has merely provided that, when transfers occur, they should be duly registered and notice given to the zemindar. If the latter denies the right of transfer, he can refuse to acknowledge the new tenant. If, while admitting the transfer, he merely denies that the holding is held at fixed rates, he can protect himself against the notice and his acceptance of it, with the fee, being used in evidence against him by action such as that of the Collector of Shahabad. Even if he declines to accept the fee, he is not in a worse position than under the old law, which did not require that a fee should be offered.

21. The Board state that the cases connected with the appraisement of produce occur principally in the Patna Division. The Collector of Gya observes that the working of these sections has so far been satisfactory to both landlords and tenants, and is likely to prove most beneficial in his district, where so much land is held on the system of produce rent.

22. Of the four applications for survey and record of rights, one appears to have referred to a Government estate, one was refused, and two were pending at the close of the year. The other proceedings entered in the table were of minor importance.

Survey and record of rights in Mozufferpore.

23. On this subject the Board observe—

After much correspondence and discussion, it was ultimately decided with the sanction of the Government of India, to undertake an experimental survey of pergunnah Bisarah in Mozufferpore, including therein a record of rights and settlement of rents. The operations have been carried on under Chapter X of the Tenancy Act, and a notification under section 101 (3) was duly published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 4th November last.

The cadastral survey has been conducted by a professional survey party under the superintendence of Colonel Barron, of the Survey Department, who recently completed successfully the survey of the Benares district. The work of record of rights and settlement of fair rents is being carried on by Mr Collin, c.s., with the assistance of two Sub-Deputy Collectors, under the immediate supervision of the Director of the Agricultural Department, who in this matter acts in subordination to the Board of Revenue. The officers of the Survey Department record the areas of holdings, facts of undisputed possession, of crops grown, and of irrigation. The maps and measurement records of each village, as they are completed, are at once made over to the revenue officers who immediately proceed to the village and determine and record the status and interests of all parties, from the proprietor down to the under-ryots. They also record the amounts of existing rents, and settle and record fair rents on the application of either landlord or tenant, and without such application, also, when it appears that the tenant is holding land in excess of or less than that for which he is paying rent.

The total area cadastrally surveyed to the end of June was 410 square miles. The rents were recorded and the status determined of 15,876 tenants, while fair rents were settled on the application of either landlord or tenant in the cases of 3,546 ryots. Boundary disputes, of which there were 123, mostly of a petty character, were amicably settled, and in no case was an appeal made to the Special Judge from the decisions of the Settlement Officer. The tenants whose status was determined are classified thus—

Cultivating tenure and under tenure-holders	12	0.08
Ryots at fixed rates	6.36	4.00
Settled ryots	13,194	83.13
Occupancy ryots but not settled	95	0.60
Non occupancy ryots	992	6.25
Under-ryots	943	5.94
	15,876	100.00

In all cases in which fair rents have been settled, the existing rents have been recorded as fair. The law presumes that existing rents are fair till the contrary is proved, and does not permit of their reduction except on the ground of a fall in the prices of staple food crops since the rents were last fixed, or on the ground that the area of the holding is less than that for which the ryot has been paying rent. Neither of these grounds for reduction in rent having been found to exist, existing rents have not been reduced. On the other hand, landlords have not shown that prices have risen since the rents were last fixed, nor have they adduced evidence that the ryots are holding land in excess of that for which they are paying rent. Existing rents therefore have not been enhanced. Unauthorised cesses and abwabs are not recorded.

The total cost of the operations of both survey and settlement to the end of June was Rs. 1,33,710, or 8 annas per acre on the area which had been cadastrally surveyed. Within this sum is included the cost of such non-recurring items as tents, camp equipage, travelling allowances to officers joining their appointments, and other charges which are necessarily incurred when a survey party is organised in a new district.

It is not possible, at the present stage of the proceedings, to give an exact estimate of the cost at which the combined operations may be done when the survey and settlement parties are in full working order, as the results of the first field season are never a fair criterion; but, as far as present experience enables the survey and settlement officers to form an opinion, it may be anticipated that the total cost of the operations will not exceed 8½ annas per acre.

The success of the work, so far as it has gone, may fairly be judged by the absence of that friction and those difficulties which were expected in connection with it. There has been no opposition and no obstacles of any kind. On this subject the Board are glad to reproduce the opinion of the Commissioner, Mr Halliday, as follows:—

“The survey operations under the Bengal Tenancy Act are progressing as smoothly as possible. Disputes as to boundaries and possession are few, and are chiefly connected with pieces of waste land and roads, organised opposition there is none, and it is now clear that apprehensions as to relations between landlords and tenants being embittered by the survey are groundless. Among the zemindars, the survey seems on the whole not unpopular, inasmuch as they see that it will provide facilities for identifying the whole of their lands and for realising their dues on account of every portion of their estates. The ryots are quite indifferent in the matter, and see no cause for resistance or opposition to the proceedings.

“The criminal cases connected with the demarcation and survey proceedings have been extremely few, and have mostly on investigation turned out to be false or exaggerated. Nothing in the shape of a riot has been proved in any instance. The survey will effect much good in the way of determining rights and facilitating the identification of land. It is probable that the survey record will be looked upon as a charter of rights by all classes interested in land, and no transfer will be negotiated without reference to it.”

In view of these facts, it is a matter of extreme regret to Sir Rivers Thompson that, since the close of the year, the orders of the Secretary of State have been received that this experimental survey should, for the present, be abandoned.

24. The provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act on the subject of receipts for rent have produced a very immediate and striking effect, and give matter for comment in every part of the Province. The earlier reports of Collectors everywhere give prominence to the difficulties which had arisen. Under the former law, section 11 of Bengal Act VIII of 1869, every cultivator to whom a receipt, specifying the year on account of which he might have made a payment of rent, was not given, was entitled to recover damages not exceeding double the amount paid. In fact, however, the year was not specified in receipts, and the remedy by a suit for damages proved illusory. The matter was of the most serious importance, inasmuch as the worst agrarian disputes in Bengal arose from the practice of making false rent-rolls showing rates in excess of those due, payments on account of the current demand being credited, without the knowledge of the tenants, to imaginary arrears of past years at the increased rate. The ryots had no means of checking these fraudulent proceedings, inasmuch as the receipts they received showed merely the sums paid, without specification of the year to the demand for which they were credited, and even the Courts found the greatest difficulty in deciding whether accounts produced before them as the sole evidence of the existence of an alleged arrear were genuine, or concocted in the manner indicated above for the purpose of being used as false evidence. To check this abuse, which was widespread and most dangerous, it is provided in the Bengal Tenancy Act that rent receipts shall contain certain particulars as to the holding and the demand for which the money is paid, so far as they can be specified at the time by the landlord; and it is further enacted, as a self-acting sanction to the above rule, that if a receipt does not contain substantially the particulars required, it shall be presumed, until the contrary is proved, to be an acquittance in full of all demands up to date. That a change affecting every payment of rent throughout the province, and tending to bring old disputes to a head, would cause much temporary trouble and inconvenience was obvious; but it was believed that it was nevertheless desirable to take the precautions necessary to prevent the constant forgeries, false evidence, and riots clearly traceable to the evasion of the old law, as also to put a stop to a system by which the ryots as a body were being by degrees defrauded of their privileges in the matter of rent rates.

25. That an appreciable effect has already been produced appears from the fact that, during five months, the Board sold 7,473,311 of the specimen forms of receipt. In addition to these forms are printed at private presses, those supplied by Government having purposely been disposed of at a price which permits of their being undersold.

26. The first introduction of the new forms into use were impeded by a curious misapprehension. The words “particulars of the holding” being used as a general heading in the form, it was supposed by the ryots in many districts that the specific designation of their status should be given, and many refused to pay rent, as their demand to be entered as belonging to some privileged class was not complied with. The attention of the Lieutenant-Governor was drawn to this error by Maharajah Sir Jotendro Mohun Tagore, K.C.S.I., and instructions were immediately issued by Government, through the Board, for its correction by the explanations of local officers. On most estates, when this preliminary difficulty was got over, the new system worked smoothly. Thus the Commissioner of Patna writes of landlords and tenants that—

The relations have been, on the whole, satisfactory, except as regards certain estates in some of the districts in which there was some misunderstanding between the two classes, but these may be treated only as exceptional cases.

* * * *

In Shahabad a rupture was at one time imminent in some of the estates of the Maharajah of Dumraon, situated in pergunnahs Belia and Bhojapore, where the tenants would not agree with the landlords' agents as to the details of area and rental to be entered in the form of receipts for rent prescribed by the Tenancy Act. The tenants refused to pay any rent unless their claims were admitted in the receipts. The Collector happened to be on tour near the locality at the time, and took the opportunity of explaining to the ryots that non-entry of these particulars would not affect them, the risk being altogether of the landlords. With this assurance in writing the tenants were satisfied, and have since resumed payment of rent.

27. In some places there has been a dispute as to the entries to be made against the headings as to the area of holdings—a matter generally settled by leaving the column blank. This course is legal and correct where, as generally happens, the landlord does not really know what the precise area is. There remain the cases which the law was designed to meet, those in which the landlord has been keeping his accounts so as to show a higher rent than that which is authorised by law, or acknowledged by the ryots; those in which illegal cesses have been collected; and those where, through the former neglect of zemindars to grant receipts and pattahs, everything is in confusion, and the real rent has never been ascertained. As the Collector of Mymensing remarks, “where neither will trust the other, and where the character of the holding, the quantity of land, and the amount of rent, are all in dispute, there seems no way of settling matters but by the arbitrament of the Civil Court, or by the operation of the Revenue authorities under the Tenancy Act.” On such estates the first effect of the new law may be to increase contention, with the ultimate result of producing a satisfactory settlement. Even in these instances, it may be remarked, what brings matters to an issue is merely the insistence on the discharge of an obligation which existed under the old law, and has always been considered necessary in Bengal—the entry in the receipts of the period in respects of which rent is paid. This is a necessary form of honesty and fair-dealing, insisted on in business, of every kind, and if its observance in transactions between Bengal zemindars and their ryots causes friction, that is the best proof that the precaution is necessary either to clear up uncertainty, or to prevent fraud.

28. A few minor points as to the working of the Act are mentioned in the extracts given in the Board's report. In Nuddea the zemindars are much concerned as to the meaning of section 188, which is interpreted by some authorities as preventing one of several joint proprietors from suing separately for his share of the rent. The Collector of Pubna writes—

The provisions of the law as to the maximum rents payable by the under-tenants are also beginning to be appreciated. Very large jotes underlet at an enormously increased rent are common, and I received a complaint from several of the jotedars on the Selimpore estate that they were about to be ruined by the new Act. The effect of the Act in making jotes readily saleable has been very apparent, and larger numbers of jotes have been sold principally on account of debts incurred in former years.

If by large jotes are to be understood those of an area exceeding 100 bighas, it is probable that the alarm of the holders is unfounded, as the provisions of the law prescribing a maximum rent do not apply to the under-tenants of tenure-holders, but to under-raiyats as defined in the Act.

29. The Board express their opinion on the general subject as follows:—

On the whole, the Board consider that, as far as can be judged from the experience of the few months which have elapsed since the Act came into operation, the working of the new law is not likely to be attended by any such disturbance of the relations between landlords and tenants as was apprehended by some of those who were opposed to the introduction of the measure. The difficulties hitherto experienced have mostly been confined to questions connected with the new forms of receipt and with the notices of transfers. The Board have no doubt that, upon both these points, the difficulties will prove to be merely of a temporary nature. It is satisfactory to find that the other provisions of the Act appear working smoothly, that recourse is being had to the sections relating to the appraisal of produce rents, and to the registration of improvements, and that some applications have been received for the settlement of rents. At present, however, there are no materials for forming an opinion on the operation of some important sections of the law, among which may be mentioned the publication of price-lists, the sale of tenures subject to encumbrances, and the modified procedure for distraint. The Board will be in a position to submit a more complete report on the whole question when the returns of an entire year's working of the new law are before them. But it will perhaps be found that the most important results of the Act are such as do not admit of being numbered or tabulated. The real benefits of such a measure as the Tenancy Act are to be looked for, not in the number of cases in which application may be made to the Courts to enforce its provisions, but in the peaceful acceptance by all classes of the principles which underlie it, that the landlord is to be secured in the enjoyment of his fair rent, and that the tenant is to be maintained in the possession of his rightful holding.

30. The Lieutenant-Governor thanks Mr. Reynolds for his administration of the Land Revenue Department during the year. The names of the officers commended by the Board will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE PROVINCE OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF OCTOBER 1886.

DURING the month of October the south-west monsoon, which is usually established over the province in the beginning of June, retreats southwards, and is replaced in Bengal by the north-east monsoon. The change is a slow one, and hence the meteorological conditions of the month are those of a transition period. The normal features of the October transition period are rapid decrease of temperature, the prevalence of light, unsteady, variable winds, and slight rainfall, occurring chiefly as local showers, which are frequently due to thunderstorms. South-west monsoon winds continue over the south and centre of the Bay, but recurve in the centre or north of the Bay, and are then determined westwards, giving moist north-easterly winds and rain to the west or Madras coast of the Bay. This recurvature of the rain-giving south-west monsoon winds is hence one of the normal features of the month, and in fact the most important one. It takes place further and further south during the months of October and November, the area of recurvature marching southwards in an irregular fitful manner, depending largely upon the local conditions in Burmah and Southern India, or on the opposite sides of the Bay. Occasionally the rainfall occurs in the Bay itself under special localized conditions which determine the formation and rapid growth of a cyclonic disturbance. These disturbances or cyclonic storms constitute the abnormal feature of the month and period. They may vary in magnitude from a small diffused storm of little importance to a storm of great extent and intensity, and accompanied by an immense storm-wave as in the cases of the Calcutta cyclone of 1864, or the Backergunj cyclone of 1877. The storms generated in October frequently advance northwards to the Bengal coasts, and then give excessive rain and violent winds to the area over which they pass. Storms formed in November usually advance westwards to the Madras coast. All the larger storms that are generated in the centre or north of the Bay, whatever their line of advance may be, modify the weather in the province during their existence. Their influence is most marked in the coast districts of Bengal and Orissa, but extends to a varying distance into the interior, depending upon the character and extent of the storm. The dry north or north-westerly land winds proper to the season are replaced by the easterly, north-easterly, or northerly winds of the northern outer quadrant of the storm area. These are damp sea winds, usually very feeble, but which have circulated in Lower Bengal slowly over the malarious sea-board districts of the Sunderbunds, and are hence very strongly opposed in character to the winds they replace. Skies also cloud over in the coast districts, and rain falls in very variable amounts; Orissa, from its position, usually receiving the largest quantities. The conditions necessary for the formation of cyclones during this period have been explained in previous October monthly reports. The present remarks are, it is hoped, sufficient to show the character of the normal and abnormal features of the weather of the month.

The rainfall of October is due to two distinct causes, and as the second cause (cyclone occurrence) is from its nature an extremely variable and uncertain one, it will be seen that the average distribution of the rainfall in October must be more irregular than in the previous monsoon months, and also that in particular years the actual distribution of the rainfall may be of an extremely capricious character. In the case too of the rainfall which is brought up by the continuance of the south-west monsoon conditions, as the period at which these conditions ceases, varies very considerably from year to year, the distribution of the rainfall will not only be irregular, but the total amount received will be very variable. The normal distribution of the rainfall is so irregular that it can only be briefly described with approximate accuracy. It was thus described in the report for October 1884:—"The average rainfall in Behar (in the exception of the Purneah and North Bhagulpore districts) and Chutia Nagpur (excluding the districts bordering on South-West Bengal) varies from two and a half to four inches. The amount is least in the Gya district. It varies between four and six inches in the case of the previously excepted districts, the western districts of Orissa and the whole of Bengal, excluding the Julpigori district and a narrow strip extending along the coast, and bounded on the north by a curved line running through Cuttack, Jajpore, Diamond Harbour, Port Canning, Chandpore and Chittagong. Over this long narrow area, the width of which varies from 20 to 60 miles, the average rainfall exceeds 6 inches. It is absolutely greatest at False Point, for which it is 11·4 inches."

Meteorological summary of the month.—The meteorological conditions which obtained in the province at the end of September were somewhat abnormal. During the whole of that month, the south-west monsoon current gave abundant rain to the whole province. The conditions which gave rise to the excessive rainfall of September were also of such a character as to determine the heaviest rainfall and the greatest excess to South Behar (more especially the Gya and South Bhagulpore districts) and the Sonthal Pergunnahs, and to the Dinagepore district of North Bengal. The tendency of the moisture current to be drawn to South Behar, and to give heavy rainfall to that area, was, as will be seen, even a more prominent feature in the first fortnight of October than it was of the month of September. Over Bengal the interaction between this moisture current with the cool, dry descending northerly currents from the hills, gave rise to an unusual amount of local atmospheric disturbance, which was shown by the frequent occurrence of thunderstorms, to an extent that is very unusual at the end of the south-west monsoon. During the latter half of the month, the south-west monsoon current began to retreat southwards.

The conditions of its recurvature were somewhat unusual, being apparently mainly determined by a marked tendency to low barometer on the west coast. This had been shown slightly in the month of September, but came into marked prominence during the latter half of October. Hence the cyclonic storms which were generated at this time advanced to the Madras coast, and influenced the province of Bengal very slightly. Consequently the past month has, in its absence of cyclonic storms entering the province, been a very favourable one.

The following remarks give a more detailed account of the more important meteorological features of the month. At the end of the month of September a small depression which had crossed from the Aracan to the Ganjam coast was filling up. Its apparent disappearance on the 8rd from that area was accompanied by the formation of a small depression in Chutia Nagpur and the southern districts of South Behar, which continued with little change of position or character until the 9th, when it filled up. On the 4th the depression off the Ganjam coast began to re-form, and continued a permanent feature of the meteorology of the Bay until the 15th, when it finally disappeared. During the period from the 3rd to the 9th, there were hence two depressions in existence—one in Ganjam, and the other in South Behar. The former gave occasional rain squalls to the coasts of Orissa and Bengal, and the latter exceptionally heavy general rain to the greater part of Behar and Chutia Nagpur. Frequent thunder-storms with heavy showers of rain occurred in Bengal, more especially in South-West Bengal and the northern districts of North Bengal. On the 10th dry weather set in over Behar, and gradually extended eastwards. The depression on the west coast, which was on the 10th off Ganjam, marched slowly southwards along the coast, and from the 12th to the 16th lay between Masulipatam and Negapatam, and finally filled up on the 16th. The disturbance was diffused and irregular in character, and did not concentrate into a severe cyclonic storm during any portion of its existence. The indraught to it gave heavy rain to the west coast of the Bay, and brought up much cloud into the coast districts of South Bengal and Orissa, which hence received occasional rain. With the southward march of the depression, the area affected contracted southwards, and during the last stage of its existence rain fell only in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur. Very shortly after the disappearance of this depression, and probably on the afternoon of the 17th, another depression (the second of the month) began to form in the north of the Bay. It was off the Ganjam coast on the 18th and 19th, during which period it intensified slightly, and was moving almost due westwards. It crossed the Ganjam coast early on the morning of the 20th, and drifted westwards into the interior. It gave heavy rain to the west coast of the Bay, and moderate rain to Orissa, Chutia Nagpur and the southern districts of South Behar, which were affected indirectly in exactly the same manner, but to a very much less extent, as they were by the first depression. A small depression, subsidiary to this, formed in the north-east of the Bay on the 19th in the rear of the second depression, and advanced to the north-east into East Bengal, to the southern districts of which it gave moderately strong winds and fairly general rain on the 20th, 21st and 22nd. During this period the continuation of the dry land winds from Northern India over Behar and Bengal was suspended, and replaced by variable local breezes or by sea winds. A rapid increase of temperature hence immediately followed, which will be discussed in fuller detail under the heading temperature.

The disappearance of the subsidiary depression in East Bengal was, however, not followed by an immediate return to the normal conditions. From some cause or other the westerly winds over the upper Gangetic plain were suspended. Hence light local winds continued in Behar and Bengal. The excessive temperature of the previous week, which had produced no effect upon the horizontal air motion, caused unusually large and rapid vertical motion. This was shown by large rapid oscillations of the barometer, and a slight influx of sea winds. Hence the atmosphere was slightly disturbed, frequent thunder-showers occurred in the coast districts of Bengal and Orissa, and an unusually high temperature prevailed over the whole of the interior, more especially in Behar, where no rain fell during this period. These slightly abnormal conditions of the weather lasted until the end of the month, when they began to pass away, to be replaced by the normal cold-weather conditions of Northern India.

Barometer.—The movements of the barometer have been indicated in the previous statement. Pressure was considerably above the average at the commencement of the month. From the 1st to the 9th the fluctuations were small and chiefly confined to a slight fall in Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and Behar. The barometer began to rise on the 10th. This rise continued until the 15th, when pressure was from $\cdot 02''$ to $\cdot 04''$ above the normal. It then fell steadily from the 16th to the 19th, when it was on the average $\cdot 12''$ below the normal pressure of the day.

Pressure began to increase after the disappearance of the second depression of the month, when the advance of the subsidiary depression into East Bengal caused a very rapid fall of the barometer in that area (averaging $\cdot 1''$) and a smaller fall over the remainder of the province. Pressure rose rapidly ($\cdot 09''$ to $\cdot 12''$) on the 23rd, with the disappearance of the subsidiary depression. This was followed by a brisk irregular fall (averaging $\cdot 17''$) on the 24th and 25th, and a more rapid increase on the 26th and 27th (averaging $\cdot 19''$). A more moderate, but equally irregular, fall occurred on the 28th and 29th, which averaged $\cdot 08''$ throughout the province. This was followed by a larger rise on the 30th and 31st, when pressure was slightly above the normal of the day. The mean pressure of the month varied very slightly from the normal. It was $\cdot 01''$ in defect in Orissa and the adjacent districts of South-West Bengal and '02" (probably) in South Behar, whilst it was practically identical with the normal mean in North Behar, East Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur. These variations from the mean hence represent approximately the effect of the two depressions of the month.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature from the mean were not large during the first fortnight of the month, and were mainly dependent upon the distribution of rainfall. During the first week temperature was below the normal, except in East and North Bengal. The variations were small, except in Behar and Chutia Nagpur. The heavy rainfall in that area reduced the temperature 3° below the mean in South Behar and 2° in North Behar and Chutia Nagpur. The termination of the rains in Behar on the 10th was marked by a considerable increase of temperature, and more especially of the day temperature, due to the clearing of the skies. The excess for the second week of the month averaged $2\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ in South-West Bengal, $1\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ in East Bengal, and was 1° or less in the remaining divisions. During the remainder of the month temperature was excessive in consequence of the prevalence of the abnormal conditions already explained. In the maritime districts of Bengal and Orissa, the excess was shown almost equally in the night and day temperatures. In the interior of the province, and more especially in Behar, its effect was much more marked in the night than in the day temperatures. The following table gives data for ten representative stations in different parts of the province, in illustration of the above statement :—

The mean temperature of the month was above the normal by amounts ranging from 1.5° in Chutia Nagpur to 1.9° in South Behar and East Bengal. The average effect on the mean temperature was hence nearly the same throughout the province, although it was due to variations of opposite character in some respects in different parts of the province.

Rainfall.—The character of the rainfall has been briefly indicated in the previous remarks. From the 1st to the 9th general rain fell in Behar, Orissa, and Chutia Nagpur. Very heavy showers were received on the 3rd in the Chumparun, Mozufferpore and Sarun districts. Sinhar (in Mozufferpore) received 6.76 inches and Bettiah 5.11 inches on that day. Exceptionally heavy rain fell in the Gya, Shahabad and Monghyr districts of South Behar on the 5th and 6th. The most noteworthy rainfalls on the 5th were :—Shaikpura (in Monghyr) 5.07 inches, Shereghati 3.72 inches, and Aurungabad 3.78 inches ; and on the 6th Shereghati 7 inches, Bhadooh 5.54 inches, Dehree 5.5 inches, and Sasseram 5 inches. Local thunder-storms were of frequent occurrence at this time in Bengal, and gave light to moderate rain during this period. A few showers of little importance fell in Behar and Chutia Nagpur on the 10th and 11th.

The next rainfall of importance occurred in connection with the advance of the second depression (and its subsidiary depression). Rain fell in moderate amounts in Orissa on the 18th and 19th, and some light showers in the southern districts of South Behar on the 17th and 18th. Heavy showers fell in the Khoolna, Jessore, Chittagong, Backergunj and Noakholly districts on the 21st. The largest amounts reported were 5.3 inches at Cox's Bazar, 4.05 inches at Bauphal (in Backergunj) and 3.56 inches at Bhola (also in Backergunj). A few light showers were received in the northern districts of North Bengal on the 22nd. The slightly disturbed condition of the atmosphere during the last nine days of the month gave frequent thunder-showers in all parts of the province excepting North and South Behar (excluding the Sonthal Pergunnahs). The rainfall was generally not large in amount and was very irregularly distributed. The rainfall of the month was hence of a very exceptional character. Orissa, Behar and Chutia Nagpur received amounts considerably in excess of the normal, whilst in Bengal the rainfall was more or less in defect. Chutia Nagpur received 8.47 inches or more than 4 times its normal amount, South Behar 6.74 inches or more than twice its normal amount, North Behar 5.3 inches or 56 per cent. in excess, and Orissa 7.25 inches or 18 per cent. in excess. South-West Bengal obtained an average of 3.94 inches or 12 per cent. in defect, East Bengal 3.61 inches or 34 per cent. in defect, and North Bengal 2.74 inches or 46 per cent. in defect.

The total rainfall of the month exceeded 10 inches in six isolated districts, all of comparatively small extent, and represented by the stations of Banpur and of Cuttack in Orissa; by Chuprah and Arrah and by Sinhar in Mozufferpur; by Shereghati, Semtagurah and Hazaribagh in the Hazaribagh and Shahabad districts; and by Bhola, Sundip and Cox's Bazar in South East Bengal.

The rainfall varied between 5 and 10 inches over the whole of Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, South Behar, and the south-western districts of North Behar, and also over the greater part of the Jessore, Khoolna, and Chittagong districts, and the southern districts of Noakholly and Backergunj (with the exception of these areas already named, in which the rainfall exceeded 10 inches). The total rainfall varied between 2 and 5 inches over the remainder of the country, excepting the following districts, in which it was slightly less than two inches:— the northern portions of Mozufferpore, Durbhunga, Purneah, Dinagepore, the greater part of Julpigori and Rungpore, and portions of Bogra, Comillah and Mymensingh represented by the stations of Serajgunj, Kasba and Mymensingh, and in five small areas in East and South-West Bengal represented by the stations of Bishenpur, Hooghly, Mutlah, Burrisal and Dacca.

The rainfall of the month was in excess over the whole of Behar (with the exceptions of the northern portion of Purneah and Durbhunga), Chutia Nagpur, Orissa (with the exception of a narrow tract along the sea-board), and over small portions of South-West and East Bengal (represented by the stations of Chittagong, Fenny, and Bhola in East Bengal), Bagirhat, Bongong, Busseerhat, and Jhenidah in South-West Bengal, and the greater part of the districts of Maldah and Beerbhoom. The excess was 5 inches and over in the greater part of the Shahabad, Barun, Southern Gya, Monghyr, Palamow, Hazaribagh, Cuttack and Khoordah districts, and was absolutely greatest at the three stations of Chupra (9·3 inches) and at Arrah and Hazaribagh (8·5 inches).

The rainfall was in defect over the whole of North Bengal (excepting Maldah) and the greater part of East and South-West Bengal. Over three-fourths of this area the defect was very approximately two inches, and varied from 1·5 inches to 2·5 inches. In the sub-montane districts of North Bengal, and in the Mymensingh, Comillah and North Noakholly districts the defect ranged from three to six inches. The percentage variation of the rainfall for the past month in each of the meteorological divisions and in each district is shown in the two following tables, and does not require discussion.

The following table gives a comparison between the actual monthly and total rainfall up to the end of October, with the normal rainfall of the same period, in the same form that has been employed in previous monthly abstracts of the present year. The figures express as a percentage the ratio of the average rainfall of each of the meteorological districts to the normal average rainfall of the period in question. The first ten columns give the percentage amount of rainfall received in each month, and the last column the percentage rainfall of the whole period from the 1st of January to the 31st of October:—

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and the normal rainfall of the month of October in all districts of the province. The figures are obtained by the methods explained in previous summaries. The first column gives the average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 15 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the actual rainfalls at the reporting stations in the district. The third column expresses as a percentage the ratio of the actual district rainfall to the normal. The fourth column gives the same information as the third column in a slightly different form. It states by what percentage the actual rainfall varies in excess (+) or in defect (−) from the normal rainfall —

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's indications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o overcast, g gloomy, d drizzling rain, d dew.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 12TH OF NOVEMBER 1886.

THE weather in Bengal during the past week has been to some extent influenced by a cyclone which formed in the centre of the Bay, and advanced to the Madras coast. It was noted in last week's report that the weather in the Bay had been more or less unsettled and squally from the 3rd. So far as can be judged from the coast observations, the disturbance from the 3rd to the 6th was diffused and irregular in character. Moderately strong winds with occasional severe rain and wind squalls probably prevailed over the centre and south of the Bay, but there was no definite centre of convergence until the 6th, when the first signs of concentration were indicated in a somewhat doubtful manner.

The observations of the 7th showed clearly that it had developed into a cyclone of some intensity, which was probably marching westwards to the Coromandel coast. It increased considerably in intensity during the next 48 hours. The centre crossed the Coromandel coast a little to the north of Madras about 10 A. M. on Tuesday, the 10th. Its approach towards the Madras coast caused a fall of nearly half an inch in the barometer at that station. As invariably happens with large cyclonic depressions in the Bay, the outer limits of the disturbance extended to the coast districts of Bengal and to the whole of Orissa. The flow of dry, cool air from the North-Western Provinces across Behar and Chutia Nagpur into Bengal was suspended. Clear weather with light local breezes prevailed in Behar and the northern districts of Bengal. The winds in the outer portions of the eastern and northern quadrants of the disturbance brought up much cloud into South Bengal and Orissa. The north-easterly and easterly winds of this portion of the area of disturbance circulated slowly over the low and damp ground of the Sunderbunds and Southern Bengal, and hence were utterly different in character to the dry land winds which they had temporarily displaced. These humid winds gave light showers to the Pooree and Cuttack districts of Orissa on the 8th, 9th and 10th, and to the Chittagong district in East Bengal on the 8th, 10th and 11th. The influence of the disturbance was shown most strongly on the temperature. It caused a slight reduction of the day temperature, and a considerable rise in the night temperature in South Bengal and Orissa, over which there was a considerable development of cloud. In Behar and Chutia Nagpur the suspension of the dry, cool westerly winds was accompanied by an increase in both the day and night temperatures, of which the latter was somewhat the larger. The cyclone passed rapidly across the Deccan and apparently broke up on the 10th, after which the meteorological conditions slowly settled down again into those characteristic of the cold weather.

The barometer was unusually steady during the week in Behar and North Bengal. In South Bengal and Orissa it fell on the 8th and 9th to a slight extent (the average fall being only .03"). This was followed by a gradual increase of pressure on the 10th, 11th and 12th, varying in amount from .08" at Calcutta to .15" at Cuttack. As this large rise extended over the whole of the Bay, the baric differences between Behar and the south of the Bay were very small at the end of the week. The mean pressure of the week was .05" in defect in Orissa, .025" in defect in South-West Bengal, .01" in defect in East Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, and .02" in excess in Behar.

The general character of the temperature of the week has been already stated. The following table giving data for eight representative stations illustrates these remarks.—

The normal average rainfall of the week is a tenth of an inch in all the meteorological divisions except North Behar, where it is only .03 inch, and Orissa for which it is one-third of an inch. Light showers fell on the 8th, 9th and 10th in the Pooree and Cuttack districts, giving a total rainfall ranging from .2 inch at Tappore to 1.55 inches at Pooree. A few light showers were received in the Chittagong, Backergunny and Mymensingh districts of East Bengal. No rain fell in the remainder of the province.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 12th of November 1886 :—

MEMORANDUM.

The principal Municipalities in Bengal returned, during the week ending 23rd October 1886, the birth and death-rates of 26·3 and 39·9 per 1,000 of population, respectively, as opposed to very nearly the same proportions, viz. 25·9 and 40·2 per 1,000, respectively, in the preceding week ending 16th October.

2. Births and deaths were registered at the highest rates in the undermentioned Municipalities:—

3. The subjoined table, taken from the general statement appended to this Memorandum, indicates that, as compared with the results of the preceding week, cholera and bowel-complaints exhibited enhancement of mortality, while the fatality of fever and the maladies grouped under the head of "other causes" diminished sensibly:—

						Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
						23rd Oct. 1886.	16th Oct. 1886

Injury	·6	·4
Other causes	9·4	10·7

4. While no death was reported from small-pox, and the casualties from injury were nowhere great, the rest of the maladies enumerated above caused the greatest loss of life in the following Municipalities:—

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorised form of age classification.

N ST L CARTER,
Traffic Manager.

TRAFFIC MANAGER'S OFFICE, JAMALPUR, the 9th November 1886.

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during four weeks ended 25th September 1886.

INCREASES.

Coal and Coke.—There was an increase in the upward traffic, and a decrease in the down traffic, resulting in a net increase. The improvement in the up traffic was due to demand from the foreign railways, and the decrease in down traffic was due to a sluggish market in Calcutta.

Cotton.—The increase in this staple is attributable to a favourable market and good demand for export.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—There was a substantial increase in this staple, due to plentiful crops and favourable prices.

Iron.—This increase was chiefly in the despatches of first and second class iron from Howrah to Mirzapore, Cawnpore, Delhi and other stations up country.

Ghee.—This increase is assignable to a brisk demand throughout Bengal, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and the despatches were chiefly made from Etawah, Shikohabad, Hathras, Khurja, and Delhi.

Wheat.—An active market in Calcutta during the early part of the month and favourable prices resulted in the increase in this commodity.

DECREASES.

Piece-goods.—A lull in the demand from the chief up country markets account for the decrease in this staple.

Gunny.—This decrease was due to absence of demand from the Punjab and Delhi consequent on limited despatches of wheat from those places.

Gram and pulses.—Large quantities of these staples were imported into Bengal last year from the North-Western Provinces; there has been no such demand this year, hence this decrease.

Other rain and spring crops.—An absence of demand for these staples led to the decrease shown under this head.

Brass and copper.—Limited despatches to Mirzapore, Cawnpore and other stations manufacturing utensils, account for this falling off.

Railway material, Foreign.—This decrease is attributable to completion of construction works on the several State railways.

Salt.—There was an increase in the weight carried, and a small decrease in the earnings, which was due to reduced competitive rates being quoted this year.

Seeds.—The advance in exchange and unfavourable sea freights interfered seriously with the export of linseed, hence the falling off in seeds.

Sugar (refined and unrefined).—There was an increase in weight carried, but a decrease in earnings, which is attributable to the traffic being for shorter distances.

HIGH COURT NOTICE.

Circular Order issued by Authority of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

CIVIL.

No. 12, dated the 22nd September 1886.

THE attention of the officers presiding in the Civil Courts of the Lower Provinces of Bengal and Assam is invited to the Revised Rules* made by the High Court for their guidance in the exercise of their duties under section 287 of the Code of Civil Procedure, in supersession of the Rules published at page 584 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 7th July 1880, and at page 314 of the Assam Gazette of the 10th July 1880. It will be observed that the Rules come into operation from 1st October 1886.

A copy of the Revised Rules is appended to this Circular Order for facility of reference. The form of Proclamation of Sale previously prescribed will continue in use.

Revised Rules under Section 287 of the Civil Procedure Code.

1. Every application under section 281 of the Code of Civil Procedure for the sale of immovable property under attachment other than a tenure or holding to be sold in execution of a decree for arrears due in respect thereof under the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), shall be in writing, and shall be verified in the manner prescribed by the Code for the verification of Plaints by the holder of the decree in execution of which the property is to be sold, or by some other person (approved of by the Court) if the Court be satisfied that he is acquainted with the facts mentioned in it.

2. Every such application shall state everything known, or believed by the person verifying the same to exist, which relates to the nature or affects the value of the property to be sold, and shall further state that he is not possessed of any further information regarding them.

3. Every person applying under section 162 of the Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) for the simultaneous attachment and sale of a tenure or a holding of a rayat holding at fixed rates, or applying only for the sale of such tenure or holding already under attachment, shall, in such application, specify the registered and notified encumbrances subject to which the tenure or holding is to be sold. Such specification shall be verified in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure of Plaints by the holder of the decree in execution of which the tenure or holding is to be sold, or by some other person (approved of by the Court) if the Court be satisfied that he is acquainted with the facts mentioned in it.

4. If, after the sale-proclamation has been published, any written communication regarding the property to be sold shall be received by the Court, which it considers material for purchasers to know, the Court shall cause the same to be read out when the property is put up for sale.

5. If the property to be sold is an estate or a share of an estate paying revenue to Government, and the revenue payable on account of such estate or share of an estate exceeds the sum of Rs. 500, the proclamation of sale shall be published in the local official Gazette.

The rule shall not interfere with the discretion of the Court under section 289 of the Procedure Code in directing, whenever it thinks fit, a similar publication of the intended sale of any other property or properties attached in execution of a decree.

6. Subject to the proviso in section 269 of the Code of Civil Procedure, sales of property in execution of decrees in the several Courts of each district (not being Courts of Small Causes), shall be held and commence at a certain day in each month, such day to be fixed by the District Judge or other principal Judge in the district, as regards his own Court and all other Courts sitting at the same place as his own; but as regards subordinate Courts sitting at other places within his district, he shall fix the day in consultation with the Judges of those Courts: Provided that, where two or more of such Courts are stationed in the same place, the District Judge may fix the time for sales in consultation with only one of them.

7. All property, except property of the nature specified in the proviso to section 269, Code of Civil Procedure, or in Rule 11, to be sold at each place of sale, shall be entered in lists for each place, the lists of movable and immovable properties being distinct. The lists shall be so prepared as to contain in regular order each item of property to be sold in execution of the decrees of each Court severally. Such lists shall be stuck up in the Courts where the sales are to be held—in the case of movables not less than 7 days, and in the case of immovables not less than 15 days, before the date fixed for the commencement of each set of sales.

8. At the stated hour upon each fixed date, the sales shall be commenced, and shall be carried on in the order stated in the lists above mentioned. No sale shall continue after sunset; but the sales shall be held from day to day, except when the Court is closed and until the lists are finished: Provided that this rule shall not interfere with the adjournment of any particular sale according to law.

9. The same days shall not ordinarily be fixed for the sale of movable and of immovable property.

10. Except as regards property of the kind mentioned in the next succeeding rule, sales in execution of decrees for all Courts sitting in Sudder stations shall be held in the Court of the District Judge or other chief Judicial Officer. If, in other places, there are two or more subordinate Courts, all the sales in that place shall be held in such one of the Courts as may be selected by the District Judge. Where there is only one Court, the sales shall be held in that Court: Provided that the Court executing a decree may, if it see fit, for reasons to be specified in writing, direct, in the interest of the parties, that the sales be held at any other time and place within its jurisdiction, and, when acting under this last-mentioned proviso, shall, except for good reason to the contrary, give the preference as regards choice of time and place to the wishes of the judgment-debtor.

11. All sales of live stock agricultural produce, articles of local manufacture, and of other things commonly sold at country markets, shall, unless the Court otherwise direct, be held at such market in the neighbourhood of the place where the goods were attached, as may appear likely to be for the greatest advantage of the debtor, regard being had to the prospect of good prices and to the saving of expense in conveyance and carriage.

CIVIL.

• Rule No 13, dated the 24th September 1886.

(d)—[Withdrawal of such attachment—Circular Order No. 3 of 8th February 1876.] Whenever the attachment of an estate or share in an estate is legally and formally withdrawn, such withdrawal shall in like manner be notified to the Collector.

After Clause (d), Rule 14, Chapter V, page 262, Civil Rules and Orders, insert the following:—

(e) Whenever any estate or share of an estate has been sold by any Civil Court in execution of a decree, such sale shall be notified by the Court to the Collector of the District in which such estate or share of an estate is situated, after the same shall have been confirmed under section 314 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE CALCUTTA MEDICAL INSTITUTIONS FOR THE YEAR 1885.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Darjeeling, the 30th October 1886.

RESOLUTION.

READ--

The Report on the Calcutta Medical Institutions for the year 1885.

Read also—

The Report for the year 1884, and the Resolution recorded upon it.

1. As directed in Government order No. 608, dated the 8th February 1886, the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals has incorporated the annual report on the voluntary lock-hospitals in this report.

2. Judged by the death returns, the public health of the town during the year was slightly better than in the previous year. The general death-rate was 29.3 per mille of the population of the town, against 30.5 in the previous year. The number of deaths from cholera was 1,603 against 2,272 in 1884, and was considerably less than the number registered in the past four years. On the other hand, there was a large increase in the number of deaths from diarrhoea and dysentery, the deaths having risen from 1,209 in 1884 to 1,655 in 1885. The mortality from fever slightly increased, while there was a large falling off in the number of deaths from small-pox. The mortality from "other causes" was also lower than in the previous year. The following statement shows the number of cases of the principal diseases treated in the several hospitals in Calcutta during the year, and the number of cases which proved fatal:—

MEDICAL INSTITUTIONS.	CHOLERA.		DIARRHŒA AND DYSENTERY.		FEVERS.		SMALL-POX		OTHER CAUSES.		TOTAL.

Total	627	362	3,347	1,035	3,767	275	85	85	10,019	1,329	22,863	2,936

There was a considerable decrease in the numbers of both cholera and small-pox cases treated in the hospitals, the numbers under each of these heads being 627 and 83 against 1,023 and 275 respectively in the year 1884. In this respect the practice of the hospitals reflects the experience of the general population of the town. The hospital death-rate, however, under both heads was higher than that of the previous year, being 577 and 409 per mille against 523 and 312 per mille respectively. The number of diarrhœa and dysentery cases rose from 2,674 in 1884 to 3,367 in the year under review.

Compared with the statistics of the previous year, the total number of in-door patients treated shows an increase of 2,170. The increase was chiefly confined to fevers, bowel-complaints, and venereal disease. Diseases of an asthenic type prevailed largely throughout the year. This is illustrated in a marked manner in the Campbell Hospital return, which shows an accession of 1,086 patients who suffered from disorders generally associated with failure of vital power. With the exception of the Police Hospital, which partakes more of the character of a military hospital, and can in no way be ranked as a charity, all the Presidency hospitals received a larger number of in-patients than in the previous year. Towards the end of the year an unusual number of persons sought admission into the Campbell Hospital, necessitating the erection of a large temporary ward. It is stated that the increase of patients at this hospital was in the main due to distress in the flooded districts and its consequences, and if this is correct, the crowding should be temporary, and the necessity for the ward should shortly cease. This hospital still holds a number of persons suffering from blindness, and others who should be classed as incurables. The Superintendent should renew his efforts to transfer such persons to the charge of their friends and relative.

4. The number of in-patients treated in the voluntary lock-hospitals during 1885 was 414 against 333 in 1884, showing an increase of 81. The daily average number of patients treated was 90 against 61 in the previous year. This shows that each patient on the average continued in the hospital 79 days in 1885 and 65 days in 1884. Of the total number of in-door cases, 48 were Europeans and Eurasians and 366 natives. Ninety-three patients, viz., 48 Europeans and Eurasians and 45 natives, were treated in the Sealdah Lock-hospital, against 111, or 35 Europeans and 73 natives, in the previous year. Three hundred and twenty-one patients (natives) were treated in the Alipore lock-hospital, against 222 in 1884. The total number of admissions was 342, of which 100 were received on transfer from the Campbell Hospital. The corresponding numbers in 1884 were 279 and 75. There were 18 deaths among the native in-door patients, or a rate of 4.9 per cent. on total cases treated, against 21 and 6.3 per cent. in the preceding year. There were treated in the hospitals 1,889 out-door patients against 1,454 in 1884, the daily average number being 6.5 and 5.9 respectively. Of the total number of out-door cases, 39 were treated in the Sealdah Lock-hospitals, against 50 in 1884. Altogether 1,850 patients were treated in the Alipore Lock-hospitals, against 1,404 in the preceding year. Many cases of venereal disease are still treated at the other hospitals to the detriment of the patients of other classes for whom those institutions are chiefly intended. The Inspector-General will be requested to instruct the Principal of the Medical College and Superintendents of other hospitals to transfer as many patients as they can to the voluntary hospitals.

5. The results of the surgical operations in the Medical College Hospital were more satisfactory than those of the previous year. The number of operations performed in the hospital was 394, of which 30 cases proved fatal, against 416 operations with 52 deaths in 1884. Ophthalmic operations are not included in these figures. There were three deaths from erysipelas during the year. The disease broke out in November, having been imported by the husband of a patient, and spread by infection. Six cases in all occurred, of which three were fatal. Prompt measures were taken to segregate the sufferers and to disinfect the wards in which the outbreak occurred, and to purify the bedding, instruments, and other appliances through which contagion might be communicated. Dr. Cowie considers that the history of this small outbreak shows that the spread of erysipelas, once the most dreaded and fatal of all forms of hospitalism, is now completely under control, while its specific action can readily be destroyed or rendered harmless by antiseptic surgery and effective sanitary measures. He has pointed out, however, that the College Hospital, unlike most modern hospitals which are built on some principle of segmentation, is en bloc, and that at present scarcely any means exist for segregating infectious cases. This matter has already received the attention of Government, and the Inspector-General has been asked to submit plans and estimates for a suitable ward for cases of this character.

6. In the Eden Hospital 1,575 women and children were treated against 1,390 in the previous year. Of these, 1,064 were Europeans and 511 natives. The deaths among the former amounted to 35, and among the latter 32. The number of confinement cases rose from 379 to 432, the mortality among this class of cases being 22 against 29 in 1884. The reduction in the death-rate is satisfactory, as many patients were admitted in a hopeless state. The Lieutenant-Governor is satisfied with the general working of the hospital. It is stated that a steam laundry is required, as the present arrangements are defective. An estimate has been called for; but the Lieutenant-Governor fears that with so many urgent calls upon the Provincial finances, it will be difficult to provide the necessary funds at present.

7. The total number of cases of enteric and remittent fever treated in all the hospitals during the year was 20 and 803 respectively, against 11 and 930, the corresponding figures of the previous year. Of the 20 cases of enteric (or typhoid) fever, 17 are shown as having been admitted into the Presidency General Hospital, 1 into the Medical College Hospital, and 2 into the Police Hospital. These figures are, however, said to be unreliable owing to the difficulty of distinguishing between enteric and remittent fever, which, as Dr. Cleghorn, the Officiating Surgeon Superintendent of the Presidency General Hospital, remarks, "is due to the imperfect knowledge which we at present possess of the fevers of this country, and to a general belief in the widespread influence and prevalence of malaria." In order to overcome this difficulty, the Inspector-General strongly urges upon all medical officers the importance of a post-mortem examination in every case of death from remittent or suspected typhoid fever.

8. The nursing arrangements at the General and Medical College Hospitals continue to be managed by the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution, under the supervision of the ladies of the Clewer Sisterhood. Drs. Cowie, Coates, Harvey, and Cleghorn all speak in the highest terms of the efficiency of the work done; and the Lieutenant-Governor desires to add his testimony to the valuable services which the institution has rendered to the cause of medical charity in Calcutta.

9. The invested capital of the Calcutta Hospitals was increased during the year from Rs. 5,53,300 to Rs. 5,54,300. The whole of this increase appertains to the Howrah General Hospital. The total expenditure, excluding the amount invested, was Rs. 4,23,236, which exceeded the amount expended in 1884 by Rs. 9,921. The net cost to Government of all the hospitals, including the voluntary lock-hospitals, which are now entirely supported by Government, amounted to Rs. 2,71,349 against Rs. 2,70,400 in the previous year, inclusive of the cost of lock-hospitals, which was Rs. 16,185 in 1884. There was a total decrease of Rs. 16,057 in the Medical College, Police, and Presidency General Hospitals, and an increase of Rs. 17,006 in the Campbell, Howrah, and lock-hospitals, the total net increase being Rs. 949. Orders have separately been passed regarding the revision of the Government grants to the Mayo Hospital, which the Lieutenant Governor has decided to reduce to Rs. 34,000 from the ensuing year.

Explanation.—summary. The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the same period for the past ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of stations in the district sending in returns is that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional stations for the period in question during the past year, divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

Mean of 5 days.

Mean of 6 days.

the week ending Friday, the 19th November 1886.

CALCUTTA, the 23rd November 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 19TH OF NOVEMBER 1886.

THE meteorology of the past week was of the simplest character and calls for very brief notice. Fine weather, with light north-east monsoon winds, prevailed in the Bay until nearly the end of the week, when a disturbance began to form in the same part of the Bay as that which initiated the cyclone that passed over Madras on the 10th. The baric gradients over the Bay were slightly smaller than they usually are in November.

The weather was hence fine during the whole week in Bengal: winds were lighter than the normal, and the westerly element was unusually weak. Temperature was hence somewhat higher than the normal, and the air in Behar slightly damper. Light local showers fell in the Julpaigori, Cooch Behar, and Darjeeling districts on the 13th, 14th, and 15th, due to some very slight local disturbance, probably originating over the higher hills to the north of Darjeeling. No rain fell in any other part of the province with the exception of the Pooree district, where one or two very light showers of no importance fell on the 13th.

The barometer rose on the 13th slightly, and then fell generally until the 17th or 18th, when it began to rise again. The oscillations of the barometer during fine weather in November are generally of longish period, lasting from five or six to nine or ten days, the extent of the oscillation rarely exceeding one-tenth of an inch. They are a phenomenon of the same order as the daily oscillation or the diurnal barometric tides (as they are usually termed), but are less regular and steady in character. The mean pressure of the week was .03" in defect in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and East Bengal; 0.45" in defect in Chutia Nagpur and South and Central Behar, and normal in North Behar.

Temperature decreased slowly, but fairly steadily, during the week. The mean temperature of the week was from 1° to 2° above the normal mean over the greater part of the province, including Orissa, South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, and South Behar. It was either normal or slightly in defect in North Behar and East Bengal, and probably over all those districts lying near the hills of Northern and Eastern Bengal. The following table gives the chief facts in the variation of the temperature of the week at eight representative stations:—

	Normal mean maximum temperature, November 13th to 19th.	Actual mean maximum temperature, November 13th to 19th, 1886.	Variation of actual from normal.	Normal mean minimum temperature, November 13th to 19th.	Actual mean minimum temperature, November 13th to 19th, 1886.	Variation of actual from normal. Darjeeling	84.0	83.2	-0.8	30.7	42.7	+3.0	47.0	47.9	+0.9

The normal rainfall of the week is practically nil. Light showers, more or less local in character, were received in the Julpaigori, Cooch Behar and Darjeeling districts on the 13th, 14th and 15th. The Julpaigori and Cooch Behar districts received an average of very nearly one-tenth of an inch, and the Darjeeling district an average of one-third of an inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 19th of November 1886:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at all sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beekley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

THE annexed table, exhibiting the mortuary statistics of the districts in Bengal for the month of September 1886, discloses the following results :—

1. That the deaths of 119,371 persons were registered among a population of 66,163,884, or at the rate of 21·60 per 1,000 per annum, against 20·64 per 1,000 in the preceding month, and 26·40 per 1,000 in the corresponding month of the preceding year, indicating, as compared with the latter period, a great retrogression in the registration of deaths.

2. That the highest casualty-rates were returned from the following districts :—

Districts.			Districts.
		Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.
Shahabad	60·00	Patna	31·20
Gya	42·60	Rungpore	29·04
Monghyr	33·96	Jalpaiguri	27·48
Bhagulpore	33·96	Sarun	27·24
Darjiling	31·56	Bogra	27·00

3. That the mortality from the specific heads of disease stands as follows :—

			Ratio per mille during—
			September 1886.	September 1885.
Cholera	·72	3·48
Small-pox	·0	·02
Fever	16·20	18·00
Bowel-complaints	·72	1·08
Injury	·72	·72
Other causes	3·00	3·00

The noticeable facts indicated by the above figures are that, excepting injury and the maladies classed under the head of "Other causes," the death-rates from all diseases, notably from cholera and fever, were considerably lower in September 1886 than during the corresponding month of the preceding year.

4. That cholera and fever caused the greatest loss of life in the following districts, while the rest of the diseases did not display noticeable severity anywhere, excepting in Sarun, where 10·32 per 1,000 of the population died from "other causes" :—

Cholera.			Fever.

THE birth and death returns of the principal Municipalities in Bengal exhibit the following results for the week ending 30th October 1886 :—

1. That births were registered at the rate of 23·2 per 1,000 of population and deaths at 42·3 per 1,000, as opposed to 26·3 and 39·9 per 1,000, respectively, during the preceding week ending 23rd October, indicating a retrogression in the registration of births, but a fair advance in that of deaths

2. That the following Municipalities returned the highest proportions of births and deaths :—

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the natives of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorised form of age classification.

NOTIFICATION.

The 30th November 1886.—The following draft of revised rules for the grant of leases of lands for tea cultivation in Julpigoree and Darjeeling, and of arable lands in the former district, are published for general information; and it is hereby notified that the draft will be taken into consideration by the Government of Bengal on the 15th January 1887. Any remarks and criticisms which may be made by any person with respect to the draft should be submitted to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department before the date specified above.

P. NOLAN,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Rules for the grant of leases of waste lands for tea cultivation in the districts of Julpigoree and Darjeeling.

THE following rules for the grant of leases for tea cultivation in the districts of Julpigoree and Darjeeling supersede all those previously passed:—

1. The lands that are generally available under these rules in the district of Julpigoree are the unsettled lands, excepting reserved forests, which lie within that tract of country, bounded on the north by Darjeeling and Bhootan, west by the Teesta river, south by the State of Cooch Behar, east by the Sunkos river. Any lots of waste land belonging to Government, lying in any other parts of the district of Julpigoree, and which are not reserved for other purposes, may also be made available for tea cultivation under these rules.

The lands that are generally available in the Darjeeling district lie in the Kalimpong or Daling sub-division of the district, east of the Teesta. They are in two blocks, bounded as follows:—

I.—North.—The Labah forest block.

South.—The Lehti, Noam, Pugo, and Mal forest blocks.

West.—The Jeet Chu.

East.—The Nim Chu to its junction with the Chu Chu, then the Chu Chu to a point about 4 miles below Ambiokh, then a line northwards up to the Ambiokh forest block, and thence southward the boundary of the Dalingkote forest block and the Goorobathan khas mehal: area about 19 35 square miles.

II.—North.—The Mo forest block.

West.—The East Nar block.

South and South-west.—The Mochu, up its junction with the Khoomanee.

East.—The Khoomanee and Rougo forest block: area about 8.50 square miles.

2. The following lands will not ordinarily be available under these rules:—

(a).—Lands which, by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette, are held to constitute a reserve for the supply of timber, fuel, grazing, or any other article of general and public consumption.

(b).—Lands not included in the above category, but which now bear India-rubber trees or other valuable timber (such as sal, khair, chelownee, sissoo, &c.) in considerable quantities and in compact blocks or patches.

(c).—Lands in respect of which any person or persons, or any village community, possess rights of occupancy, or such other rights or privileges as render it impolitic or unadvisable to grant such lands to any other person or persons for the purpose of tea cultivation.

(d).—Lands lying within a distance of 60 feet on either side from the centre of any public road or thoroughfare: provided that such road or thoroughfare shall have been constructed, or shall be kept in repair, from public funds.

(e).—Lands which the Local Government may at any time, by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette, expressly exempt from the operation of these rules.

3. Every person, company, or association or promoter of a company or association, desirous of obtaining a grant of land under these rules, must in person, or by a duly authorized agent, present an application on stamped paper of the value of 8 annas to the Deputy Commissioner of the district in which the land lies.

4. The application must specify—

(a).—The name or names and address or addresses of the applicant or applicants, and of his or their authorized agent, if any.

(b).—The area, situation, and boundaries of the land applied for, as far as they can be ascertained without a detailed survey.

(c).—The particulars, if any, which may appear to the applicant to bring any part of the land applied for within the exceptions mentioned in Rule 2. The application must also state whether the land, or any part of it, is, or has ever been, cultivated in any manner.

As settled in 1883.

5. Every lot applied for must be compact and capable of being enclosed in a ring-fence; and if any part of the land touches on a public road or navigable river, the length of such road or river frontage must not exceed one-half the breadth of the lot applied for.

6. Not more than 800 acres will ordinarily be granted to any one applicant, company, or association; and when more than 800 acres are applied for, the applicant must set forth specially the grounds for such application, and give prima facie guarantees that he possesses the requisite capital for working such larger area.

The Deputy Commissioner may, when he has reason to believe it to be necessary, demand such a guarantee when the area applied for does not exceed 800 acres.

As proposed in 1886.

5. Every lot applied for must be compact and capable of being enclosed in a ring-fence; and if any part of the land touches on a public road or navigable river, the length of such road or river frontage must not exceed one-half the breadth of the lot applied for.

The exact boundaries will be settled by the Deputy Commissioner, who will decide the point on a consideration of what is best in the public interests.

6. Not more than 800 acres will ordinarily be granted to any one applicant, company, or association; and when more than 800 acres are applied for, the applicant must set forth specially the grounds for such application, and give prima facie guarantees that he possesses the requisite capital for working such larger area.

The Deputy Commissioner may, when he has reason to believe it to be necessary, demand such a guarantee when the area applied for does not exceed 800 acres.

If, upon proceeding to survey and map out the grant, the Deputy Commissioner finds that it is desirable in the public interests, or for the sake of good boundaries, to include a larger area than 800 acres within the area to be granted on the application, it shall be in his discretion, with the sanction of the Commissioner, to grant to one applicant so much land, not exceeding 1,000 acres, as may be necessary to obtain good boundaries and to avoid waste, &c.

7. All applications for more than 800 acres will be forwarded by the Deputy Commissioner to the Commissioner, who, if he desires to recommend compliance therewith, will forward them to the Board of Revenue, who will take the orders of Government upon each case.

8. The holder of a grant of 800 acres shall not be debarred from applying for a second grant if he has complied with the clearance and other conditions of the preliminary lease in respect of the first grant. Tea lease-holders may obtain arable grants contiguous to their tea lots.

9. On receipt of an application for any area not exceeding 800 acres, the Deputy Commissioner must satisfy himself, as far as lies in his power, that the requirements of the rules have been complied with. If he considers that the application should be rejected, he will record an order to that effect, giving his reasons for such rejection. An appeal will lie from such order of rejection to the Commissioner of the division, if preferred within 30 days from the date of the order. If the Deputy Commissioner considers that an application for such area as it is within his power to grant should be entertained, or in the case of application for areas over 1,000 acres, when the orders of Government accepting the application are received, the applicant or his agent will be required to deposit the estimated cost of the enquiry referred to in the next rule, and the cost of survey and demarcation to be made as hereinafter provided. The amount to be so deposited must be calculated at one rupee per acre of the total area applied for. If the area is found to be greater, the sum of one rupee per acre must be paid on account of such excess area before a preliminary lease is granted.

Payments under this rule do not cover the cost of erecting permanent boundary marks under Rule 24.

In the event of the applicant withdrawing his application before any enquiry has been made under Rule 10, or in the event of its being found that the land has been previously applied for, the applicant shall be entitled to a refund of the survey fee paid by him.

If the cost of survey is not paid within one month of demand, the application may be struck off.

10. On receipt of the sum payable under the preceding rule, and of an agreement signed by the applicant, or by his authorized agent, to pay such further sum as may be required for the purposes above mentioned, the Deputy Commissioner will record an order appointing a tehsildar or other officer to visit the land, and to make full and detailed enquiries into its condition and circumstances.

11. The general object of such enquiry shall be to ascertain whether or not the land applied for can be granted under the rules in force; but the Deputy Commissioner may instruct the officer making the enquiry to furnish him with such other specific and detailed information as may seem to him to be necessary.

12. On completion of this enquiry, the officer making it will record the result thereof, and submit a report for the orders of the Deputy Commissioner. If the Deputy Commissioner, after considering the report, and after calling for such further explanations, oral or written, as he may deem necessary, shall be of opinion that the land applied for cannot be granted under the rules, and should not therefore be surveyed, he will record an order to that effect. An appeal will lie from such order to the Commissioner of the division if preferred within 30 days from the date of the order.

13. If the Deputy Commissioner decides that the land applied for can be granted under the rules, and should therefore be surveyed, he will record an order to that effect.

14. The Deputy Commissioner shall at once send a copy of any order passed under Rule 13 to the Conservator of Forests, in order that an estimate may be made by the Forest Department of the value of any forest trees standing on the land. The Conservator of Forests will depute an officer to examine the land, and make a detailed report suggesting the average rate per acre at which payment should be made for such trees. Such officer, in valuing the timber, shall have regard to its present market value on the spot, and to the local circumstances of the case, the accessibility of the grant, and the prospect of markets for timber becoming available during the currency of the lease. The Conservator will carefully examine the report, and forward it to the Deputy Commissioner with such remarks and alterations as he may think necessary. If the Deputy Commissioner, on receipt of the Conservator's decision, sees reason to object to the proposed rate per acre, he may refer the matter to the Commissioner, who shall take the orders of the Board of Revenue and of Government on any point on which he and the Conservator may eventually differ.

15. If the Deputy Commissioner finds the land, or any part of it, in the occupation of any person or persons or of any village community, he will submit a full report of the circumstances for the orders of the Commissioner, stating in detail how he proposes to deal with such prior occupants; and if it is proposed to remove them, the compensation, if any, which the applicant undertakes to pay to such persons. If the Deputy Commissioner declines to propose the removal of such occupants, an appeal shall lie to the Commissioner within thirty days after the record of an order by the Deputy Commissioner declining to propose the removal. The Commissioner will report his orders in all such cases for the information of the Board of Revenue.

16. If any claim or objection be preferred under Act XXIII of 1863, the Deputy Commissioner will proceed to dispose of the same in accordance with the provisions of that Act.

17. The officer who made the enquiry provided for by Rules 10 to 12 will, on receipt of an order to that effect from the Deputy Commissioner, proceed to point out to the surveyor the boundaries of the land applied for, and such prominent features in it as may be useful for the purposes of the survey, and which should, in his opinion, be entered in the preliminary lease as hereinafter provided. The boundaries and other features above mentioned should be clearly marked and defined by the officer in presence of the surveyor, and the latter should be furnished with a list of them signed by the said officer.

As settled in 1883.

18. The surveyor will then proceed to make the survey and put up such temporary boundary marks as are necessary for that purpose. He must prepare a map showing—

- (a).—All natural features of the country lying within the boundaries as fixed by the officer who made the enquiry under Rules 10 to 12, e.g., bheels, streams, forest clumps, &c.
- (b).—Such features of the country lying outside the boundary of the land to be surveyed as may serve to identify the latter and connect it with the revenue survey or other existing map.

The surveyor is bound to bring to the notice of the Deputy Commissioner any fact which may come to his knowledge in the course of the survey, rendering it advisable that the land he is surveying should not be granted under these rules.

As proposed in 1886.

18. The surveyor will then proceed to make the survey and put up such temporary boundary marks as are necessary for that purpose. He must prepare a map showing—

- (a).—All natural features of the country lying within the boundaries as fixed by the officer who made the enquiry under Rules 10 to 12, e.g., bheels, streams, forest clumps, &c.
- (b).—Such features of the country lying outside the boundary of the land to be surveyed as may serve to identify the latter and connect it with the revenue survey or other existing map.
- (c).—The total area within the boundaries after deductions of areas for roads or other Government reserves, jotes, &c., and the net area of the grant.
- (d).—Points at which permanent or other marks should be erected by the lessee.

The surveyor is bound to bring to the notice of the Deputy Commissioner any fact which may come to his knowledge in the course of the survey, rendering it advisable that the land he is surveying should not be granted under these rules. He is particularly bound to bring to notice any need for public roads across the lands he surveys, and if the Deputy Commissioner concurs with the surveyor in this matter, the road or roads should be marked off on the ground and on the map, and the area to be occupied thereby should be deducted from the rent-paying area of the grant.

19. The map should ordinarily be on a scale of 16 inches to the mile. If possible, the surveyor's field book should be copied at the back of it. If not, a copy of the field-book should be attached to or accompany the map. If the map be made originally in the vernacular, the Deputy Commissioner will cause it to be translated into English.

20. On the map being completed, it must be checked by an officer appointed by the Deputy Commissioner. If found to be incorrect, it will be amended by the surveyor in conjunction with the officer above mentioned. If found to be correct, it will be laid before the Deputy Commissioner with the report of the officer who made the preliminary enquiry under Rules 10 to 12, and with all other papers connected with the case.

21. The Deputy Commissioner will then proceed to consider the application. A date for this purpose must be previously fixed by him, and due notice of it given to the applicant or to his authorized agent.

22. The Deputy Commissioner shall have power to reject an application at any stage of the proceedings under the rules, if he sees reason to do so, refunding in such case to the applicant the deposit made by him on account of survey, minus such an amount as it may seem to the Deputy Commissioner fair to retain in consideration of the expenses incurred. If, however, the application is rejected for a reason which could not reasonably be anticipated under these rules, no portion of the deposit money shall be retained. He is authorized to reject an application when he does not consider that there is a bona fide intention on the part of the applicant to cultivate in tea the land applied for, or when it appears desirable to reserve the land for cultivation other than tea, or to preserve any forest standing on it. An appeal against every such order of rejection shall lie to the Commissioner of the division, if preferred within thirty days of the date of the order.

As settled in 1883.

23. If the Deputy Commissioner grant the application, he will without delay grant the applicant a lease in form G of the appendix, and call upon him to execute a counterpart thereof, which must be registered, and to pay for forest trees the sum assessed under Rule 14. Payment for these may be made by instalments with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, which will only be given when the Board is fully satisfied of the good faith and solvency of the applicant. In such case the dates and amounts of the instalments shall be endorsed upon the lease, and the lessee must covenant that, in the event of his throwing up his lease, all outstanding instalments shall be forthwith recoverable from him under the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880, whether the timber on the grant has been cut by him or not; but he shall have no further right to fell or remove timber from the grant. When granting the lease, the Deputy Commissioner will also direct the lessee to mark out the land leased by a continuous trench, or in such other manner as the Deputy Commissioner may direct. Within three months of the grant of such lease the lessee must, on pain of forfeiture of all rights in the land leased, mark out the land as above directed, and the surveyor must test the correctness of the boundary line and permanent marks, and report the result to the Deputy Commissioner, at the same time pointing out to the lessee or his representative by written notice any corrections that may be required. If the corrections indicated are not made by the lessee or his representative within thirty days of the receipt of such notice, all rights in the land shall be liable to forfeiture to Government.

* These boundary marks shall ordinarily consist of a masonry platform at every point where more than two lots or patches of waste or other lands meet, with large stones or mounds at every angle and at every 100 yards of boundary line between such platforms and other marks.

24. Whenever, after receipt of an application, as provided in Rule 3, and after making such enquiries as he may deem necessary, the Deputy Commissioner shall be of opinion that there is no prima facie objection whatever to the grant under the rules of the land applied for, he may put the

As proposed in 1886.

23. If the Deputy Commissioner grant the application, he will without delay grant the applicant a lease in form G of the appendix, and call upon him to execute a counterpart thereof, which must be registered, and to pay for forest trees the sum assessed under Rule 14. Payment for these may be made by instalments with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, which will only be given when the Board is fully satisfied of the good faith and solvency of the applicant. In such case the dates and amounts of the instalments shall be endorsed upon the lease, and the lessee must covenant that, in the event of his throwing up his lease, all outstanding instalments shall be forthwith recoverable from him under the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880, whether the timber on the grant has been cut by him or not; but he shall have no further right to fell or remove timber from the grant.

24. When granting the lease the Deputy Commissioner shall also direct the lessee to mark out the land leased, within three months of the granting of the lease, by a continuous trench, or by clearing the jungle for a breadth of at least twelve feet along the boundaries, or in such other manner as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, and by erecting boundary marks at the points indicated on the map.

These boundary marks may be of masonry, or of stone, or hollow iron telegraph posts filled with clay or shingle, as the Deputy Commissioner may direct; and he will decide on their shape and dimensions.

25. On the expiry of the three months, the surveyor shall test the correctness of the boundary lines and ascertain if the boundary marks have been erected and in their proper places, and report the result to the Deputy Commissioner, at the same time pointing out to the lessee or his representative, by written notice, any mistakes or omissions that may be found. If the mistakes or omissions are not rectified or supplied by the lessee or his representative within thirty days of the receipt of such notice, the lessee or his representative shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding Rs. 50 per day, from the date of the expiry of such notice till the requirements of the notice have been complied with. If at the expiration of thirty more days the mistakes and omissions are not rectified, the lessee's rights in the land will be liable to forfeiture.

26. Fines, cost of notices served, of clearing boundaries, of erecting or repairing boundary marks, or any other money that may become due from lessees to Government, shall be deemed to be a demand under the Bengal Council Act VII of 1880, or any other law that may be in force at the time, and shall be recoverable as such.

27. Whenever, after receipt of an application, as provided in Rule 3, and after making such enquiries as he may deem necessary, the Deputy Commissioner shall be of opinion that there is no prima facie objection whatever to the grant under the rules of the land applied for, he may put the applicant in preliminary and provisional possession of an area not exceeding one-eighth of the estimated area of the land applied for, with the object of enabling the applicant to make preparations for commencing cultivation and getting the land in order: provided that the applicant, before obtaining such preliminary possession, shall have erected such boundary marks as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, and that the amount of all estimated charges incurred in connection with such preliminary occupation shall have been deposited by the applicant: provided further that the applicant shall engage in writing to pay the cost of any trees felled, at such rate as may be determined by the Forest Department after inspection of the land under Rule 14.

25. The order for, and conditions of, such preliminary occupation shall be in the form H in the appendix, and shall be addressed to the tehsildar or other officer appointed by the Deputy Commissioner. A copy of the order shall be delivered to the applicant, who shall, after receipt of occupation, acknowledge such receipt by signing a copy of the order and depositing it with the Deputy Commissioner.

26. If after the survey an applicant shall fail to comply with any request of the Deputy Commissioner made in accordance with the rules, or fail to deposit any sums of money for which the applicant is liable under them, within two months, the application may be struck off.

27. Grantees are not permitted to club or amalgamate their grants otherwise than by transfers duly registered, as provided for in the preliminary lease. Any unauthorized amalgamation will subject the holders of the grants in question to forfeiture of all rights in the lands so amalgamated.

28. In the event of the amalgamation of two separate grants held by two different lessees for the purpose of forming an association, the fee of two annas per acre, prescribed under the conditions of the lease for registry of the transfer, shall be levied on the aggregate area of both grants.

As proposed in 1886.

applicant in preliminary and provisional possession of an area not exceeding one-eighth of the estimated area of the land applied for, with the object of enabling the applicant to make preparations for commencing cultivation and getting the land in order: provided that the applicant, before obtaining such preliminary possession, shall have cleared the boundaries, and erected such temporary boundary marks round the whole of the area applied for as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, and that the amount of all estimated charges incurred in connection with such preliminary occupation shall have been deposited by the applicant: provided further that the applicant shall engage in writing to pay the cost of any trees felled, at such rate as may be determined by the Forest Department after inspection of the land under Rule 14; and provided further that the applicant shall take on himself all risk of loss occasioned by other claims being preferred to the land, or by his application being eventually rejected, or from any other cause whatsoever.

28. The order for, and conditions of, such preliminary occupation shall be in the form H in the appendix, and shall be addressed to the tehsildar or other officer appointed by the Deputy Commissioner. A copy of the order shall be delivered to the applicant at the time of giving preliminary possession by the officer who gives it, the officer signing and dating it then and there. The original order addressed to the tehsildar or other officer shall be signed by the applicant on the date he receives it in acknowledgment thereof, and the tehsildar or other officer shall forward such original order, with his report written on the back of it, to the Deputy Commissioner, for record in his office.

29. If any transfer of an application for land is desired before the grant of the preliminary lease, and if such a transfer is allowed,* it must be registered within twenty-one days of the issue of the order allowing the transfer, and a registration fee of two annas an acre must be paid.

30. If after the survey an applicant shall fail to comply with any request of the Deputy Commissioner made in accordance with the rules, or fail to deposit any sums of money for which the applicant is liable under them, within two months, the application may be struck off.

31. Grantees are not permitted to club or amalgamate their grants otherwise than by sanctioned transfers duly registered, as provided for in the preliminary lease. Any unauthorized amalgamation will subject the holders of the grants in question to forfeiture of all rights in the lands so amalgamated.

32. In the event of the amalgamation of two separate grants held by two different lessees for the purpose of forming an association, or for any other purpose, the fee of two annas per acre, prescribed under the conditions of the lease for registry of the transfer, shall be levied on the aggregate area of both grants.

33. The lessee shall maintain the boundaries of the grant clear of jungle, and all the boundary marks in good repair. Where roads (kept clear of jungle) or streams do not form the boundaries, the lessee shall clear the boundaries of jungle at least once a year not later than the end of February in each year.

* No transfer will be allowed, for instance, when the proposed transferee already holds a Tea Lease Grant, 15 per cent. of the area of which does not yet contain growing tea-plants.

As settled in 1883.

29. The Deputy Commissioner should annually, or as often as possible, himself inspect, or cause to be inspected, the boundary lines and permanent marks referred to in Rule 23, and should he find any out of order, shall by letter instruct the lessee or his representative to place the same in order, and failing his doing so within thirty days of the receipt of the said letter, shall cause the same to be put in order, and shall recover from the lessee or his representative the cost of doing so, if need be, under the Public Demands Recovery Act.

As proposed in 1886.

34. The Deputy Commissioner should annually, or as often as possible, himself inspect, or cause to be inspected, the boundary lines and permanent marks referred to in Rule 24, and should he find any out of order, shall by letter instruct the lessee or his representative to place the same in order, and failing his doing so within thirty days of the receipt of the said letter, shall cause the same to be put in order, and shall recover from the lessee or his representative the cost of doing so, if need be, under the Public Demands Recovery Act.

35. If the lessee is at any time found, by survey or otherwise, to be in possession of land in excess of the acreage for which he has paid rent, he shall pay rent at the rates payable by him for the grant itself for such excess land, whether it be within or without the boundaries described in the lease or map, from one year after the date he received possession (preliminary or otherwise) of the grant, or any portion of it, unless it is established to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner that no possession of the excess land was taken until after the grant of the renewed lease, in which case rent shall be payable from the date of the expiration of the preliminary lease. Provided that such unauthorized occupation of excess land, and payment of rent for it, shall give the trespasser no right to continued occupation, and the Deputy Commissioner shall be entitled, if he thinks fit to do so, to recover possession of the excess lands.

North.—

East.—

South.—

West.—

Their area is more or less acres, and they are situated in the pergunnahs and tahsils detailed in the margin.

If the lessee is found by survey or otherwise to be in possession of land in excess of the acreage herein declared, he shall pay rent for such excess land within or without the boundaries above described from the date of occupation at the rates entered in clause 2.

2. The rights conveyed by this lease are heritable and also transferable: provided (a) that the entire grant, and not a portion of it, be transferred; (b) that the clearance conditions are duly observed by the transferor and transferee respectively; (c) that the transfer is registered in the Deputy Commissioner's office within twenty-one days of the date thereof, or within three months if the deed be executed out of India; and (d) that a registration fee of two annas per acre be paid to the Deputy Commissioner on the occasion of every such transfer. If any transfer of the rights conveyed by this lease is made otherwise than in accordance with the foregoing provisions and the rules,† all rights in the land leased shall be liable to be forfeited to Government. If any transfer not registered within the prescribed time is allowed by the Deputy Commissioner, a fine for the delay in registration, not exceeding one anna for every acre for every month of such delay, or any lesser sum, shall be payable* by the transferee at the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner.

After the expiry of this preliminary lease, no right shall be claimed otherwise than as expressly provided for hereinafter.

3. The rent to be paid shall be as follows:—

Year of entry (i.e. from actual date of entry to 31st March following).	...	Nil.

In Julpigoree.

1st September	...	One-half.
1st March	...	"

In Darjeeling.

The rent shall be paid to the Deputy Commissioner in the following instalments:—

On or before 28th June	...	One-half.
" " 12th January	...	"

4. The lessee shall either himself reside on or near to the lands covered by this lease, or he shall appoint a manager or agent who shall reside on or near to such lands, and who shall be provided with a full legal power to act on behalf of the principal in all matters arising out of or concerning the lands covered by the lease.

5. The lessee binds himself to conform to all the provisions of the rules for the grant of tea leases under which this lease is granted.

* NOTE.—A shareholder in a registered Joint-Stock Company may transfer his shares, or any part of them, without paying any fee under this rule. A partner in any other form of company or association may transfer his interest, or any part of it, but in that case the transfer must be registered under this rule, and a fee paid which shall bear to the maximum fee payable on transfer of the entire grant the ratio that the interest transferred bears to the sum of all the interests of the partners in the grant.

† For instance, a transfer to the holder of a tea lease for another grant of 500 acres, fifteen per cent. of which is not under tea plants, would be a violation of Rules 7 and 8.

6. Five per cent. of the area of the land leased shall be cleared by the end of the second year after the grant of this lease, and 10 per cent. by the end of the third year.

7. Any land covered by the lease which may at any time be required for a public purpose may be taken up by Government free of cost on a reduction being made in the rent payable under the lease, proportionate to the area taken by Government for the class of land taken. But the value of any improvements or property thereon shall be paid to the lessee, and shall be assessed under the provision of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

8. All rights to minerals or quarries of all kinds are reserved to Government, together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting, and carrying away such minerals.

9. No right of fishery, and no right to dam up or otherwise obstruct the passage of any stream, is given by this lease. A public right of way over twenty yards on either bank of every stream, however much the bank may shift by action of the stream or otherwise, available at any time of the year for local boat traffic, is reserved.

Public access shall be allowed at all times to any springs of water on the lands leased, whenever such access is, in the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner, necessary for the convenient supply of good water to persons residing in the vicinity; and the lessee is bound not to injure the springs, or allow others to do so.

10. Standing timber must be paid for at the average rate per acre intimated to the lessees by the Deputy Commissioner before possession is given under this lease, unless, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, payment by instalments has been allowed. In the latter case, payment must be made according to the schedule of instalments endorsed upon the lease. In the event of the lessee throwing up the lease while any instalments due to Government on account of timber are unpaid, the lessee hereby agrees that all such instalments shall forthwith become due and be recoverable from him under the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880, whether all the timber on the grant has been cut by him or not. But he shall have no right of any kind over any timber on the grant, cut or uncut, after the date of his so throwing up the lease.

11. Whenever on an inspection being made the boundary lines and marks referred to in Rule 23 are found to be out of order, the lessee shall be bound to put them in order at his own expense on receipt of a requisition to that effect from the Deputy Commissioner. Should the lessee fail to do so within thirty days from the receipt of the requisition, the Deputy Commissioner shall cause it to be done, and if the lessee fails to pay, the Deputy Commissioner shall be entitled to recover from the lessee, under the Public Demands Recovery Act, all costs incurred in doing so.

12. The lessee shall be bound to furnish the Deputy Commissioner with information as to the births and deaths of residents in his tea garden, and as to progress and outturn thereof, in such form as may be approved by Government.

13. After the expiration of the second, third, and fifth year of the lease, the Deputy Commissioner, or any officer appointed by him, shall enter on, inspect, and measure the areas cleared and under cultivation, and the lessee may at any time demand that such inspection and measurement be made. The expenses of any such inspections and measurements as are made before the due date on demand of the lessee (but of no others) shall be paid by the lessee as rent due. The Deputy Commissioner may at other times enter on, inspect, and measure the area under cultivation. If on any inspection being made during the first five years of this lease, or if on the first inspection being made after the five years, it is found that 15 per cent. of the total area held under the lease has been brought under cultivation by means of good husbandry, and actually bears tea plants, the lessee shall be entitled to the renewal of the lease for a further period of thirty years, and to renewals for similar periods in perpetuity, subject to the rules and the terms and conditions of renewed leases.

14. If, by the end of the fifth year after the grant of this preliminary lease, less than 15 per cent. of the total area held under it has been brought under cultivation by means of good husbandry, and less than 15 per cent. actually bears tea plants, the land may be resumed, or on the application in writing of the lessee, he may be allowed to hold on from year to year as a tenant-at-will for three more years, if he agrees in writing to pay rent at double the rates for which he would have been liable if he had complied with the condition about bringing 15 per cent. under tea cultivation. On the application of the lessee an inspection and measurement shall be made as soon as convenient after the expiration of any one of the three years, and the Deputy Commissioner may make such inspection and measurement of his own accord after the expiration of the third year. If after any such inspection and measurement it is found that 15 per cent. of the area bears tea plants, a renewed lease shall be granted on the terms that would have been in force if the condition had been complied with by the end of the fifth year. At the expiration of the three years all rights in the lands leased will lapse to Government, if 15 per cent. of the area does not then bear tea plants. The cost of all inspections and measurements made during the three years' grace shall be paid by the lessee.

15. All expenses connected with inspections and measurements, for which the lessee is liable under these rules, shall be recoverable under the Public Demands Recovery Act.

16. The rights and privileges conveyed by this lease, and by any renewed lease granted in accordance with its provisions, shall be liable to be forfeited on failure of the lessee to comply with any condition thereof.

TEA LEASE RULES.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF RENEWED LEASES.

1. Subject to any general or special orders of Government, the rent to be paid on the renewal of the lease for a term of thirty years shall be fixed by the Board of Revenue on the report of the Deputy Commissioner on each occasion of renewal, but shall not exceed the rate* of rent per acre paid in the neighbourhood at the time of renewal for the highest class of lands under ordinary cultivation.

Provided that in no case shall the total rent payable under the renewed lease be less than twelve annas an acre on the entire area of the land leased.

If at any future time the administration of the tracts under tea cultivation should entail on the State any considerable increase of expenditure, it will be competent to the Government, with the sanction of the legislature, to impose such special taxation as may be deemed necessary, either by raising the rent or in some other mode. But under no other circumstances will the rent, which has been fixed for a term of years on the principle above enunciated, be raised during the currency of such term.

Lands actually planted with tea in the Dooars will for the present be assessed at the rate fixed for roopit land in the pergunnah wherein they lie. Waste lands will be assessed at six annas an acre in all pergunnahs, and the rest of the lands in each grant will pay the pergunnah rate of bastoo, bamboo, roopit, and faringhatta according to the area of the land answering to each of these descriptions that may be found in the grant.

In the case of the tract of Daling transferred to the Julpigoree district by Government notification, dated 9th January 1882, the rates to be imposed will, for the present, be those paid for similar lands in the adjoining pergunnah of the Dooars, on the principle just stated, waste lands paying six annas an acre.

The rate to be charged for the present in the case of lands in the Darjeeling hills is a single uniform rate of one rupee an acre for all the lands in the grant.

2. Where half the area of the grant has not been brought under cultivation during the term of the preliminary lease, as required by that lease, the renewed lease shall ordinarily include an area of waste land equal to the extent of land brought under cultivation during the currency of the preliminary lease. It will be in the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner, subject to the supervision of the Commissioner, to grant or refuse renewal of the lease in such cases, and also to include, if necessary, a larger area of waste, so as to make the grant under the renewed lease equal to the whole area granted under the preliminary lease. In the exercise of this discretion, the Deputy Commissioner should be guided by the consideration whether the excess waste is likely to be separately taken up by other applicants or not. If it is likely to be so taken up, he should settle it separately; if it is likely to remain on the hands of Government, he should include it in the new lease.

3. When extra waste land is included in the lease under these orders, such portion of it as ought to have been brought under cultivation during the preliminary lease will be assessed at the rate prescribed for cultivated land, and not at the rate of waste land.

4. The title conveyed by the renewed lease shall be heritable and transferable, provided that the prior sanction of the Commissioner of the division be procured to the transfer of any portion of the grant less than the whole, and that no transfer shall be valid as against the Government, but shall, on the contrary, be equivalent to a surrender of the lease, unless notification of the transfer shall have been given by the transferee to the Deputy Commissioner within twenty-one days of the date thereof, or within three months if the deed be executed out of India, together with a registration fee of two annas per acre of the area leased.

5. In other respects the condition of the renewed lease will be the same as those of clauses 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, and 16 of the preliminary lease.

RULES FOR THE GRANT OF ORDINARY LEASES OF ARABLE LAND IN THE WESTERN DOOARS.

PART I.

1. The lands that will be generally available under these rules lie within that tract of country in the Western Dooars which extends in an easterly direction from the east bank of the river Teesta to the west bank of the river Sankos.

What lands will not ordinarily be available. 2. The following lands will not ordinarily be available under these rules:—

(a). Lands which by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette are held to constitute a reserve for the supply of timber, fuel, grazing, or any other article of general and public consumption.

(b). Lands not included in the above category, but which now bear India-rubber trees or other valuable timber (such as sál, khair, chelownee, sissoo, &c.), in considerable quantities in compact blocks or patches.

(c). Lands in respect of which any person or persons or any village community possess rights of occupancy, or such other rights or privileges as would, in the opinion of the Local Government, render it impolitic or unadvisable to grant such lands to any other person or persons.

(d). Lands lying within a distance of 60 feet on either side from the centre of any public road or thoroughfare, provided that such road or thoroughfare shall have been constructed or shall be kept in repair from public funds.

(e). Lands which the Local Government may at any time, by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette, expressly exempt from the operation of these rules.

3. Every person desirous of obtaining a grant of land under these rules shall, in person, present an application on stamped paper of the value of eight annas to the tehsildar of the tehsil in which the land lies.

What the application is to specify. 4. The application shall specify—

(a) The name, father's name, and address of the applicant.

(b) The area, situation, and boundaries of the land applied for, as far as they can be ascertained without a detailed survey.

(c) A statement of the particulars, if any, which may appear to the applicant to bring the land applied for, or any part of it, within the exceptions mentioned in rule 2. The application shall also state whether the land or any part of it is, or has ever been, cultivated in any manner.

5. Every lot applied for shall be compact and capable of being enclosed in a ring-fence; and if any part of the land touches on a public road or navigable river, the length of such road or river frontage shall not exceed one-half the breadth of the lot applied for.

6. No application in respect of an area greater than 200 acres or less than 10 acres, and not more than this quantity of land, shall be granted under these rules to any one lessee. The Deputy Commissioner may, with the sanction of the Commissioner, grant a larger area than 200 acres, except in cases coming under clause 13 of the Preliminary Lease. In every case it shall be the duty of the tehsildar to satisfy himself that the applicant is possessed of sufficient means to cultivate the area applied for. Should the tehsildar be of opinion that a smaller area than that applied for should be granted, he will refer the point to the Deputy Commissioner for final orders.

6. No application for an area exceeding 200 acres or less than 10 acres shall be registered, nor shall a larger area than 200 acres be granted to any one lessee without the previous sanction of the Commissioner. In every case it shall be the duty of the tehsildar to satisfy himself that the applicant is possessed of sufficient means to cultivate the area applied for. 7. The tehsildar shall require the applicant to pay in a sum of three annas an acre on the area applied for to cover cost of survey and enquiry. No further sum shall be required except the actual cost of the work described in Rule 9, and no refund will be made.

8. The tehsildar shall then in person, or by an ameen, inspect the land and ascertain whether it is khas land and available under the above rules; and if it appear to be so, the ameen shall proceed to lay down the boundary and make a survey as follows.

9. The ameen shall fix the boundary, in accordance with the Rules 5 and 6, as indicated by the applicant, and shall then clear it from end to end, and afterwards survey it with compass and chain, placing mounds of earth or stone not less than waist-high at every angle and at every point where more than two lots or patches of waste or other properties meet. One mound shall be not less than six feet high, and shall be marked on the map as the base mark, two bearings of which, or bearing and distance of which from good points of reference, shall be recorded on the map.

10. The ameen shall prepare a map which shall show—

(a) All natural features of the country lying within or on the boundaries fixed, such as streams, or the edge of forests, and also public pathways.

(b) Such features of the country lying outside the boundary as may serve to identify the land and connect it with the revenue survey or with any other map made of other lands in the neighbourhood.

11. The map shall ordinarily be on the scale of 16 inches to the mile. If possible, the field-book shall be copied on the back of it. If not, a copy of the field-book shall be attached to or accompany the map. In submitting his report, the ameen shall state whether he had a clear line for his compass from end to end of the boundary, and whether the mounds are erected as ordered.

12. The tehsildar shall then report the case to the Deputy Commissioner or Sub-Divisional Officer according to the tehsil in which the land lies, stating whether he is satisfied that the ameen's work has been properly done, and giving any further information which may be required.

13. The Deputy Commissioner or Sub-Divisional Officer aforesaid shall consider the report, and finally pass orders granting or refusing a lease.

14. The order on the case and on any objection decided on by the Deputy Commissioner or Sub-Divisional Officer shall be appealable to the Commissioner within one month.

15. 16. The Deputy Commissioner may in special cases of leases of 200 acres or less, and in all cases of leases of greater area, alter the terms of the lease so as to allow a lessee to manage his land by an authorised agent. In such case the agent must reside on or near to the land, and be provided with full legal power to act on behalf of the principal in all matters arising out of the land.

17. If the lessee is at any time found by survey or otherwise to be in possession of land in excess of the acreage for which he has paid rent, he shall pay rent at the rates payable by him for the grant itself for such excess land, whether it be within or without the boundaries described in the lease or map, from one year after the date he received possession (preliminary or otherwise) of the grant, or any portion of it, unless it is established to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner that no possession of the excess land was taken until after the grant of the renewed lease, in which case rent shall be payable from the date of the expiration of the preliminary lease. Provided that such unauthorised occupation of excess land and payment of rent for it shall give the trespasser no right to continued occupation, and the Deputy Commissioner shall be entitled, if he thinks fit to do so, to recover possession of the excess land.

18. If any transfer of an application for land is desired before the grant of the preliminary lease, and if such a transfer is allowed,* it must be registered within twenty-one days of the issue of the order allowing the transfer, and a registration fee of two annas an acre must be paid.

The Deputy Commissioner may at any time, and shall as soon as possible after the expiration of the lease, enter on, inspect, or measure the area under cultivation, and the lessee may at any time demand that such measurement be made. Provided that the cost of any such inspection or measurement as may be made before the expiration of the lease on demand of the lessee shall be paid by him as rent due. If after such inspection by any officer deputed for the purpose it shall appear that one-half of the total area held under the lease is occupied by homesteads or is cultivated, or left fallow, according to good husbandry or otherwise fairly turned to account for agricultural purposes, the lessee shall be entitled to renewal of this lease for such further period as shall coincide with the termination of the settlement period then current, and thereafter to renewal for the period of each fresh settlement of the taluk, subject always to the following conditions:—

(a) The rent to be paid shall be fixed by the Deputy Commissioner on the order of Government on each occasion of renewal, but without the special order of Government shall not exceed double the rent previously paid.

(b) The title conveyed by the renewed lease shall be heritable and transferable, provided that no transfer shall be made of less than the whole, and that no transfer shall be valid as against the Government, but shall, on the contrary, be equivalent to a surrender of the lease, unless notification of the transfer shall have been given by the transferee to the Deputy Commissioner at the time of transfer together, with a fee of two annas per acre of the area leased.

(c) In all other respects the conditions of the renewed lease shall be the same as those of the preliminary lease.

(d) Should the cultivated, fallow, and other land otherwise fairly turned to account be found on inspection and measurement to be less than one-half of the total area held under the lease, the whole or such portion of the said area as the Deputy Commissioner may decide, shall be liable to be resumed.

(c) Should the cultivated, fallow, and other land otherwise fairly turned to account be found on inspection and measurement to be less than one-half of the total area held under the lease, the whole of the waste land, or such portion of it as the Deputy Commissioner may decide not exceeding half of the entire acreage of the jote, shall be liable to be resumed.

If the Deputy Commissioner grants under such circumstances a renewed lease to include an area of waste land in excess of the area brought under cultivation during the currency of the preliminary lease, then such excess area of waste lands will be assessed at the rates prescribed for cultivated lands.

9. The rights and privileges conveyed by this lease, and by any renewed lease granted in accordance with its provisions, shall be liable to be forfeited on failure of the lessee to comply with any condition thereof.

10. If before the expiration of this preliminary lease, no application for a renewal of the lease shall have been made in accordance with the above provisions, the lessee may be allowed to hold as a tenant-at-will, but not, otherwise, until other arrangements may have been made by the Deputy Commissioner.

11. The lessee may sublet any part of the land covered by this lease on such terms as he pleases, provided that he gives the same promise of renewal of the tenure to his sub-tenant on condition of bringing his land into cultivation as is given to himself by this lease. The rent to be paid on renewal shall be determined on the application of either party by the Deputy Commissioner, who has the power to fix equitable rates of rent as he has, under sections 76 to 79 of Act X of 1859, to fix terms of pottah.

12. No sub-tenant under the lessee shall sublet any part of his land on pain of forfeiture of his tenure; but this rule and the last shall not be held to prevent the employment of adhairs, projahs, and other labourers supplied with seed and paid by giving them half the crop. The Government reserve power to make rules to be observed by the lessee and his tenants for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this and the last preceding clause, and the lessee agrees to abide by such rules when published for general observance, and to hold the land subject to such rules.

13. Tea may not be cultivated on the area covered by this lease if that area exceeds 200 acres.

14. No clubbing or amalgamation of grants is allowed, and all land bearing tea will be forfeited to Government if more than one grant becomes the property of the same owner.

11. The lessee may sublet any part of the land covered by this lease on such terms as he pleases, provided that he gives the same promise of renewal of the tenure to his sub-tenant on condition of bringing his land into cultivation as is given to himself by this lease. The rent to be paid on renewal shall not be more than 50 per cent. in excess of the rent paid by the lessee to Government for the area leased.

12. No sub-tenant under the lessee shall sublet any part of his land on pain of forfeiture of his tenure; but this rule and the last shall not be held to prevent the employment of adhairs, projahs, and other labourers supplied with seed and paid by giving them half the crop. If a sub-tenant under the lessee sublets any of his land, no suit or proceeding for the recovery of rent in money or kind on his part shall lie in any court. The Government reserve power to make rules to be observed by the lessee and his tenants for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this and the last preceding clause; and the lessee agrees to abide by such rules when published for general observance, and to hold the land subject to such rules on pain of forfeiture.

14. No clubbing or amalgamation of grant is allowed, and all land bearing tea will be forfeited to Government if more than one grant becomes the property of the same owner, except by inheritance.

Terms and conditions of renewed leases of arable lands.

PART II.

1. Subject to any general or special orders of Government, the rent to be paid on the renewal of the lease shall be fixed by the Board of Revenue on the report of the Deputy Commissioner and Commissioner on each occasion of renewal, but shall not exceed the rates of rent per acre paid in the neighbourhood at the time* of renewal for the different classes of lands included in the lease.

* The rates per acre paid at present in the Western Doars are as follows:—

DESCRIPTION of SOIL.	In Ambaree, Fallacottah, Chongmaree, Moraghat, and North Mynagoree.	In Lukhoopore and West Madaree.	In East Madaree and Chukwakatee.
	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
Baston and bamboo	2 0 0	1 12 0	1 8 0
Koojit	1 8 0	1 4 0	1 3 0
Farringhatta	1 2 0	0 12 0	0 9 0
Waste	0 3 0	0 3 0	0 3 0

2. The term of every renewed lease shall coincide with the unexpired period of the then current settlement in the pergunnah in which the lands are situated.

3. The title conveyed by the renewed lease shall be heritable and transferable, provided that the whole, and not a part, of the grant be transferred, and that no transfer shall be valid as against the Government, but shall, on the contrary, be equivalent to a surrender of the lease, unless notification of the transfer shall have been given and the transfer registered in the Deputy Commissioner's office within twenty-one days of the transfer, or within three months, if the deed of transfer be executed out of India; and that a registration fee of two annas per acre on the area transferred be paid to the Deputy Commissioner on the occasion of every such transfer.

4. Where half the area of the grant has not been brought under cultivation during the term of the preliminary lease, as required by that lease, the renewed lease shall ordinarily include an area of waste land equal to the extent of land brought under cultivation during the currency of the preliminary lease. It will be in the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner, subject to the supervision of the Commissioner, to grant or refuse renewal of the lease in such cases, and also to include, if necessary, a larger area of waste, so as to make the grant under the renewed lease equal to the whole area granted under the preliminary lease. In the exercise of this discretion, the Deputy Commissioner should be guided by the consideration whether the excess waste is likely to be separately taken up by other applicants or not. If it is likely to be so taken up, he should settle it separately; if it is likely to remain on the hands of Government, he should include it in the new lease.

5. When extra waste land is included in the lease under these orders, such portion of it as ought to have been brought under cultivation during the preliminary lease will be assessed at the rate prescribed for cultivated land, and not at the rate of waste land. Unless this condition is insisted upon, it is probable that lessees will neglect cultivation during the term of the preliminary lease, in the hope of getting a renewal of their tenure at lower rates.

6. The Deputy Commissioner may, in special cases of leases of 200 acres or less, and in all cases of leases of greater area, alter the terms of the lease so as to allow a lessee to manage his land by an authorised agent. In such cases the agent must reside on or near to the land, and be provided with full legal power to act on behalf of the principal in all matters arising out of the land.

7. In other respects the conditions of the renewed lease will be the same as those of clauses 3, 4, 5, 6, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14 of the preliminary lease.

*Form of Renewed Lease of arable waste lands in quent to such survey. All disputes to be decided on this basis by the Deputy Commissioner, subject to an appeal, to be preferred within 30 days, able and also transferable, provided (a) that the entire grant, and not a portion of it, be transferred; (b) that the transfer is registered in the Deputy Commissioner's office within 21 days of the date thereof, or three months of the final execution, if the deed of transfer take place out of India; and (c) that a registration fee of 2 sioner on the occasion of every such transfer.

5. Any land covered by the lease which may at any time be required for a public purpose may be taken up by Government free of cost on a deduction being made in the rent payable under the lease proportionate to the area taken by Government. But the value of any improvements or property thereon shall be paid to the lessee, and shall be assessed under the provision of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of the land for public purposes.

6. All rights to minerals or quarries of all kinds are reserved to Government, together with such rights-of-way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting out, and carrying away such minerals.

7. No right of fishery and no right to dam up or otherwise obstruct the passage of any streams is given by this lease. A public right-of-way over twenty yards on either bank of every stream, available at any time of the year for local boat traffic, is reserved. Public access shall be allowed at all times to any springs of water on the lands leased, whenever such access is, in the opinion of the tehsildar or the Deputy Commissioner, necessary for the convenient supply of good water to persons residing in the vicinity.

8. This lease shall be renewable on a rent the rates of which, subject to any general or special orders of Government, shall be fixed by the Board of Revenue on the report of the Deputy Commissioner on each occasion of renewal, but shall not exceed the rates of rent per acre paid in the neighbourhood at the time of renewal for the different classes of lands covered by the lease. Provided that in no case shall the total rent payable under the renewed lease be less than eight annas an acre for the entire area leased.

9. The rights and privileges conveyed by this lease, and by any renewed lease granted in accordance with its provisions, shall be liable to be forfeited on failure of the lessee to comply with any condition thereof.

10. If before the expiration of this lease no application for a renewal of the lease shall have been made, the lessee may be allowed to hold on as a tenant-at-will, but not otherwise, until other arrangements may have been made by the Deputy Commissioner.

11. The lessee may sublet any part of the land covered by this lease on such terms as he pleases, provided that he gives the same promise of the renewal of the tenure to his sub-tenant as is given to himself by this lease. The rent to be paid on renewal shall not be more than 50 per cent. in excess of the rent paid by the lessee to Government for the area leased.

12. No sub-tenant under the lessee shall sublet any part of his land on pain of forfeiture of his tenure; but this rule and the last shall not be held to prevent the employment of adhairs, projahs and other labourers supplied with seed and paid by giving them half the crop. If a sub-tenant under the lessee sublets any of his land, no suit or proceeding for the recovery of rent in money or kind on his part shall lie in any court. The Government reserve power to make rules to be observed by the lessee and his tenants for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this and the last preceding clause; and the lessee agrees to abide by such rules when published for general observance, and to hold the land subject to such rules, on pain of forfeiture.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin,

DEPOSIT.
When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 800 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bond fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agent's opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazepore Factory for the year 1885-86, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazepore Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

[This examination is accepted (a) by the College of Surgeons, (b) by the Incorporated Law Society, in lieu of their Preliminary Examinations. It also exempts candidates for admission to the Royal Military College from the Preliminary Test, except in Geometrical Drawing. And it is among those examinations of which some one must be passed (1) by every medical student on commencing his professional studies; and (2) by every person entering upon Articles of Clerkship to a solicitor,—any such person who may have Matriculated in the Honours or in the First Division being entitled to exemption from one year's service.]

[This and all other examinations of the University, together with the Prizes, Exhibitions, Scholarships, and Medals depending upon them, are open to women upon exactly the same conditions as to men.]

There shall be two examinations for MATRICULATION in each year; one commencing on the Second Monday in January, and the other on the Third Monday in June.¹

No candidate shall be admitted to the MATRICULATION EXAMINATION unless he have produced a certificate showing that he has completed his sixteenth year.² This certificate shall be transmitted to the Registrar at least one calendar month before the commencement of the Examination.

² Certificates are generally ready for issue about a month after the publication of the Classified Pass-List of each Examination; and, in the absence of any request to the contrary, they will be posted to the addresses given by the Candidates on their Schedules of Entry.

³ By the term "Academical Year" is ordinarily meant the period intervening between any Examination and an Examination of a higher grade in the following year, which period may be either more or less than a Calendar Year. Thus the interval between the Intermediate Examinations in Arts, Science, and Medicine and the Degree Examinations of the next year in those Faculties respectively, is about sixteen months; whilst the interval between the B.A. Examination and the M.A. Examination of the next year, or between the B.Sc. Examination and the D.Sc. Examination of the next year, is less than eight months. Nevertheless, each of these intervals is counted as an "Academical Year."

Under the same circumstances, the Fourth among such Candidates shall receive a prize to the value of Ten Pounds in Books, Philosophical Instruments, or Money; and the Fifth and Sixth shall each receive a Prize to the value of Five Pounds in Books, Philosophical Instruments, or Money.

Any Candidate who may obtain a place in the Honours Division at the MATRICULATION EXAMINATION in January shall be admissible to the INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATION either in ARTS or in SCIENCE in the following July.

I.—PROVINCIAL EXAMINATIONS.

Candidates who have previously presented themselves at the Examination must state that fact upon again applying for admission, but need not produce their Certificates of age a second time.

Application should not be made earlier than eight weeks, and must not be made later than a month, before the commencement of the Examination.

The age of a Candidate with regard to entry is reckoned up to and inclusive of the first day of the several Examinations, that day being computed to fall as late as the Regulations will possibly allow. The two dates, in the case of the Matriculation Examinations, are January 14th and June 21st. The Alphabetical Pass-List is sent, when ready, to every College or School from which any Candidate (whether successful or not) has immediately proceeded to the Matriculation Examination.

The Classified List is sent, when ready, to every College or School from which a successful Candidate has immediately proceeded. It is also widely circulated among the leading Newspapers of the United Kingdom.

THE following report on the working of the Fire-Brigade for the year 1885-86 is published for general information.

COLMAN MAHAULAY,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

The 25th November 1886:

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE FIRE-BRIGADE IN THE MUNICIPALITIES OF CALCUTTA, THE SUBURBS, AND HOWRAH.

No. 5883, dated Calcutta, the 12th November 1886.

From—The Hon'ble H. L. HARRISON, Commissioner of Police, Calcutta,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Dept.

I HAVE the honour to submit the report regarding the working of the Fire-Brigade for the year 1885-86, as required by section 30, Act IV (B.C.) of 1883.

2. The Brigade was in attendance at 43 fires during the year—nine in the Town, seventeen in the Suburbs, sixteen in Howrah, and one in the jurisdiction of the 24-Bergunnahs. The loss of property was estimated at Rs. 1,54,094. In the Town there were two serious fires: one on board the ship J. W. Parker, on the 18th February 1886, in which the cargo of jute and shellac caught fire, and damage to the extent of Rs. 1,00,000 was sustained; the other on the 23rd March 1886 in the Jorabagan section, in which a range of godowns stacked with loose jute, worth Rs. 30,000, was destroyed. In the Suburbs the fires were mostly confined to thatched houses and straw-stacks, and were most prevalent in the months of April and May. No fire of any importance occurred during the year. The fires in Howrah were petty, the loss averaging about Rs. 61 per fire.

3. Only one fire was attended with loss of life. On board the ship J. W. Parker, the seaman who first discovered the fire in the forehold was suffocated by the smoke before he could reach the deck. Efforts were made by his shipmates to rescue him, but were unavailing.

4. The destruction of property was not equal to that sustained in former years.

5. Out of the 43 fires attended by the Fire-Brigade, it is noteworthy that only one occurred in a jute warehouse, one occurred in a godown stored with jute, and one in a ship laden with jute.

6. A memorandum of fires is enclosed.

7. I annex a statement showing the receipts and the expenditure in respect thereof.

8. Under section 23 of the Act, only three prosecutions were instituted during the year and convictions were obtained in each case; but only one fine has as yet been received from the Magistrate, which is shown under the head of fines.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the same period for the years 1871 to 1885. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The mean of the district readings in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 26th November 1886.

The variations are negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The amount represents the part of the sky covered, the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head "District observations of rainfall" the normal means the means of the district are the numerical averages of the rainfall returned in the district, i.e., from the total rainfall at the sub-division.

CALCUTTA, the 30th November 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 26TH OF NOVEMBER 1886.

The weather in the Province of Bengal, during the greater part of the past week, was largely influenced and modified by a cyclonic storm which began to form in the Bay of Bengal on the 16th near the Andamans and Diamond Island, and advanced across the Bay in a west-north-westerly direction to the west of the North Circars. This storm hence originated in the same part of the Bay as the cyclone which passed over Madras during the second week of the present month. The first indications of the commencement of stormy weather were shown by a slight increase of the velocity of the wind, and by the occurrence of distant thunder and lightning to the south, at Diamond Island on the 16th. The winds increased rapidly in force at that station until the morning of the 20th, when they were blowing at the rate of 32 miles per hour. During this period the weather almost certainly became more and more stormy, and squalls of wind and rain more frequent and severe. It is, however, doubtful whether there was a single centre of wind convergence, such as is characteristic of the more intense and dangerous cyclonic storms of the Bay, until the afternoon of the 20th or morning of the 21st. It is almost certain, judging from the land observations, that the storm did not commence its march across the Bay until the evening of the 20th or morning of the 21st. The centre was probably in about latitude 16°N and longitude 89°E on the 22nd at 10 A.M. The storm apparently increased in intensity during that day, and also, but to a less degree, in extent. The rate of motion was about 12 miles per hour, as the centre on the 23rd at 10 A.M. was probably in latitude $16\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}\text{N}$ and longitude $84\frac{1}{4}^{\circ}\text{E}$. The logs of two steamers which passed through the cyclone on this day (the Melpomene and the Nur Jehan) have been received in the Meteorological Office. They show that the storm was of small extent, but that the gradients near the centre were very great, and the winds of hurricane force. The Nur Jehan passed through the central calm area. The barometer on board that steamer fell very little until two hours before the centre passed over her, and in that short interval it fell very nearly an inch (from $29.98''$ to $29.03''$). The lowest reading of the barometer on board the Nur Jehan, corrected to the Calcutta standard, is $28.79''$, so that at the centre the barometric height was $1.25''$ lower than the normal barometric height of the period. The inner storm area, characterized by rapid fall of barometer in the direction of the centre, was hence almost certainly not more than 50 or 60 miles in diameter. These facts and inferences are fully confirmed by the observations taken on board the Melpomene. The storm hence seems to have been of the same type as the remarkable False Point cyclone of September 1885, but of course much less intense. The storm produced a very heavy swell on the north-west coast for some time previously to its reaching the coast. On the other hand, the indications of the barometer at the coast stations were very slight until the inner storm area touched the coast, and up to that period the winds were also unusually light and variable. The centre struck the coast near Vizagapatam about midnight. Very violent winds prevailed for some hours in the west coast districts from Gopalpore to Coconada, and over the greater part of this area very heavy rain fell. The storm appears to have been almost entirely confined to the lower atmospheric strata, as it was not able to surmount the Eastern Ghats of the Northern Circars. The intense localized cyclonic disturbance hence broke up on the morning of the 24th, but gave rise to a slight disturbance of a diffused character in Orissa, South Behar and Chutia Nagpur on the 25th and 26th. The barometer over the province had risen steadily from the 18th to the morning of the 23rd by amounts which averaged $.2''$ for the whole province, and was then upwards of a tenth of an inch above the normal. The return swing of the barometric movement (doubtless due in part to ascensional air movement) preceded by a few hours the arrival of the storm on the west coast. The slight indraught to the diffused disturbance increased the ascensional movement and supplied aqueous vapour. Cloud hence formed over the greater part of the province and fairly general rain fell in moderate amounts on the 25th and 26th in Chutia Nagpur and South Behar. Orissa received moderately heavy general rain on the 23rd as a direct result of the approach of the cyclone, and showers on the 24th and 25th. The latter half of the week, that is from the 23rd, was hence characterized by the suspension of the ordinary cold-weather conditions over the whole of the province. The air was much moister, the temperature, more especially at night, was very considerably above the average, winds were abnormal in direction, and moderately heavy rain fell at a very unusual time of the year in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur.

It has been already noted that the barometer rose steadily in all parts of the province until the morning of the 23rd. The rise was greatest in Behar, averaging $.23''$, and least in East Bengal ($.18''$). The barometer fell until the 25th in Behar and the 26th in South Bengal. The movements of the barometer during this interval were very irregular in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur. The fall from the 23rd to the 25th or 26th slightly exceeded $.1''$ at one or two stations. The mean pressure of the week is in excess for all divisions except Orissa. The excess averages $.06''$ for North Behar, $.05''$ for East Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, and $.02''$ for South Behar and South-West Bengal.

The temperature of the air during the first three days of the week was approximately normal. The approach of the storm to the coast was followed by a rapid rise of temperature in the coast districts of Orissa and Bengal on the 23rd, which extended to the interior on the 24th. This was chiefly shewn in the night temperature, which increased from 5° to 10° over the central and western districts of the province. The following data for eight representative stations show the variation of the mean maximum day and minimum night temperatures from the normal in various parts of the province :—

	Normal mean maximum temperature for the week ending 26th November.	Actual mean maximum temperature for the week ending 26th November 1886.	Variation of actual from normal. The mean temperature of the province for the week was 3½° above the normal mean. The excess slightly exceeded 4° in South Behar and South-West Bengal.

The normal rainfall of the week is practically nil in all parts of the province except Orissa and East Bengal, the averages for which are one-tenth and two-tenths of an inch respectively. Orissa received an average fall during the week of 1.22 inches, Chutia Nagpur, six-tenths of an inch, and South Behar one-quarter of an inch. The largest amounts were recorded in the Pooree, Cuttack, and Hazaribagh districts, where the average fall of the week varied from one inch to one and a half inches. A few light showers were received in the Maldah, Dinagepore, and Rungpore districts on the 26th. No rain fell in South-West and East Bengal, North Behar, and the greater part of North Bengal, during the week.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 26th of November 1886 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.
The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

NOTIFICATION.

The 30th November 1886.—The following draft of revised rules for the grant of leases of lands for tea cultivation in Julpigoree and Darjeeling, and of arable lands in the former district, is published for general information; and it is hereby notified that the draft will be taken into consideration by the Government of Bengal on the 15th January 1887. Any remarks and criticisms which may be made by any person with respect to the draft should be submitted to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department before the date specified above.

P. NOLAN,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Rules for the grant of leases of waste lands for tea cultivation in the districts of Julpigoree and Darjeeling.

THE following rules for the grant of leases for tea cultivation in the districts of Julpigoree and Darjeeling supersede all those previously passed:—

1. The lands that are generally available under these rules in the district of Julpigoree are the unsettled lands, excepting reserved forests, which lie within that tract of country, bounded on the north by Darjeeling and Bhootan, west by the Teesta river, south by the State of Cooch Behar, east by the Sunkos river. Any lots of waste land belonging to Government, lying in any other parts of the district of Julpigoree, and which are not reserved for other purposes, may also be made available for tea cultivation under these rules.

The lands that are generally available in the Darjeeling district lie in the Kalimpong or Daling sub-division of the district, east of the Teesta. They are in two blocks, bounded as follows:—

I.—North.—The Lahah forest block.

South.—The Lehti, Noam, Pugo, and Mal forest blocks.

West.—The Jeet Chu.

East.—The Nim Chu to its junction with the Chu Chu, then the Chu Chu to a point about ½ miles below Ambiokh, then a line northwards up to the Ambiokh forest block, and thence southward the boundary of the Dalingkote forest block and the Goorobathan khas mehal: area about 19·95 square miles.

II.—North.—The Mo forest block.

West.—The East Nar block.

South and South-west.—The Mochu, up its junction with the Khoomanee.

East.—The Khoomanee and Rougo forest block: area about 8·50 square miles.

2. The following lands will not ordinarily be available under these rules:—

(a).—Lands which, by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette, are held to constitute a reserve for the supply of timber, fuel, grazing, or any other article of general and public consumption.

(b).—Lands not included in the above category, but which now bear India-rubber trees or other valuable timber (such as sāl, khair, chelownee, sissoo, &c.) in considerable quantities and in compact blocks or patches.

(c).—Lands in respect of which any person or persons, or any village community, possess rights of occupancy, or such other rights or privileges as render it impolitic or unadvisable to grant such lands to any other person or persons for the purpose of tea cultivation.

(d).—Lands lying within a distance of 60 feet on either side from the centre of any public road or thoroughfare: provided that such road or thoroughfare shall have been constructed, or shall be kept in repair, from public funds.

(e).—Lands which the Local Government may at any time, by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette, expressly exempt from the operation of these rules.

3. Every person, company, or association, or promoter of a company or association, desirous of obtaining a grant of land under these rules, must in person, or by a duly authorized agent, present an application on stamped paper of the value of 8 annas to the Deputy Commissioner of the district in which the land lies.

4. The application must specify—

(a). The name or names and address or addresses of the applicant or applicants, and of his or their authorized agent, if any.

(b).—The area, situation, and boundaries of the land applied for, as far as they can be ascertained without a detailed survey.

(c).—The particulars, if any, which may appear to the applicant to bring any part of the land applied for within the exceptions mentioned in Rule 2. The application must also state whether the land, or any part of it, is, or has ever been, cultivated in any manner.

As settled in 1883.

5. Every lot applied for must be compact and capable of being enclosed in a ring fence; and if any part of the land touches on a public road or navigable river, the length of such road or river frontage must not exceed one-half the breadth of the lot applied for.

6. Not more than 800 acres will ordinarily be granted to any one applicant, company, or association; and when more than 800 acres are applied for, the applicant must set forth specially the grounds for such application, and give prima facie guarantees that he possesses the requisite capital for working such larger area.

The Deputy Commissioner may, when he has reason to believe it to be necessary, demand such a guarantee when the area applied for does not exceed 800 acres.

As proposed in 1886.

5. Every lot applied for must be compact and capable for being enclosed in a ring-fence; and if any part of the land touches on a public road or navigable river, the length of such road or river frontage must not exceed one-half the breadth of the lot applied for.

The exact boundaries will be settled by the Deputy Commissioner, who will decide the point on a consideration of what is best in the public interests.

6. Not more than 800 acres will ordinarily be granted to any one applicant, company, or association; and when more than 800 acres are applied for, the applicant must set forth specially the grounds for such application, and give prima facie guarantees that he possesses the requisite capital for working such larger area.

The Deputy Commissioner may, when he has reason to believe it to be necessary, demand such a guarantee when the area applied for does not exceed 800 acres.

If, upon proceeding to survey and map out the grant, the Deputy Commissioner finds that it is desirable in the public interests, or for the sake of good boundaries, to include a larger area than 800 acres within the area to be granted on the application, it shall be in his discretion, with the sanction of the Commissioner, to grant to one applicant so much land, not exceeding 1,000 acres, as may be necessary to obtain good boundaries and to avoid waste, &c.

7. All applications for more than 800 acres will be forwarded by the Deputy Commissioner to the Commissioner, who, if he desires to recommend compliance therewith, will forward them to the Board of Revenue, who will take the orders of Government upon each case.

8. The holder of a grant of 800 acres shall not be debarred from applying for a second grant if he has complied with the clearance and other conditions of the preliminary lease in respect of the first grant. Tea lease-holders may obtain arable grants contiguous to their tea lots.

9. On receipt of an application for any area not exceeding 800 acres, the Deputy Commissioner must satisfy himself, as far as lies in his power, that the requirements of the rules have been complied with. If he considers that the application should be rejected, he will record an order to that effect, giving his reasons for such rejection. An appeal will lie from such order of rejection to the Commissioner of the division, if preferred within 30 days from the date of the order. If the Deputy Commissioner considers that an application for such area as it is within his power to grant should be entertained, or in the case of application for areas over 1,000 acres, when the orders of Government accepting the application are received, the applicant or his agent will be required to deposit the estimated cost of the enquiry referred to in the next rule, and the cost of survey and demarcation to be made as herein-after provided. The amount to be so deposited must be calculated at one rupee per acre of the total area applied for. If the area is found to be greater, the sum of one rupee per acre must be paid on account of such excess area before a preliminary lease is granted.

Payments under this rule do not cover the cost of erecting permanent boundary marks under Rule 24.

In the event of the applicant withdrawing his application before any enquiry has been made under Rule 10, or in the event of its being found that the land has been previously applied for, the applicant shall be entitled to a refund of the survey fee paid by him.

If the cost of survey is not paid within one month of demand, the application may be struck off.

10. On receipt of the sum payable under the preceding rule, and of an agreement signed by the applicant, or by his authorized agent, to pay such further sum as may be required for the purposes above mentioned, the Deputy Commissioner will record an order appointing a tehsildar or other officer to visit the land, and to make full and detailed enquiries into its condition and circumstances.

11. The general object of such enquiry shall be to ascertain whether or not the land applied for can be granted under the rules in force; but the Deputy Commissioner may instruct the officer making the enquiry to furnish him with such other specific and detailed information as may seem to him to be necessary.

12. On completion of this enquiry, the officer making it will record the result thereof, and submit a report for the orders of the Deputy Commissioner. If the Deputy Commissioner, after considering the report, and after calling for such further explanation, oral or written, as he may deem necessary, shall be of opinion that the land applied for cannot be granted under the rules, and should not therefore be surveyed, he will record an order to that effect. An appeal will lie from such order to the Commissioner of the division if preferred within 30 days from the date of the order.

13. If the Deputy Commissioner decides that the land applied for can be granted under the rules, and should therefore be surveyed, he will record an order to that effect.

14. The Deputy Commissioner shall at once send a copy of any order passed under Rule 13 to the Conservator of Forests, in order that an estimate may be made by the Forest Department of the value of any forest trees standing on the land. The Conservator of Forests will depute an officer to examine the land, and make a detailed report suggesting the average rate per acre at which payment should be made for such trees. Such officer, in valuing the timber, shall have regard to its present market value on the spot, and to the local circumstances of the case, the accessibility of the grant, and the prospect of markets for timber becoming available during the currency of the lease. The Conservator will carefully examine the report, and forward it to the Deputy Commissioner with such remarks and alterations as he may think necessary. If the Deputy Commissioner, on receipt of the Conservator's decision, sees reason to object to the proposed rate per acre, he may refer the matter to the Commissioner, who shall take the orders of the Board of Revenue and of Government on any point on which he and the Conservator may eventually differ.

15. If the Deputy Commissioner finds the land, or any part of it, in the occupation of any person or persons or of any village community, he will submit a full report of the circumstances for the orders of the Commissioner, stating in detail how he proposes to deal with such prior occupants; and if it is proposed to remove them, the compensation, if any, which the applicant undertakes to pay to such persons. If the Deputy Commissioner declines to propose the removal of such occupants, an appeal shall lie to the Commissioner within thirty days after the record of an order by the Deputy Commissioner declining to propose the removal. The Commissioner will report his orders in all such cases for the information of the Board of Revenue.

16. If any claim or objection be preferred under Act XXIII of 1863, the Deputy Commissioner will proceed to dispose of the same in accordance with the provisions of that Act.

17. The officer who made the enquiry provided for by Rules 10 to 12 will, on receipt of an order to that effect from the Deputy Commissioner, proceed to point out to the surveyor the boundaries of the land applied for, and such prominent features in it as may be useful for the purposes of the survey, and which should, in his opinion, be entered in the preliminary lease as hereinafter provided. The boundaries and other features above mentioned should be clearly marked and defined by the officer in presence of the surveyor, and the latter should be furnished with a list of them signed by the said officer.

As settled in 1883.

18. The surveyor will then proceed to make the survey and put up such temporary boundary marks as are necessary for that purpose. He must prepare a map showing—

- (a).—All natural features of the country lying within the boundaries as fixed by the officer who made the enquiry under Rules 10 to 12, e.g., bheels, streams, forest clumps, &c.
- (b).—Such features of the country lying outside the boundary of the land to be surveyed as may serve to identify the latter and connect it with the revenue survey or other existing map.

The surveyor is bound to bring to the notice of the Deputy Commissioner any fact which may come to his knowledge in the course of the survey, rendering it advisable that the land he is surveying should not be granted under these rules.

As proposed in 1886.

18. The surveyor will then proceed to make the survey and put up such temporary boundary marks as are necessary for that purpose. He must prepare a map showing—

- (a).—All natural features of the country lying within the boundaries as fixed by the officer who made the enquiry under Rules 10 to 12, e.g., bheels, streams, forest clumps, &c.
- (b).—Such features of the country lying outside the boundary of the land to be surveyed as may serve to identify the latter and connect it with the revenue survey or other existing map.
- (c).—The total area within the boundaries after deductions of areas for roads or other Government reserves, jotes, &c., and the net area of the grant.
- (d).—Points at which permanent or other marks should be erected by the lessee.

The surveyor is bound to bring to the notice of the Deputy Commissioner any fact which may come to his knowledge in the course of the survey, rendering it advisable that the land he is surveying should not be granted under these rules. He is particularly bound to bring to notice any need for public roads across the lands he surveys, and if the Deputy Commissioner concurs with the surveyor in this matter, the road or roads should be marked off on the ground and on the map, and the area to be occupied thereby should be deducted from the rent-paying area of the grant.

19. The map should ordinarily be on a scale of 16 inches to the mile. If possible, the surveyor's field book should be copied at the back of it. If not, a copy of the field-book should be attached to or accompany the map. If the map be made originally in the vernacular, the Deputy Commissioner will cause it to be translated into English.

20. On the map being completed, it must be checked by an officer appointed by the Deputy Commissioner. If found to be incorrect, it will be amended by the surveyor in conjunction with the officer above mentioned. If found to be correct, it will be laid before the Deputy Commissioner with the report of the officer who made the preliminary enquiry under Rules 10 to 12, and with all other papers connected with the case.

21. The Deputy Commissioner will then proceed to consider the application. A date for this purpose must be previously fixed by him, and due notice of it given to the applicant or to his authorized agent.

22. The Deputy Commissioner shall have power to reject an application at any stage of the proceedings under the rules, if he sees reason to do so, refunding in such case to the applicant the deposit made by him on account of survey, minus such an amount as it may seem to the Deputy Commissioner fair to retain in consideration of the expenses incurred. If, however, the application is rejected for a reason which could not reasonably be anticipated under these rules, no portion of the deposit money shall be retained. He is authorized to reject an application when he does not consider that there is a bonâ fide intention on the part of the applicant to cultivate in tea the land applied for, or when it appears desirable to reserve the land for cultivation other than tea, or to preserve any forest standing on it. An appeal against every such order of rejection shall lie to the Commissioner of the division, if preferred within thirty days of the date of the order.

As settled in 1883.

23. If the Deputy Commissioner grant the application, he will without delay grant the applicant a lease in form G of the appendix, and call upon him to execute a counterpart thereof, which must be registered, and to pay for forest trees the sum assessed under Rule 14. Payment for these may be made by instalments with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, which will only be given when the Board is fully satisfied of the good faith and solvency of the applicant. In such case the dates and amounts of the instalments shall be endorsed upon the lease, and the lessee must covenant that, in the event of his throwing up his lease, all outstanding instalments shall be forthwith recoverable from him under the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880, whether the timber on the grant has been cut by him or not; but he shall have no further right to fell or remove timber from the grant. When granting the lease, the Deputy Commissioner will also direct the lessee to mark out the land leased by a continuous trench, or in such other manner as the Deputy Commissioner may direct. Within three months of the grant or such lease the lessee must, on pain of forfeiture of all rights in the land leased, mark out the land as above directed, and the surveyor must test the correctness of the boundary line and permanent marks, and report the result to the Deputy Commissioner, at the same time pointing out to the lessee or his representative by written notice any corrections that may be required. If the corrections indicated are not made by the lessee or his representative within thirty days of the receipt of such notice, all rights in the land shall be liable to forfeiture to Government.

* These boundary marks shall ordinarily consist of a masonry platform at every point where more than two lots or patches of waste or other lands meet, with large stones or mounds at every angle and at every 100 yards of boundary line between such platforms and other marks.

24. Whenever, after receipt of an application, as provided for in Rule 3, and after making such enquiries as he may deem necessary, the Deputy Commissioner shall be of opinion that there is no prima facie objection whatever to the grant under the rules of the land applied for, he may put the

As proposed in 1886.

23. If the Deputy Commissioner grant the application, he will without delay grant the applicant a lease in form G of the appendix, and call upon him to execute a counterpart thereof, which must be registered, and to pay for forest trees the sum assessed under Rule 14. Payment for these may be made by instalments with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, which will only be given when the Board is fully satisfied of the good faith and solvency of the applicant. In such case the dates and amounts of the instalments shall be endorsed upon the lease, and the lessee must covenant that, in the event of his throwing up his lease, all outstanding instalments shall be forthwith recoverable from him under the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880, whether the timber on the grant has been cut by him or not; but he shall have no further right to fell or remove timber from the grant.

24. When granting the lease the Deputy Commissioner shall also direct the lessee to mark out the land leased, within three months of the granting of the lease, by a continuous trench, or by clearing the jungle for a breadth of at least twelve feet along the boundaries, or in such other manner as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, and by erecting boundary marks at the points indicated on the map.

These boundary marks may be of masonry, or of stone, or hollow iron telegraph posts filled with clay or shingle, as the Deputy Commissioner may direct; and he will decide on their shape and dimensions.

25. On the expiry of the three months, the surveyor shall test the correctness of the boundary lines and ascertain if the boundary marks have been erected and in their proper places, and report the result to the Deputy Commissioner, at the same time pointing out to the lessee or his representative, by written notice, any mistakes or omissions that may be found. If the mistakes or omissions are not rectified or supplied by the lessee or his representative within thirty days of the receipt of such notice, the lessee or his representative shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding Rs. 50 per day, from the date of the expiry of such notice till the requirements of the notice have been complied with. If at the expiration of thirty more days the mistakes and omissions are not rectified, the lessee's rights in the land will be liable to forfeiture.

26. Fines, cost of notices served, of clearing boundaries, of erecting or repairing boundary marks, or any other money that may become due from lessees to Government, shall be deemed to be a demand under the Bengal Council Act VII of 1880, or any other law that may be in force at the time, and shall be recoverable as such.

27. Whenever, after receipt of an application, as provided for in Rule 3, and after making such enquiries as he may deem necessary, the Deputy Commissioner shall be of opinion that there is no prima facie objection whatever to the grant under the rules of the land applied for, he may put the applicant in preliminary and provisional possession of an area not exceeding one-eighth of the estimated area of the land applied for, with the object of enabling the applicant to make preparations for commencing cultivation and getting the land in order: provided that the applicant, before obtaining such preliminary possession, shall have erected such boundary marks as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, and that the amount of all estimated charges incurred in connection with such preliminary occupation shall have been deposited by the applicant: provided further that the applicant shall engage in writing to pay the cost of any trees felled, at such rate as may be determined by the Forest Department after inspection of the land under Rule 14.

25. The order for, and conditions of, such preliminary occupation shall be in the form H in the appendix, and shall be addressed to the tahsildar or other officer appointed by the Deputy Commissioner. A copy of the order shall be delivered to the applicant, who shall, after receipt of occupation, acknowledge such receipt by signing a copy of the order and depositing it with the Deputy Commissioner.

26. If after the survey an applicant shall fail to comply with any request of the Deputy Commissioner made in accordance with the rules, or fail to deposit any sums of money for which the applicant is liable under them, within two months, the application may be struck off.

27. Grantees are not permitted to club or amalgamate their grants otherwise than by transfers duly registered, as provided for in the preliminary lease. Any unauthorized amalgamation will subject the holders of the grants in question to forfeiture of all rights in the lands so amalgamated.

28. In the event of the amalgamation of two separate grants held by two different lessees for the purpose of forming an association, the fee of two annas per acre, prescribed under the conditions of the lease for registry of the transfer, shall be levied on the aggregate area of both grants.

As proposed in 1886.

applicant in preliminary and provisional possession of an area not exceeding one-eighth of the estimated area of the land applied for, with the object of enabling the applicant to make preparations for commencing cultivation and getting the land in order: provided that the applicant, before obtaining such preliminary possession, shall have cleared the boundaries, and erected such temporary boundary marks round the whole of the area applied for as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, and that the amount of all estimated charges incurred in connection with such preliminary occupation shall have been deposited by the applicant: provided further that the applicant shall engage in writing to pay the cost of any trees felled, at such rate as may be determined by the Forest Department after inspection of the land under Rule 14; and provided further that the applicant shall take on himself all risk of loss occasioned by other claims being preferred to the land, or by his application being eventually rejected, or from any other cause whatsoever.

28. The order for, and conditions of, such preliminary occupation shall be in the form H in the appendix, and shall be addressed to the tahsildar or other officer appointed by the Deputy Commissioner. A copy of the order shall be delivered to the applicant at the time of giving preliminary possession by the officer who gives it, the officer signing and dating it then and there. The original order addressed to the tahsildar or other officer shall be signed by the applicant on the date he receives it in acknowledgment thereof, and the tahsildar or other officer shall forward such original order, with his report written on the back of it, to the Deputy Commissioner, for record in his office.

29. If any transfer of an application for land is desired before the grant of the preliminary lease, and if such a transfer is allowed,* it must be registered within twenty-one days of the issue of the order allowing the transfer, and a registration fee of two annas an acre must be paid.

30. If after the survey an applicant shall fail to comply with any request of the Deputy Commissioner made in accordance with the rules, or fail to deposit any sums of money for which the applicant is liable under them, within two months, the application may be struck off.

31. Grantees are not permitted to club or amalgamate their grants otherwise than by sanctioned transfers duly registered, as provided for in the preliminary lease. Any unauthorized amalgamation will subject the holders of the grants in question to forfeiture of all rights in the lands so amalgamated.

32. In the event of the amalgamation of two separate grants held by two different lessees for the purpose of forming an association, or for any other purpose, the fee of two annas per acre, prescribed under the conditions of the lease for registry of the transfer, shall be levied on the aggregate area of both grants.

33. The lessee shall maintain the boundaries of the grant clear of jungle, and all the boundary marks in good repair. Where roads (kept clear of jungle) or streams do not form the boundaries, the lessee shall clear the boundaries of jungle at least once a year not later than the end of February in each year.

* No transfer will be allowed, for instance, when the proposed transferee already holds a Tea Lease Grant, 15 per cent. of the area of which does not yet contain growing tea-plants.

As settled in 1883.

29. The Deputy Commissioner should annually, or as often as possible, himself inspect, or cause to be inspected, the boundary lines and permanent marks referred to in Rule 23, and should he find any out of order, shall by letter instruct the lessee or his representative to place the same in order, and failing his doing so within thirty days of the receipt of the said letter, shall cause the same to be put in order, and shall recover from the lessee or his representative the cost of doing so, if need be, under the Public Demands Recovery Act.

As proposed in 1886.

34. The Deputy Commissioner should annually, or as often as possible, himself inspect, or cause to be inspected, the boundary lines and permanent marks referred to in Rule 24, and should he find any out of order, shall by letter instruct the lessee or his representative to place the same in order, and failing his doing so within thirty days of the receipt of the said letter, shall cause the same to be put in order, and shall recover from the lessee or his representative the cost of doing so, if need be, under the Public Demands Recovery Act.

35. If the lessee is at any time found, by survey or otherwise, to be in possession of land in excess of the acreage for which he has paid rent, he shall pay rent at the rates payable by him for the grant itself for such excess land, whether it be within or without the boundaries described in the lease or map, from one year after the date he received possession (preliminary or otherwise) of the grant, or any portion of it, unless it is established to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner that no possession of the excess land was taken until after the grant of the renewed lease, in which case rent shall be payable from the date of the expiration of the preliminary lease. Provided that such unauthorized occupation of excess land, and payment of rent for it, shall give the trespasser no right to continued occupation, and the Deputy Commissioner shall be entitled, if he thinks fit to do so, to recover possession of the excess lands.

As settled in 1883.

If any transfer of the rights conveyed by this lease is made otherwise than in accordance with the foregoing provisions and the rules,† all rights in the land leased shall be liable to be forfeited to Government. If any transfer not registered within the prescribed time is allowed by the Deputy Commissioner, a fine for the delay in registration, not exceeding one anna for every acre for every month of such delay, or any lesser sum, shall be payable* by the transferee at the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner.

In Julpigoree.

The rent shall be paid to the Deputy Commissioner in the following instalments:—

4. The lessee shall either himself reside on or near to the lands covered by this lease, or he shall appoint a manager or agent who shall reside on or near to such lands, and who shall be provided with a full legal power to act on behalf of the principal in all matters arising out of or concerning the lands covered by the lease.

5. The lessee binds himself to conform to all the provisions of the rules for the grant of tea leases under which this lease is granted.

* NOTE.—A shareholder in a registered Joint-Stock Company may transfer his shares, or any part of them, without registering the transfer or paying any fee under this rule. A partner in any other form of company or association may transfer his interest, or any part of it, but in that case the transfer must be registered under this rule, and a fee paid which shall bear to the maximum fee payable on transfer of the entire grant the ratio that the interest transferred bears to the sum of all the interests of the partners in the grant.
† For instance, a transfer to the holder of a tea lease for another grant of 800 acres, fifteen per cent. of which is not under tea plants, would be a violation of Rules 7 and 8.

6. Five per cent. of the area of the land leased shall be cleared by the end of the second year after the grant of this lease, and 10 per cent. by the end of the third year.

7. Any land covered by the lease which may at any time be required for a public purpose may be taken up by Government free of cost on a reduction being made in the rent payable under the lease, proportionate to the area taken by Government for the class of land taken. But the value of any improvements or property thereon shall be paid to the lessee, and shall be assessed under the provision of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

8. All rights to minerals or quarries of all kinds are reserved to Government, together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting, and carrying away such minerals.

9. No right of fishery, and no right to dam up or otherwise obstruct the passage of any stream, is given by this lease. A public right of way over twenty yards on either bank of every stream, however much the bank may shift by action of the stream or otherwise, available at any time of the year for local boat traffic, is reserved.

Public access shall be allowed at all times to any springs of water on the lands leased, whenever such access is, in the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner, necessary for the convenient supply of good water to persons residing in the vicinity; and the lessee is bound not to injure the springs, or allow others to do so.

10. Standing timber must be paid for at the average rate per acre intimated to the lessees by the Deputy Commissioner before possession is given under this lease, unless, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, payment by instalments has been allowed. In the latter case, payment must be made according to the schedule of instalments endorsed upon the lease. In the event of the lessee throwing up the lease while any instalments due to Government on account of timber are unpaid, the lessee hereby agrees that all such instalments shall forthwith become due and be recoverable from him under the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880, whether all the timber on the grant has been cut by him or not. But he shall have no right of any kind over any timber on the grant, cut or uncut, after the date of his so throwing up the lease.

11. Whenever on an inspection being made the boundary lines and marks referred to in Rule 23 are found to be out of order, the lessee shall be bound to put them in order at his own expense on receipt of a requisition to that effect from the Deputy Commissioner. Should the lessee fail to do so within thirty days from the receipt of the requisition, the Deputy Commissioner shall cause it to be done, and if the lessee fails to pay, the Deputy Commissioner shall be entitled to recover from the lessee, under the Public Demands Recovery Act, all costs incurred in doing so.

12. The lessee shall be bound to furnish the Deputy Commissioner with information as to the births and deaths of residents in his tea garden, and as to progress and outturn thereof, in such form as may be approved by Government.

13. After the expiration of the second, third, and fifth year of the lease, the Deputy Commissioner, or any officer appointed by him, shall enter on, inspect, and measure the areas cleared and under cultivation, and the lessee may at any time demand that such inspection and measurement be made. The expenses of any such inspections and measurements as are made before the due date on demand of the lessee (but of no others) shall be paid by the lessee as rent due. The Deputy Commissioner may at other times enter on, inspect, and measure the area under cultivation. If on any inspection being made during the first five years of this lease, or if on the first inspection being made after the five years, it is found that 15 per cent. of the total area held under the lease has been brought under cultivation by means of good husbandry, and actually bears tea plants, the lessee shall be entitled to the renewal of the lease for a further period of thirty years, and to renewals for similar periods in perpetuity, subject to the rules and the terms and conditions of renewed leases.

14. If, by the end of the fifth year after the grant of this preliminary lease, less than 15 per cent. of the total area held under it has been brought under cultivation by means of good husbandry, and less than 15 per cent. actually bears tea plants, the land may be resumed, or on the application in writing of the lessee, he may be allowed to hold on from year to year as a tenant-at-will for three more years, if he agrees in writing to pay rent at double the rates for which he would have been liable if he had complied with the condition about bringing 15 per cent. under tea cultivation. On the application of the lessee an inspection and measurement shall be made as soon as convenient after the expiration of any one of the three years, and the Deputy Commissioner may make such inspection and measurement of his own accord after the expiration of the third year. If after any such inspection and measurement it is found that 15 per cent. of the area bears tea plants, a renewed lease shall be granted on the terms that would have been in force if the condition had been complied with by the end of the fifth year. At the expiration of the three years all rights in the lands leased will lapse to Government, if 15 per cent. of the area does not then bear tea plants. The cost of all inspections and measurements made during the three years' grace shall be paid by the lessee.

15. All expenses connected with inspections and measurements, for which the lessee is liable under these rules, shall be recoverable under the Public Demands Recovery Act.

16. The rights and privileges conveyed by this lease, and by any renewed lease granted in accordance with its provisions, shall be liable to be forfeited on failure of the lessee to comply with any condition thereof.

TEA LEASE RULES.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF RENEWED LEASES.

1. Subject to any general or special orders of Government, the rent to be paid on the renewal of the lease for a term of thirty years shall be fixed by the Board of Revenue on the report of the Deputy Commissioner on each occasion of renewal, but shall not exceed the rate* of rent per acre paid in the neighbourhood at the time of renewal for the highest class of lands under ordinary cultivation.

Provided that in no case shall the total rent payable under the renewed lease be less than twelve annas an acre on the entire area of the land leased.

If at any future time the administration of the tracts under tea cultivation should entail on the State any considerable increase of expenditure, it will be competent to the Government, with the sanction of the legislature, to impose such special taxation as may be deemed necessary, either by raising the rent or in some other mode. But under no other circumstances will the rent, which has been fixed for a term of years on the principle above enunciated, be raised during the currency of such term.

Lands actually planted with tea in the Dooars will for the present be assessed at the rate fixed for roopit land in the pergunnah wherein they lie. Waste lands will be assessed at six annas an acre in all pergunnahs, and the rest of the lands in each grant will pay the pergunnah rate of bastoo, bamboo, roopit, and faringhatta according to the area of the land answering to each of these descriptions that may be found in the grant.

In the case of the tract of Daling transferred to the Julpigoree district by Government notification, dated 9th January 1882, the rates to be imposed will, for the present, be those paid for similar lands in the adjoining pergunnah of the Dooars, on the principle just stated, waste lands paying six annas an acre.

The rate to be charged for the present in the case of lands in the Darjeeling hills is a single uniform rate of one rupee an acre for all the lands in the grant.

2. Where half the area of the grant has not been brought under cultivation during the term of the preliminary lease, as required by that lease, the renewed lease shall ordinarily include an area of waste land equal to the extent of land brought under cultivation during the currency of the preliminary lease. It will be in the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner, subject to the supervision of the Commissioner, to grant or refuse renewal of the lease in such cases, and also to include, if necessary, a larger area of waste, so as to make the grant under the renewed lease equal to the whole area granted under the preliminary lease. In the exercise of this discretion, the Deputy Commissioner should be guided by the consideration whether the excess waste is likely to be separately taken up by other applicants or not. If it is likely to be so taken up, he should settle it separately; if it is likely to remain on the hands of Government, he should include it in the new lease.

3. When extra waste land is included in the lease under these orders, such portion of it as ought to have been brought under cultivation during the preliminary lease will be assessed at the rate prescribed for cultivated land, and not at the rate of waste land.

4. The title conveyed by the renewed lease shall be heritable and transferable, provided that the prior sanction of the Commissioner of the division be procured to the transfer of any portion of the grant less than the whole, and that no transfer shall be valid as against the Government, but shall, on the contrary, be equivalent to a surrender of the lease, unless notification of the transfer shall have been given by the transferee to the Deputy Commissioner within twenty-one days of the date thereof, or within three months if the deed be executed out of India, together with a registration fee of two annas per acre of the area leased.

5. In other respects the condition of the renewed lease will be the same as those of clauses 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, and 16 of the preliminary lease.

RULES FOR THE GRANT OF ORDINARY LEASES OF ARABLE LAND IN THE WESTERN DOOARS.

PART I.

1. The lands that will be generally available under these rules lie within that tract of country in the Western Dooars which extends in an easterly direction from the east bank of the river Teesta to the west bank of the river Sankos.

What lands will not ordinarily be available. 2. The following lands will not ordinarily be available under these rules:—

(a). Lands which by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette are held to constitute a reserve for the supply of timber, fuel, grazing, or any other article of general and public consumption.

(b). Lands not included in the above category, but which now bear India-rubber trees or other valuable timber (such as sâl, khair, chelownee, sissoo, &c.), in considerable quantities in compact blocks or patches.

(c). Lands in respect of which any person or persons or any village community possess rights of occupancy, or such other rights or privileges as would, in the opinion of the Local Government, render it impolitic or unadvisable to grant such lands to any other person or persons.

(d). Lands lying within a distance of 60 feet on either side from the centre of any public road or thoroughfare, provided that such road or thoroughfare shall have been constructed or shall be kept in repair from public funds.

(e). Lands which the Local Government may at any time, by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette, expressly exempt from the operation of these rules.

3. Every person desirous of obtaining a grant of land under these rules shall, in person, present an application on stamped paper of the value of eight annas to the tehsildar of the tehsil in which the land lies.

What the application is to specify. 4. The application shall specify—

(a) The name, father's name, and address of the applicant.

(b) The area, situation, and boundaries of the land applied for, as far as they can be ascertained without a detailed survey.

(c) A statement of the particulars, if any, which may appear to the applicant to bring the land applied for, or any part of it, within the exceptions mentioned in rule 2. The application shall also state whether the land or any part of it is, or has ever been, cultivated in any manner.

5. Every lot applied for shall be compact and capable of being enclosed in a ring-fence; and if any part of the land touches on a public road or navigable river, the length of such road or river frontage shall not exceed one-half the breadth of the lot applied for.

As settled in 1883.

6. No application in respect of an area greater than 200 acres or less than 10 acres, and not more than this quantity of land, shall be granted under these rules to any one lessee. The Deputy Commissioner may, with the sanction of the Commissioner, grant a larger area than 200 acres, except in cases coming under clause 13 of the Preliminary Lease. In every case it shall be the duty of the tehsildar to satisfy himself that the applicant is possessed of sufficient means to cultivate the area applied for. Should the tehsildar be of opinion that a smaller area than that applied for should be granted, he will refer the point to the Deputy Commissioner for final orders.

As proposed in 1886.

6. No application for an area exceeding 200 acres or less than 10 acres shall be registered, nor shall a larger area than 200 acres be granted to any one lessee without the previous sanction of the Commissioner. In every case it shall be the duty of the tehsildar to satisfy himself that the applicant is possessed of sufficient means to cultivate the area applied for. Should the tehsildar be of opinion that a smaller area than that applied for should be granted, he will refer the point to the Deputy Commissioner for final orders.

7. The tehsildar shall require the applicant to pay in a sum of three annas an acre on the area applied for to cover cost of survey and enquiry. No further sum shall be required except the actual cost of the work described in Rule 9, and no refund will be made.

8. The tehsildar shall then in person, or by an ameen, inspect the land and ascertain whether it is khas land and available under the above rules; and if it appear to be so, the ameen shall proceed to lay down the boundary and make a survey as follows.

9. The ameen shall fix the boundary, in accordance with the Rules 5 and 6, as indicated by the applicant, and shall then clear it from end to end, and afterwards survey it with compass and chain, placing mounds of earth or stone not less than waist-high at every angle and at every point where more than two lots or patches of waste or other properties meet. One mound shall be not less than six feet high, and shall be marked on the map as the base mark, two bearings of which, or bearing and distance of which from good points of reference, shall be recorded on the map.

10. The ameen shall prepare a map which shall show—

(a) All natural features of the country lying within or on the boundaries fixed, such as streams, or the edge of forests, and also public pathways.

(b) Such features of the country lying outside the boundary as may serve to identify the land and connect it with the revenue survey or with any other map made of other lands in the neighbourhood.

11. The map shall ordinarily be on the scale of 16 inches to the mile. If possible, the field-book shall be copied on the back of it. If not, a copy of the field-book shall be attached to or accompany the map. In submitting his report, the ameen shall state whether he had a clear line for his compass from end to end of the boundary, and whether the mounds are erected as ordered.

12. The tehsildar shall then report the case to the Deputy Commissioner or Sub-Divisional Officer according to the tehsil in which the land lies, stating whether he is satisfied that the ameen's work has been properly done, and giving any further information which may be required.

13. The Deputy Commissioner or Sub-Divisional Officer aforesaid shall consider the report, and finally pass orders granting or refusing a lease.

14. The order on the case and on any objection decided on by the Deputy Commissioner or Sub-Divisional Officer shall be appealable to the Commissioner within one month.

15. On receipt of an order to grant a lease, the tehsildar shall deliver to the applicant a preliminary lease in the form annexed, signed by the Deputy Commissioner or Sub-Divisional Officer as aforesaid, together with a copy of the map, and shall place him in possession by planting a bamboo or in any other way locally acknowledged, and shall report delivery and registration of the tenant in a separate register of preliminary leaseholders.

As settled in 1883.

16. The Deputy Commissioner may in special cases of leases of 200 acres or less, and in all cases of leases of greater area, alter the terms of the lease so as to allow a lessee to manage his land by an authorised agent. In such case the agent must reside on or near to the land, and be provided with full legal power to act on behalf of the principal in all matters arising out of the land.

As proposed in 1886.

16. The Deputy Commissioner may, in special cases of leases of 200 acres or less, and in all cases of greater area, alter the terms of the lease so as to allow a lessee to manage his land by an authorised agent. In such case the agent must reside on or near to the land, and be provided with full legal power to act on behalf of the principal in all matters arising out of the land.

17. If the lessee is at any time found by survey or otherwise to be in possession of land in excess of the acreage for which he has paid rent, he shall pay rent at the rates payable by him for the grant itself for such excess land, whether it be within or without the boundaries described in the lease or map, from one year after the date he received possession (preliminary or otherwise) of the grant, or any portion of it, unless it is established to the satisfaction of the Deputy Commissioner that no possession of the excess land was taken until after the grant of the renewed lease, in which case rent shall be payable from the date of the expiration of the preliminary lease. Provided that such unauthorised occupation of excess land and payment of rent for it shall give the trespasser no right to continued occupation, and the Deputy Commissioner shall be entitled, if he thinks fit, to recover possession of the excess land.

18. If any transfer of an application for land is desired before the grant of the preliminary lease, and if such a transfer is allowed,* it must be registered within twenty-one days of the issue of the order allowing the transfer, and a registration fee of two annas an acre must be paid.

If after such inspection by any officer deputed for the purpose it shall appear that one-half of the total area held under the lease is occupied by homesteads or is cultivated, or left fallow, according to good husbandry or otherwise fairly turned to account for agricultural purposes, the lessee shall be entitled to renewal of this lease for such further period as shall coincide with the termination of the settlement period then current, and thereafter to renewal for the period of each fresh settlement of the taluk, subject always to the following conditions:—

(a) The rent to be paid shall be fixed by the Deputy Commissioner on the order of Government on each occasion of renewal, but without the special order of Government shall not exceed double the rent previously paid.

(b) The title conveyed by the renewed lease shall be heritable and transferable, provided that no transfer shall be made of less than the whole, and that no transfer shall be valid as against the Government, but shall, on the contrary, be equivalent to a surrender of the lease, unless notification of the transfer shall have been given by the transferee to the Deputy Commissioner at the time of transfer together with a fee of two annas per acre of the area leased.

(c) In all other respects the conditions of the renewed lease shall be the same as those of the preliminary lease

(d) Should the cultivated, fallow, and other land otherwise fairly turned to account be found on inspection and measurement to be less than one-half of the total area held under the lease, the whole or such portion of the said area as the Deputy Commissioner may decide, shall be liable to be resumed.

9. The rights and privileges conveyed by this lease, and by any renewed lease granted in accordance with its provisions, shall be liable to be forfeited on failure of the lessee to comply with any condition thereof.

10. 12. No sub-tenant under the lessee shall sublet any part of his land on pain of forfeiture of his tenure; but this rule and the last shall not be held to prevent the employment of adhairs, projahs, and other labourers supplied with seed and paid by giving them half the crop. The Government reserve power to make rules to be observed by the lessee and his tenants for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this and the last preceding clause, and the lessee agrees to abide by such rules when published for general observance, and to hold the land subject to such rules.

14. No clubbing or amalgamation of grant is allowed, and all land bearing tea will be forfeited to Government if more than one grant becomes the property of the same owner, except by inheritance.

Terms and conditions of renewed leases of arable lands.

PART II.

1. Subject to any general or special orders of Government, the rent to be paid on the renewal of the lease shall be fixed by the Board of Revenue on the report of the Deputy Commissioner and Commissioner on each occasion of renewal, but shall not exceed the rates of rent per acre paid in the neighbourhood at the time* of renewal for the different classes of lands included in the lease.

* The rates per acre paid at present in the Western Doars of Julpigoree are as follows:—

DESCRIPTION OF SOIL.	In Ambaree, Ballacottah, Chongmaruc, Moraghat, and North Mynagoree.	In Lukhsepore and West Madaree.	In East Madaree and Chukwakatee.
	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
Bastoe and bamboo ...	2 0 0	1 12 0	1 8 0
Boopit ...	1 8 0	1 4 0	1 2 0
Feringhatta ...	1 2 0	0 12 0	0 9 0
Waste ...	0 8 0	0 3 0	0 3 0

2. The term of every renewed lease shall coincide with the unexpired period of the then current settlement in the pergunnah in which the lands are situated.

3. The title conveyed by the renewed lease shall be heritable and transferable, provided that the whole, and not a part, of the grant be transferred, and that no transfer shall be valid as against the Government, but shall, on the contrary, be equivalent to a surrender of the lease, unless notification of the transfer shall have been given and the transfer registered in the Deputy Commissioner's office within twenty-one days of the transfer, or within three months, if the deed of transfer be executed out of India; and that a registration fee of two annas per acre on the area transferred be paid to the Deputy Commissioner on the occasion of every such transfer.

4. Where half the area of the grant has not been brought under cultivation during the term of the preliminary lease, as required by that lease, the renewed lease shall ordinarily include an area of waste land equal to the extent of land brought under cultivation during the currency of the preliminary lease. It will be in the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner, subject to the supervision of the Commissioner, to grant or refuse renewal of the lease in such cases, and also to include, if necessary, a larger area of waste, so as to make the grant under the renewed lease equal to the whole area granted under the preliminary lease. In the exercise of this discretion, the Deputy Commissioner should be guided by the consideration whether the excess waste is likely to be separately taken up by other applicants or not. If it is likely to be so taken up, he should settle it separately; if it is likely to remain on the hands of Government, he should include it in the new lease.

5. When extra waste land is included in the lease under these orders, such portion of it as ought to have been brought under cultivation during the preliminary lease will be assessed at the rate prescribed for cultivated land, and not at the rate of waste land. Unless this condition is insisted upon, it is probable that leasees will neglect cultivation during the term of the preliminary lease, in the hope of getting a renewal of their tenure at lower rates.

6. The Deputy Commissioner may, in special cases of leases of 200 acres or less, and in all cases of leases of greater area, alter the terms of the lease so as to allow a lessee to manage his land by an authorised agent. In such cases the agent must reside on or near to the land, and be provided with full legal power to act on behalf of the principal in all matters arising out of the land.

7. In other respects the conditions of the renewed lease will be the same as those of clauses 3, 4, 5, 6, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14 of the preliminary lease.

Provided that in no case shall the total rent payable under the renewed lease be less than eight annas an acre for the entire area leased.

The following are the conditions of sale :—

1.—The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bond fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazepore Factory for the year 1885-86, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazepore Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

May, 3rd	50	12mo dy 1st		500	ditto ..	0 4 0	Sashubhusan Guha, Faridpore	Discusses the nature of the sentiment of love and argues that the system on which wives and husbands are selected among Englishmen is not so well calculated to produce conjugal love as the Hindu system of selection. The Hindu idea of the conjugal bond is also stated to be far higher and deeper than the English idea. The writer regrets, however, that the points which according to the Hindu Sastras demand careful consideration in selecting brides and bridegrooms are not much attended to at present.	5173
May 25th	43	12mo dy 1st		1,000	ditto	0 1 0	Gopal Chandra Mukharji, 40, Sankar Hal-dar's Lane, Calcutta	Man's obligations are manifold—moral and religious obligations to himself, the obligation to make himself healthy and strong, domestic obligations, social and political obligations, and obligations to his own country. The modern Bengali does not properly discharge any of these obligations. He gets no moral and religious education at school, performs no physical exercises to maintain and improve health, does not behave properly to his relations at home, endeavours to revolutionise his society without much thought or reflection, and does not seem to know that every man is under an obligation to free his country from foreign domination. In politics the writer would like to see Robespierre's creed acted upon everywhere.	5174

STATEMENT OF PENDING LEGISLATION.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said:—Gentlemen, the business before the Council to day is purely of a formal character, and refers to a proposal to submit the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Municipal affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta to a Select Committee; and, though introduced under this unassuming title, it is a subject which has been under the consideration of the Government and the public for a very long time, and has been examined by a Special Committee of which my hon. friend Mr. Reynolds was Chairman, and of which, I believe, two of our hon. colleagues were members. I think the result of all these discussions and examinations up to this point has clearly established the principle that it is desirable that the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta should be amalgamated in one Municipal Administration, on the general and broad ground that the interests of two communities so contiguous to each other are positively identical, especially as regards sanitary considerations. The Bill has passed through its earliest stages, leave has been given to introduce it, and it has been introduced. It has received the general affirmation of the Government of India; and upon this point I may refer to some misapprehension which has existed, and found expression in the papers, that recently we have received from the Secretary of State some communications which affected the Bill very seriously. I may say that up to yesterday no intimation of any kind had been received by me from the Secretary of State upon the subject. The Council may doubtless be aware that the rule which has been laid down by the Government of India as regards all local legislation is that, before a local Legislature can proceed to introduce any measure, it should submit, for the consideration of the Government of India, the general principles upon which the proposed legislation is based, and the Secretary of State has also expressed a wish that, in the case of all measures of extended scope and importance, he also may have an opportunity of seeing the lines upon which the measure is drawn, before the local Legislature proceeds to deal with it. If within two months from the time when the Bill is sent home no answer arrives, we understand that the Secretary of State is willing that we should proceed with it. In this case we have received an intimation from the Government of India that, although all the papers were sent to the Secretary of State some time ago, no reply had been received, and under these circumstances they have authorized us to proceed with the Bill, and have suggested in their letter certain matters for the consideration of the Council in dealing with the further progress of the measure. That letter will be laid before the Select Committee. One point which has pressed upon all who have been concerned in the matter, is the question of cost. We all agree that for general purposes, for sanitary purposes especially, the two Municipalities should now be brought under a single and united administration. The difficulty has arisen as to how a poor Municipality like that of the Suburbs can be brought under a system of control and direction from the Calcutta Municipality, without involving the rate-payers of Calcutta in heavy burdens. Obviously to do so would be very undesirable and improper, and the difficulty has been met by the Government undertaking to do what they have for a long time desired to do, that is, to relieve the Calcutta Municipality of the charge which they now bear for the Police of the Town. If that proposal is carried out, as I have no doubt it will be—it has been accepted by the Government of India—the Government of Bengal will assume responsibility for three lakhs of rupees a year, to which extent the Calcutta Municipality will be relieved. Those three lakhs of rupees may well be utilized in extending the advantages which Calcutta has received from its own Municipal administration to all parts of the Suburbs as far as they can be so used. It is not necessary for me at this stage of the proceedings to enter into any discussion or express any opinion as to the details of the Bill. I think we have chosen a Select Committee which is fairly representative of all interests; the only omission, I am sorry to mark, is the name of my hon. friend Mr. Reynolds, and with his permission I propose to add that also. So constituted, I think we shall have a Committee which represents all interests. For although we may be agreed and unanimous on the merits of the principle, it is a subject which, I freely admit, opens out opportunities for very wide differences of opinion as regards the details. I have suggested that the 10th of January should be fixed as the date on which the Committee should present their report. I recognize that that affords not so long a time as I could have wished; but in the present case the Government of India have made, it seems to me, the rather unusual request, to which I need not further allude at present, that the report of the Select Committee should be submitted to them before any further proceedings are taken with the measure. We shall have, therefore, to obey that order, and some delay may occur in obtaining the result of their consideration of the report, before we can finally proceed to dispose of the Bill. Clearly, in a measure of this extent and importance, we shall require at least six weeks or two months, after the Select Committee have concluded their enquiries, in order to deal with the matter in full Council; and if it is an object that the Bill should be passed within the present session, I hope we may come to the consideration of the measure in full Council by a date not later than February. Although I am unwilling to say anything as to the direction the Bill should take, I may perhaps simply, in a few words, express this view: that assuming that the constitution of the Town Council and of the Commissioners will be somewhat on the lines suggested already by the Government in dealing with the matter, as far as my personal views are concerned, I should be willing to concede that the fullest independence should be accorded to the Municipal Commissioners under this Bill to deal with all matters comprised in the Bill within the terms of the law, without any intervention on the part of the Government. I can assure you that, having had now nearly five years' experience of Bengal administration, and having had the subject of Municipal administration specially brought under my cognizance in all its forms, both in the mofussil and in Calcutta, there is nothing which the Lieutenant-Governor—I speak not for myself only, but any Lieutenant-Governor—is more glad to be relieved of than the duty of interference, partly on account of the extraordinary amount of work which it throws upon him in this matter of Municipal administration, and partly on the wider ground that it is the best to leave Municipal administration free from such interference. In very many places we have seen in the mofussil, where harmonious co-operation exists, the very best results accruing from the measure of independence we have conceded, and I have not the slightest doubt that if we are to frame a Bill upon sound and proper lines, the right course, and the only proper course, is to leave to the Municipal Commissioners the utmost freedom to deal with the affairs of the Municipality under the power which the law gives them, without the annoyance which results from the interference of Government. But having said this much, I must repeat what I have said on other occasions in reference to the Acts relating to mofussil Municipal administration, that there should be and there must be a provision in the Act which shall reserve to the Government the absolute power and right to intervene in all cases where circumstances show that, whether from apathy, or indifference, or from quarrels, or any other causes, the public interests are neglected; and when I say that a clause to that effect must be provided in the present Bill, I only give expression to that which obtains, I believe, in every legislation of the kind in any part of the world where Municipal institutions exist. I believe I am right in saying that, in English law, nothing is more clearly settled than that, while giving the freest independence to local bodies, there is at the head of them all a Board, presided over generally by a Cabinet Minister, which has the most absolute right of interfering in cases of the kind I have referred to. And if such is necessary in England, in a community where the population is homogeneous, I am sure that in a capital like Calcutta, where there are a thousand interests, different sections of natives of creed and colour, and a large body of Europeans, there should be an external power to intervene in cases where intervention is necessary.

There are two other items standing on the list of business, viz., the Bill to provide for the registration of permanent tenures, which is said to be in Select Committee; and the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Canongoes and Putwarris, which is also in Select Committee. The first was introduced as a measure of relief to the zemindars of the Province. When the Bengal Tenancy Act was under consideration, it was thought that the registration of tenures, if carried out, would afford relief to the zemindars in the realization of their rents, which was a constant subject of complaint; but since the Bill has been before the public, an expression of opinion generally prevails that the zemindars do not want it. As far as I am concerned, if the zemindars do not want the measure, although the provisions of the Bill are such that they have been supported strongly by the High Court, and especially by the late Chief Justice, if the zemindars do not want it, the Government will certainly not press it on them; and though I should not propose the absolute withdrawal of the Bill, it will not be proceeded with. Similarly as regards the Putwari Bill that was introduced in connection with the measure of cadastral survey throughout Behar. You are aware that the survey was initiated in Mozufferpore, and carried to a very successful conclusion, so far as regards the last cold weather, and is yielding good results. But the Secretary of State, for financial reasons, desired that the survey should be temporarily abandoned; and with its abandonment of course the Putwari Bill, as a measure subsidiary to that cadastral survey and record of rights, will also remain in abeyance. The Bill, therefore, will not be proceeded with this session.

It is also proposed to introduce a Bill for the survey of the town of Calcutta. The last survey of Calcutta was made in the year 1847. It may readily be imagined, therefore, that the results of that survey are now almost useless. The subject was considered by a small Committee presided over by Mr. Cotton, with Mr. A. Forbes and Biboo Gopal Lal Mitter as members, with the result that they drafted the Bill which is the basis of the measure which will be brought into this Council. The reasons generally are that, during the past thirty years, many changes have occurred with regard to Government holdings in Calcutta, which have been in many instances subdivided and amalgamated, so that it is necessary to have them again demarcated and their boundaries defined. The number of those holdings is 11,984. A new survey is also desired by Government on account of its topographical utility. But, as Mr. Cotton has reported, the measure is more necessary in the interests of the Municipality than it is in those of the Government; and it is for this reason that the Municipal Commissioners have agreed to pay a large share of the cost of the work. We have been in communication with the Government of India, and have obtained their sanction to the employment of a professional party for the conduct of the work, which we intend to commence as soon as we are given the power to proceed. My hon. friend Mr. Reynolds will take charge of the Bill, and I hope it will be passed into law with as little delay as possible.

Then there is a Bill to provide for the regulation of the rural police in the Chota Nagpore Division. The Police there are on a different footing to those in any other part of the province, on account of the backward condition of the division. Without entering into the practical details of the Bill, which is a very small measure, I may say that power is required to give assistance to the headmen now employed in collecting the police dues and to legalize the agency which they employ, and also to increase the actual assessment of those villages from 15 to 20 per cent., in order to admit of funds being available. It is, as I have said, a very small measure, but it is one of considerable importance to that part of the country.

It is also intended to introduce a Bill to create a Port Trust for Chittagong. You may be aware that the trade of that port has within recent years developed and grown to a very marvellous extent. Chittagong is situated on the river only sixteen miles from the sea. It possesses a very fair harbour, and has now risen to a position in which circumstances justify us in establishing some kind of special body to regulate the affairs of the port: and after considerable consultation, it has been decided to introduce a Port Trust on the lines of the bodies constituted in places like Rangoon, Kurrachee, and other ports. The elective principle will be introduced, as far as possible, in the selection of the mercantile members of the Trust; and when that is established, you may be sure that, as in all other cases, and as in Calcutta especially, the means will be available to the Port Commissioners for introducing all the appliances which are so necessary and useful for the development of mercantile interests in a place like Chittagong.

That, and another Bill of a similar character, which is to amend the present Calcutta Port Trust Act with a view to establish the principle of election by the Chamber of Commerce of mercantile members, will be in charge of my hon. friend Mr. Macaulay. I may say, with regard to this latter Bill, that I received a representation from a gentleman belonging to the mercantile community in Calcutta, in February or March last, taking exception to the practice of the Government reserving in its own hands the right of nomination of all the members of the Calcutta Port Trust. I pointed out to him that, whatever I might personally wish in the matter, any compliance with the representation was barred by the Act of 1870, under which all members of the Port Trust were to be appointed by the Local Government; but I said, what I have always said, that, as regards the appointment of Port Commissioners connected with the mercantile communities, I should be always glad to discover the wish of the Chamber of Commerce. Upon that principle I have always acted. It has since been stated that it is desirable to place upon the Statute book power to the Chamber of Commerce to elect their own representatives; and though at first it was suggested to me that the Chamber of Commerce did not represent the whole of the mercantile community of Calcutta, I have since been informed that those interests which are not represented in the Chamber of Commerce are practically so few that they need not be considered in a Bill of this kind. Therefore, I purpose by the amending Bill to establish twelve members of the Port Commission in addition to the Chairman: four members to be elected by the Chamber of Commerce, one by the Trade's Association, two members will always be natives, and then there will be left five to be nominated by Government to represent not only the official element, but also interests like those of the railways, and large shipping interests which possibly do not find a place in the Chamber. I have received from the Secretary of the Chamber the expression of the opinion of the Chamber that they are ready to accept a Bill based on these lines, and I hope in a very short time to be able to say that we have passed the measure.

I will now call upon the hon Mr. Harrison to make the motion which stands in his name.

CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY.

The HON. MR. HARRISON said that the Municipal Bill had now been before the public for the greater part of the year, and it would probably be not out of place if he made a few remarks on its present position. He had pointed out, on a previous occasion, that the Bill consisted of two very unequal parts: first, the portion which contained the constitution of the proposed enlarged Municipality and the general outlines of the terms upon which the amalgamation was to take place; and, secondly, the rest of the Bill, which proscribed the procedure for the guidance of the Municipality on all other matters. It had then been explained that the larger portion of the Bill had not up to that time been recast. But it was clearly recognised that the part of the Bill with which the public would be generally most interested would be that which marked out the lines of the future constitution of the Municipality, and therefore that portion was fully prepared. Other parts were reserved for the receipt of reports from Committees of the Corporation and the Suburbs, besides other bodies, and for such leisure as to the details as he might be able to give to it for he need scarcely say that a Bill of this kind required very full consideration on many matters of detail which were of little interest to the public, but of very great practical importance. He was now prepared to go on with the second part, which the Committee would have to consider in detail. That portion was not at present before the public; but what was before them, and what had been before them for the last six months, was the constitution of the new body. He would therefore on this occasion confine his remarks entirely to that part of the Bill, and say nothing as regards the other portion till the labours of the Committee had terminated.

His Honor had already stated that the necessity for the measure had now been generally admitted. It was a measure which, by its very nature, was bound to elicit criticism from all sides. In the first place the inhabitants of the Suburbs apprehended an increase of taxation, and the inhabitants of Calcutta apprehended additional burdens on account of the improvements necessary in the Suburbs. All those who thought that the system introduced in 1876 had been a failure desired to see that system more or less undone. On the other hand, those who thought it a success desired to see it still further extended. But this Bill, as regarded the constitution of the Corporation, was for the most part constructed on the old lines. On these grounds he could scarcely hope that it would satisfy any one. Looking to the certainty that the views of parties were likely to be extreme, he did not think he was wrong in saying that a Bill which satisfied no party was probably the fairest and most equitable measure. The Act of 1876 had been introduced with considerable hesitation. They knew that the then Chairman of the Municipality made no secret of his being strongly opposed to the elective system, especially on the ground, as he stated, that the improvements in the Municipality would come to a standstill. He said that all the great measures of reform which had been introduced had been introduced against the wishes of the people of the Town, and that every one of them, in the first instance, had been opposed, though after a time the value of nearly all had been admitted. Therefore he said that if the elective system was introduced, it was certain the work of the Municipality must come to a standstill. On the other hand, there were many who anticipated that the system would be satisfactory in the highest degree. The results showed that the views of neither party were entirely wrong nor entirely right. As was foreseen, the main object of the elected Commissioners was at first economy, and that had been markedly the case for the first year or two.

But, on the other hand, those who were opposed to the elective system did not allow sufficiently for the extremely valuable effects of practical experience on the education of those who were engaged in Municipal administration; they did not realise how soon a sense of responsibility would grow up among the Commissioners when called upon, when pressed on all sides to carry out improvements, and to consider the welfare of the Town, and that there would gradually grow up a conviction that economy was not the only object at which to aim, and that after a time the new Municipality would begin to follow on the lines of the old Justices. This had proved to be the actual result: for he was glad to say that very considerable work had been done by the Commissioners, of which the public were not fully aware, chiefly for this reason. The work which was done by the old Justices was work done in the south of the Town, before the eyes of those who criticised them, and the work which was now taken up was work which was done in the northern part of the Town, where it was more withdrawn from view, and where those in the south were not conscious that it was going on. Of this work Mr. Harrison thought he could give a very fair test. The accounts which were kept by the official auditors, and which were above suspicion, showed as "block" the total amount of the work done by the present Commissioners; that was the total amount of permanent work done. The debt, on the other hand, showed clearly the amount to which the Corporation had mortgaged its resources for the purpose of carrying out those works. The result of the assessment, although by no means perfect, was also a very fair test of the increasing value of the Town. So here there was, first, the means of showing how much money had been spent; then they could see how far the Corporation, to carry out permanent works, had mortgaged its resources; and, lastly, they had a practical test for the purpose of showing how far the value of the Town property had increased or decreased during the period covered by the improvements.

The figures as to these particulars were as follow:—The cost of the work done in the twelve-and-a-half years of the Justices was 170 lakhs in round numbers. The cost of the work done during the nine-and-a-quarter years up to the period of the last year of the Commissioners was 68 lakhs. So that, whereas the average yearly rate of work during the time of the Justices was Rs. 13,60,000, the average rate in the time of the Commissioners had been Rs. 7,30,000. Now, as by law they were only bound to spend Rs. 1,50,000 on permanent works annually, this, he thought, clearly showed that it was an entire mistake to suppose that they had been entirely negligent or idle. As regarded debt, the gross debt in the time of the Justices was nearly the same as it was now; but against this they had a large reserve fund, which was now gone in paying off debts. Allowing for this, the Justices had borrowed 119 lakhs, with which they carried on work to the extent of 170 lakhs. The Commissioners had augmented the debt by only 27½ lakhs, and showed work done to the extent of 68 lakhs, so that they had, proportionately to the work done, mortgaged the revenues of the Town less than their predecessors. He did not say this was wise, because the amount borrowed increased the value of the property of the Town; but it showed that the management had been prudent and economical. Lastly, as to the value of the Town. The assessed value of the Town was 85 lakhs when the Justices first came into existence, and it rose to 123 lakhs during the 12½ years of their reign. In the time of the Commissioners, the value had been augmented to 141 lakhs. If they multiplied it by 16 years' purchase, which was probably the fairest multiplier in the case of bricks and mortar, the value of the Town had increased by 614 lakhs, whereas, in the time of the Commissioners, the value of the Town had increased by 296 lakhs. Though the rate of progress was thus better under the Justices, proportionately better value had been obtained under the Commissioners. Therefore the apprehension that the work of improvement would come to a standstill had not been fulfilled. On the contrary, it had been shown that, as the Commissioners had become more experienced and learned more of the necessities of the Town, they had, in spite of the demands of their clients on the side of economy, found their way to spend very considerable sums, which had been laid out to very great advantage indeed, so much so that the assessed value of the Town had risen more than ten rupees for every rupee of augmented debt.

Having said this, he felt bound to say something in reply to those who argued that, if this elective system had produced all these results—if it had worked so well—it should be extended more fully. On this point he was justified in making some remarks, because it was well-known that he held a very strong opinion on this point. Calcutta differed entirely from small homogeneous municipalities in the mofussil, such for instance as Midnapur or Burdwan or Krishnagar. In those towns, if the people came forward and petitioned the Government that, as the elective system had worked well, they should have a larger proportion of elected Commissioners, the main question would be whether the contention was true, and if true, the prayer might be granted. In Calcutta the problem was totally different. It was the capital of the whole Empire during part of the year. It was also the seat of the Government of the wealthiest province of the Empire, containing a population of 70 millions. Besides that, its wealth was entirely due to its commercial and trading bodies, and it was no exaggeration to say that, if its trade was taken away, the value of the land in it would fall 75 per cent. In Madras land was not one quarter of the value it was in Calcutta. Calcutta was the chief commercial city on this side of India, and it was probably the medium by which exports and imports for scarcely less than 100 millions of people found their way out of and into the country. On the other hand, the permanent residents of Calcutta did not exceed 250,000, the remainder being attracted to it by its trade. Therefore, it was evident that the Government were perfectly justified in safeguarding all those large interests which had contributed so much to the wealth and importance of the city; that they had to look to those interests, and not merely to the interests of the residents. Under these circumstances, the proportion to be nominated by the Government was intended to represent those views and those interests which would not find adequate representation by mere election, and also those large minorities which similarly might be more or less ousted by it. He was perfectly certain that the work done would be far better done if the interests of those minorities were carefully conserved, than if they were ignored. Individually he was bound to say that he hardly thought one-third was sufficient. If the question was a perfectly open one, he thought it would be doubtful whether the system of election ought not to be cast on somewhat different lines, which would more equitably represent all interests and communities than mere numbers and parallelograms. But it was very difficult to undo what had existed for ten years. It was a great mistake to say that those who believed in the necessity for these safeguards therefore distrusted the people. The greatest of all advocates of Liberalism, Mr. Gladstone, defining on one occasion Liberalism and Conservatism, said that the latter was distrust tempered by fear, while Liberalism was trust tempered by caution. Whether this definition of Conservatism was a fair one or not it was unnecessary to say, but Mr. Gladstone admitted clearly that in his own policy trust must be tempered with caution. All Mr. Harrison asked for was that the policy of Government should be trust tempered by caution. It would no doubt be said that the Hindus formed a very large proportion of the inhabitants, and that the representatives of this religion should be in proportion to their numbers. He could hardly conceive that people who used that argument could have any appreciation of the real problem which lay before them. There was no possible reason why representation should be entirely according to numbers, and not according to capital and interests. The elective system should be so managed that no party should be left with an overwhelming majority. He spoke from considerable experience, and he said that this was the best way of providing for the welfare of the Corporation. In ordinary cases there would be no difficulty, but every now and then questions came up in which the interests were wider than personal. In these cases it was of great importance that one community should not have a preponderating voice. It was well known that the Hindu members of the Corporation were the most energetic, active, and painstaking, and had taken a greater share in the work of the Town than others, and on that ground alone wielded greater influence. This was unquestionably true. Therefore it was argued that, if the Hindus had proved to be pre-eminent by their attention to business, their capacity for details and experience, instead of having four to seven, a proportion of three to four would be better. He said deliberately that, though the Hindus worked hardest, at the same time, if they had been more numerous, instead of doing better, they would have done worse—if less, they would have done better. This might sound paradoxical, but the reason was that if they were more numerous they could exercise their supremacy by the effect of mere numbers, when less numerous they must do so by the goodness of their cause and a knowledge of their case; if more numerous they would be more tempted to yield to interest and prejudice. He had said that Calcutta was not like a mofussil town, where the Government could leave its interests entirely in the hands of the Commissioners. But he might be allowed to draw attention to a further point. It had been over and over recognised that Calcutta was a field in which the capacity of the people for administration could be tested. He hoped that this capacity would ere long find a wider field. At present this was the largest arena. That being so, it was specially in their interests that the qualities for carrying on the administration should be acquired under favourable conditions. If it was possible for prejudice to carry weight without reference to reason or argument, it was certain that the quality of the Commissioners would fall off.

He had one more word to say. A new system of qualification had been introduced by the law. Previously all who paid a certain amount of rates were entitled to vote. Now all who held property of a certain amount a year, or who took out licenses, were entitled to vote. The reason for this change was one of very great importance. Under the old system it was perfectly impossible for the Corporation to prepare lists of those who were entitled to vote. The preparation of these lists rested before entirely in the hands of the candidates and their agents. He was glad to find that there was no serious opposition to the proposed change. Under the new system it was possible to have a list prepared of those entitled to vote independently of the assistance of the candidates or their agents, and many who had hitherto not voted would now find themselves enrolled.

He moved that the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Reynolds, the Hon'ble Mr. Macaulay, the Hon'ble Mr. Allen, the Hon'ble Moulvie Abdul Jabbar, the Hon'ble Mr. Irving, the Hon'ble Baboo Kali Nath Mitter, and the mover, with instructions to submit their report on the 10th of January next.

THE HON'BLE MR. IRVING said—Sir, I have no intention of occupying much of the time of the Council, but I have great pleasure in expressing my cordial approval of the main objects of the Bill. There can be no doubt that the time has come when the Suburbs must be amalgamated under one municipal system with the city of Calcutta, if we are to derive full advantage from the schemes of improvement which have lately been introduced in the city, and if the general standard of health is to be raised. At present it is not too much to say that the good work of sanitation that has been wrought by the Calcutta Municipality is to a large extent neutralised by the condition of the Suburbs, and that, until the amalgamation scheme is carried out, we have failed to take a very obvious precaution against occasional visitations of very deadly disease. It is all the more incumbent upon us to take every possible precaution to guard against the recurrence of such outbreaks, as the city is the centre of vast commercial interests which are very directly affected by the question of health. Only the other day the Egyptian Board of Health placed arrivals from Calcutta under quarantine, and the loss and inconvenience which are thus caused are no light matter, and have an important bearing not only on the welfare of Calcutta, but on the trade and commerce of the country at large. Appreciating as I do to the full the necessity for such a measure as the present, and approving of the main features of the Bill, I cannot now refrain from stating that there are certain important points in which I think it will bear improvement. The constitution of the proposed Municipal body is a matter of the very greatest importance, and I think experience has clearly shown that the smaller and more compact the Municipality the better it is for all working purposes. It seems to me that Europeans and Anglo-Indians should have an equal voice with the Natives in the Municipal government of the city, and it is gratifying to know that the hon. member in charge of the Bill so far agrees in this. ●

It is also a question whether a Town Council within the Municipality will work as well as a set of special standing Committees having charge of the various departments of municipal administration. The latter plan is certainly found to work well in England, and there is good reason to believe that small Committees, dealing with special matters, will be able to do so with great efficiency.

Again, the sections of the Bill respecting sanitation, buildings, and bastis will all require very close attention, which they will no doubt receive in Committee. There are certain important questions in connection with these sections which will have to be very carefully considered, but when this is duly done, the measure will I doubt not be one that will commend itself to all sections of the community.

The motion was then put to the vote and agreed to.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 4th December next.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON EMIGRATION FROM INDIA TO THE COLONIES DURING THE LAST NINE MONTHS OF 1885.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—COLONIAL EMIGRATION.

Calcutta, the 7th December 1886.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report by the Protector of Emigrants on Emigration to British and Foreign Colonies during the last nine months of 1885.

The Protector's report was not submitted until six weeks after the date on which it was due, and the delay has not been explained. The previous report was for the financial year 1884-85; but as it has now been decided that in dealing with Colonial Emigration the calendar year shall be followed, the present returns give the operations of nine months only, April to December 1885; and in the comparison instituted by the Protector, only the corresponding nine months of the previous year have been considered.

2. Emigration was still regulated by Act VII of 1871 during the year under review. Act XXI of 1883, which has now taken its place, did not come into force until the 1st April 1886, owing to the necessity of framing rules of which the working of the Act depends, so as to bring them into harmony both with the provisions of the law, and with the views of the Colonial Governments, as represented by their accredited Agents in Calcutta. In August 1885 a Conference was held, in which the Agents for all Colonies now receiving Indian emigrants took part, and most of the alterations suggested by the Conference were adopted by Government and finally incorporated in the rules. Dr. Grant should take special notice of the working of the new rules in his report for 1886.

3. The year was marked by a striking falling off in the demand for Indian labourers. Of ten colonies which sent requisitions in 1884-85, seven ceased to do so altogether during the year under report, namely, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Grenada, Natal, Mauritius, Surinam, and Guadeloupe; while of the three remaining, Demerara, Trinidad, and Fiji, the two former indented for a smaller number. On the whole, requisitions were received for 6,430 coolies against 18,639 in 1884-85, and an average of 14,734 in the four preceding years. The falling off is not explained in the Protector's report, but is understood to be due to the declining state of the sugar industry, in which the emigrants are mainly employed. In Jamaica it appears that the abandonment of the system is connected, also, with the introduction of representative legislation in the island, the importation under Government auspices of foreign workmen being distasteful to a large part of the population, as reducing the prospect of the employment of the local labourers on remunerative terms. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that in spite of the decline elsewhere there has been an increased demand for Indian labour in Fiji, for the proximity of these islands to Australia and New Zealand give them a special value as future fields for emigration. The great colonies beyond the Indian Ocean are somewhat nearer to this country than are the other settlements to which coolies are taken; ordinary wages in that region are very high, and there is an amount of reclaimable land which suggests the possibility of emigration at some future time on a scale large enough to give appreciable relief to the over-populated districts of Bengal.

4. The cases in which it was found necessary to punish licensed recruiters were not excessive in number, and the Lieutenant-Governor has no reason to doubt that, under the system as at present administered, sufficient precautions are taken against the danger of ignorant persons being enlisted under false pretences. Of 306 licenses six were cancelled—two for working in partnership with a debarred recruiter, two for recruiting married women, one for detaining two girls found by the registering officer to be minors, and one for instigating a woman to pass off some of her children as those of another female recruit. The 306 recruiters collected 7,567 persons, an average of 24.1 to each recruiter.

5. Classified according to districts of registration, the largest number of emigrants were found, as usual, in the 24-Pergunnahs (945); but Patna (918) and Shahabad (830) approximated very closely in this respect to the metropolitan district. Benares (826), Gya (612), and Allahabad (489) come next in order: and no other district registered as many as 400 emigrants. The North-Western Provinces formerly supplied the largest number of emigrants, but during the last two years Bengal has headed the list, and in the year under report 4,692 emigrants were recruited in Bengal, while the North-Western Provinces only supplied 2,223. Dr. Grant attributes the change in great measure to continued dearness of food in Bengal and Behar; but some allowance should also be made for the natural tendency in the Emigration Agencies to work the nearer and more accessible districts first, to save the expense of going to a greater distance to secure the labour required. In a year in which so few coolies were needed, it could hardly have been necessary to recruit as actively as formerly in the North-West. If a further classification be made according to the native districts of the recruits, it will appear that Gya sent the largest number, 980, Shahabad 879, Patna 684, Monghyr 341, and Ghazipur, in the North-Western Provinces, 338. These five districts form a compact tract, thickly populated by a fine and enterprising race, and may be looked upon as the most promising recruiting ground in Hindustan. Of districts in the North-Western Provinces, Ghazipur, with 338, stands first. As regards possible competition between recruiters for the colonies and the labour-districts of Assam, Dr. Grant remarks—

“From a consideration of the facts that recruitment for the colonies was most active in Bengal and Behar during those five months—June to October—when recruitment for the tea districts was least active; that it began to decrease rapidly in November when recruitment for the tea districts began to increase; that the class of coolies (chiefly Beharis) collected for the colonies differed from the class (chiefly Bengalis) collected for the tea districts, it would appear that competition between colonial and inland recruiters must have been comparatively trifling.”

6. Seven thousand four hundred and eighteen out of the 7,567 persons recruited were admitted into depôt. Of the casualties accounting for this decrease, 119 were desertions, an unusually large proportion; and there were 337 more desertions after arrival at the depôt, a percentage of 4.13 to 2.58 in the corresponding period of the previous year. The Protector attributes this to the desire to emigrate being less strong than in the previous year, and to the greater number of rejections, the intimate companions of those rejected being disposed to desert. The number rejected by the agencies as unfit was 1,126, or 13.80 per cent. of the whole, against 11.70 per cent. in the previous year. Dr. Grant suggests that sickness leading to increased rejections was more prevalent than in the preceding year: but as the mortality was less, it is probable that the Agents were more ready to refuse doubtful cases, being able to select with greater strictness the small number required. The health of the emigrants was good on the whole, the general average mortality being below the usual figures; but the disease recently diagnosed as cerebro-spinal fever appeared with fatal results in the Demerara depôt. The following remarks of the Officiating Medical Inspector on the subject are quoted by the Protector:—

“This disease has recently been recognised as occurring throughout India in a non-epidemic form, and has usually been looked upon as remittent fever of bad type with cerebral symptoms. Post-mortem examinations, which can rarely be performed except in jails, have shown conclusively that the disease, cerebro-spinal fever, is widely spread throughout the country, and occurs both in the hot and rainy season, and in the cold dry weather, both in Lower Bengal and Upper India.”

Dr. Grant adds—“Considering that Bengal and Behar, the principal source whence the supply of labour was drawn, were even more unhealthy during the last nine months of 1885 than during the corresponding nine months of the previous year, and that the increased sickness and mortality in these provinces, especially during the last six months of 1885, was due chiefly to fever, the greater prevalence of and mortality from this disease in the depôts is traceable to its greater prevalence and fatality generally throughout the Lower Provinces.”

Including the balance of the previous year, there were 8,157 persons in depôt; death and desertions reduced this number by 410, and 1,858 were discharged for various reasons by the agencies. The number eventually despatched was 5,884, or 72·13 per cent. of the whole number recruited. The average period of detention was longest in the Fiji depôt, 39 days. The Protector explains this by referring to two cases in which illness necessitated a stay of 130 days. But even excluding these two cases, the average period during which the rest of the persons who actually embarked for Fiji were detained was 38·6 days. The Emigration Agent for Fiji should be requested to furnish the Protector with further information on this head. The sanitary condition of the depôts is reported to have been satisfactory throughout the year.

7. Of the 5,884 emigrants who actually embarked for the colonies, 3,502 were men, 1,560 women, and 822 children. Four hundred and eighteen of both sexes and all ages were "return emigrants," the majority having come back to India from Demerara, Trinidad, and Surinam. The rule regulating the proportion of women to men in each shipment was fully complied with, and it is satisfactory to note that the Demerara Agency was able to forward 149 women over and above the prescribed number. The aggregate mortality on the voyages was 109—a percentage of 1·85 on the whole number embarked. On five of the ten ships the death-rate was below 1 per cent., but the total average was raised by rates of 4·25 and 2·60 on board two vessels for Demerara, due to the prevalence of fever of the cerebro-spinal type during the early part of the voyage, and by a considerable mortality among infants and young children in two other cases. The Protector has already been requested to hold a special medical enquiry into the cases of cerebro-spinal fever reported on the outward voyages.

8 Four thousand two hundred and thirty-three emigrants re-embarked from the colonies for India during the period under review, bringing with them the considerable sum of Rs. 4,67,6⁵/₁₀₀—an average of Rs. 111-0-11 per head. 5,884 emigrants having embarked during the year, and 4,077 (excluding deaths on the voyage) having returned, the net result of the nine months' operations was that emigration from the Port of Calcutta reduced the population of India by only 1,807. Those returning from Demerara brought most money—their savings averaging Rs. 254-9-11 each, while the Mauritius emigrants returned with only Rs. 42-10-2 each—an amount far below the average of the last few years. The Protector notices a clerical error in his annual report of the previous year. The true aggregate amount of savings brought from the French colony of Guadeloupe in 1884-85 was Rs. 81,332, giving an average of Rs. 78 to each returning emigrant, not Re. 0-12-6 as erroneously entered. The death-rate on the return voyages, as usual, ranged higher than on outward voyages, and on board the Neva, bringing emigrants back from Guadeloupe, the mortality reached so high a figure as 9·87 per cent. of the whole number on board. The mortality on the two previous return voyages from Guadeloupe was also excessive, and the explanation given, the feeble health of many of the passengers, seems to indicate that the country is not one in which Indian coolies thrive.

9. An important and burdensome part of the Protector's duties is the tracing of heirs to the vacant estates of emigrants dying in the colonies. Of a total amount of Rs. 16,377-11-8, Rs. 6,137-13-3 is reported to have been paid, or to be in course of payment, and for Rs. 1,590-5-9 no heirs can be found, and the remainder (Rs. 8,649-8-8) is under enquiry. Considering the difficulties placed in the way of these investigations by the prevalence among emigrants of the custom of giving false particulars of names and residence on leaving India, these results are fairly satisfactory.

Dr. Grant performed his duty as Protector of Emigrants very efficiently during the year.

(g) for otherwise carrying out the purposes of this Act;

And may from time to time, with the like sanction, repeal or alter such rules.

Such rules when sanctioned shall be published in such manner as the Local Government may direct, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

18. Within the limits of the port, pilots in charge of vessels shall obey all lawful orders issued to them by the Commissioners in respect to such vessels.

19. The Commissioners shall make a sufficient number of landing-places within the port, from and upon which the public may be permitted to embark and land free of charge.

20. The Commissioners may occupy or remove or alter any bathing-place or landing-place within the port, and prohibit the public from resorting to or using such bathing-place or landing place:

Provided that the Commissioners shall provide for the use of the public such other bathing-places or landing-places, if any, as the Local Government may, by notification, direct.

21. For the expeditious and convenient landing and shipment of goods from and in sea-going vessels within the port, and for the storing of such goods, the Commissioners may provide and maintain sufficient wharves, quays, stages, jetties, piers, warehouses and sheds, and sufficient servants and appliances, and may by their servants land and ship goods from and in any such vessel coming to such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier, except where there is a lawful excuse for refusing to land or ship such goods, or such vessel is under any enactment for the time being in force not entitled to have her cargo shipped or discharged:

(a) the Commissioners shall not be bound to land, ship or move any single article or package exceeding ten tons or twenty hundredweight in weight, except at such special charge as may be agreed on in respect of such article or package;

(b) the Commissioners may, by special agreement with the masters of vessels or the owners of goods, permit goods to be landed and shipped by others than the servants of the Commissioners.

22. When any wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier has been made and completed, with sufficient warehouses, sheds and appliances for loading and shipping, or for landing or or shipping goods from and in sea-going vessels, the Commissioners may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, by a notification published in three consecutive numbers of the Calcutta Gazette, declare that such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier is ready for receiving, landing and shipping, or for landing or for shipping, as the case may be, goods from and in sea-going vessels.

From and after such publication the Commissioners may from time to time, when there is room at such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier, order to come alongside of such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier for the purpose of landing and shipping goods, or for landing or for shipping the same, as the case may be, any sea-going vessel within the port which has not commenced to discharge cargo, or which, being about to take in cargo, has not commenced to take in cargo.

23. When a sufficient number of wharves, quays, stages, jetties, piers, warehouses, sheds and appliances have been provided as aforesaid, the Commissioners may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, by an order published in three consecutive numbers of the Calcutta Gazette, direct that no goods shall be landed or shipped from or in sea-going vessels within the port, save at such wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers.

The Commissioners may in like manner, with the like sanction, alter, vary, or revoke such order.

24. When any wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier for receiving, landing or shipping goods from or in vessels, not being sea-going vessels, has been made and completed by the Commissioners, with sufficient warehouses, sheds and appliances in that behalf, the Commissioners may, with the sanction of the Local Government, by an order published in three consecutive numbers of the Calcutta Gazette, declare that such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier is ready for receiving, landing and shipping goods from or in vessels, not being sea-going vessels, and that, within certain prescribed limits within the port to be specified in such order, it shall not be lawful to land or ship any goods from or in any vessel, not being a sea-going vessel, of any class specified in such order, except at such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier, or for any such vessel while within such limits to anchor, fasten or lie within fifty yards of low-water mark without the consent of the Commissioners.

If after such publication any such vessel, while within such limits, so anchors, fastens or lays, the Commissioners may cause the same to be removed out of the said limits.

The Commissioners may in like manner, with the like sanction, alter, vary or revoke any such order.

25. The Commissioners may, by notice in writing, order the master or owner of any vessel to remove such vessel from any wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier belonging to the Commissioners, and unless such vessel is removed therefrom within thirty-six hours after service of such notice on the master or owner thereof, the Commissioners may charge in respect of such vessel such sum as they think fit not exceeding one hundred rupees for each day of twenty-four hours or portion of such day after the expiry of such thirty-six hours during which such vessel remains at such wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier.

26. Notwithstanding anything contained in sections twenty-two, twenty-three and twenty-four, the Local Government may, by notification, from time to time permit certain specified vessels or classes of vessels to discharge or ship cargo, or certain specified cargo or classes of cargo, at such part of the port, in such manner, during such period, subject to such payments and on such conditions, as the Local Government may think fit, and otherwise grant exemption from the provisions of such sections.

The Local Government may also, by like notification, cancel or modify any such notification.

27. Whenever any goods are landed by the Commissioners from any vessel, the Commissioners shall, if so required, give to the master of such vessel a receipt in the form set forth, or to the effect set forth, in the second schedule of this Act, and may in any such receipt include all goods landed from such vessel during one day:

Provided that no master or owner of a vessel, from which the goods in respect of which such receipt is given may have been landed, shall be liable for any loss or damage to such goods which may occur after they have been so landed.

28. When the Local Government appoints, under the provisions of any Act for the regulation of duties of customs, any wharf, quay, stage, jetty, pier, warehouse or shed provided under this Act for the use of sea-going vessels to be a wharf for the landing or shipping, or a warehouse for the storing, of goods within the meaning of such Act, the Commissioners shall set apart, maintain and secure on or in such wharf, quay, stage, jetty, pier, warehouse or shed such portion thereof or place herein, or adjoining thereto, for the use of the officers of Customs as the Local Government approves of or appoints in that behalf.

29. Notwithstanding that any wharf, quay, stage, jetty, pier, warehouse or shed or portion thereof, has, under the provisions of the last foregoing section, been set apart for the use of the officers of Customs, all dues, rates, tolls, charges and rents payable under this Act in respect thereof, or for the use thereof, or for the stowage of goods therein, shall be paid and be payable to the Commissioners or to such persons as they may appoint to receive such dues, rates, tolls, charges or rents.

30. Save as is hereinafter provided, no person except the Commissioners shall, after the date on which this Act comes into force, make, erect or fix below high-water mark within the port any wharf, dock, quay, stage, jetty, pier, erection or mooring.

Any matter or thing so made, erected or fixed may be removed by the Commissioners, and the person who has so made, erected or fixed any such matter or thing shall be punished with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and with a further fine which may extend to one hundred rupees for every day during which such matter or thing has been permitted to remain so made, erected or fixed after notice to remove it, has been given to him, and shall also be liable to pay all expenses which may have been incurred by the Commissioners in removing such matter or thing.

31. The Commissioners may, by an order in writing, and subject to the conditions contained in the same, permit any person to make, erect or fix below high-water mark within the port any wharf, dock, quay, stage, jetty, pier, erection or mooring.

32. In case any wharf, dock, quay, stage, jetty, wharves, &c., beyond pier, erection or mooring part limits, is, after the date on which this Act comes into force, without the consent in writing of the Commissioners, made, erected or fixed below high-water mark without the limits for the time being of the port, and thereafter the limits of the port are extended so as to include the place in which such wharf, dock, quay, stage, jetty, pier, erection or mooring has been made, erected or fixed, the Commissioners may remove, fix up or destroy such wharf, dock, quay, stage, jetty, pier, erection or mooring without making any compensation therefor.

33. The Commissioners shall frame—

(a) A scale of tolls, dues, rates and charges for Scale of tolls and the landing and shipment charges to be framed. of goods from and in sea-going vessels and vessels not being sea-going vessels respectively, at the wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers, and for the use of such wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers by such vessels, and for the storing and keeping of any goods stored in any premises belonging to the Commissioners, and for the removal of goods, and for the use of any mooring.

(b) A scale of tolls for the use of the said wharves, quays, moorings, stages, jetties and piers by any such vessels, in case the Commissioners permit the goods to be landed or shipped by others than their own servants.

(c) A scale of charges for any services to be performed by the Commissioners or their servants in respect of any vessels or goods, or for the use of any works or appliances to be provided by the Commissioners.

Such scales shall be submitted to the Local Government, and, after approval or modification by the Local Government, shall be published by the Commissioners in the Calcutta Gazette.

The Commissioners may from time to time in like manner, with the like approval or modification and publication, alter such scales.

Every such scale shall be printed in the English and Bengalee languages and characters, and shall be hung up, and kept hung up, in some conspicuous place at the several wharves, quays, stages, jetties, piers, warehouses and sheds.

34. For the amount of all tolls, dues, rates and charges levied under this Act in respect of goods, the Commissioners shall have a lien on such goods, and shall be entitled to sell and dispose of them until such tolls, dues, rates and charges are fully paid.

Tolls, dues, rates and charges in respect of goods to be landed shall become payable immediately on the landing of the goods, and in respect of goods to be removed from the premises of the Commissioners or to be shipped for export, shall be payable before the goods are removed or shipped.

The lien for such tolls, dues, rates and charges shall have priority over all other liens and claims, except a lien for freight, primage and general average where such lien has been preserved in the manner hereinafter provided, and a lien for money payable to Her Majesty or the Secretary of State for India in Council under any law for the time being in force.

35. If the master or owner of any vessel, at or before the time of landing from such vessel of any goods at any wharf, quay, stage, jetty or pier, gives to the Commissioners notice in writing that such goods are to remain subject to a lien for freight, primage or general average of an amount to be mentioned in such notice, such goods shall continue liable after the landing thereof to such lien.

Such goods shall be retained either in the warehouses and sheds of the Commissioners, or, with the consent of the Chief Officer of Customs, in the public warehouses, at the risk and expense of the owners of the said goods, until the lien is discharged as hereinafter mentioned.

36. Upon the production to any officer appointed by the Commissioners in that behalf of a document purporting to be a receipt for, or a release from, the amount of such lien, executed by the person by or on whose behalf such notice has been given, the Commissioners may permit such goods to be removed without regard to such lien.

Provided that they shall have used reasonable care in respect of the authenticity of such document.

37. Whenever goods have, without any default on the part of the Commissioners, been left for two clear days on or in any wharf or shed belonging to the Commissioners, the Commissioners may cause such goods to be removed either to any warehouse belonging to them, or, with the consent of the Chief Officer of Customs, to the public warehouses; and the removal to and detention in any such warehouse shall be at the risk and expense of the owners of the said goods.

Whenever any goods are so removed, the Commissioners shall give notice to the consignee or owner of such goods of such removal, if his address be known, by letter sent by post to such address or left thereat; and shall also publish by notification and in the local newspaper or newspapers notice of such removal, and shall specify therein the numbers, marks and descriptions of such goods so far as the same appear; and the consignee or owner of such goods, in addition to the expenses of their removal, shall be liable, in case the goods are removed to any warehouse of the Commissioners, to a charge for warehousing for the time during which the goods shall remain in the said warehouse.

If the goods are removed to the public warehouses, the said consignee or owner shall be liable for the charges for warehousing goods in such public warehouses; and the said goods shall remain subject to all liens to which they would have been liable if they had remained in the possession of the Commissioners, and shall be subject to the power of sale hereinafter given.

38. If the tolls, dues, rates and charges payable to the Commissioners in respect of any goods under this Act are not paid, or if the lien for freight, primage or general average where such notice as aforesaid has been given is not discharged, the Commissioners may, and in the latter event, if required by or on behalf of the person claiming such lien for freight, primage or general average, shall, at the expiration of four months from the time when the goods were placed in their custody, sell by public auction the said goods, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amounts hereinafter directed to be paid out of the produce of such sale.

Before making such sale, ten days' notice shall be given by publication thereof in the Calcutta Gazette and in the local newspaper or newspapers.

If the address of the owner of the goods has been stated on the manifest of the cargo, or in any of the documents which have come into the hands of the Commissioners, or is otherwise known, notice shall also be given to the owner of the goods by letter delivered at such address or sent by the post; but the title of a bond fide purchaser of such goods shall not be invalidated by reason of the omission to send such notice, nor shall any such purchaser be bound to enquire whether such notice has been sent:

Provided that, if such goods are of so perishable a nature as, in the opinion of the officer appointed by the Commissioners in that behalf, to render early or immediate sale necessary or advisable, the Commissioners may, within such period not less than twenty-four hours after the landing of the goods as they think fit, sell by public auction the said goods or such portion of them as aforesaid, in which event such notice, if any, shall be given to the owner of the goods as the urgency of the case admits of.

39. The proceeds of every such sale shall be applied as follows:—

Application of sale proceeds.

- (a) in payment of the expenses of the sale;
- (b) in payment, according to their respective priorities, of the liens and claims excepted in section thirty-two from the priority of the lien of the Commissioners;
- (c) in payment of the tolls, dues, rates and charges of landing, removing, storing or warehousing the same, and of all other charges due to the Commissioners in respect thereof.

The surplus, if any, shall be paid to the importer, owner or consignee of the goods, or to his agents, on his applying for the same:

Provided that such application is made within one year from the sale, or reason is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners why such application was not so made; and in case such application shall not be so made, nor reason shown, such surplus shall be held by the Commissioners upon trust for the purposes of this Act.

40. If the master of any vessel in respect of which any tolls, dues, rates or charges or penalties are payable under this Act, or any rules or orders made in pursuance thereof, refuses or neglects to pay them or any part of them on demand, the Commissioners may apply to the Collector of Customs of the port, and such Collector shall distrain or arrest such vessel and the tackle, apparel and furniture belonging thereto, or any part thereof, and detain the same until the amount so due to the Commissioners is paid.

And in case any part of the said tolls, dues, rates, charges or penalties, or of the costs of the distress or arrestment, or of the keeping of the same, remains unpaid for the space of five days next after any such distress or arrestment has been so made, the Collector of Customs may cause the vessel or other thing so distrained or arrested to be sold, and, with the proceeds of such sale, shall satisfy such tolls, dues, rates, charges or penalties and costs, including the costs of sale remaining unpaid, rendering the surplus, if any, to the master of such vessel on demand.

41. If the Commissioners give to the officer of Government whose duty it is to grant the port clearance of any vessel a notice stating that an amount therein specified is due in respect of tolls, dues, rates, charges or penalties chargeable under this Act, or any rules or orders made in pursuance thereof, against such vessel, or by the owner or master of such vessel, in respect thereof, or against or in respect of any goods on board such vessel, such officer shall not grant such port clearance until the amount so chargeable has been paid.

42. In case any damage or mischief is done to any wharves, docks, quays, jetties, stages, piers or works constructed or acquired by the Commissioners under this Act by any vessel, through the negligence of the master thereof or of any of the mariners or persons employed therein, any Magistrate of the town of Chittagong may, on the application of the Commissioners, and on declaration by them that payment for such damage or mischief has been refused or has not been made on demand, issue a summons to the master or owner of such vessel, requiring him to attend on a day and at an hour named in the summons to answer touching such damage or mischief.

If at the time appointed in the summons, and whether the person summoned appears or not, it is proved that the alleged damage was done through such negligence as aforesaid, and that the pecuniary amount of the same does not exceed five hundred rupees, the Magistrate may issue his warrant of distress, under which a sufficient portion of the boats, masts, spars, ropes, cables, anchors or stores of the vessel may be seized and sold to cover the expenses of and attending the execution of the distress, and the pecuniary amount of damage as aforesaid, and such amount shall be paid to the Commissioners out of the proceeds of the distress:

Provided that if, at the time of the damage or mischief, the vessel was under the orders of a duly appointed Pilot belonging to the Pilot Service or the Harbour-Master's or Master-Attendant's Department, the case shall not be cognisable by the Magistrate under this section.

43. The Commissioners shall provide such sums as the Local Government may from time to time re-

If the Commissioners allow any work acquired or constructed by them under this Act to fall into disrepair, or do not complete any work commenced by them or duly estimated for and sanctioned, and do not, after notice given by the Local Government in writing, proceed effectually to repair or complete such work, the Local Government may cause such work to be restored, completed or constructed, and the cost thereof shall be borne and paid by the Commissioners.

48. If at any time the Local Government is satisfied that the purposes intended to be accomplished under this Act have not been, and are not likely to be, properly accomplished by the Commissioners, the Local Government may, by notification, give notice that, unless within six months the Commissioners take measures to the satisfaction of the Local Government for properly accomplishing such purposes, the powers by this Act conferred on the Commissioners will, at the end of such period, be withdrawn and revoked.

Local Government may revoke powers of Commissioners.

On the expiration of the period aforesaid, the Local Government may, if no such measures to its satisfaction have been taken by the Commissioners, declare such powers to be withdrawn and revoked, and may assume such powers, and thereupon such powers shall be withdrawn and revoked accordingly, and all the powers, rights and authorities and all the property vested by this Act in the Commissioners shall thereupon vest in the Local Government.

6. The following are the tests laid down for this examination :—

(a).—Reading fluently, and construing with readiness and accuracy, not less than an ordinary octave page of the undermentioned works—

1. Bāgh-o-Bāhar.
2. Selections from the prose of the Prem Sāgar.

(b).—Translating accurately, and with correctness of idiom and grammar, not less than half an ordinary octave page of plain English into language similar to that of the Bāgh-o Bāhar in the Persian character, and an equal amount in Hindi character in language similar to that of the Prem Sāgar (paragraph 32).

(c).—Reading fairly, and translating readily and correctly, Hindustani manuscripts written in both the Persian and Hindi characters. These manuscripts may be selected from the proceedings of a case in court, from reports or petitions addressed to civil or military authorities, from letters passing between natives of India in the ordinary course of business, or from private correspondence. They should not be written with the clearness of a printed book, nor yet in a very cramped or crabbed hand, but in such a manner as fairly and honestly to represent the written characters as practically employed in the presidency or province in which the examination is held

(d).—Viva voce translation into the Oriental language of a paper of English sentences, and conversing with the examiners, or, in their presence, with persons selected by them, with fluency and with such correctness of pronunciation, grammar, and idiom as to be at once intelligible.

7. Committees for the examination of candidates for the higher standard are to assemble annually on the first Monday of July, at Simla, Landour, Muree, and Naini Tal, and quarterly on the first Monday of January, April, July, and October at Quetta and the head-quarter stations of divisions, districts, and brigades. Should the 1st of January fall on a Monday, the examination will be held on the following day. Notice of the assembly of the Committees should be given in station orders, and candidates wishing to attend should submit applications to the staff officer. Civil subordinates of the Public Works Department should submit their applications through the Executive Engineer.

8. The Committees will be composed, when practically possible, of one officer of the Civil Service, and two or more military officers, who have passed the interpreter's examination or the higher standard, the senior to preside. As a general rule, the most available qualified officers are to be appointed to the important duty of examiners on these Committees, except when the local authorities may consider it expedient to select junior officers in consequence of their known proficiency in the languages, or for other sufficient reasons.

9. Three copies of the test books of the same editions as those used by the Board of Examiners at Fort William, are provided by the State for the Staff Office of every station where a Committee is ordered to assemble. These books are to be sent, at the appointed time, to the place directed for the meeting of the Committee into whose hands they are to be delivered

10. The exercises intended for the written examination will be printed under the orders of the Board of Examiners at Fort William, by whom also the exercises for the oral examination will be fixed. The printed papers, accompanied by lists of exercises and blank forms of reports, together with a letter of instructions, will be forwarded under the Board's seal to the staff officer of the station. These envelopes are to remain in the hands of the staff officers of stations with the seals unbroken, until the day and hour of the examination, when they are to be delivered by the staff officer with the letter of instructions into the hands of the Committee at the appointed place of examination, in order that they may be then opened and given to the candidates.

11. When the candidate has completed his task, he is to be required to write and sign, in the presence of the Committee, a declaration upon honour, to the effect that he has neither given nor obtained any aid or assistance whatever, and that, previous to undergoing his examination, he was unaware what exercise would be submitted to him, what part of the test books he would be called upon to read, and what questions would be asked him.

12. Committees are to record their proceedings on the printed forms furnished to them, and in the prescribed manner. The reports are to be accompanied by the written exercises of each candidate, and are to contain the opinion of the Committee on the manner in which they have severally passed the visé voce part of their examination. Each candidate's papers are to be separately made up, and designated by figures or letters assigned by the Committee, and not by his name. The whole are then to be forwarded direct by the President of the Committee to the Secretary to the Board of Examiners at Fort William.

13. The declaration certificates (paragraph 11), and a memorandum of the names of the candidates and of their respective distinctive marks, as affixed to the report of the Committee, are to be furnished by the President of the Committee to the Staff Officer of the station, for transmission, through the regular channel, to the Adjutant-General's Office, Simla. This memorandum is to be considered by all concerned as strictly confidential, and candidates or others are on no account to be made acquainted with the distinctive marks or figures which have been assigned. The memorandum is to be prepared according to the form given in Appendix No. 51.

14. Officers appointed to conduct either the lower standard or higher standard examinations will be held responsible that the examinations are conducted with propriety, and it will be their special duty to take proper precautions against candidates becoming acquainted, before examination, with the passages set in the books, or holding conversation with any one except when required to do so for the purpose of their examination; also that the oral examination of one candidate is not overheard by others, and that in the higher standard examination the candidates do not render each other assistance in the preparation of their exercises. Should any of these irregularities occur, the examination will be considered as vitiated.

15. The place selected for the assembly of Examination Committees should be the most spacious room in the station, which may be available for the purpose, and the Committee should meet there about one hour before the time appointed, in order to make the necessary arrangements for the examination. All the candidates are to be placed as far apart from each other and from the Committee, except when under examination, as the size of the room will admit.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3.30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday;

DEPOSIT

Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300

On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but per chest.

And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400

if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by the purchaser on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not be or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3.30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1.30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bona fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 500 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazepore Factory for the year 1885-86, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazepore Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by persons connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

SURVEY OF CALCUTTA.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS, in introducing the Bill for a Survey of the Town of Calcutta, and moving that it be read in Council, said:—The Bill which I have the honour to introduce is based partly upon the old Calcutta Survey Act of 1847, and partly upon the Bengal Survey Act of 1875. The original draft of the Bill was prepared by a Committee consisting of the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, the Vice-Chairman to the Calcutta Corporation, and the Collector of the 24-Pergunnahs. This Bill is substantially the same as the draft which they prepared, with some amendments of no very great importance which have been introduced in accordance with suggestions made by the professional officers of the Survey Department. The Bill has been circulated, and is in the hands of hon. members. In all its main features it is nothing more than an enabling measure. It empowers the Lieutenant-Governor to direct a survey to be made of the Town; and to appoint a Superintendent and one or more Assistant Superintendents of Survey for the purpose. It goes on to authorize the Superintendent, either by himself or through his Assistants, to enter upon lands or premises, to procure the attendance of persons whose presence may be necessary, and to do all things which may be required for effecting a survey and demarcation of boundaries. It next provides for the settlement of disputes either by judicial decision or by reference to arbitrators, and here I may explain that it is intended that the Survey, so far as the professional and scientific part of it is concerned, shall be under the charge of a professional officer of the Revenue Survey Department, and that to the survey shall be attached a civil officer of the standing of a Deputy Collector, who will decide such boundary disputes as may arise, subject to an appeal to the Board of Revenue or to such other authority as the Lieutenant-Governor may appoint. But it is not contemplated, or probable, that boundary disputes in Calcutta will be numerous, as the land is very valuable and the boundaries for the most part are well ascertained. Then the Bill goes on to provide that on the completion of the survey, the maps and other papers relating to it shall be deposited in the Calcutta Municipal Office, and that any person interested may lodge any objection, if he thinks fit, within a specified period, and that such objection shall be considered and decided, and that when all objections have thus been disposed of, the Local Government, if it approves the survey, may signify its approval by a notification in the local Gazette. That was the usual course adopted when a survey is made under Act IX of 1847. The Bill proceeds with the usual provision giving the Government power to lay down rules for regulating proceedings taken under the Act, and finally there is a section authorizing the Government to extend the whole or any part of the Act to such portions of the Suburbs as may hereafter be connected with the Town for municipal purposes.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Bill was then referred to a select Committee consisting of the Hon. Messrs. Allen and Anundo Mohun Bose and the mover.

CHITTAGONG PORT TRUST.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY, introducing the Bill to appoint Commissioners for the Port of Chittagong, said:—The Bill, as hon'ble members will observe from the marginal references, follows in its main features the Rangoon Port Commissioners' Act, passed in 1879 by the Governor-General's Legislative Council. In one important particular, however, we have had to depart from that model. You, Sir, have decided to give effect to the elective principle in the constitution of bodies of this character in these provinces. As you have already informed this Council, it will be my duty at a subsequent meeting to ask for permission to introduce a measure to amend the Calcutta Port Commissioners' Act for this purpose. As regards the port of Chittagong, I would ask the attention of the Council to section 3 of the Bill. It is there proposed that there shall be nine Commissioners, of whom six shall be appointed by the local Government, and three elected by such body or bodies or firms engaged in the commerce of the port as the Lieutenant Governor on the report of the local authorities may direct. I may explain that considerable as has been the expansion of the port of Chittagong, it has not yet reached the point of having a Chamber of Commerce or any other commercial representative body of its own. The only feasible plan before was, until such a body should be created, which the local Government would be very glad to recognize, to leave it to the local Government to entrust the right of election to such firms as the local officers might report as being qualified by the extent of their transactions and other considerations to exercise it. Then as regards the removal of the Commissioners. The Rangoon Act provides that any Commissioner may be removed at any time by a written order of the Local Government, and in this respect it differs—and differs, I think, for the worse—not only from the Bombay and Madras Acts, which contain the elective principle, but also from the Calcutta Act of 1870. Under that Act, although all the Commissioners are nominated by the Government, still the disqualifications are laid down by law. I have no doubt the Council will approve of my having introduced the new section 8, laying down the circumstances of disqualification, and not leaving the matter to the discretion of Government. As regards the remainder of the Bill, as I have said, it mainly follows the Rangoon Act, with the exception that, on the precedent of the Bombay and Madras Acts, we have introduced a special chapter providing borrowing powers for the Commissioners.

The Council will observe that the sections regarding works may appear at first sight somewhat formidable. They provide for possible expenditure upon wharves, jetties, and piers, and also for compelling ships to use the jetties and to pay dues, and they provide penalties for disobedience of these orders. As this measure has been regarded with a little apprehension by some mercantile authorities, who consider that the commerce and prosperity of the port of Chittagong may not perhaps be permanent, I will make a few remarks on that point. It has been suggested that the expansion of the commerce of Chittagong has been due to fortuitous circumstances, and that if these circumstances are altered it may disappear. It has been suggested that if the railway freights were reduced, a great part of the jute trade which now goes to Chittagong might be diverted to Calcutta. Without going into this question, I may point out that the commerce of Chittagong is not confined to jute. In the last year the exports of rice were even greater than the exports of jute. The amount of exports of rice was 63,510 tons as against 48,951 tons of jute. There is also a large import of salt, though I am aware, of course, that the imports of salt very often depend upon the exports of some other staples, because salt is sent out in ships which might otherwise come in ballast. But there are other articles of import which are deserving of consideration regarding the prosperity of the port. Besides salt, there is a considerable trade done in the import of mineral oil. Although in the last year the trade fell off to some extent, owing to its having been somewhat overdone in the previous year when nearly a million gallons of oil were imported, still Mr. Lyall, the Commissioner of Chittagong, whose opinion, I think, is entitled to great weight on everything concerned with that province, assures us that a great part of Eastern Bengal is supplied with mineral oil from Chittagong, and he told us in his last report that two petroleum ships were at the time on their way to Chittagong. I mention this because I think it necessary to remove a possible misapprehension. At the same time, I have to observe that there is no danger whatever of this section being made use of for the purpose of launching into any extravagant schemes. We have introduced this Bill to provide for the absolute necessities of the port, but we have thought it well to make the enactment as complete as possible. Regarding jetties, I may say there is no intention of constructing them until the trade of Chittagong has increased a great deal more, and, indeed, until the commercial prosperity of the port has been practically assured. This is what Mr. Lyall writes:—"The trade of this port is peculiar, the larger proportion, both of jute and rice, being transhipped from smaller craft into the sea-going ships, and for vessels loading in this manner single moorings are preferred. Jetties are not at present required, the bulk of the freight being transhipped as above remarked. When the railway is made, the question of the necessity for jetties will come up." Apart from this expressed opinion of the Commissioner, I would draw the attention of the Council to the penultimate paragraph of section 65, which provides that "no contract under which a sum greater than Rs. 10,000 may in any event be payable by the Commissioners shall be valid without the consent, in writing, of the Local Government." I think, therefore, that the Council and the public may be fully assured that there is no danger of these sections being enforced unnecessarily, and they have only been introduced to make the enactment complete if the need should arise for their use.

With these observations, I beg to move that the Bill be read in Council.

The HON. MR. ANUNDO MOHUN BOSE said, having regard to the fact that this Bill was delivered to members after they entered the Council Chamber this morning, it will not be possible to discuss its provisions to-day, but I would beg to draw the attention of the Council to certain matters connected with the procedure in the introduction of Bills. According to our standing rules, it is necessary that a Bill should be delivered to members three days before the motion can be made to have it read in Council. I do not mention this matter with the object in the slightest degree of raising any technical difficulty. But it would be an advantage if in all cases the rule could be observed, so that members might have some clear idea of the leading provisions and outlines of a Bill before the present stage is passed. And this is not an isolated instance. Not only with regard to the present Bill, but it so happens that with regard to the Bill already introduced this day, as also the one which is to be introduced on the motion which will come next in order, the copies of the Bill were delivered, so far at any rate as I am concerned, too late for any proper consideration of the Bill, and certainly too late for compliance with the standing rules of the Council. They were delivered on Thursday evening, and with only one day intervening it would be hardly possible to consider the Bill as it would be the duty of Members to do. In this connection, I would draw the attention of your Honour to another suggestion, and it is this. With regard to this Bill, the Council were favoured with a speech by the hon'ble Member then in charge of the Bill last Saturday, in addition to the observations made to-day by the HON. MR. MACAULAY. It would be an advantage if the official proceedings of the Council could appear in the local Gazette which is published on the following Wednesday, instead of, as ordinarily happened, on the Wednesday following. He mentioned this because he intended to refer to some remarks that fell on the last occasion, and he could only trust to the report which appeared in the newspapers. They were grateful to the press for the reports which appeared of their proceedings; but these reports were often very meagre, and might sometimes not be altogether correct. I believe, if your Honour expressed a wish in favour of this course, it would generally, if not always, be found possible to have the official proceedings of the Council published in the following Gazette, and this would be an advantage to Members of the Council in their discussions, and they would also often have the benefit of the discussions in the newspapers, based on full information contained in the official account of the proceedings. And thirdly, I would suggest for your Honour's consideration that it would be very desirable, especially in the case of Bills affecting limited local areas, that the official papers leading to the introduction of a Bill or its inception should be placed in the hands of Members. No doubt if we had in this Council representatives of local areas the inconvenience felt in discussing the provisions of a Bill without Members having access to these papers might be comparatively a good deal less. But on the present occasion, as the only source of information would be the official papers on which the Bill is based, it would be desirable that these should be put before Members. I imagine in most cases they could with advantage be placed in the hands of Members, and this would certainly secure a better and more effectual consideration of measures brought before the Council. I venture to hope that this suggestion may also meet with your Honour's favourable consideration.

With regard to the Bill itself, having regard to the circumstances of its introduction, it will not be possible, as I have stated, to discuss its provisions. But, as far as I can gather from what was said on the last occasion and to-day by the hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, I think the time has fully come for a measure of this kind being introduced with a view to its being considered. I wish on this occasion to make one or two remarks with reference to one matter. I wish to accord, if I may do so, my cordial thanks for the recognition made in section 5, to which attention has been drawn by the hon'ble Member, of the elective principle in the constitution of the Port Trust. Nothing is more remarkable in the recent history of political progress in this country than the steady growth of this idea, and the strong hold it has obtained on the public mind; and within this Council chamber itself it has received full recognition in the legislation with which your Honour has been so intimately associated. In the constitution of Municipal Boards, as well as of Local and District Boards, that principle had been conceded in the course of the last two years. In referring to the recognition of this principle in the Bill before us, your Honour remarked, in the course of the motion for leave to introduce the Bill, that there were special difficulties, having regard to the circumstances of Chittagong, in the way of giving effect to this principle as far as the representatives of the mercantile interests were concerned. That difficulty, your Honour pointed out, arose from the fact that there was no constituted or organized body representing the commerce of the port of Chittagong. It was worthy of note therefore that, even under those circumstances, we find the importance of the elective principle recognized and an attempt made to give effect to it. Without discussing the question at the present time, whether the proportion of elected Commissioners might or might not be made larger than is contemplated in the Bill, it is my duty to accord to your Honour and to the hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, on behalf of the native community, their thanks for the elective principle finding a place in the Bill; and if it is not presumption on my part to say so, I trust that not in the dim and distant future, but before many years have passed away, that principle will be recognized in the constitution of the Legislative Councils of this Empire. If there is one desire more widely felt than another; if there is one conviction in the public mind getting more settled than another, it is the desire that in the constitution of the Legislative Councils of the Empire the principle of election should, as far as may be practicable, be given effect to: it is the conviction that, subject to whatever powers of control may be deemed necessary, public opinion should be more largely, more directly, represented in those Councils. If the utterances of one of the most honoured and respected members of the non-official European community at the late St. Andrew's dinner—I refer to our present popular Sheriff, who presided on that occasion—may be taken to represent the opinions of that community, then there is no question more ripe for consideration than that of widening the doors of our Legislative Councils and altering their character. I cordially support the principle of election embodied in this Bill, and venture humbly, but earnestly, to hope that, before many years have rolled away in their course, that principle will be recognized in a larger sphere to the honour and glory of the British administration, and to the safety and advantage of the vast interests entrusted by a wise Providence to its care.

HIS HONOUR the PRESIDENT said:—The hon. member is certainly within his right in bringing to our notice that we are infringing a rule in proceeding with this Bill before it has been three days in the hands of members, and I may say at once that if he chooses to press that consideration upon us, I shall quite acquiesce in the suggestion that the further proceedings in connection with this Bill be postponed to the next meeting of the Council. But if he is not anxious to press the point, I think the fact that we have gone beyond the actual rule might be condoned in view that the Bill has been drafted on lines well understood in connection with the ports and that it will be referred to a Select Committee, in which it is proposed that he himself shall be a member. With regard to the publication of speeches and of the proceedings of this Council in the following Gazette—that is, that the proceedings of our Council of Saturday should appear always in the Calcutta Gazette on the Wednesday following—I am afraid that very often when our proceedings are long, and the speeches of hon. members are long, it is totally impossible to frame any such rule on the subject. We have to depend upon the Press to give the first notice of the proceedings in this Council, and I think hon. members will agree with me that it too often happens that it takes us a considerable time, having regard to our other duties, to revise the detailed proofs of the speeches we make here. It is impossible, therefore, to formulate any rule in accordance with the hon. member's suggestion.

As to the publication of the papers relating to the Bill, the rules, so far as I am aware, do not directly provide for any such arrangement. It says that the Bill must be accompanied by a Statement of the objects and reasons, with any papers which the hon. member in charge of the Bill may consider necessary. But I may say with regard to this point, that it is the desire of the Government to place all information in connexion with legislative proceedings in the hands of hon'ble members, and that is our usual practice; and certainly, so far as I am concerned in the present matter, I shall be glad to bring all the information in our possession before hon. members when this Bill goes into Select Committee. In this case I have no doubt that the report we have received from the Commissioner of Chittagong, and other papers which appear on the subject, will be placed on the table in connexion with the Bill which it is now proposed to refer to a Select Committee, and an opportunity will, therefore, be given to any member to take a note of what might have been written, to take objection to anything which he objects to, or to give reasons for supporting the measure. I need not follow the hon. member into the larger question to which he adverted as regards introducing the principle of representation into our Legislative Councils in India, based on the suggestion of adopting the elective principle in the constitution of the Port Trust at Chittagong.

The motion was then put and agreed to, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon. Messrs. Reynolds, Allen, Cruickshank, Anundo Mohun Bose and the mover.

CHOTA NAGPORE RURAL POLICE BILL.

The HON. MR. ALLEN introduced the Bill to provide for the regulation of the Rural Police in Chota Nagpore, and in doing so said:—There is no need for me to take up the time of the Council with a long speech upon this Bill, as it is nothing more or less than a reproduction of the existing Act VIII of 1878, with one slight change,—that in place of the village headman on whom the working of that Act was imposed, we have substituted the circle tehsildar. It was found impossible without a paid agency to make assessments and to realize the amount of taxation which each village had to contribute, and as usual the provisions of the law had to give way to the necessities of fact. It is now proposed to recognize these facts, and to make legal the nomination of the paid tehsildar. Beyond this substitution of the circle tehsildar for the village headman, the present Bill makes no substantial change in the existing Act. The maximum rate which was allowed to be paid to the chowkidar has been raised in order to meet the rising prosperity of certain villages in the neighbourhood of coal mines, where it is impossible to procure chowkidars upon the pay which was legal under the former Act.

The HON. MR. ANNODA MOHUN BOSE said, with your Honour's permission, I beg to make some observations at the present stage of this Bill. It seems to me that we have no information on which exactly to justify the proposed changes incorporated in the Bill. The whole basis of the Bill, to use the language of the Statement of Objects and Reasons, is this, that the headman, on whom the hinge, so to speak, of which the whole machinery of the former Act rested and turned, was a mythical person. Now, Sir, this certainly was strong language to use with respect to the very existence of the fact which formed the basis of legislation not of so many years ago, but of only eight years back. It becomes, therefore, necessary to examine what is our present position with regard to the Bill itself. This is what the Hon. Member is reported to have said when moving for leave to introduce this Bill: "The existing law under which the police are paid is Act VIII (B.C.) of 1878; but it has been found in practice that the state of things assumed by this Act has no existence in fact. By this Act provision was made that the pay of the police should be raised through the village headman; but it is said that as a fact there was no such person generally throughout Chota Nagpore." This is a remarkable statement, and there could possibly be no mistake as to its meaning or significance. Its essence was this, that this Council, in legislating in this very matter in 1878, was, so to speak, as regards the very foundation of the Bill, in absolute ignorance of the actual state of things; that the Bill passed in that year did not rest on a foundation of stone or even of sand, because that would imply a false foundation, but on no foundation whatever. This certainly ought to impress on us that we should proceed with great caution and full information in our legislative course; and it is necessary to consider carefully what we have before us at the present time to justify us in proceeding with this Bill. We find with regard to this matter that we are hardly in a much better position at the present time. It is necessary to know a good deal about this headman, because it is proposed to do away with him, and to substitute in his place tehsildars to be appointed by the Deputy Commissioner for every circle of villages. The Hon. Member is reported to have said, with regard to the village headman, that there was "no such person generally throughout Chota Nagpore." I am not quite sure that I understand what is intended, and whether the meaning is that he does exist in certain limited portions of the division in question, and not in other portions. Then if the fact be so, it becomes important to examine the provisions of the proposed Bill with regard to that fact. That is to say, it might not be necessary to introduce the change in regard to those portions of the division in which the headman exists. Instead of introducing the general principle now advocated, it would be desirable to limit it to areas where the headman does not exist. In the next place, I would draw the attention of the Council to the fact that there seems to have been a serious alteration in the character of the Bill since the matter was referred to by Your Honour at the opening of the present session of the Council. On that occasion Your Honour was pleased to observe: "Without entering into the practical details of the Bill, which is a very small measure, I may say that power is required to give assistance to the headmen now employed in collecting the police dues, and to legalize the agency which they employ." It seems, if I understand the Bill correctly, that instead of assisting the headman, it is proposed to abolish him altogether; and further, instead of legalising the agency they employ, to substitute that agency in his place.

This is a very important, nay radical, alteration in the entire scope and character of the Bill since it was referred to by Your Honour on the 27th November last. I am not aware whether in the few days that have elapsed since that date any circumstances have come to light which have led to the proposal for the entire abolition of the headman, instead of providing him with assistance and legalizing the agency employed by him. I think the Council is entitled to some information on this subject. Then there is the fact—a fact of more than ordinary importance, having regard to the circumstances connected with the history of the legislation—that there is no member in this Council who might be said to represent in any sense the Chota Nagpore Division or the districts of Hazaribagh or Lohardugga, because in that case such members might have been of help in throwing light upon the questions now before us. It will therefore become all the more necessary to have official information on this point placed fully before the Select Committee and the Council. Let us realise that we are now receding from a position which was deliberately assumed by the Legislature in 1878, not as regards a question of principle, but a question of fact, viz. as to the existence or non-existence of a certain functionary in the village economy of the districts of Hazaribagh and Lohardugga. The next point I would notice is this. Reference was made in the speech of the Hon. Member to a paid agency which has had to be introduced for the collection of the chowkidaree dues, and to help the headman in making the assessments; thus, in the language of the Hon. Member, turning the corner of the law. It is desirable that there should be information with regard to this paid agency unauthorised by law; as to the character, cost, and efficiency of this paid agency which it is now proposed to substitute altogether for the village headman. Another point which I will notice is in regard to the definition of village headman in the existing Act VIII of 1878. A headman is defined in section 2 of that Act to mean "the person entrusted with collecting the village rents, by whatever designation he may be called." It would have been an advantage if, in the remarks which the Hon. Member has addressed to the Council, he had referred to that definition. I do not know whether even a headman, according to the definition given there, is or is not found to exist in the villages of the districts referred to in the Act. I do not fancy the villagers there are in the happy position of not having to pay any rent, being peasant proprietors of their own little farms or holdings. I do not think that is the state of things. But if it is not, one would like to know whether there are not persons entrusted with the collection of village rents. We may presume that there would be such persons. Does then the difficulty arise from just the opposite reason, viz. that there are more persons than one entrusted with the collection of rents in a village, because the Act does not contemplate a number of persons, but one person in each village as headman? Whether that is the circumstance which has led to the difficulty about finding a headman, is a point which requires to be cleared up, but about which we are left in absolute obscurity. Under these circumstances the basis of the alteration intended to be introduced by the present Bill, viz. the non-existence of the village headman, does not seem to have been as yet sufficiently established.

Then, Sir, passing on from this point, there are one or two other matters which I should like to notice. The Hon. Member referred to the fact that it is proposed to increase the maximum pay of the chowkidar from Rs. 3, as laid down in the present law, to Rs. 4; and I am not prepared to say at the present moment that the reason he has assigned, viz. that in certain villages situated in the neighbourhood of coal-mines labour has risen in value, and it will be necessary to employ policemen on higher pay, is not sufficient. But I do not think the Hon. Member is strictly correct in stating that there is no other substantial alteration of the law proposed in the Bill. There are, however, one or two other matters of much greater importance than the point he has noticed as to the proposed increase in the maximum pay of the rural police. In the present Act the margin of excess for collection is 15 per cent. over the actual pay of the chowkidar. It is proposed by section 7 of the Bill to make it 3½ annas in the rupee, which means 21·875, or roughly speaking 22 per cent., thus increasing it from 15 to 22 per cent. That is a matter which, I think, requires explanation. We are all aware that in no other division of the province is the peasantry, as a whole, so poor and ignorant and helpless as in the division of Chota Nagpore. That being so, any increase of taxation proposed to be made on them requires to be zealously watched, especially bearing in mind the fact that the whole thing is to depend upon the decision of the Deputy Commissioner, even without the help of any consultation with the villagers. It seems to me that some justification is needed for the proposal for increasing the excess portion of this rate from the present limit of 15 per cent. to 22 per cent. We have had no figures laid before us to show us the present cost of the machinery, or that which it is proposed to substitute for it, which would make it necessary that probably the poorest population in all the provinces under Your Honour's Government should be under the liability of having increased taxation laid upon it. Not only is it that no reasons are found sufficient to justify such increase, but not even is an attempt made to show that there is any occasion for such proposed increase. That is one of the substantial or important changes with regard to which no explanation is given.

Then there is another point which seems even of greater importance. The existing Act is limited to rural police in the districts of Hazaribagh and Lohardugga. In the Bill under consideration it is proposed to introduce the operation of the whole Act at once in those districts and of some parts in the district of Manbhoom, and to give power to the Lieutenant-Governor to extend the whole of it to any other districts in the Chota Nagpore Division. That seems to me to be a very important extension as far as the legislature is concerned, in respect of which it would be desirable to have further light and further information. At the present time the other districts in the division, besides Hazaribagh and Lohardugga, would, I presume, be ordinarily subject to the operation of the general Village Chowkidari Act, viz. Act VI of 1870 as amended by Act I of 1871 and the Act I of the present year. The proposal to take away the applicability of the general law, which was of a very different character from the limited law now proposed, is a change of a very wide character in respect of which nothing whatever has been said. It is true that it is proposed not to extend the Act directly to the other districts, but to give the Local Government power to extend it. But as far as the Legislature is concerned, it makes the law applicable to the whole division, without the necessity of any reference to the Supreme Government.

These are the considerations which present themselves at this stage of the Bill, and with regard to which the fullest information is certainly necessary.

I do not wish to propose that this motion be postponed until we have that information; but I venture to suggest that if this Bill goes to a Select Committee, before the Committee begins its consideration of the Bill, a pretty long time should be allowed to elapse, so that after the publication of the Bill we may have some information from the inhabitants themselves in Chota Nagpore with regard to matters of fact and the existence or non-existence of the headman, and with regard to the various points to which I have drawn attention. It may be, as is stated in the Statement of objects and reasons, that there are no intelligent and influential headmen of villages; but there may be some intelligent men in the whole division, who may be able to render assistance in the discussion of the proposed measure; and I hope that all the communications on the subject which have been received by the Government will be placed before the Select Committee and the Council.

HIS HONOUR the PRESIDENT said:—I have no intention of following the hon. member in all those points of details upon which he has spoken. It is not intended to refer the Bill to a Select Committee to-day. We have decided that, considering that the reports upon which the Bill is based are now of some months' standing, it would be preferable that the draft of the Bill which has been prepared should be circulated to the Commissioners and Deputy Commissioners of the districts to which the Bill will apply, in order that they may consider our proposals and give us the benefit of their suggestions. Therefore, there will be at least one month's delay before the Council is asked to refer the Bill to a Committee. In the meantime I can give the hon. member the assurance that whatever papers we have in any way connected with the proposal before the Council will be printed and circulated to hon. members. The interest which the hon. member seems to take in this Bill justifies me in suggesting that his name should be included among those to whom the Bill will be referred. There is only one point to which I shall further allude and that is this. The hon. member takes us to task for throwing a slur upon our predecessors of 1878. He said that the Government and the Legislature of that year proceeded on the assurance that there existed in every village such a personage as a headman, and that we now say that he has no existence. I think if the hon. member had carefully looked at the Statement of Objects and Reasons of the Bill, he would have noticed the qualification which the hon. member in charge of the Bill had introduced in the first portion of it. It said that the Act of 1878 had proved a failure, because the intelligent and influential headman who was assumed to exist in every village of Chota Nagpore had, in fact, no existence. The want of intelligent and influential headmen did not justify the Government in leaving in the hands of incompetent persons the difficult and delicate task of making the assessments and levying the tax, and therefore, in carrying out the objects of the Act, we had to substitute a paid agency which was not recognized by the law, and this practice it is now proposed to legalize.

The motion was then put and agreed to.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 18th instant, at 11 A.M.

THE CANAL REVENUE REPORT FOR 1885-86.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT—IRRIGATION.

No. 17851.A., Calcutta, the 18th December 1886.

RESOLUTION.

THE CANAL REVENUE REPORT FOR 1885-86.

READ—

The Canal Revenue Reports for 1885-86 and the Chief Engineer's note on the same.

THE total outlay, direct and indirect, to the close of the year 1885-86 on canals in Bengal, of which capital accounts are kept, has been Rs. 6,88,13,181. Of this sum, Rs. 7,82,000 have been contributed by the Imperial Government from Famine Relief and Insurance funds, Rs. 86,52,056 have been provided from Provincial revenues, and Rs. 5,86,02,070 have been charged to Loan funds. In addition to the sums mentioned above, Rs. 1,77,055 have been expended on surveys for irrigation works, which have not been carried out.

2. There are now in actual operation in Bengal 782½ miles of canal, of which 553 miles are navigable. The total area commanded by these canals is 2,698,846 acres, of which 455,987 acres, producing crops of the estimated value of Rs. 1,13,94,483* were irrigated during the year. The number of boats plying in the canals during the year was 241,951. The total value of goods passing through the canals in boats and rafts aggregated Rs. 8,51,21,950 approximately.

3. The receipts from, and expenditure on, the canals in operation for the last three years are given in the statement below: the figures include indirect charges:—

4. The net income for the year was therefore Rs. 6,60,074. Interest amounting to Rs. 22,49,193 was, however, payable to the Imperial Government, so that there was a deficit of Rs. 15,89,119 to be met from Provincial revenues.

The revenue collected for the last three years on the works mentioned in the above statement is shown below :—

	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Water-rates	7,49,122	9,46,808	12,33,612

Total	17,56,983	18,86,588	21,19,280

The increased revenue of the year was entirely due to the collection of arrears of water-rates due for former years, and not to the revenue earned in the year 1885-86 itself, which was less than the two previous years. This is shown by the following statement :—

	EARNINGS.
	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Water-rates	9,83,208	13,41,655	10,45,339

Miscellaneous	1,01,075	81,519	90,481
Total	19,91,101	22,45,050	19,70,600

5. The arrears of water-rates outstanding at the close of each of the last three years are shown in the statement following :—

NAME OF CANAL.	ARREARS.
	1st April 1884.	1st April 1885.	1st April 1886.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Orissa Canals	52,203	57,869	64,884
Midnapore Canal	1,41,691	1,22,212	69,972
Sone Canals	4,23,793	6,00,208	3,98,321
Sarun „	25,218	4,022	15,912
Total	6,45,905	9,84,311	5,49,089

The prevalence of large balances outstanding on account of water-rates in the province had for some years past forced itself on the notice of the Local Government. The matter had indeed attracted the attention of the Imperial Government and of the Secretary of State. Not only were the arrears large in themselves, but they showed a constant tendency to increase. At the end of the year previous to that now under review these arrears had reached the enormous sum of 9½ lakhs of rupees, which was more than 40 per cent. in excess of the outstanding balance of any previous year. In August 1885 the Commissioners of the Orissa, Burdwan, and Calcutta Divisions were specially addressed on this matter: it was pointed out that the Lieutenant-Governor was reluctantly forced to the conclusion that very little real effort was made by the civil officers of districts in the collection of canal revenue, and that Government must insist on the same attention being given to this important branch of duty as to any other work which devolves on Commissioners and Collectors.

6. Sir Rivers Thompson notices with approval the response to these instructions in the large reduction in the arrears which has been effected by the district officers in the Orissa and Patna Divisions. The favourable results are most conspicuous on the Sone Canals, where reform was most needed. The above figures, however, are but an imperfect representation of the facts; for though they show a large reduction in outstanding balances, they give no indication whether that reduction has been effected by collection of the arrears or by the far easier method of remissions. The note of the Chief Engineer gauges the results obtained, on each of the three large systems, by a more detailed and accurate method than can be fitly followed in this resolution. The results obtained on the Sone Canals are, on the whole, the most satisfactory in themselves, and they have the greatest weight since the amounts involved are by far the largest. The work done by the revenue officers in the Orissa Canals is also satisfactory in itself, although the amounts involved were less than those dealt with on the Sone Canals, and the ultimate amount outstanding shows a comparatively small reduction as compared with that of the outstanding balance of the previous year. The results on the Midnapore Canal, on the other hand, are, both relatively and actually, unsatisfactory. It is true that the outstanding balance has been largely reduced; but this result is not so much due to the realization of arrears as to the adoption of the easy expedient of writing off, as irrecoverable, balances as to the collection of which no sufficient investigation was made before the demand was abandoned. The stringent orders recently issued on this subject will prevent the recurrence of such a practice.

7. The areas irrigated during the last three years are detailed in the following table:—

				1885-86.	1884-85.	1883-84.
				Acres.	Acres.	Acres.

		Total Minor Work	...	4,565	7,223	21,122
GRAND TOTAL, MAJOR AND MINOR WORKS				455,987	490,466	518,415

Taking the grand total of the figures in the above statement, there would seem to have been during the last three years a steady decline in the area irrigated in the province. The falling off in annual leases in the Sone Canals indicates the most prominent cause of this decrease; but to some extent it is due to the fact that a portion of the area irrigated by these canals is omitted from the returns. The reason of this is explained in paragraphs 68-71 of the Chief Engineer's note. On the other hand, the increase in the area irrigated on the Orissa Canals is the most satisfactory feature in the operations of the year. It shows that the opposition to irrigation in this province, which was so marked in the year 1883-84, has subsided. There seems to be every probability that the area irrigated in Orissa will in a short time rise to the standard which was obtained in 1882, when 70 per cent. of the entire area provided with distributaries was irrigated. This favourable result may in some measure be attributed to the enquiries of the Commission appointed to examine the working of the Orissa Canal system, and the changes introduced upon their report. It is, however, necessary to point out that the figures given above for the Orissa Canals are not strictly comparable, and that the actual increase in the area irrigated is somewhat less than these figures show. This is explained in paragraph 14 of the Chief Engineer's note. The steady increase in the area held under long leases on all the canals is a satisfactory indication that the fluctuations in irrigation, which were noticeable in former years, are likely to be less marked in future.

8. The tollage collections from the various canals for the last three years are given in the table following:—

YEAR.	Orissa Canal.	Midnapore Canal.	Hidjellee Canal.	Orissa Coast Canal.	Sone Canals.	Calcutta and Eastern Canals.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1883-84	61,602	1,08,931	62,317	48,032	5,21,752	8,05,634
1884-85	52,784	1,19,797	41,382	37,335	5,08,466	7,59,764
1885-86	64,093	1,25,331	52,143	13,663	41,712	5,13,839	8,10,781

There has been an increase both in the gross tollage receipts and the receipts on each navigable system as compared with the previous year. A portion of the Orissa Coast Canal was opened to traffic for the first time in July 1885. It produced a moderate revenue, which, considering the circumstances under which the length of canal was working, may be considered satisfactory. In the course of the current year the whole line should be opened to traffic, providing thus an inland and secure navigation for the entire length from Calcutta to Cuttack.

9. The Calcutta and Eastern Canals sustained their reputation as the most productive Public Work in Bengal. The statement in paragraph 110 of the Chief Engineer's note shows that the net revenue gives more than $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. interest on the capital invested. More than 20 lakhs of rupees have been expended from Provincial funds in the last ten years on the improvement of these canals. The whole of this expenditure is now returning a revenue of $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. The effect of the improved condition of the canals is that the cargo borne to Calcutta is now carried in larger boats than was formerly the case. The amount of cargo delivered by the canals has slightly increased, but the number of the boats which carry it was considerably less.

10. The only navigable system in Bengal on which the traffic and receipts are declining is the Nudda Rivers. On these streams the traffic shows a steady decline, of which no satisfactory explanation has yet been given. The net revenue of these rivers shows an increase in the last few years, which is examined in the Chief Engineer's note and found to be mainly due to artificial causes, which are not likely to continue.

11. The revenue reports of the Commissioner of Orissa and of the Superintending Engineer of the Orissa Circle were again tardily and unnecessarily delayed. The reports of the Commissioners of Patna and Burdwan were received with exact punctuality. Those of the Superintending Engineers of the Sone and South-Western Circles were slightly delayed by the circumstance that the finance accounts of the Examiner were six weeks in arrears.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, and of the note and its accompaniments, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Public Works Department, for information; also that copies be forwarded to the Appointment, Revenue, and Financial Departments of this Government; the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces; the Commissioners of the Presidency, Burdwan, Patna, and Orissa Divisions; the Collectors of the 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea, Hooghly, Midnapore, Burdwan, Patna, Shahabad, Gya, Sarun, Cuttack, and Balasore; the Superintending Engineers of the Orissa, South-Western, and Sone Circles; and the Examiner of Public Works Accounts, Bengal, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Government of Bengal,

C. W. I. HARRISON, Major, R.E.,
Offg. Joint-Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT—IRRIGATION BRANCH.

REVENUE REPORT.

Note by MAJOR C. W. I. HARRISON, R.E., Chief Engineer, on the Canal Revenue Reports for the year 1885-86.

The total capital expenditure incurred on Irrigation works, of which capital accounts are kept, during the year 1885-86 amounted to Rs. 10,96,737 for direct and Rs. 26,276 for indirect charges, thus :—

CAPITAL EXPENDITURE.

	Direct charges.	Indirect charges.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Famine Relief and Insurance (grant-in-aid to Orissa Coast Canal)	82,000	82,000
Capital expenditure on Irrigation works not charged against Revenue	6,38,487	13,306	6,51,793
Minor works and Navigation, Imperial	—1,200	—1,200
Ditto ditto, Provincial	3,77,450	12,970	3,90,420
	10,96,737	26,276	11,23,013

2. The total capital outlay at the end of the year on Irrigation works, of which capital accounts are kept, was as follows :—

	Direct charges.	Indirect charges.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Major works (Capital not charged against Revenue)	5,69,86,969	16,15,211	5,86,02,070
Minor works and Navigation, Imperial	6,86,166	90,299	7,77,055
Ditto ditto, Provincial	92,65,243	1,68,733	94,34,056
	6,69,38,378	18,74,243	6,88,13,181

The sum of Rs. 92,65,243 includes Rs. 7,82,000 given, as a grant-in-aid, from Imperial Famine Relief and Insurance Funds and the Indian Steam-Ships Act VII of 1884, which came into force on the 1st December 1885, no certificates were granted under these Acts. Surveys have therefore been made and certificates issued under Act V (B.C.) of 1862.

14. The number of cargo and passenger boats surveyed, registered, and licensed, and of manjees licensed, compares as follows with that of the previous year:—

			1885-86.	1884-85.
Passenger boats	1,808	1,876
Manjees licensed	9,009	8,336

15. The working of the Commissioners' tramway appears to have been very satisfactory during the year. The receipts, which amounted to Rs. 1,60,443, were higher than those of any previous year except 1882-83, when they came to Rs. 1,60,549. In the past year, however, there was not the heavy jute crop of 1882-83, which brought a large traffic to the line; while on the contrary, the rival competition between certain inland steamer companies caused such a reduction in freights as to induce importers to avail themselves of the river route. The breach in the Eastern Bengal State Railway line at Buggoolah caused by the extensive floods of September 1885, put a stop to all traffic by rail from and to the upper stations for some time, and the diversion of business thus caused lasted for some time after the breach had been repaired. The results of the working of the line were, on the whole, better than those of any preceding year. The expenditure was Rs. 2,956 less than in the past year, and Rs. 4,903 less than in 1882-83.

16. The income on account of port approaches, which amounted to Rs. 4,27,943 against Rs. 4,51,486 in the previous year, consisted mostly of contributions from the other parts of the Commissioners' account, the direct income being only a small sum derived from the earnings of the anchor-vessel, the sale of condemned stores, and a few other miscellaneous items. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 4,94,133 as compared with Rs. 3,99,853 in the previous year. The excess of expenditure was due to the provision of Rs. 80,000 on account of depreciation, and to the payment of a dockyard charge of Rs. 15,409 incurred in 1883-84. An expenditure of Rs. 13,620 was incurred for converting the survey vessel Clyde into a light-vessel to take the place of the Mermaid, which was destroyed by fire in February 1885. Exclusive of these items, the expenditure amounted to Rs. 3,85,104.

17. With the exception of the Nynan tracks, which have been very low since September 1885, there was no serious obstruction to navigation during the year. The formation of new bars and the shifting of old ones, have however caused considerable anxiety. Besides the survey of the channels in use from Kulpi to Saugor, together with the Saugor Roads and the Gaspar channel to the Bell buoy, a survey of the river from Calcutta to Chander-nagore was made during the year. The services of the Deputy Conservator and his staff were placed at the disposal of the Government for a re-survey of False Point Harbour, which was considerably altered by the cyclone of the 22nd September 1885.

18. The damage caused to the light-house at False Point by the cyclone has been completely repaired. The light was extinguished for a time on the night of the 4th December 1885 owing to the breakage of the pin of the lamp valve; but instructions have been issued for the immediate lighting of another lamp in case of future accidents. The light-house at Saugor was inspected and found to be in good order. The light-house at Cowcolly is in need of repairs. These will be executed during the current year.

The new flashing lights were exhibited from the Eastern Channel, Pilots' Ridge and Mutlah light-vessels on the night of the 15th April 1885, and it was proposed to discontinue the burning of blue-light except at the Eastern Channel, during the south-west monsoon. In consequence, however, of the strong objections urged to this proposal by pilots and masters it has been decided to continue to exhibit them every half-hour during the south-west monsoon, and every hour during the north-east monsoon at the Eastern Channel, and every hour at the Pilots' Ridge. Certain modifications have also been made in the flashes of the Eastern Channel and Ridge lights.

19. In the report for 1884-85 it was stated that some of the refuge-houses were in need of repairs; that No. 2 house required to be removed further inland, and that enquiries were being made by the Commissioners with a view to ascertain whether steps could not be taken to put a stop to the repeated plundering of the houses. No reference to this matter is made in the report under review, and the Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to learn what has been done in the matter.

20. In order to facilitate the export trade of the port it has been resolved to continue the use of the Shalimar wharf and sheds for railway traffic, particularly for the storage of export cargo, at fixed rates, and to provide coolies for handling goods, and to run a steam launch between Howrah and Shalimar during those months when the wharf and sheds at the latter place are occupied. The petroleum wharf and depôt at Budge-Budge, the construction of which had been postponed for want of funds, were put in hand during the latter portion of the year, and have now been completed. They were opened for traffic on the 10th July last.

21. The Commissioners held 26 meetings, the attendance at which was satisfactory, and testifies to the interest taken by them in the management of the Trust. The office of Chairman was held throughout the year by the Hon'ble H. J. Reynolds. The Vice-Chairman, Mr. W. D. Bruce, was absent on privilege leave for about three months, during which period Mr. G. H. Simmons officiated.

22. The thanks of Government are due to the Commissioners for their successful management of the affairs of the Trust.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

R. H. WILSON,

Offy. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF SANSKRIT LEARNING IN BENGAL.

The 21st December 1886.—The following papers regarding the encouragement of Sanskrit learning in Bengal are published for general information.

P. NOLAN,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 155, dated Simla, the 18th May 1886.

From—A. P. MACDONNELL, Esq., Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of India, Home Dep
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

WITH reference to the accompanying copy of a letter* and memorandum received from Pundit Mahesa Chandra Nyayaratna, regarding the encouragement of Sanskrit learning in Bengal, I am directed to say that the Governor General in Council would be glad to be favoured with any remarks which His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor may have to offer on the subject generally, and on the particular recommendations made in this memorandum. I am to add that it has been suggested to the Government of India that if the matter were, as occasion offers, suitably represented to the wealthy and liberal native gentlemen of Bengal, it is possible that as endowments for the promotion of English learning have been largely founded, so endowments for the promotion of Sanskrit learning might be forthcoming on a larger scale than at present. His Excellency in Council would be glad to learn the views of Sir Rivers Thompson on this suggestion. It is known to the Government of India that steps have already been taken by the Bengal Government to offer encouragement to Sanskrit learning, and the Governor-General in Council has no doubt that Sir Rivers Thompson will willingly undertake such further measures as may be deemed practicable in this direction.

* Dated 20th April 1886, to the address of the Private Secretary to His Excellency the Viceroy.

Dated the 20th April 1886.

From—PUNDIT MAHESA CHANDRA NYAYARATNA,
To—The Private Secretary to His Excellency the Viceroy

WHEN, in March last, I had the honour of waiting upon His Excellency at Government House, Calcutta, I ventured to make certain suggestions with regard to the encouragement of Sanskrit learning in this country. His Excellency was pleased to ask me to send up to Simla a short memorandum, embodying the substance of my remarks. I beg therefore to send the accompanying note, and to request the favour of your kindly laying it before His Excellency.

IN Bengal, during Sir Ashley Eden's Government, an annual examination was instituted for the purpose of conferring titles on Sanskrit students who proved themselves worthy of them. A few prizes and scholarships also were founded in connection with this examination. The annual cost of this examination has been only Rs. 1,700. The expenditure of this small sum of money has had some effect in encouraging the cultivation of Sanskrit learning in this country. Some of the native nobility and gentry liberally came forward to help the movement thus set on foot by Government by making endowments for rewards and scholarships. This is a hopeful sign that it is possible for Government to prevent Sanskrit learning from languishing to death in its native home, at least for a long time to come, by extending to it a little more help and encouragement. Some pecuniary aid given to the better class of tois, or indigenous Sanskrit schools, under the existing grant-in-aid system, with slight modifications, and a provision made for their due inspection by Government, would go a great way in this direction. An annual expenditure of, say, Rs. 12,000 in grants-in-aid and Rs. 3,000 for inspection, or Rs. 15,000 in all, would do for Bengal for the present. Much good also would be done if erudite pundits had their worth recognized by Government by having suitable titles, like Pundit Bahadur, conferred on them. This very recognition by Government would raise their position in society, and might induce the richer classes of people to reward, in a more substantial way, men whom Government thought it worth while to honour.

No. 39T, dated Darjeeling, the 23rd September 1886.

From—A. W. CROFT, Esq., Director of Public Instruction, Bengal,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following observations upon the reference made to me in your endorsement No. 448T—G, dated 18th June 1886, on the proposal made by Pundit Mahesh Chandra Nyayaratna, Principal of the Calcutta Sanskrit College, for giving further encouragement to Sanskrit learning by the institution of a system of grants-in-aid to the tois or indigenous Sanskrit schools of Bengal. As directed in the Government order, I have consulted the Circle Inspectors on the subject.

2. A brief account of the Sanskrit tois in Bengal, and of the support which has been given to them from time to time by Government, is supplied in my letter No 7554, dated 17th December 1878, to which, with its enclosures, including Mr E. B. Cowell's valuable report of 1867, and Pandit Mahesh Chandra's remarks thereon, I would solicit a reference. The proposals made in that letter for the improvement of the tois, at an annual cost of * Government No. 464T-G, dated 24th May 1884, to the Director of Public Instruction.

Rs. 1,500 (since increased to Rs. 1,700*) for rewards to successful pupils and their teachers, were sanctioned in Government order No. 39, dated 14th January 1879; and from that time the annual examination of tois for prizes and rewards has been carried on concurrently with—has indeed formed a part of—the examination for Sanskrit titles, which was established by previous orders of Government in the Resolution dated 22nd June 1878, to the correspondence connected with which I would also invite attention.

3. In 1879 an association was formed at Dacca, under the title of the Pandit's Institute, for promoting the study of Sanskrit in the indigenous tois of the district. Towards the latter part of that year an application for a grant-in-aid of the institution was received, supported by the recommendation of the Circle Inspector. An annual grant of Rs. 500 to meet Rs. 1,000 contributed from local sources was sanctioned; and the institution has since been known as the "Saraswat Samaj" of Dacca. Of this institution Mr. Tawney subsequently reported as follows, while officiating as Director of Public Instruction in 1885:—"The Dacca Saraswat Samaj—an independent organization for improving the teaching in tois, and for conferring titles which shall be a guarantee that their holders are able Sanskrit scholars of the indigenous type—continues to flourish. Its income amounted last year to Rs. 2,670, of which Government contributed Rs. 500, and the balance at its credit amounted altogether to Rs. 9,224. A proposal was made in the course of last year to withdraw support from this association; but Mr. Croft negatived it on the ground that the association was doing useful work, and that, if the Nuddea Pandits had possessed similar organization, it would not have been necessary to found a Government examination for Sanskrit titles. In his opinion the grant was calculated to encourage that very spontaneous and independent effort which it is the object of Government to develop."

4. In June 1884, at the instance of Mr. J. Ware Edgar, C.S.I., Officiating Commissioner of the Presidency Division, and on the recommendation of this office, the Government grant to the tois of Nuddea was raised from Rs. 100 to Rs. 150 a month. Towards the close of the year 1884, the Principal of the Sanskrit College submitted to this office proposals for the encouragement of the tois of a very similar character to those now under reference. To these proposals the then Officiating Director, Mr. C. B. Clarke, replied in a letter No. 56, dated 5th January 1885, of which I enclose a copy, and to which I would invite attention, as it expresses in very distinct terms the view that the tois system is doomed and dying, and that no encouragement on the part of Government will keep it alive. Upon a subsequent reference made by the Principal, while assuring him of greater sympathy than Mr. Clarke had shown, I stated that the question had been definitely settled independently of the opinion of individual officers, by the Resolution of Government upon the recommendations of the Education Commission in favour of the direct encouragement of tois by Government. I pointed out, however, that the encouragement already afforded to tois in Bengal appeared to have supplied the basis of those recommendations, and consequently that the necessity of giving still further assistance to Sanskrit schools applied less strongly to Bengal than to other Provinces. I added:—"However that may be, I must explain that your present proposals are not definite and explicit enough to form the subject of a recommendation to Government. It should be stated how you proposed to employ the Rs. 12,000 to be spent annually upon tois; and as it appears that you have offered to undertake the inspection of tois yourself without remuneration, it is not clear how the Rs. 2,000 for cost of inspection is to be spent. For that offer I desire to take this opportunity of cordially thanking you: and should anything come of the present proposals, I have no doubt that Government will gladly avail itself of your valuable services in that duty. I should further state that there is no prospect of additional funds being devoted to the proposed objects in the year 1885-86." No detailed proposals were, however, received from the Principal who was probably deterred from submitting them by the statement that there was no prospect of additional funds being obtained.

5. In the present reference, proposals to nearly the same effect have been put forward. Pandit Mahesh Chandra recommends that a sum of Rs. 12,000 a year should be given to the support of the tois under some modification of the grant-in-aid system, and Rs. 3,000 a year to their inspection. Without some increased aid of this kind, he anticipates that Sanskrit learning will "languish to death in its native home." He also recommends that some such title as "Pundit Bahadoor" be conferred on erudite pundits, so as to raise their position in society, and enable them to obtain from the wealthy more substantial rewards than they now receive. I proceed to quote the opinions of the Circle Inspectors on these points:—

Baboo Radhika Prasanna Mookerjee, Officiating Inspector of the Presidency Circle, while giving general approval to the proposals, objects to the ordinary grant-in-aid system being applied to tois, and advocates a rough system either of payment-by-results, or of capitation allowances at the rate of 100 rupees a month for each pupil in regular attendance. This last proposal would involve an additional outlay of Rs. 5,700 a year in the Presidency Division alone. He states that the tois pundits generally decline to receive payment for their work, but he believes that a more practical spirit is beginning to manifest itself on that point; and instances the case of four tois at Naihati that receive a grant of Rs. 60 a year each from the local municipality—a grant that obtained the cordial approval of the then Officiating Commissioner, Mr. Edgar. The Inspector does not fully understand how the proposed grant of Rs. 3,000 a year for inspection is to be utilised; but considers that a part of the sum should be placed at the disposal of Principals of Colleges and Inspectors of Schools for the periodical inspection of tolas in addition to the expenses that might be incurred by Pundit Mahesh Chandra in his journeys of inspection. He believes that, unless a beginning is made by the State, private contributions are not likely to come forward in aid. He considers that the Pundit is "perhaps right" in thinking that the title of Pundit Bahadoor will be generally acceptable, but is convinced that it will take time to fix itself on the imagination of the people.

Baboo Brahma Mohan Mullick, Inspector of Schools, Western Circle, remarks that in former days grants of rent-free lands and considerable presents of money were made to the pundits by Hindu landholders and other wealthy men, to enable them to maintain their tolas—a charge which included the support of their pupils, from whom no fees have ever been levied. In the present day these contributions have greatly fallen off. Something is still paid to the pundits on the occasion of marriages, sradhs, and pujas; but their means of subsistence have been much straitened, the number of pupils has decreased, and even the education given in the tolas has deteriorated. Very few tolas are now supported by religious endowments. In these circumstances, the Inspector believes that Government aid would be welcomed by the pundits. Little, however, could be done, except by way of encouragement and, as an earnest of more liberal help hereafter, by an annual expenditure limited to Rs. 12,000. At the rate of Rs. 5 a month this would afford aid to only 200 tolas, while he estimates the total number in Bengal, Behar, and Orissa at something like 2,500. He also expresses some doubt whether the pundits would generally accept so small a grant as Rs. 5 a month. In any case a large number must remain unsubsidised; and he recommends that, for the present, grants from Rs. 5 to Rs. 15 a month should be given to selected tolas up to the limit of the amount that may be assigned for their support upon the following conditions:—(a) that at least an equal sum be guaranteed from private sources; (b) that there must be 10 pupils under instruction; (c) that the grant be liable to be withdrawn if pupils do not for three years pass the Sanskrit title examination. For the inspection of the tolas, he thinks the best plan would be to appoint a Special Deputy Inspector for each circle, but the expense—not less than Rs. 8,000 a year—would be disproportionately great, and he accordingly recommends that the most competent of the Deputy Inspectors (among whom there are many men fully qualified for this duty) should be appointed to inspect tolas in addition to their regular work; the services of the Principal of the Sanskrit College and of the various Professors of Sanskrit being also utilised. He refers to, but declines to discuss, the question whether Bengal is in these days capable of supporting a large number of purely Sanskrit scholars, or whether the course of instruction in the tolas should not be reorganised so as to make their pupils more useful members of society. He is not prepared to express a definite opinion as to the proposed title of Pundit Bahadoor. In consequence of social changes that have taken place in Bengal, a Brahman devoting his life to Sanskrit literature and philosophy is now rarely found. If the bestowal of the title were likely to create such a class, he would cordially support the proposal; but he would not recommend the grant of such distinctions for the sole purpose of enabling their holders to get more substantial gratuities from the people.

Mr. Bellett, Inspector of the Rajshahye Circle, regarding the tolas as institutions in which the study of Sanskrit, decaying elsewhere, is carried on with some thoroughness, is in favour of their receiving aid from Government. He would only afford aid, however, on condition that elementary arithmetic and the Bengali language were taught, and that registers of attendance were kept with fixed times of study. A competent officer should from time to time be deputed to report on the working and progress of the tolas.

Mr. Hill, Officiating Inspector of the Eastern Circle, expresses general approval of the report (which he forwards) of the Assistant Inspector, Baboo Koilas Chundra Sen; at the same time remarking that pundits of the old class are of little or no use for teaching Sanskrit in our zillah schools where English-knowing pundits are becoming every day more necessary. The Assistant Inspector recommends that a beginning should be made by giving grants of Rs. 5 to Rs. 10 a month, based on attendance, to selected tolas, with the object of transferring them hereafter to the management of District Boards, and in the hope of securing in this way liberal donations towards their support from wealthy native gentlemen; but, like Mr. Bellett, he would grant aid only on condition that a little history, geography, and arithmetic were taught. He would also require the pundits to send their pupils to the Sanskrit Title examination of Calcutta, or to the lower examination held by the Dacca Saraswat Samaj. He sees no necessity for a special inspecting agency. The existing staff could visit the tolas for the purpose of inspecting the registers, while the efficiency of the instruction would be tested by the examinations above mentioned. He also thinks that the title of Pundit Bahadoor would not prove popular, as being foreign to the traditions of the pundits—a highly conservative body.

Mr. Pope, Inspector of the Behar Circle, approves the proposal to aid indigenous Sanskrit schools by means of grants to the pundits and prizes and scholarships to the pupils, provided they follow some definite course of studies and send pupils each year to a central examination. He characterises the prevalent course of instruction in Behar as "miscellaneous and almost useless." In order to assist and encourage those schools that have not advanced to the highest standard, he advocates the division of the present Title examination into two—a lower and a higher. He believes that the Maharajas of Durbhunga and Hatwa, and the Maharani of Tikari, who already maintain the best and most successful Sanskrit schools in Behar, would afford ready help to a general scheme of the kind proposed.

Baboo Radha Nath Rai, Joint-Inspector of Orissa, gives a general support to the proposal.

6. There appears, therefore, to be a definite consensus of opinion in favour of giving increased aid to the tols of Bengal. That proposal has my cordial support, subject always, it will be understood, to the condition that funds are not withdrawn from purposes of more practical utility for the encouragement of Sanskrit learning—an object which I described in my note on the recommendations of the Education Commission as an educational luxury rather than a necessity of pressing importance. Subject to that understanding, and in the belief that practical measures to give effect to those proposals must probably be postponed until the present financial pressure has passed away, I proceed to state the method in which increased aid should, in my opinion, be given to the tols.

7. The institution of the Sanskrit Title examination had at once the effect of giving definiteness and precision to the course of studies in the tols—a course which, up to that time, had been pursued on no very definite plan or system. Branches of Sanskrit learning, such as Sankhya and Vedanta, which had long been neglected in the tols, now began to receive attention under the stimulus of a competitive examination; while the prescribed courses gave them a fixed standard to aim at, and a fixed time for the preparation of their subjects. For the first five years the number of candidates varied from about 50 to 70, the average being 61. In 1884 the number of candidates rose to 80, and in 1885 to 106. Meanwhile proposals had been made and sanctioned for raising the standard of examination and modifying the courses in certain points in which experience had shown the desirability of change. The revised regulations, which had been sanctioned and circulated to the tols in 1884, came into force in 1886. The result, as might have been anticipated, was a large reduction in the number of candidates, which fell at the examination of the present year to 58. This was obviously due to the fact that the tols had not yet been able in all cases to work up to the new and higher standard; but there is no reason to doubt that the number of candidates will, as interest years, continue to increase, especially under the stimulus of enhanced rewards. A copy of the revised standard is herewith submitted. The original standard of examination will be found appended to the Government Resolution of 22nd June 1878.

8. In my letter of the 17th December 1878, above quoted, I stated my objections to the introduction into the course of instruction pursued in the tols of any “modern” subjects, such as arithmetic or geography. It will be seen that most of the officers consulted are in favour of introducing such subjects into the course as a condition of receiving aid. I am still of the opinion that that proposal is inexpedient. In the orders of the 14th January 1879, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor concurred in the opinion that “the tols form a class apart, whose nature and objects mark them off sharply from the ordinary schools of the country, and afford little hope of their being taken up into the general system of liberal instruction. Such as they are, however, they have a value of their own in the eyes of a large section of the people of India, and that value would probably be impaired by any radical change in their system of instruction.” I may add to this that the tol pundits are quite incapable of imparting any such instruction, and that, with the ideas that they hold as to the supreme value of Sanskrit learning, they would resent and resist any effort to force such instruction on their pupils. What we desire, again, is to raise and keep these institutions up to the highest standard possible as centres of Sanskrit erudition; and it is clear that that object would be made much more difficult of attainment if the time and attention of the pupils were withdrawn to elementary studies in other subjects for which they have neither aptitude nor inclination. In my opinion, it is far better to recognise the special character of these institutions, and to allow them their special value, without any attempt to introduce into them elements which, however valuable in ordinary circumstances, are in the present case incongruous with their character. In 1878 I was inclined to recommend the introduction at some future time of Bengali composition into the prescribed course. At present I am not disposed to require even this, believing that any efforts that may now be made for the further improvement of the tols should be directed to the encouragement and promotion of Sanskrit learning, and of that only.

9. Further, I would not recommend any adaptation of the ordinary grant-in-aid rules to the purpose of aiding the tols. I would not insist on registers of attendance or expenditure being kept, nor on fixed hours of instruction, nor on a minimum attendance of pupils, nor on any guarantee of private income as a condition of receiving Government aid. I would look to results, and results only; and would give rewards to pundits and pupils, as is now done, upon the issue of the Sanskrit Title Examination, leaving the pundits as heretofore to prepare their pupils for that examination, under the stimulus of the rewards that may be offered, in whatever manner custom or convenience may prescribe. This restriction should not prevent additional aid being given, if necessary, to the Dacca Saraswat Samaj, whose objects are the same, though its standard of examination is lower. At the last examination held by that Samaj, 223 candidates appeared and 128 passed—a fact which seems to show, independently of the known character of the papers, that the standard required of candidates is lower than that of the Calcutta examination. It might be a feasible plan to organise these two examinations into one system, the Dacca examination occupying the place of that lower and preliminary standard, the institution of which has been advocated by Mr. Pope, Inspector of the Behar Circle. But the Samaj does not stand in immediate want of funds, since the balance at its credit, on the 31st March 1886 amounted to Rs. 9,345.

10. The question of increasing the amount of aid now given to the *tol*s of Bengal cannot be satisfactorily dealt with without some reference to their number. The Inspector of the Presidency Circle suggests a capitation allowance of about one rupee a month for each tol pupil as an approximate rate at which the *tol*s might be aided. The number of *tol*s is estimated by the Inspector of the Western Circle at something like 2,500, which would imply an attendance of about 25,000 pupils. The returns for 1884-85 gave 1,088 indigenous schools teaching Sanskrit, with 9,841 pupils. The returns for 1885-86 show 577 such schools with 5,446 pupils; this reduction having been confined to the Patna Division, in which 500 *tol*s were removed from the returns of last year by reason of having less than ten pupils apiece—a restriction which, I may incidentally remark, was intended to apply to primary public schools receiving aid, not to unaided indigenous schools. But if even the lowest estimate be taken, the proposed rate of aid would imply an expenditure of more than Rs. 60,000 a year, which I presume to be out of the question. I mention this, indeed, merely in order to dismiss the proposal, for I cannot consider that a mechanical method of aid, based exclusively or chiefly on number, without reference to any principle of selection, could be regarded as satisfactory. The fact is that it is only possible, as it is only necessary, to aid selected *tol*s, those, namely, which establish the character and value of their teaching by their success at a public and competitive examination. If liberal aid is given to the best of these, and if at the same time the names of all *tol*s and candidates that do well are publicly notified, and thus brought into the running for the highest prizes, we shall have done all that is necessary in the way of offering reward and encouragement for past progress, and an incentive for the future. The *tol*s will thus be sifted by a self-acting process; we shall concern ourselves with those that are good or promising, and the rest we may afford to neglect. It is by those *tol*s which from time to time are most advanced and successful that the torch of Sanskrit learning will be kept alight and handed on; and it will be sufficient if the efforts of Government are confined to the improvement and maintenance of these.

11. I now come to the more difficult question of the amount of aid that would be necessary and sufficient for the purpose, and the mode of its distribution. Pundit Mahesh Chandra, whose opinion on such a point must be regarded as having high authority, has always recommended a grant of Rs. 10,000 or Rs. 12,000 a year for subsidising the *tol*s. In my letter of 1878, I declared his proposal to be extravagant, on the ground that we could not foresee the results of the experiment, and that it was better to begin on a very moderate scale, to be increased hereafter should the necessity arise. It appears to me that the contingency contemplated has now arisen; that the principle of granting Government aid to *tol*s after a public examination has been fully accepted, and has taken firm root in Bengal; that the result has been to strengthen and improve the *tol*s and to lend increased vitality to the indigenous study of Sanskrit at a very critical period in its history; and that we may now rightly seek to enlarge the sphere of Government influence and extend its beneficent action by offering additional inducements to the pundits of Bengal to read for the highest standards in Sanskrit and qualify for the highest rewards. I assume and recommend that a grant of Rs. 1,000 a month, or Rs. 12,000 a year, may be sanctioned for the purpose. With an annual grant-in-aid of Rs. 7,60,000 for primary schools, and of Rs. 5,41,000 for schools of a higher order, the outlay proposed for the development of a scheme, whose success has been established by experience, will not now be regarded as excessive. I accordingly repeat, without modification, the proposal made in 1878 by Pundit Mahesh Chandra for the distribution of a grant of Rs. 10,000—

				Rs.	Rs.
Rewards to pupils—
4 of Rs. 200 each	800
4 of „ 150 „	600
12 of „ 100 „	1,200
					2,600
Rewards to teachers—
2 of Rs. 500 each	1,000
4 of „ 300 „	1,200
8 of „ 200 „	1,600
30 of „ 100 „	3,000
					6,800
Examiners	400
Stationery, &c.	200
					10,000
Inspection and extraordinary charges	2,000
					12,000

I put this forward as a rough distribution without laying any sort of stress upon it. It is quite certain that experience would suggest modifications in this or any similar scheme of distribution, and equally impossible to say beforehand what direction those modifications would take. But should any definite sum in excess of that now given be sanctioned by Government for distribution to tols on the results of the Title Examination, I should take careful counsel with the Principal of the Sanskrit College before submitting final proposals on the subject. The foregoing scheme rewards the 44 best teachers with prizes varying from Rs. 100 to Rs. 500, and the 20 best pupils with prizes of Rs. 100 to Rs. 200. While I fully agree with the plan of giving substantial rewards to pupils, so as to give them an additional incentive to exertion, yet I think it will occur to most that the rewards offered in the foregoing distribution to pupils are on the side of liberality; that the value of their prizes might easily be reduced, and the saving employed partly in rewarding an increased number of pupils, and partly in extending the area of aid to pundits. All these, however, are matters for future consideration. The rough scheme also includes a provision of Rs. 2,000 for inspection and extraordinary charges. If Pundit Mahesh Chandra's offer to inspect selected tols during the vacations of the Sanskrit College were accepted, a provision of perhaps Rs. 500 a year would be required for his travelling expenses; and other charges of a similar kind might be necessary. But I am not in favour of appointing a special inspecting agency for the visitation of the tols. The proposals which I have submitted render such an agency unnecessary: the pundits will follow their own traditional methods of instruction, and they will neither derive nor require assistance from a system of inspection which has been instituted for quite other purposes. The superior inspecting officers of each district will pay friendly visits to the tols, and may be able to give useful hints on certain points of management. The pundits may also be able to learn a good deal from each other at their annual meetings in Calcutta when they present their pupils for examination.

12. I may here remark that the Nuddea pundits have, ever since its institution, held strangely aloof from the Sanskrit Title Examination. Now and then a Nuddea candidate takes a place on our list, and a Nuddea pundit gets a large reward; but the general attitude of the pundits of Nuddea is what I have stated. The Nuddea school has always claimed for itself higher authority than even the schools of Mithila and Benares, especially in the department of Nyaya Philosophy; and it is well known that the Bengal school of law had its chief development in Nuddea under Raghu Nandan and his successors, "curiously anticipating," as Baboo Radhika Prasanna Mookerjee has remarked to me, "some of the liberal principles announced by the later jurists of Europe." There appears, therefore, to be some feeling of reluctance on the part of the Nuddea pundits to submit themselves and their pupils to a test, the superior authority of which they decline to acknowledge. The pundits of Nuddea have recently established a sort of organization, the object of which is to do for themselves what the Sanskrit Title Examination was designed to do for them and what in fact the Dacca Saraswat Samaj has done. This movement, if spontaneous and genuine, deserves every encouragement; but as yet little is known of its working. The impulse appears, moreover, to have been derived chiefly from outside; a Master of Arts of the Calcutta University, who is a Deputy Magistrate in another district, taking the lead as the "Registrar" of the "Nuddea College of Pundits." But whatever be the outcome of the new organization, however great may be its vitality and success, it should still be our object to combine all existing agencies into one co-ordinate system. At present I have reason for believing that the Sanskrit Title Examination affords a better test of actual learning than that instituted by the Nuddea College; and I have little doubt that, if such inducements are offered as are provided in the scheme now proposed, the pundits of Nuddea will take advantage of them. In any case, should the organization of the pundits hereafter prove a success, its independent character may very properly be recognised, and a subsidy given to it on reasonable conditions, as has been done with the Saraswat Samaj.

13. The letter from the Government of India refers to the help which may be expected from wealthy native gentlemen in furtherance of the cause of Sanskrit learning. I take this opportunity of submitting, for the information of Government, a statement of the endowments that have been already made with that object in view, and in consequence of the institution of the Sanskrit Title Examination. They are 19 in all, and are numbered 1, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 69, 70, 85, 95, 99, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 110, 111 in the annexed list of Educational Trust Funds. The special purpose of the endowment is stated in each case. It will be seen that the total amount of funds that have been invested in prizes and scholarships for the benefit of Sanskrit students is Rs. 44,500, yielding an annual income of Rs. 1,780. There are, further, annual contributions amounting to Rs. 598, in addition to medals and other prizes. These facts are sufficient to show how fully the institution of the Sanskrit Title Examination has accorded with the feelings and wishes of the native community, and what a liberal response has been made by private munificence to the efforts of Government in this direction. I have little doubt that further encouragement would meet with a further response; and I am also inclined to believe that, when Municipalities and District Boards have settled down to the work of directing and controlling education, they also will find means to promote and stimulate local Sanskrit learning.

14. There remains for consideration the proposal that Government should confer the title of "Pundit Bahadur" on distinguished Sanskrit scholars. The opinions of the Inspectors are it will be seen, not generally favourable to this proposal. My own impression is that it should nevertheless be kept in view, and that the body of pundits should be consulted on the question whether such a title, if conferred by Government on their most distinguished representatives, would be acceptable to them as an earnest of interest taken by the ruling power in their special pursuits.

No. 56, dated Calcutta, the 5th January 1885.

From—C. B. CLARKE, Esq., Officiating Director of Public Instruction,
To—The Officiating Principal of the Sanskrit College.

IN reply to your No. 249 of 15th November 1884, proposing that the tois be encouraged liberally with pecuniary aid, Rs. 12,000 a year.

2. Under the Grant-in-aid Rules, any school that teaches reading, writing, and arithmetic in the vernacular can get Government aid, whatever else they teach. It is under this rule that the missionary schools, though they may spend a large portion of their energy in teaching doctrine, or on purely conversion work, yet are given grants in respect of their teaching, the Rs. 3, in the vernacular. On the same lines grants have been given to some maktabs and some tois. In these cases no pressure has been put on the managers to teach the Government course (except in a few female infant schools). Subject to their teaching the Rs. 3 in the vernacular in a useful manner, they are allowed perfect liberty under the Grant-in-aid Rules what else they teach. They are of course unable to compete successfully for the Government scholarships unless they read the standards appointed for those scholarships.

3. As a rule, the tois in Bengal for the last 19 years (and, as I believe, from the earliest introduction of the grant-in-aid system) have declined to accept Government aid on these terms; and the Education Department has refused grants to tois where no useful arithmetic was taught, and where the pupils could not write an easy sentence in Bengali.

4. The result has been that Bengal has accepted useful education in the vernacular everywhere: the tois (as your letter correctly says), with their narrow, exclusive, impractical education, are rapidly passing away. Whether in the early days of education in Bengal any compromise could have been effected, and our middle schools could have been founded on the tois, I cannot say. The toi system, with exclusive Sanskrit training, is doomed, and was doomed 20 years ago.

5. It would be no doubt possible, and might be defensible (though I am not sure of that), were the Government purse bottomless, to give special grants to tois outside the grant-in-aid, to keep flickering this national institution after it has become a thing of the past, and been practically superseded by a more liberal system. Such special grants have been given to a small extent as in Nuddea; but in general out of some special fund.

6. The Government encouragement to Sanskrit is given liberally enough (I think already too liberally) in another way. Our middle education culminates in the Entrance examination, at which most Bengali students take Sanskrit as their second language. Through this, Sanskrit is largely rewarded in the Government junior scholarships; and nearly all the High English schools, where Bengali is the vernacular language, have a Sanskrit teacher, and Sanskrit forms in them a regular (though not unavoidable) part of the school work,—I wish it did not.

7. Sanskrit is treated in education as the great national classical language and occupies the same position that Latin does in English education. It forms a prominent feature in the work at all Bengali colleges; and there is moreover a special college, specially devoted to it, under a pundit who has received the decoration of C.I.E.

8. Comparing for a moment Anglo-Saxon, which stands in the same relation to English that Sanskrit does to Bengali, I observe that no encouragement is given to Anglo-Saxon in English schools. I believe there are only two schools in England where any Anglo-Saxon is taught: and this, though knowledge of Anglo-Saxon vastly improves "style" in writing English; and though, as regards matter, the Anglo-Saxon chronicle is worth all the result that can be expressed out of the whole of Sanskrit literature extant, so far as I can learn from Mr. Tawney.

9. On the one side the Government funds are limited: on the other the capacity for holding in children's mind is limited. Both restrictions must confine the Government support throughout Bengal (except in a few large centres) to one system of education and to one course of instruction, viz. that which includes the most essential subjects. In a few places Government may support madrassas, and in a few large towns schools of special instruction. With such exceptions all the money Government can afford must go to support the general system of education founded on the Rs. 3 in the vernacular.

10. The support given by Government now to the study of Sanskrit (though not in tois) is large; but an unanswerable reason for not spending additional money on tois or other fancy departments of education is that no money has yet been found for a department of the first importance, viz., the national education of girls (not female infants).

11. I am aware that the toi Sanskrit has a flavour about it which the school and college Sanskrit wants (is not this flavour to be perceived in the Calcutta Sanskrit College, at least in less intense degree?) I can assure you that I sympathise with you over the doom of toi Sanskrit which has flourished so many centuries; but it would not be averted by Government now devoting Rs. 12,000 a year or Rs. 1,20,000 a year to its encouraging. It is not merely that Government does not encourage the toi pundits; the Bengalis no longer encourage them. The rich man who formerly was pleased with a five-days' visit from a toi pundit, and gave him Rs. 50 on leaving, is now impatient to get rid of such a visitor, and gives him the minimum present he thinks possible.

12. I cannot recommend Government to spend money in the endeavour to put life into a toi system close on death from old age. If you still wish to have the matter referred for the opinion of Government, I will forward your letter together with the present one.

Dated Calcutta. the 18th July 1886.

From—JOHN BEAMES, Esq., President, Salaries Commission,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

In reply to your memorandum No. 449T—G, dated 15th June 1886, regarding Pundit Mahesh Chandra Nyayaratna's proposals for aid to Sanskrit to/s, I have the honour to state that I have recently had the advantage of discussing this subject with my friend, the pundit, who has explained his views to me more at length than he had previously done in his memorial to Government.

2. So far as concerns any practical benefit to the learned world from the study of the Sanskrit language and literature, I do not think that the grant of pecuniary aid to Bengal to/s is necessary. Sanskrit is now far more earnestly and intelligently studied in Europe and America than in India. Most, if not all, of the leading Universities in those countries have Chairs of Sanskrit and Comparative Philology. Excellent dictionaries and grammars, accurate and critical editions of the principal Sanskrit classics, have been published in England, Germany, and other countries. In India the Asiatic Society of Bengal has for years past been publishing critical editions of Sanskrit works in its Bibliotheca Indica, and this is still going on. In Benares also the editing of Sanskrit texts is carried on in a publication called "The Pandit," which appears periodically. On the whole, however, it is to Europe, and not to India, that we must look for the further advancement of this branch of knowledge.

3. As regards the sentimental regret that Sanskrit learning is languishing in its native home, it may be said that the same fate has befallen all the languages and sciences which Europe has received from Asia. We do not now hear of any one at Jerusalem advancing the study of Hebrew, nor are Mecca or Baghdad known in the present day as centres for the diffusion of Arabic learning. These studies have been transferred to the Universities of Europe.

4. The same process has taken place as respects the ancient classical languages of Europe itself. The profoundest works on the structure and history of Latin and Greek, and the most correct editions of the classical authors in those languages, come to us from Germany, not from Rome or Athens. Sanskrit, therefore, in this respect, is no worse off than the other ancient languages of the world. Indeed, in some respects, it is better off, for it is still studied (if that be really any advantage) on its native soil. The pundits of Benares, and the Shastris of Puna, not to mention other places, still carry on the study of Sanskrit with much learning and industry; and it must be admitted that sacred Benares has a far greater right to be considered the "native home" of Sanskrit than Bengal.

5. I believe my friend, the pundit, agrees with me generally in what I have stated above. He, however, urges that even European scholars acknowledge their obligations to native pundits at the present day, and admit their superiority in some respects. This is quite true. The native scholar, speaking from his childhood a language derived from Sanskrit, and containing a large proportion of pure and unchanged Sanskrit words, has the great advantage over the European of starting with an intimate knowledge of the vocabulary of the language, which the latter only acquires by long study. Besides this, being a Hindu by religion, and practising daily the ceremonies enjoined by that creed, he has a clearer perception of what is meant by the sacred texts, and can thus throw light on many obscure passages which the European fails to understand. It is for this reason that scholars from England, Germany, and other countries so often visit India, and especially Benares, to perfect themselves in the study of Sanskrit.

6. But in all this movement and progress the tohs of Bengal take no part. Comparative Philology, that science to which Sanskrit owes so much of its importance and interest to scholars, is entirely unknown to the students of these institutions. To them the study of Sanskrit seems to be rather the end than the means. They spend an inordinately long time over their studies, and when those studies have been completed, it would be difficult to say what practical use they make of them. Some, after spending half a lifetime in learning, spend the other half in teaching others what they have learnt. Some do not appear to do even this much.

7. In the present day, when the knowledge of English and the sciences which are learnt through its medium opens up prospects of advancement in life, which, though steadily decreasing, are still considerable, while the knowledge of Sanskrit possesses no such advantages, it is not surprising that the latter should be neglected for the former. Even native noblemen and gentlemen of wealth and position do not favour the study of Sanskrit so much as they did in former times; but display their liberality preferentially towards students of the English language and European science.

8. If, however, the plea for support to the Bengali tohs cannot be based on the argument that they are useful for purposes of scholarship, it might perhaps be urged that they had their use in training a body of men learned in Hindu law. Every transaction of life to a Hindu is regulated by the precepts of his sacred books, and the "vyavastha," or opinion of pundits is to the orthodox Hindu a final and unquestionable decision. But here, again, the tohs fail to meet the demand for qualified jurists. In the first place, the students spend (one might almost write waste) many years of their long scholastic career in studying grammar, rhetoric, logic, and philosophy, and are thus not always sufficiently well acquainted with those parts of their literature which deal with the affairs of daily life to be able to give an authoritative opinion; and, in the second place, our courts of justice often decide points of Hindu law without having recourse to the opinions of pundits. The copious stores of recorded cases and the translations of Sanskrit law books now furnish materials for arriving at a decision on almost every legal question, and render recourse to the pundit and his vyavastha unnecessary.

9. I have thought it advisable to make the foregoing remarks in order to set clearly before Government the present position of Sanskrit studies and the place occupied in respect to them by the tohs of Bengal. It may be briefly summed up thus:—Sanskrit learning is not languishing on its native soil, being actively prosecuted at Benares and other places in India, although it is more vigorously and intelligently carried on in Europe than in India. The Indian pundits nevertheless possess certain advantages which render their co-operation valuable to European scholars. In this co-operation the Bengali tohs take no part; they are useful neither for scientific nor for legal purposes, and they are languishing because of the want of interest displayed towards them by the leading members of native society.

10. If these views be admitted, as I think they must be by all who are acquainted with the subject, there remains only one question—Can these tohs be improved and stimulated so as to make them capable of bearing fruit and rendering real service? The idea of my friend, 13. The Mooktear examination is, I believe, settled by the High Court, and I also understand that in future the Vernacular Scholarship certificate will be of no value in qualifying for that examination.

14. I must strongly oppose your proposal that the pundits of all minor, vernacular, and aided schools be recruited from the 101 pundit class. It is rare that a 101 pundit is fit even to be guru in a primary school, and the 101 pundits employed in general education I have found as a rule to be very bad teachers, whether employed in primary or in middle schools. They used to do best in teaching Sanskrit for Entrance; but partly owing to the English translation now required, your Sanskrit College pundits are now greatly preferred in all zillah schools.

the pundit, is the usual one with all natives that, if Government will take the lead and grant aid, everything will go right. Native gentlemen will make grants of money and in other ways patronize and take an interest in these institutions, which will then become really useful seats of learning. The question is rather one for the Educational Department than for a mere student like myself to decide. I think, however, it would be a pity to allow the tois to perish entirely for want of support. Although they are not very useful at present, it seems worth while to try the experiment of making them useful. Subject of course to the opinion of the Director of Public Instruction, I would venture to suggest that aid might be granted to some of the better conducted tois on the condition of their reforming their style of teaching and bringing it into harmony with modern ideas. The time occupied by the course of study should be considerably curtailed. Indeed, I am informed by competent persons that it would be quite possible to work through the whole range of subjects in half or less than half the number of years now usually spent on them. It is doubtful how far the present pundits of the tois would be competent to conduct a more expeditious method of study, or whether it would be possible to replace them by teachers capable of instructing on a more advanced system without risking the loss of such an amount of popularity among the class that resort to them as they now enjoy. Perhaps the first step to be taken would be to draw up, in consultation with Pundit Mahesh Chandra and some of his colleagues, a prospectus of an improved course of studies, fixing the number of terms or years to be allotted to each subject, so much for grammar, so much for logic, rhetoric, and the rest; and then to ascertain whether the tois pundits would agree to adopt this course on condition of receiving pecuniary assistance. Inspection from time to time would of course be necessary, and could be arranged for by the Educational Department. I am not, however, prepared to say that so large a sum as Rs. 15,000 could be required, or that it could be profitably spent for some years to come. This, however, is also a matter on which the Educational Department is better qualified to advise than I am.

11. This amount of State aid, I think, as much as can be asked for at present. Any further assistance should come from native gentlemen of wealth and position as pointed out by the Government of India. It is to them and to their countrymen of the Hindu persuasion that the students of tois are likely to be of use as expounders of the Hindu law in matters affecting religious observances and the transactions of daily life.

12. Regarding the proposed title of Pundit Bahadur, I can only say that it sounds to me somewhat incongruous and inappropriate to decorate a peaceful scholar with the martial title Bahadur. More suitable, I think, would be an arrangement by which the Calcutta University might confer an academic degree with its corresponding title such as Doctor of Hindu Law, Doctor of Rhetoric, or the like, on distinguished pundits. Such title need not subject the recipient to the necessity of passing an examination, but might be conferred honoris causa by the Chancellor or Vice-Chancellor at the annual meeting of the University, with a diploma signed by the Viceroy. This distinction would probably be highly prized, and be considered as a sufficient recognition of the importance of Sanskrit studies.

Dated Furrædpore, the 26th July 1886.

From—K. G. GUPTA, Esq., Offg. Magistrate and Collector of Furrædpore,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge receipt of your endorsement No. 45, T—G, dated Darjeeling, the 15th June 1886, forwarding certain papers regarding the encouragement of Sanskrit learning, for an expression of my opinion on the subject.

2. There is no reason to fear that Sanskrit is on the road to extinction; on the contrary, there is every indication of its gradually taking deeper and more widespread root in the educational system of the country. It forms one of the standard subjects in all the colleges and high schools, and instead of being confined, as formerly, to one or two castes, it is now the common heritage of all classes, and is at this moment more extensively studied than it has ever been at any time, ancient or modern. There is, however, a radical change in the method of teaching, and tois, which represent the indigenous method, are no doubt languishing. The causes of their decline are—

- 1st.—Falling off in the demand for the class of scholars turned out by them. Formerly every rich Hindu of any influence used to keep his little court at which he supported one or more pundits. Moreover the services of learned Brahmins were in constant requisition for regulating the numerous observances and ceremonials, social and religious, that constituted the daily life of an orthodox Hindu. But all these are now changed.
- 2nd.—The learning they impart has fallen in value as a means of earning a livelihood. No public profession is open to pundits trained in tois, and their other resources are much curtailed, such as largesses on the occasion of Snadh and other ceremonies.
- 3rd.—Not only are pupils taught gratis, but they have to be found in board and lodging. No wonder, then, that with diminished resources, and with the daily increasing cost of living, few can see their way to keep up tois.
- 4th.—The method of teaching in tois is so defective and dilatory, that unless one is of more than average intelligence and application, one finds, after years of toil, that he has only an imperfect knowledge of perhaps only one branch of study. In these days of struggle for existence, few can afford to spend the best years of one's life on this kind of profitless study. It is undeniable that tois occasionally produce scholars who, by a lifelong devotion to their particular subjects, acquire such a mastery over them as is rarely surpassed or seldom equalled. But the general results are unsatisfactory. Those, therefore, who now-a-days wish to study Sanskrit as the classical language of India, generally adopt the modern method of learning as being simpler and speedier than that pursued in tois.

3. It is thus manifest that the decline of tois is due to natural causes, and it is a question whether public money ought to be spent in bolstering up an institution doomed to certain extinction, or in propping up a method which fails to satisfy modern requirements. It seems to me that the disappearance of tois is only a question of time, and, do what we may, we can never give them a fresh lease of life. Perhaps so long as they exist, it may be as well to help and encourage them; but in order to do this, any system of fixed subsidy or grant-in-aid, except at an enormous outlay, would not be of much avail. In the first place, the institutions are, so to speak, personal; that is to say, they are founded and maintained by individuals on their own responsibility, and are in no way controlled or supervised by local bodies of any kind; thus the cornerstone of the grant-in-aid system is wanting here. In the next place, there are still a good many tois scattered all over the province, notably in the districts of the Presidency, Burdwan, and Dacca Divisions, and any attempt to subsidise them at the proposed monthly outlay of Rs. 1,000 would be utterly fruitless. Thirdly, to give a grant-in-aid without at the same time providing for an efficient system of inspection would be money thrown away, and a special inspecting agency would cost a great deal more than the modest sum of Rs. 250 a month asked for by Pandit Mahesh Chandra. Fourthly, Governmental control would interfere with the existing freedom of action which tois have, and would be felt to be irksome. It is therefore not in the direction of a system of grant-in-aid that we should look for the means of lending a helping hand to these ancient institutions. The introduction of an annual examination for the conferring of Sanskrit titles has so far been attended with satisfactory results, and I am inclined to think that it ought to be extended and elaborated, and greater academic value given to it. This could be done by having a separate Faculty of the Calcutta University for the promotion of Sanskrit learning, the members of which would consist largely of eminent pundits brought up in the old school, with a sprinkling of other educated men having an aptitude for business and organization. Like other Faculties, it would be an examining body, fix standards, regulate examinations (which may be of several grades, as in Arts), and confer titles bearing Sanskrit names.

4. In former days, Navadvip alone had the exclusive prerogative of conferring titles; but the function has been gradually usurped by other local bodies, such as the Sarasvat Samaj of Dacca and the Dharma Rakshini Sabha of Rajshahye, with the result that the same titles are indiscriminately conferred on very different standards of examination. It is therefore all the more necessary that Government should step in, and by insisting on a uniform standard, prevent the degradation of titles. It is not desirable that in this matter the privilege of local bodies, especially of Navadvip, should be altogether taken away; and a sort of compromise may be effected by reserving certain titles as the exclusive gift of the Sanskrit Faculty of the University, and making it penal for any other bodies to confer them, the latter being still at liberty to grant other titles. The examinations would be held at the chief centres, be open to all tois and private students, and on the result of them both students and teachers might be rewarded as is done in the case of primary schools. Under such a system a few thousand rupees would go a great way, nothing would have to be spent in inspection, and the pundits would be left entirely unfettered in the management of their tois.

5. The degrees granted by the University would soon be appreciated at their proper worth, and it would then be unnecessary and superfluous to create such hybrid titles as "Pandit Bahadur."

6. The number of endowments for the promotion of Sanskrit learning is no doubt small; but it is not that my wealthy countrymen are insensible to its benefits; on the contrary, large sums are still spent by them annually in gifts to learned Brahmins. An endowment presupposes the existence of an institution to be endowed, and as regards the indigenous method of teaching, there is none such, for tois are ephemeral from their nature and constitution, and can never be permanently endowed, although so long as they last they are supported by the munificence of rich Hindus. It is noteworthy that, within the short time the system of examination for the bestowal of titles has been in existence, several rewards and scholarships have been founded, and I have no doubt their number would be largely increased were its dignity enhanced and its usefulness extended in some such way as I have proposed.

7. I take it that, as the note of Pandit Mahesh Chandra Nyayaratna evidently refers to Sanskrit learning as taught in tois, I am not called upon to express any opinion on the larger question of the study of Sanskrit in its general aspects; but I may be permitted to make one observation in regard to the Sanskrit College in Calcutta. Living in Calcutta is dear, and there are few Brahmin lads who can afford the cost. An increase in the number of foundation scholarships to enable poor students to join the college would be productive of much good.

No. 623, dated Calcutta, the 18th November 1886.

From—P. NOLAN, Esq. Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Dept.,
To—The Offg. Secy. to the Government of India, Home Department.

IN forwarding with your letter No. 155, dated 18th May 1886, a memorandum containing the recommendations of Pundit Mahesh Chandra Nyayaratna for the encouragement of Sanskrit learning, you requested me to submit any remarks which the Lieutenant-Governor might have to offer on the subject generally, adding that it has been suggested to the Government of India that if the matter were suitably represented to wealthy and liberal native gentlemen as opportunity offered, endowments might be forthcoming on a larger scale than at present. The recommendations of the Pundit are that Rs. 12,000 a year be spent in grants-in-aid to Sanskrit tois, and Rs. 3,000 in inspection, and that Government should confer on Sanskrit scholars suitable titles, such as that of Pundit Bahadur.

2. Your letter was circulated to gentlemen interested in Sanskrit learning, and I am

* Letter from the Director of Public Instruction, No. 39T, dated the 23rd September 1886, with enclosures.

Letter from Mr. Beames, Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, dated the 18th July 1886.

Letter from Mr. K. G. Gupta, Officiating Collector of Furreedpore, dated the 26th July 1886.

to enclose copies* of the replies received from the Director of Public Instruction, from Mr. Beames, Commissioner of Burdwan, and Mr. Gupta, Officiating Collector of Furreedpore. These papers contain very interesting views of the present position of the tois of Bengal from three different stand-points—that of the responsible head of the Educational Department, that of the European student of Sanskrit, and that of a native gentleman of high European education, who takes an important part in the administration of the country.

3. The Director of Public Instruction points out that, in consequence of the institution of Sanskrit Title examinations by this Government, nineteen endowments have been made by private persons for the promotion of this branch of learning, and a sum of Rs. 44,500, yielding an income of Rs. 1,780, has with this object been invested in Government securities. The publication of the present correspondence would probably elicit further aid, particularly if the Governor-General in Council should find himself able, on consideration of the facts disclosed, to commend the object as one worthy of encouragement, and having special claims to the assistance of wealthy Hindus.

4. The papers submitted with this letter will show that there is a definite consensus of opinion in favour of giving an increased aid to the tois of Bengal. The Lieutenant-Governor entirely adopts this view, and he agrees with the Director of Public Instruction as to the manner in which such increased aid should be afforded. The system of grants-in-aid generally prevalent in Bengal, which requires that formal accounts and registers of attendance should be kept up, cannot be advantageously adapted to the indigenous toi, in which a small circle of disciples gathers round a pundit. The present principle of payment-by-results, as ascertained at public examinations, is far more suitable to the peculiar requirements of such primeval institutions. With regard to the suggestion that titles should be conferred on representative Sanskrit scholars, the Lieutenant-Governor considers, with the Director, that no present action is necessary, but that the proposal should be kept in view, and that, with some modification of the particular title to be given (as suggested by Mr. Beames), the pundits should be consulted as to whether such honours would be really appreciated.

5. Sir Rivers Thompson must reserve his opinion as to the extent to which the present expenditure on tois can be increased, until the result of the renewal of the Provincial Contract shows what funds will be available for educational purposes in Bengal during the next five years. The returns for 1884-85 gave 1,088 indigenous schools teaching Sanskrit, with 9,441 pupils, and these did not include all the tois which, according to the estimate of the Inspector of the Presidency Circle, must number 2,500 with 25,000 pupils. The popularity of these institutions is proved by the numbers in which they are found, though at present practically unaided, and by the readiness with which private persons have of late years contributed to their endowments. As to their utility, it may be remarked that, though under the prevailing system the students in the aided schools of Bengal acquire some knowledge of a number of useful matters, a certain value must be attributed to the exclusive persistent attention with which the disciple of the toi keeps to a single subject for a long series of years, in the hope of mastering it at last. Considering the extent to which Sanskrit learning is cultivated in the tois, Pundit Mahesh Chandra Nyayaratna has every right to press for a grant of Rs. 15,000 for their encouragement. The Lieutenant-Governor, however, entertains some doubts as to whether the conditions of the next Provincial Contract will enable him to make an assignment such as the Pundit proposes.

No. 433, dated Calcutta, the 9th December 1886.

From—A. P. MACDONNELL, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of India, Home Department,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 623, dated the 18th ultimo,

Mr. A. W. Croft, Director of Public Instruction.

Mr. John Beames, Commissioner, Burdwan Division.

Mr. K. G. Gupta, Officiating Collector of Furreedpore.

forwarding copies of communications from the officers* marginally named, in connection with certain recommendations, made by Pundit Mahesh Chandra Nyayaratna for the encouragement of Sanskrit learning in Bengal, and expressing His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor's view that increased aid should be given to the tois of Bengal. Sir Rivers Thompson reserves his opinion as to the exact amount of assistance that can be given by him pending the settlement of the Provincial contract for Bengal, and suggests that the publication of the correspondence would probably result in increased support being given to these institutions by the wealthy Hindus of Bengal. The proposal to grant honorary titles in addition to pecuniary assistance, in order to foster improvement in the method of instructions adopted in the tois, will be kept in view by His Honor, but no action in this direction is considered necessary at present.

2. In reply, I am to say that the Governor-General in Council has perused these papers with interest, and agrees to their being published, under the orders of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, in the Calcutta Gazette. I am at the same time to express the hope of His Excellency in Council that the matter dealt with in the present correspondence will continue to receive His Honor's attention and assistance so far as financial considerations permit, and that the native community of Bengal, interested in Sanskrit learning, will also come forward to assist in promoting the efficiency of the tois.
